P. NOLAN,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 30th April 1888.—In exercise of the powers vested in him by section 8 of Act V (B.C.) of 1881 (the Calcutta Burial Boards' Act, 1881), the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to sanction the following revised rules which have been framed by the Burial Board for the town and suburbs of Calcutta.

P. NOLAN,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

REVISED RULES UNDER SECTION 8 OF ACT V (B.C.) OF 1881.

I.—JURISDICTION.

1. Under section 5 of Act V (B.C.) of 1881, the general management of and control over the following cemeteries have been vested in, and are exercised by, the Board :—

The North, South and Mission Cemeteries in Park Street.
The Circular Road Cemetery.
The Ekbalpore Cemetery at Kidderpore.

2. A new cemetery has been sanctioned by Government at Tiljulla, in accordance with the recommendation of the Christian Cemeteries Extension Committee, dated 3rd August 1887. As soon as this cemetery is completed, it will also come under the management and control of the Burial Board.

II.—MEETINGS OF THE BOARD.

1. A meeting of the Board shall ordinarily be held on the first Monday in each month. Three members of the Board (exclusive of the Chairman) shall be a quorum.

2. The Chairman may summon a special meeting when he thinks fit, and shall do so when required by three members of the Board.

3. In the absence of the Chairman at any meeting of the Board, the members present (being a quorum) shall choose one of their number to preside.

4. All questions shall be decided by a majority of votes. The Chairman of the meeting shall have a second or casting vote.

5. Minutes of the proceedings of all meetings of the Board shall be kept and shall be signed by the Chairman.

6. Matters of emergency and matters not provided for by the rules shall be referred by the Superintendent for the orders of the Chairman. All such references, with the orders passed thereon, shall be laid before the next monthly meeting for confirmation.

III.—GRAVES AND MONUMENTS.*

1. All applications for the erection of headstones, slabs, tombs and monuments, and alterations of the same, shall be made in duplicate to the Chairman of the Board, and shall show the proposed design and inscription and cost of the same.

2. The size of graves is limited to 8' x 4', and the area of ground to be enclosed must not exceed 10' x 6' by external measurement. No monument must exceed 8' x 4' at the base.

* The scale of fees and charges for graves and monuments is limited by that laid down in the Revised Ecclesiastical Rules which were promulgated by the Home Department's notification No. 103, dated the 20th June 1885.

3. No monument (except a sample headstone or cross not exceeding 3½ feet in height) shall be placed over a grave not constructed of masonry unless adequate masonry foundations are afterwards laid. The foundations in this case shall be not less than 5 feet in depth, and the roof over shall be arched as in the case of pucca graves.
4. The use of masonry or of wood or other perishable material for monuments is not allowed. This does not apply to crosses, which may be made of wood.
5. The enclosure round a grave must be by a metal railing, or by chains or bars of metal supported on masonry pillars. Wooden or masonry enclosures are not permitted.
6. All new non-masonry graves must be at least 5 feet in depth from the ordinary level of the ground.
7. All masonry graves must be at least six feet in depth from the ordinary level of the ground, and no masonry grave constructed after the first January 1888 shall be used for a second interment therein, unless there is room to place at least five feet of earth between the top of the coffin and the surface of the ground at its ordinary level.
8. No burial shall be allowed in any masonry vault or family grave constructed before the 1st January 1888, unless there is room to place at least three feet of earth between the top of the coffin and the surface of the ground at its ordinary level.
9. All masonry graves must be arched in after the interment.
10. The land used for a non-masonry grave may be re-used after a period of 10 years.
11. In the case of a non-masonry grave, no right is acquired to the exclusive use of the ground beyond the period of ten years, although within that period a non-masonry grave may be converted into a masonry grave on a written application to the Board, and on payment of the difference between the fee paid for the original grave and the fee leviable under the rules for a masonry grave.
12. The Commissioner of Police shall have power to order the exhumation of corpses whenever such exhumation is deemed necessary by him for police purpose, informing the Burial Board when the disinterment is in any cemetery under their control.
13. In all other cases the sanction shall be given by the Burial Board, who, before giving such sanction, shall obtain the concurrent permission of the Archdeacon of Calcutta in the case of a Church of England cemetery, or portion of a cemetery, and of the Archbishop of Calcutta in a Roman Catholic cemetery, or portion of a cemetery. In regard to the Nonconformist portion of the cemetery, the Chairman of the Burial Board shall obtain, if possible, the sanction of the head of the denomination concerned.
14. No person shall build or dig, or cause to be built or dug, a grave in any burial ground at less distance than two feet from any other grave.
15. No person shall build or dig, or cause to be built or dug, a grave in any burial ground in any other line than that marked out by the Superintendent.
16. If any monument falls into a ruinous condition, the Board may call upon the friends of the deceased to repair it; and if they neglect to do so, or if they cannot be traced, the Board at their discretion may repair or remove such monument.
17. The Board will undertake to keep in repair any monument, for the repair of which the friends of the deceased may deposit with the Board such sum as the Board shall consider to be sufficient.
18. A correct plan of each cemetery under the charge of the Board shall be kept at the Board's Office.

IV.—UNDERTAKERS.

1. In cases of burial in the cemeteries under the Board, a certificate of the cause of death shall be given to the undertaker or other person conducting the funeral, who will sign and deliver the certificate to the cemetery clerk for the person officiating at the funeral as an authority for the burial.
- In the event of no certificate being furnished, the Superintendent shall give notice to the nearest police station.
2. All the licensed undertakers shall be allowed to carry on their duties in the cemeteries under the Board's charge on their promising to conform to the Rules. Their licenses shall be renewed annually at a meeting of the Board, and on such renewal a fee of Rs. 10 must be paid by each.
3. None but licensed undertakers shall put up monuments, but private individuals may have their graves repaired by their own men on application to the Superintendent.
4. Licensed undertakers shall attend personally at all funerals conducted by them, except in cases where they are represented by agents who have previously been authorized by the Board to act as such agents.
5. A list of all such persons shall be kept at the Board's office signed by the Chairman. Any undertaker or employé of an undertaker violating the terms of the Board's Rules, or misconducting himself in the performance of his duties, either within the cemetery or in his dealings with any person by whom he may be so employed, shall be held liable to have his license suspended, revoked or cancelled, or to forfeiture of any sum fixed by the Board not exceeding Rs. 25 in any one particular case. Undertakers are liable to have their materials for masonry graves and their work inspected by the Public Works Department, and condemned if inferior.
- In such a case fresh materials will have to be used and the work re-executed.
6. The Superintendent is authorized to delay any work in which he considers inferior materials are being used, pending a reference to the Public Works Department.
7. Except for the purpose of fitting up, no stone is to be cut or chipped within the cemeteries. All rubbish to be cleared away immediately the work is completed.

8. A period of four months is allowed for the completion of work connected with the erection of any monument.

9. Morning notices for evening funerals shall be sent in before noon; and evening notices for a funeral the following morning, not later than 9 P.M.

V.—OFFICERS OF THE BOARD AND THEIR DUTIES.

1. The members of the Burial Board shall be monthly visitors of the cemeteries, and shall record in a book any remarks on the state of the same. The Superintendent shall send a notice on the first day of each month to the member whose turn it is to visit, reminding him of the fact, and on the last day of each month the remark book for any entries. The visiting member's remarks shall be read at the monthly meetings of the Board.

2. The Superintendent has the general charge of the cemeteries, and he is directly responsible for the due observance of the Rules and for the maintenance of the cemeteries in a proper condition.

3. Officers drawing salaries of Rs. 20 and upwards per mensem shall be appointed by the Board at a meeting; officers drawing salaries below Rs. 20 may be appointed by the Chairman. Any officer may be suspended or removed by the authority by which he was appointed.

4. The Superintendent may suspend or fine any of his subordinates for breach or neglect of duty, reporting his action for the approval of the Chairman. Any officer of the Board who shall accept any fee, perquisite or gratuity other than authorised salary for the performance of any duty under the Board, shall be liable to immediate dismissal.

5. The office of the Superintendent shall be at the Circular Road Cemetery, and his office hours 10 A. M. to 4 P. M., except on Sundays and public holidays. When absent on urgent business during these hours, he shall leave a notice with the durwan of where he has gone and the time he will probably be back. Before 10 A. M. and after 4 P. M. the overseer who now attends all funerals will be present from the opening and till the closing of the cemetery gates.

6. All books and registers shall be kept at the office; they may be inspected by any member of the Board.

7. The Superintendent shall keep the plans of the cemeteries, and shall mark on each, at the time of interment, the grave so occupied, entering the particulars of names, &c., in a corresponding register.

8. No monuments, materials, for graves, &c., will be allowed to enter the cemetery without the sanction of the Superintendent. He should report the arrival of any materials which may seem to him defective to the Executive Engineer, who will inspect them.

9. No work, except the conduct of funerals, will ordinarily be allowed on Sundays.

10. All gates except the main one to be kept locked, and to be opened only for funerals and on special occasions.

11. The main gate shall be shut at sunset.

12. The durwan shall be held responsible for any irregularity or damage committed at night.

13. The mallies (or a certain number of them) shall be told off to certain plots of ground and held responsible for the proper care of such plots.

Mallies are not permitted to sell or give away any of the fruits or flowers. Any complaint against the neglect of or damage to graves or monuments shall be enquired into by the Superintendent and attended to. He shall keep a register of such complaints and bring them to the notice of the Board.

14. The durwan is authorised to keep all idlers out of the cemetery.

15. No horse, coach or other vehicle, except carts employed on work, or horse or other quadruped shall be allowed within the cemeteries. No noise or other disturbance, and no riotous or improper conduct, is permitted within the cemeteries.

VI.—ACCOUNTS.

1. The Board shall submit to the Government annually in the month of March a budget statement of the estimated receipts and expenditure for the ensuing financial year.

2. The Board shall also submit to Government annually, before the end of the month of June, an account of the receipts and expenditure of the last financial year.

3. The Superintendent shall submit at the monthly meeting of the Board a statement of the receipts and expenditure of the preceding month. He shall use vouchers with counterfoils in granting receipts for money received, and keep a register in the form prescribed at the cemetery.

4. The Superintendent shall open an account of all moneys paid to him by private individuals for the employment of extra mallies or for providing flowers, shrubs, &c., either for the graveyard generally or for the graves of deceased friends.

A separate account shall also be kept of expenditure incurred on repairs of a monument under section III, Rule 17.

VII.—MISCELLANEOUS.

1. A notice-board shall be put up at the main gate of each cemetery, on which shall be given such information as to names of officers, office hours, fees, &c., likely to be wanted by the public.

2. It shall be competent to the Board to make special arrangements for the honorary supervision of any of the cemeteries under their charge, and the Superintendent will be for the time being relieved of his duties in these so far as the general care of them is concerned. In the case of funerals, however, or of any infringement of the Board's rules being brought to his notice, the Superintendent will act as in the case of the other cemeteries.

Educational Prospectus.

THE Calcutta Medical College Session, 1888-89, will commence on the 23rd June next. Students who may be desirous of commencing their studies are requested to apply to the Principal between the hours of 11 A.M. and 4 P.M. on or before that date.

2. Ten free presentations will then be awarded. These are given to students according to their relative position in the University, B.A., B.L., and F.A. Examinations, preference being given to those who have passed the highest examination.

3. No person shall be enrolled as a matriculated student who has not previously passed the First Arts Examination of the Calcutta University, or a preliminary Arts Examination of the United Kingdom recognised by the British General Medical Council.

4. All matriculated students of the College shall pay Rs. 15 on entrance, Rs. 30 for the summer session on the 23rd June, and Rs. 30 for the winter session on 1st November of each year.

Mahomedan students are required to pay Rs. 15 on entrance and one-third fee, i.e., Rs. 10 per session. The remaining two-third fees are charged to the Mushin Fund.

5. Any matriculated student of the College may, with the permission of the Principal and the Professor of the subject, attend courses of lectures or departments of hospital practice in addition to the full curriculum for the year, and shall be entitled to certificates of attendance at such extra lectures, if the Professor is satisfied that he or she has really studied the subject. The fees payable in advance for such additional courses are the following :—

	Rs.
For a single course of lectures on each subject in one year	40
For six months' attendance in each department of hospital practice	60

6. Any matriculated student who leaves the College before completing his University course, with the object of continuing his studies at a Medical School in Europe, may receive certificates of attendance at lectures on payment of fees at the rate fixed in the foregoing rule. But in calculating the sum to be so paid, the amount of the fees already paid by him as a regular student, or in the case of a free student, the amount which would have been paid by him had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

7. Any person not being a matriculated student of the College, who wishes to attend any course of lectures, or any department of hospital practice, may do so with the permission of the Principal and Professor of the subject, on payment, in advance, of fees at the rates fixed in rule 5. If he has passed the Entrance Examination of the University, he shall receive certificates of attendance at lectures. If he has not passed the Entrance Examination he shall receive no class certificates.

8. College scholarships, prizes and certificates of honour are open for competition only to matriculated students of the College, Hospital Apprentices and Female Certificate classes.

9. Junior scholarships of Rs. 8 per mensem and free tuition for one year are annually awarded to 10 students of the 2nd and to 10 of the 3rd year, on the results of the first and second years' Test and Honour Examinations respectively.

10. Ten senior scholarships of Rs. 12 per mensem and free tuition are annually awarded to students of the 4th year on the results on the University First Examination in Medicine. But these shall not be awarded to students who gain Doorga Charan Labs and Female Medical scholarships. These are tenable for two years. Failed students are not eligible for these scholarships.

Goodave scholarship of Rs. 12 per mensem is annually awarded to students of the 5th year on the result of the Midwifery Test Examination of the 4th year.

F. C. Chatterjee scholarship of Rs. 17 per mensem is annually awarded to the best students in Histology at the end of the 4th year.

Abdool Gunay scholarship of Rs. 26 per mensem is annually awarded to the best student at the General Examinations of the 1st to 4th year.

Duke of Edinburgh's prize is awarded to the best in Surgery at the end of the 5th year.

Bhola Nath Bose's prize of Rs. 40 is awarded to the best clinical clerk in Surgery and Medicine in alternate years.

A gold medal and certificates of honour are awarded to the best students in each subject.

Goodave and Macnamara silver medals are given to the 1st year students in Anatomy and Chemistry, respectively.

11. College scholars, who receive less than Rs. 20 per mensem, are not required to pay Rs. 30 per session. All other scholars shall pay fees as matriculated students. These may pay their fees in advance, or have their scholarship money deducted till the full amount is received.

12. Any student holding a Medical College scholarship will be permitted to draw the stipend of the said scholarship at any recognized Medical School in the United Kingdom, provided he furnishes from the head of such school a certificate of good conduct and diligence.

13. This College classes are acknowledged by all the Medical Schools in the United Kingdom.

A. CROFT, Director of Public Instruction.

NOTICE.

IN addition to the B (or Science) Course for the B.A. degree, classes for teaching the A (or Literature) course will be opened in the Kishnaghar College from the beginning of the Session in June 1888.

A. CROFT, Director of Public Instruction.

Yearly Examination for Fourth Grade Accountants.

THE yearly examination of candidates for the fourth grade of Accountant, Public Works Department, will be held at the Civil Engineering College, Seebpore, on Monday and Tuesday, 4th and 5th June 1888, at 10-30 A.M.

SUBJECTS.

	Full marks.	Minimum pass marks.
Writing (neatness, clearness and rapidity)	100	50
Dictation (spelling, punctuation, &c.)	100	50
Arithmetic (whole course)	240	160
Mensuration (a) (whole book)	60	30
Book-keeping (b) (Mercantile)	100	50
Total	600	400

Minimum required in all papers collectively.

- (a) Todhunter's Mensuration for Beginners.
 (b) "Book-keeping" by Ball and Hamilton.
 (c) "Book-keeping" by double and single entry by W. Inglis (Chamber's Educational Course).

The marks gained by candidates who fail will not be published.

1. The examination will be conducted either at the College or by an Examiner, Public Works Accounts (including Railway and Telegraph), in Bengal, Assam, and Burmah only.

Candidates will not be examined in any of the Calcutta offices.

2. Candidates not in Government employ who wish to be examined at the College must forward their applications direct to the Principal; those employed in Government offices through the head of their office, who will forward the application to the Principal.

All applications must reach the Principal before the 5th May 1888.

3. The candidate should apply to an Examiner of Public Works Accounts not later than 5th May 1888, and obtain his consent to conduct the examination if examination at the College is not convenient. The application must be forwarded by the candidate not direct to the Principal, but through the Examiner.

4. All applications must be accompanied by a fee of Rs. 10, and the following certificates.

Certificates may be submitted in original, or true copies, attested by an officer of the Engineer or Accounts Branch, but none will be returned—

- (1.) Certificate of good character signed by applicant's immediate official superior, or by the instructor under whom he has been educated, or by some other superior under whom he may have been brought up or employed, or to whom he may be well known. (This certificate must have special reference the two years immediately preceding the application.)
- (2.) Certificate that candidate is under 25 years of age (not required if candidate is in permanent Government employ).
- (3.) Certificate that the application is in candidate's handwriting.

It will rest with the Principal of the College, on a consideration of these certificates, to decide whether the candidate should be registered for the examination, or whether his application should be rejected.

5. Copies of examination papers are not procurable except those that are issued for examination. These need not be returned.

6. Each examination is complete in itself. A candidate who has failed in an examination, and presents himself for examination on a subsequent occasion, must undergo the full examination, and furnish a fresh fee and certificates.

7. Passed candidates should apply, not to the Principal of the College, nor to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department, but direct to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts in the Province or Railway under whom they may desire to be employed.

8. It must be distinctly understood that the passing of this examination does not give any claim to an appointment, and that in making appointments preference will be given to qualified persons who are already employed in the Department.

S. F. DOWNING,

SEEBPORE, the 6th April 1888.

Principal, Civil Engineering College.

Civil Engineering College, Seebpore.

CANDIDATES for admission to the Engineer Department should apply to the Principal before the 25th May 1888. The Session begins on Monday, the 4th June 1888. Candidates must furnish proof that they have passed the Calcutta University Entrance Examination, and that they are under 19 years of age. This limit will be raised to 21 years of age in the case of candidates who have passed the F. A. Examination of the University.

Ten scholarships will be awarded to students entering the Engineer Department not being already holders of junior scholarships. These scholarships will be awarded after admission with general reference to the place taken by candidates at the Entrance Examination.

Mechanical Apprentice Department.

Students who have passed the University Entrance Examination in April are eligible for admission to the Mechanical Apprentice Department up to the 4th June 1888. They must send in their applications before 25th May 1888.

Every applicant, before admission to the College, will be examined by the College Surgeon as to his physical strength, fitness for manual labour, and eyesight.

Further particulars will be supplied on application to the Principal.

NOTICE BY THE ACCOUNTANT-GENERAL, BENGAL.

SUPPLY BILLS.

NOTICE is hereby given that supply bills for sums of Rs. 500 and above in even rupees are usually obtainable on the treasuries named below at the rates of premium shewn.

Any person desiring to obtain a supply bill should send to the Bank of Bengal, Calcutta, a written application containing the following information—(1) his own name and address; (2) the name of the person to whom payment is to be made; (3) the treasury on which the bill is to be granted; and (4) the amount for which the bill is to be granted. With this application the cost of the bill (the amount plus the premium) should be paid into the Bank. If payment by telegram is desired (but this is admissible only in cases in which the name of the payee has been previously registered in the Accountant-General's office), the fact should be stated in the application, and an additional rupee paid with the cost.

The Bank of Bengal will, if the amount is available at the treasury named, receive the money tendered, and grant a receipt, returning the application therewith. The receipt and the application should then be sent to the Accountant-General's office, by which the bill will be granted.

The Bank of Bengal will be advised by the Accountant-General on the 1st and 16th of each month of the amounts available at the several treasuries, and will receive the amounts tendered by the first comers till those amounts are exhausted.

If the Bank refuses to receive any sum tendered owing to the amount not being available at the treasury, the application will be retained by the Bank and forwarded by it to the Accountant-General, who will advise the Bank and the applicant if the amount can be made available.

NOTIFICATION.

The 30th April 1888.—The following rules, framed by the Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division, under section 22 of the Bengal Ferries Act I (B.C.) of 1885, have been accepted by the Lieutenant-Governor, and are published for general information.

COLMAN MACAULAY,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RULES UNDER SECTION 22, ACT I (B.C.) OF 1885, FOR THE DISTRICT OF MALDAH.

Rule 1.—All private ferries shall be registered in the office of the Magistrate of the district, and particulars under the following heads shall be entered in the application for registration :—

- (a) Name of the ferry and names of the villages and thana in which, and the river across which, it is situated.
- (b) The number and description of the boats to be maintained, and the strength of the crew to be employed on each.
- (c) The maximum number of passengers, animals, vehicles and bulk or weight of goods to be carried by each boat.
- (d) The periods or season during which the ferry is to be plied every year.

Rule 2.—Before a private ferry is registered, the Magistrate shall satisfy himself that the statements contained in the application are correct.

Rule 3.—If the proprietor of any private ferry shall not apply, as required by Rule 1, for its registration within three months from the publication of these rules, the Magistrate of the district may serve upon him a written notice requiring him to furnish the particulars stated in Rule 1 within a stated period of not less than one month; and any proprietor on whom such a notice has been served in respect of any ferry shall not maintain the same, or allow it to be maintained, after the expiry of the period fixed in such notice, unless the particulars required by Rule 1 shall have been furnished to the Magistrate as ordered.

Rule 4.—The proprietor of every private ferry shall be bound to adhere to the terms of his application, or of any statement furnished by him under Rule 3, and shall not reduce the number of boats or crews to be maintained by him, or allow any of his boats to carry an excess number of passengers, animals, vehicles or weight or bulk of goods.

Rule 5.—The proprietor shall mark on each boat the number of passengers, animals and vehicles, and the bulk and weight of other things it is authorized to carry at a single trip.

Rule 6.—The ferry shall ordinarily ply between sunrise and sunset, but the proprietor may ply the boats after sunset, provided each boat carries a light, which must be exhibited in a conspicuous part of the boat.

Rule 7.—The ferry shall not ply when the current, wind, or state of the weather is such as to render the crossing unsafe, or to endanger the lives of the passengers.

Rule 8.—The Magistrate may direct that any boat used in any private ferry may be examined by such officer as he may depute, and may prohibit the use of such boat if he is satisfied that it is of such a kind, or in such a condition, that its use is dangerous to life or property.

Rule 9.—The owner of every private ferry shall report without delay, at the police-station within whose jurisdiction the ferry is situated, the occurrence of any accident at the ferry resulting in serious injury or in loss of life.

Rule 10.—The Magistrate may require the owner of any private ferry to state the name of any person to whom such ferry may be leased, or who may be placed in charge of such ferry.

Rule 11.—The person in charge of a private ferry, and all persons employed in working a private ferry-boat, shall be responsible that such boat shall not be overladen; and every person having been directed not to enter a fully-laden boat, or not to load animals and goods in it, shall be bound to obey such direction.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION No. 149.

The 30th April 1888.

THE subjoined accounts and reports of the Road Cess Committees of the districts of Hazaribagh, Lohardugga, Manbhoom, and Singhbhum for the half-year ending 31st March 1887, together with the remarks thereon of the Commissioner of Chota Nagpore, are published for general information.

W. B. BESTIC,
Under-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 35 D.R., dated Hazaribagh, the 18th July 1887.

From—COLONEL C. H. GARRETT, Chairman, District Road Committee, Hazaribagh,
To—The Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division.

AGREEABLY to the instructions contained in the Bengal Government Circular No. 6, dated 29th March 1887, I have the honour to submit herewith a detailed account of receipts and expenditure of the District Road Fund for the half-year from 1st October 1886 to 31st March 1887, together with the following report on the administration of the fund for the same period.

2. During the half-year the District Committee consisted of 25 members, and held three meetings for the transaction of the following business, in all of which a quorum was present * * * :—

- (1). To consider the settlement of a cart serai newly built at Buggodur on the Grand Trunk Road.
- (2). To pass the annual accounts and report for the cess year 1885-86.
- (3). To distribute the grants for the repairs of the several village roads of the district and sundry other matters.

3. The monthly accounts have been regularly audited by a standing Sub-Committee formed under section 174 of the Road Cess Act.

4. The accounts kept in the offices of both the Committee and the District Engineer were inspected by the Examiner of Local Accounts, Bengal, and audited by his Assistant up to February 1887. The points noticed in his report have been attended to.

5. Branch Committee.—During the six months under report, the Branch Road Committee at Giridi, which is the only one in the district, held two meetings, each of which was attended by six members.

6. The income of the District Committee is chiefly derived from the road cess. The half-year commenced with an arrear balance of Rs. 178, and as the demand for the half-year was Rs. 86,892 less the sum of Rs. 88 paid in advance in previous years, the net demand realizable was Rs. 87,032. Of this sum Rs. 84,242 were collected during the half-year, leaving a balance of Rs. 2,790 uncollected at its close. Besides the collections stated above, a sum of Rs. 1,911 was collected as advance collection for the next year's demand. From the above it will appear that the result of collection on current demand was on the whole satisfactory, inasmuch as the percentage of collection on current demand was 97, which is above the standard prescribed by law.

7. Original Works.—The funds at the disposal of the Committee having been found inadequate to keep up all the existing roads under them, no provision could be made for original work during the period under report. The small allotment made under the head was on account of earthwork, &c., executed during the previous year on the Burhee and Gawan road, which could not in the previous year be paid for in full for want of funds.

8. Repairs.—All the repair works estimated for during the past year, whether on metalled or fair weather roads, have been nearly completed, whilst such works as turfing, gravelling, &c., are still in progress. These will be included in the estimates to be submitted under the recent orders of Government changing the cess year, so as to be in keeping with the financial year. The state of most of the roads is generally good, and all of them are suited for wheeled traffic.

9. Village roads.—No new village road was made during the half-year under review. The existing village roads have had surface repairs done to them, so as to keep them fit for wheeled traffic.

10. Arboriculture.—No new trees were planted during the period under report. The trees planted during the past few years number about 14,000, and such funds as could be spared were devoted to maintaining these trees. Further planting cannot be undertaken until the present trees have grown sufficiently so as to be out of danger.

11. Nursery garden.—The Road Cess office compound has been utilized as a nursery garden, and contains about 500 jack and mango seedlings and 200 eucalyptus plants. All the young plants are doing well.

12. Staging Bungalows.—The only staging bungalow in the district is situated at Ramghur. The receipt from the bungalow amounted to Rs. 82-8, and the expenditure, on account of maintenance, &c., to Rs. 56-12.

13. All the works in the district, excepting the maintenance of trees, which is done departmentally, were executed by contracts.

14. A sum of Rs. 3,500 was placed at the disposal of the Branch Committee for repairs to village roads during the cess year 1886-87. Of this a sum of Rs. 2,405 was allotted for repairs and Rs. 656 reserved for meeting the cost of establishment and office contingencies, leaving an unallotted balance of Rs. 439, which was kept back for expenditure in the rains. There was considerable delay in getting work started this year as the Sub-divisional Officer was new to the sub-division; and when he took charge in the latter part of October, he found that estimates had not been prepared for all the roads for which allotments were required, and there was therefore great difficulty in obtaining tenders for carrying on the work by contract. The bulk of the road for which allotments were made was, however, completed before the close of the cold weather; but it could not be checked before the half-year came to a close, and consequently a very small portion of the allotment was actually disbursed during the period under review. Repairs were done to 17 roads, on account of which Rs. 2,405 had been allotted. The total amount actually disbursed by the Branch Committee during the half-year was, for the reasons above stated, only Rs. 213-10, and almost all of this was spent in paying the establishment which consisted of a Sub-Overseer on Rs. 35, a clerk on Rs. 15, and a mali for looking after trees on Rs. 3.

15. The District Engineer, Mr. Gantzer, is, as reported last year, an efficient officer, and takes an interest in his work. He gave satisfaction during the year. The staff under him worked fairly well. As regards the sub-divisional establishment, the Sub-divisional Officer remarks as follows:—

“The Branch Committee's establishment did not work satisfactorily. The Sub-Overseer in particular did not shew any energy or zeal, and is not a competent man; but it is doubtful whether the salary the Committee can afford from its limited funds is sufficient to attract any one able to do the work with even tolerable efficiency. It would conduce to efficiency if he were placed under the District Engineer, who could then utilize his services to the best advantage, and the Branch Committee would then deal directly only with District Engineer.”

H. C. MITTER,
Vice-Chairman.

No. 120D.R., dated Ranchi, the 5th July 1887.

From—LIEUT.-COLONEL E. G. LILLINGSTON, Deputy Commissioner of Lohardugga,
To—The Commissioner of Chota Nagpore.

REFERRING to Bengal Government Circular No. 6, dated 29th March 1887, received with your memorandum No. 2D.R., dated 6th April 1887, and subsequent correspondence, I have the honour to submit the following report on the operations of the District Road Fund from 1st October 1886 to 31st March 1887.

* * * * *

3. During the half-year under report there were three meetings of the District Committee, of which one was special and two ordinary. One ordinary meeting was adjourned for want of a quorum. The average attendance was the same as that of the last year. Five new members have been appointed in the places of those who were removed under section 115 for not attending six consecutive meetings. Regarding Palamow Branch Road Cess Committee the result was the same as last year.

4. A summary of the business transacted at the meeting of the District Road Cess Committee is given below:—

- To pass the revised budget estimate.
- To fix the rate of road cess to be levied during the year.
- To pass the annual account for 1885-86.
- Passing estimates of different works for 1886-87.
- To dispose of other miscellaneous cases.

5. G. W. Place, Esq., c.s., Joint-Magistrate, held the office of Vice-Chairman throughout the half-year.

6. The demand on account of cess on lands and mines during the half-year amounted to Rs. 49,056.

7. The total amount recoverable during the half-year under the head of cess on lands and mines, including arrears of last year, was Rs. 49,123. Out of this amount Rs. 48,475 were collected, the balance outstanding on the 31st March last being Rs. 649. In addition to the above, a sum of Rs. 1,968 was collected during the half-year on account of the ensuing year (1887-88).

8. The cess was levied at the maximum rate. There was no difficulty in collecting it at head-quarters. In the Palamow sub-division also the payments appear now to be more punctually made than before.

9. Original Works.—No original work was undertaken during the half-year under review, but the expenditure shewn under this head represents a portion of the work executed in excess by the late District Engineer over the budget allotment of the last year ending 30th September 1886, which, on account of want of funds, could not be paid within that year, and had to be paid out of the budget allotment for the year commencing with 1st October 1886.

10. Plantation.—Nothing has been done in plantation work during the last half-year. Only the plants which died have been renewed, and those planted at the end of the last year were maintained and new gabions and supports furnished to them.

11. Repairs.—Sanction to the budget estimate was not received before the end of December 1886. Works were let out on contract at the end of January, and so contractors could not commence these works earlier. For this reason much work under this head could not be executed. The roads, however, were kept passable for traffic by surface dressing, easing the approaches at the crossings of rivers and nullahs, filling up breaches, holes, and repairs to, or reconstruction of, the temporary bridges. Much of the works executed during the half-year was not paid for to the contractors before April last, and consequently the accounts do not show the full equivalent of works undertaken.

12. Village roads.—The same remarks apply as for repair work. Angara and Getulsudh village road, which was taken in hand last year, was completed with five culverts of dry rubble and flagstone.

13. Accounts.—The monthly accounts of the Road Fund and of the District Engineer's office were examined by the Vice-Chairman alone, for the reasons reported in the last annual report.

14. The local Auditor inspected this and the District Engineer's office on the 26th April 1887, and the result was satisfactory as far as this office is concerned. Some defects were pointed out concerning the District Engineer's office, which were attributable to the lax way in which the late District Engineer managed and supervised his works. They, however, do not exist at present, and the present District Engineer has been warned not to fall into the errors committed by his predecessor.

15. The establishments required under the Road Cess Act are—

- (a) Establishment for collection of revenue.
- (b) Committee's office establishment.
- (c) Engineering establishment.

16. The establishment for collection of revenue at head-quarters consists of one head clerk and accountant, one assistant clerk, one mohurir and one peon. The officers also do the work connected with the Committee's office, for which there is no separate establishment. The establishment under the Sub-divisional Officer of Palanow consists of one clerk, one mohurir, and one peon.

17. The head clerk and accountant Baboo Nundo Lal Chatterjee has given complete satisfaction during the past six months. The Auditor found the accounts well and accurately kept.

18. The District Engineer, Baboo Jugadish Ghander Roy, joined in the latter part of November 1886, and has made progress in his office work. As far as I have seen up to the present time he seems to be a competent man and takes an interest in his work.

19. The District Engineer reports that all the establishment employed under him worked fairly well.

20. The roads, bridges, culverts mentioned in the budget estimate for 1887-88 (sanctioned by Government) are the works proposed to be taken in hand during the year 1887-88.

21. The works have all been executed by contract during the half-year under report, and the small sums advanced to contractors and planters have been adjusted, except in a few disputed cases.

No. 67D.R., dated Purulia, the 17th June 1887.

From—E. N. BAKER, Esq., c.s., Chairman, District Road Committee, Manbhoom,
To—The Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division.

WITH reference to your memorandum No. 43R.C., dated 28th ultimo, I have the honour to forward the District Road Committee's report for the half-year, from the 1st October 1886 to 31st March 1887, called for in Bengal Government's No. 2384 of 21st May last.

No. 66D.R., dated Purulia, the 13th June 1887.

From—H. W. HILL, Esq., M.B., Vice-Chairman, District Road Committee, Manbhoom,

To—The Chairman, District Road Committee, Manbhoom.

IN reference to your endorsement, dated 31st ultimo, on Bengal Government's letter No. 2384 of 21st ultimo, I have the honour to forward the accompanying report on the working of the District Road Committee, roads, &c., for the six months from 1st October 1886 to 31st March 1887.

Report of the District Road Committee of Manbhoom for the half-year from 1st October 1886 to 31st March 1887.

1. Working of the Committee.—The Committee met six times during the half-year under report, and there was no meeting without a quorum. The following is a summary of the work done by the Committee during the half-year:—

- (1) Passing of the monthly Road Fund accounts, audited by a Standing Sub-Committee, every month.
- (2) Passing annual accounts and reports of cess year 1885-86.
- (3) Discussion over the late Chairman's proposal for the construction of a separate building for the accommodation of the Road Cess, District Road Committee's, and Municipal offices combined. The proposed building to have a large hall as well to serve the purposes of Committee meetings and library, and as a permanent memorial at the same time of the Queen's Jubilee. The cost of the building to be met proportionately from the funds of the District Road Committee, the Municipality, and from the Jubilee Committee funds.
- (4) Re-nomination of the Vice-Chairman and members in accordance with sections 129 and 118 of the Cess Act IX (B.C.) of 1880.

2. Branch Committees.—None in this district; maintenance of village and other roads in the Govindpore sub-division being under the direct management of the Sudder Committee.

3. Works done during the half-year.—The annexed statement shows an abstract of all works done during the half-year, and their respective cost. The greater part of the expenditure represents payments made for works provided in the budget of the previous year ending 30th September 1886, which, for unavoidable delays, could not be entirely finished and paid for before the close of that year.

(1a.) On account of the unusual delay in obtaining sanction to the budget now in force, the ordinary annual repair work could not be taken in hand earlier than the last week of April 1887. For this reason the expenditure out of the above budget provisions during the half-year is so very small, consisting, as it does, chiefly of wages of chowkidars for the different bungalows, and charges for temporary work establishment entertained for watering young plants and looking after them. Excluding the above, the only important work done during the period under report is the survey and levelling of some of the proposed railway feeders.

For the reason stated in paragraph (1a), and on account of the unavoidable delay in appointing a surveyor, this work also did not progress as well as it should have, if it were taken in hand in proper season. The total length surveyed within the half-year was about 25 miles.

(2a.) No payments for works in the Govindpore sub-division were made, nor anything expended out of the budget provision now in force.

Audit Certificate.

We hereby certify that the books and accounts specified below,* prescribed for the Road Cess office, and for the office of the District Engineer, are duly kept up, and that they have been posted for the half-year 1886-87, from 1st October 1886 to 31st March 1887, and they have been duly scrutinized by the Sub-Committee.

Also that the Treasury Officer's abstract of the account of the Committee for the half-year has been duly received and checked with the cash and pass-books, and found to agree therewith, except in respect of the amount of imprest in the hands of the Accountant, which has been duly noted in the cash-book.

That the vouchers for the payments of the half-year have been cancelled; that none but duly sanctioned expenditure has been incurred, and that, in the case of original works, the Register of monthly expenditure shows clearly the amount of sanctioned estimate, the grant for the year; and generally that the work of the office has been performed with a due observance of the rules prescribed by Government.

* Road Cess Office:—(1) Cash-book; (2) Cash-abstract; (3) Register of monthly receipts and expenditure; (4) Account of deposits; (5) Account of advances.

District Engineer's Office:—I. Accounts, viz.,—(1) Files of contract certificates, (2) Files of bills for purchases or purchase lists, (3) Files of day-books, (4) Files of establishment bills, (5) Files of acquittance rolls; II. Books, viz.,—(2) Register of bills passed, (3) Register of works and repairs, (4) Register of tools and plant.

Explanatory Note.

The expenditure under head Original Works in connection with the gravelling portion of the Roghoonathpore-Bankura road and in constructing wells represents payments made during the period under report for works provided for, and chiefly executed during the preceding year.

The excess expenditure in some of the items of repair works is apparent but not actual, as the budget provision shown in the statement is for the year under report, whereas the expenditure includes payments for works provided for and chiefly done in the previous year.

Memo. by MAJOR H. BOILEAU, Deputy Commissioner, Singbhoom.

COPY of the following forwarded to the Commissioner of Chota Nagpore, with reference to his Memorandum No. 51D.B., dated 11th June 1887 and subsequent reminders.

Working of the District Road Committee for the half-year ending 31st March 1887.

Two meetings were held, six members were present, and passed the following Resolutions:—

1st.—That the road cess be levied according to the maximum rate fixed by Government, i.e., one half-anna on each rupee of the annual value of lands and of the annual net profits of quarries and jungles.

2nd.—That the annual accounts and report for the cess year 1885-86 be passed.

That the savings under the head of village roads out of the allotment for the year 1885-86 be utilized in improving the Soobornarekha ghât by easing the slopes.

That a sanction of Rs. 96 be given for the purchase of an iron safe for the safe custody of public money placed in charge of the District Engineer.

Supplementary report of road operations during the half-year ending 31st March 1887.

No. 1.—Midnapore Road, 71 miles.—A sum of Rs. 3,687-12-0 was expended on this road during the half year. Roughly this was distributed as follows:—

General maintenance.—Gravelling, earthwork, dressing, turfing, &c.	3,184	2	9

Five miles were completely gravelled and a considerable quantity of gravel was collected to be spread as funds permitted. One shelter-house was begun.

No. 2.—Norsingur to Baharagoora road, 21 miles.—Rupees 403-5-6 were expended for maintaining this road. One culvert was repaired.

No. 3.—Barakar road, 29 miles.—The sum of Rs. 1,066-13-6 was spent during the half-year. Seven miles of the road were gravelled, two shelter-houses were begun, diverting the road across the hill on the south bank of the Soobornarekha river was in progress.

No. 5.—Bandgaon road, 44 miles.—Rupees 815-14-3 were spent on this road. One shelter-house was begun at Mylepiri.

Gorjan and Goodri roads.—Rupees 83-14 were expended. 61 culverts were repaired.

Village roads (6 and 10, 21 and 23).—Rupees 280-2-9 were spent on 9 miles of road from Tandanghatee to Bandgaon opened out.

Arboriculture.—All the existing plants were properly fenced with bamboo enclosures. A sum of Rs. 125-5-3 was expended under this head.

Thus a total of Rs. 6,463 was expended during the six months under report. This does not include establishment, &c.

The District Engineer, Upendra Nath Banerjee, left the district on the 14th March 1887. He left no notes behind him which could be of any service in preparing this supplementary report, nor does he appear to have kept up any register of works. It has thus been impossible to give more than a rough account of work actually done during the half-year in question.

CHYEBASS
The August 1887. }

H. BOILEAU,
Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Singbhoon.

No. 179R.C., dated Ranchi, the 3rd November 1887.

From—O. C. STEVENS, Esq., C.S., Commissioner of Chota Nagpur,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

IN reference to the Government Circular No. 6, dated the 29th March last, I have the honour to submit herewith in original the annual accounts and reports of the several District Road Committees in this division for the half-year ending March 1887.

2. The following statement shows the number of members in each Committee and their average attendance at meetings during the half-year under review.

COMMITTEES.	No. of MEMBERS.		Number of meetings held.	Average attendance.
	Official.	Non-official.
Hazaribagh	8	17	8	9.3
Lohardugga	8	4	3	4
Manbhoom	5	11	6	5
Singbhoom	4	11	2	6

3. At each meeting of the Committees of Hazaribagh, Manbhoom and Singbhoom there was a quorum. In Lohardugga one ordinary meeting had to be adjourned for want of a quorum, and five new members had to be appointed in place of those removed on account of their absence from six consecutive meetings.

4. The cess was levied during the half-year at the maximum rate in all the districts in the division. The aggregate receipts during the past half-year amounted to Rs. 1,55,722-8-4, inclusive of Rs. 42,458-3-0 the opening cash balance at its commencement, and Rs. 4,098-10-8 the receipts under the heads of 'advances' and 'deposits.' The total expenditure, including advances and refunds of deposits, amounted to Rs. 51,606-10-5, leaving a balance of Rs. 1,04,055-13-11 at the close of the half-year.

5. Original Works.—The total expenditure on account of original works in the several districts amounted to Rs. 4,925-5-6. In Hazaribagh and Lohardugga the entire amounts, Rs. 319-3-0 and Rs. 2,448-13-1, shown under this head represent payments on account of works done during the past year. In Manbhoom, out of the Rs. 2,029-12-11 shown under this heading, Rs. 322-6-1 was on account of surveying and preparing projects for the proposed railway feeders, and the rest on account of works provided in the budget for the year ending September 1886. In Singbhoom the amount of Rs. 127-8-6 shown under it represents the cost of improving the Subornaorekha ghât.

6. Repair Works.—The amounts expended under the head of 'repairs' were—

Rs.	A.	P.
2,415	11	9	in Hazaribagh
4,361	7	10	„ Lohardugga
8,515	15	4	„ Manbhoom, and
6,463	5	3	„ Singbhoom,

These amounts include, respectively, Rs. 213-10-0, 693-5-4, 816-12-0, and 280-2-9 spent on the maintenance of village roads. In Hazaribagh all the repairs estimated for during the past half-year have been nearly completed; whilst such works as turfing, gravelling, &c., are still in progress. In this district the state of most of the roads is generally good, and all of them are suited for wheeled traffic. In Lohardugga the works were let out to contractors at the end of January, as sanction to the budget was not received by the Deputy Commissioner till after the close of December. The result was that much work under this head could not be executed during the half-year. The accounts, however, do not shew the actual liabilities incurred, as full payment for the work executed during the half-year was not made till after the close of it. The roads in this district were in a passable state. In Manbhoom, out of the Rs. 8,515-15-4 shewn under this head, Rs. 8,242-4-10 represents the expenditure on account of works provided in the budget for the year ending September 1886, which could not be finished and paid for during that year, and the remainder Rs. 273-10-6 consists chiefly of wages of chowkidars for the different bungalows and charges for temporary work establishment entertained for watering young plants and looking after them. Besides these amounts, Rs. 1,230-15-1, 309-1-2 and 198-6-11 were respectively spent during the half-year on account of repairs to serais, repairs to bundhs, and construction of staging houses. No repair work could be taken in hand in this district during the half-year on account of the delay in obtaining sanction to the budget. In Singbhoom, out of the Rs. 6,463-5-3 shewn under this head, Rs. 3,087-12-0 were spent on the Midnapore road, Rs. 408-5-6 on the Nursinggur-Baharagorah road, Rs. 1,066-13-6 on the Barakar road, Rs. 815-14-3 on the Bundgaon road, Rs. 84 on the Gurjan and the Jyutgur roads, Rs. 280-2-9 on village roads, and Rs. 125-5-3 on Arboriculture.

7. Arboriculture.—No new trees were planted during the half-year. The trees planted previously were properly maintained.

8. Establishments.—The establishments under the several District Road Committees as a rule worked fairly well during the half-year under review; the Sub-Overseer of Giridih and the late District Engineer of Singbhoom have not been favourably mentioned.

LAND SALE NOTICES.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned plots of lands situated in pergunnah Chaimpur, which are no longer required by Government for the purpose for which they were acquired, will be put up to public auction at the Shahabad Collectorate on the 8th June 1888, at noon, and will be sold to the highest bidder on the conditions specified below:—

- (a).—On the termination of the sale the auction purchaser will be required to deposit a sum equal to one-fourth of the purchase money, failing which the land will be resold immediately.
- (b).—Within a period of 30 days from the date of sale the auction purchaser must pay the entire amount due from him on account of the sale; in the event of his failing to pay in the money within the prescribed time, the deposit of one-fourth money will be forfeited by him and the land resold.
- (c).—If the price obtained by the second sale falls short of that offered at the original sale, the first auction purchaser will be required to make good the difference.

Maps of the several plots to be sold are available for inspection in the office of the Collector.

A. POWELL, Collector.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned plots of Nalhati Railway land, no longer required by the Government, situated in the district of Moorshedabad, will be put up to sale on the 31st May and 1st and 2nd June next, in Moorshedabad Collector's Office.

The purchasers of the plots will be subject to the following conditions:—

1st.—The purchasers will have no power to make any excavation on the land nearer than 15 feet from the Railway fencing, or plough it closer than 3 feet from the foundation.

2nd.—If the amount of purchase-money does not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

3rd.—If the amount of purchase-money exceeds Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the 15th day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale to be cancelled, the sum deposited being forfeited to Government, and the estate to be again put up for sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement as in the case of original sale.

4th.—The plots will be sold revenue-free to the highest bidders.

5th.—The purchaser shall be put in possession on receipt of the orders of the Collector approving of the sales. But such possession shall be liable to be disturbed in case the final confirmation of the Board of Revenue should not be accorded to the proceedings.

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the undermentioned estate situate in the district of Hooghly, will be put up to sale at the Hooghly Collectorate on Thursday, the 28th June 1888, corresponding with 15th Assar 1295.

The purchaser will be subject to the following conditions of sale:—

Conditions of Sale.

1st.—The estate to be sold to the highest bidder above the upset price. The purchaser of the estate will be considered as the proprietor of the estate, and the entire proprietary right of Government in the estate will be transferred to him, subject to the revenue fixed in perpetuity.

2nd.—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings and by the laws in force, and the purchaser to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the schedule of assessment prepared by the Revenue authorities.

3rd.—If the amount of purchase-money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4th.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the 15th day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or, if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the succeeding office day, the sale to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government) and the estate to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement as in the case of original sale.

NOTICE.

It is hereby notified, for general information, that subscriptions to the complete series of the Indian Law Reports should be registered during the first three months of each calendar year. Subscribers are therefore requested to send in their subscriptions for the complete series before the 31st March in each year. Those who register their names after that date will understand that copies will be supplied only if available.

H. A. D. PHILLIPS,

Under-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.
The 24th November 1886.

The following revised advertisement is published in substitution for that which appeared at page 1084, Part II of the Calcutta Gazette of the 9th July 1884:—

The Indian Law Reports,

Published under Authority.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st April 1888, the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876:—

Terms of subscription payable annually in advance.

BENGAL MUNICIPAL ACT, III OF 1884, AMENDMENT BILL.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY postponed the presentation of the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Bengal Municipal Act, III of 1884.

CALCUTTA AND SUBURBAN MUNICIPALITIES AMALGAMATION BILL.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that the clauses of the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the municipal affairs of the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta, as further amended, be further considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY moved the omission of sections 99 and 100 from the Bill (sections relating to the imposition of a duty on petroleum). He said:—In order to clear the way for the discussion, I may as well inform the Council that a decision of the Government of India has been communicated to the Local Government since the Select Committee decided to adopt these sections. In reference to the question of the contribution from Imperial revenues towards the cost of the police charges, the Government of India have stated that the contribution now assigned to Provincial funds has been fixed on the understanding that petroleum stored in Calcutta shall not be subjected to municipal taxation so long as it is subjected to an Imperial Customs duty. In other words these sections, if adopted by the Council, will remain, for at any rate a considerable period of time, a dead letter. The question then naturally arises, why not leave them out? My hon. friend, Sir Henry Harrison, following the line of reasoning he adopted on another question at our last meeting, will probably rejoin, why not leave them in? My answer is that the principle of an octroi in Bengal is involved. I apprehend that more than one of my colleagues on the Select Committee voted for the inclusion of these sections because they were reluctant to deprive the new municipality of one means of increasing its income which we should all be glad to see augmented. But now that the hope of an increase from this source is removed, they may perhaps change their views. We can put aside the supposed interests of the municipality and look solely to the principle involved. The question comes up on the simple issue whether an octroi can be properly levied, I will not say in Calcutta alone, but in the municipalities of Bengal; and I am glad that the question has been brought to this plain issue. I will not trouble the Council with a disquisition on the arguments for or against an octroi tax. Hon. Members are doubtless well aware of them. On the one hand, if it can be secured that only the fixed rate, and no more and no less, will be levied on articles consumed by the people of a municipality, then octroi will be not only not an objectionable, but a most admirable tax. On the other hand, we know from the many Resolutions of the Government of India that it not only has a tendency to become, but does generally in practice become, a transit duty and a burden on trade. An instance was given by Sir John Strachey in 1879 where a municipality from which cotton was exported charged octroi on the iron brought in for hooping the bales, but refused a refund when it went out on the bales. Many other instances were brought to the notice of Government by the Bombay Chamber of Commerce, which strongly protested against the abuses which the octroi system had given rise to in Bombay municipalities. I shall not dwell further on this point, nor shall I dwell upon the very peculiar provision of the section as it stands, under which the storage of petroleum in transit is to be altogether prohibited in Calcutta. This will no doubt prevent the octroi from becoming a transit duty. But it seems to me to guard against the risk of one evil by ensuring the existence of another. It prevents a difficulty being placed on trade by a transit duty by placing another difficulty on trade, by preventing merchants dealing with a department of commerce which is increasing in volume every day, from transacting their business at a reasonable distance from their offices. They will have to conduct their operations from a distant dépôt, miles out of the town, when, in the area to be included under the Bill, there are places well suited for the purpose. These, however, are not the points which I wish now to urge upon the Council. My objections to the duty are based on broader principles. I maintain that in Bengal, owing to the circumstances of the country and towns, an octroi cannot be levied without the certainty of oppression and corruption and of harassment of the people. Towns in Bengal are not walled or even compact; they are open and straggling, and the most experienced officers of the Government have expressed strong opinions against the imposition of this form of taxation in towns. In 1868 the Commissioners of Divisions in Bengal reported against it. I will read to the Council the opinion of Sir Ashley Eden, on the Bill introduced by Sir John Strachey in 1879 to regulate the levy of octroi. Mr. Mackenzie's letter of 18th December, 1879, said:—

"The only suggestion which the Lieutenant-Governor has to make is that the Bill should be specifically declared not to extend to the Province of Bengal. It has repeatedly been shown that an octroi duty is not adapted to the circumstances of Bengal towns and villages, and the Lieutenant-Governor can imagine no form of impost which would be more objectionable here. Both Sir Cecil Beadon and Sir William Grey condemned proposals to introduce these duties into Bengal. The general voice of district and divisional officers was against them when Sir George Campbell sought to embody them in his (vetoed) Municipalities Bill of 1872, and Sir Ashley Eden would be very sorry to see any attempt made to re-open the subject so far as this province is concerned."

As I have said, our towns in Bengal are really a series of straggling houses. They are approached by roads and paths, creeks and khalls, and if you are to have an octroi in them, you must have an army of underpaid subordinates to collect the tax at their own sweet wills from the people. To collect an octroi a large staff must be maintained, and, as was pointed out by the Government of India in 1884, the cost of this staff will be unduly high. "In a large open city, moreover," wrote the Government of India, "the cost of collecting establishment must be excessively high, and quite out of due proportion to the receipts." I maintain that such a tax collected by such an agency will, under the appearance of indirect taxation, have all the worst evils of direct taxation. If it is urged that the question before us concerns the levy of octroi in Calcutta only, I would answer that in the first place Calcutta is such a town as I have described. I would remind the Council of the speech of my hon. friend opposite (Mr. Allen) at the last meeting. He pointed out that on this Bill becoming law the boundary of Calcutta on the Ballygunge side will be, not even a village, but a series of paddy fields. Again, if we affirm the principle of octroi in Calcutta, I cannot see how we can refuse it in Howrah, Patna, Dacca, and other towns. Here I will borrow a metaphor of which my hon. friend Sir Henry Harrison is so fond. My friend does not like the closing of doors. Here, however, is a case, not of closing a door which might afterwards be opened, but of opening a door, taking it off its hinges, and carrying it away. Such will be the result of introducing any form of octroi in Bengal. If you admit it in Calcutta you will have it throughout the country. Apart, therefore, from the general question of the economic effects of octroi, I would urge that the tax is unsuited to the towns of this Province, and I ask the Council to affirm this principle by omitting these sections.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—I much hope that the Council will not accept this amendment, which will very seriously cripple the new municipality. My hon. friend has supported his amendment on two legs widely different in character. One is the vis major of the Government of India. We are told that it will be a condition with regard to this Bill that no duty shall be levied on petroleum so long as a duty is levied on that article by the Supreme Government. When we were in Select Committee it was thought probable that it would involve the rejection of the Bill altogether. I am pleased to find from what has been now said that the form of opposition has toned down, and that the exercise of the power reserved by the Government of refusing permission to raise this tax will be the means of preventing it. But is it just to suppose that the Government of India is so opposed to the proposal that they will not be open to conviction, or that there will be no changes in the personnel of that Government? Has the case that can be made out for putting a levy on petroleum in Calcutta ever been put before the Government of India? Has the Corporation had the chance of impressing upon the Government of India their view of the equity of allowing this tax on petroleum? I believe that a case so strong and so forcible can be placed before the Government for allowing this tax that, knowing how open they will be to reasonable conviction, if this provision remains in the law not many years will pass before the view of the Government of India on the subject will be changed. If the Council will agree to retain this provision in the Bill, we are confident that we shall be able to make out so strong a case that in a very few years the Government of India will allow the levy of this tax. The letter from the Government of India seems to assume that this section will remain in the Bill. Then we have the strong fact that it is in the Bill in Bombay. Bombay levies a duty on spirits in Bombay, although spirits are taxed by the Imperial Government. Bombay has now in their Bill [section 190 and the schedule] the very same tax which we propose to levy on petroleum; they have a duty of two pice per gallon, which comes to about four annas per case. Is it reasonable to suppose that the Government of India will treat Calcutta on one footing and Bombay on another; and provided we can show that the tax will be levied with no harshness except the harshness of having to pay, and without any other particular harassment, is it reasonable to suppose that the Calcutta Corporation will be refused what is granted to the Bombay Corporation?

I then come to the question of octroi, and here I maintain that our position is so unanswerable that my hon. friend is obliged to take up the ground, which is not the ground upon which it is put, that an octroi is unsuitable to municipalities in Bengal. He says that under the circumstances of the case an octroi is so unsuitable to Bengal that it ought not to be introduced. I grant all that. But what is the ground we put forward? It is that the case of petroleum is so exceptional that none of the objections to the introduction of octroi duties, generally, apply to it. We challenge discussion on that ground. But my hon. friend evades that ground, and says that the objections which apply to octroi duties must apply to petroleum. How far is that correct? The history of the case is this. A Committee was appointed by the Government to see how the income of the Calcutta Municipality could be increased, and on that Committee there were representatives from almost every class of the community. Besides myself, there was on that Committee Mr. Craik, Baboo Durga Churn Law, Mr. Morrison, Baboo Kali Nath Mitter, Baboo Jadoo Lal Mullick, Mr. Wallis, and Mr. Buckland who acted as Secretary. After sitting many times and threshing out the question in many forms, we found not a single subject of taxation, except one, on which we could agree, and regarding that one, after discussing it fully, there was not one dissentient voice. Now what was the reason for this? It was unanimity that petroleum being supposed to be a dangerous article is so watched by the law at present at every step, that you can impose a duty upon it without putting on it one single restriction more than what is already put. Is it possible to make out a stronger case? At the present time you cannot introduce petroleum into Calcutta without permission and only under special conditions. You have a depôt for the storage of petroleum far from the Town; you must have a license from the Police for the storage of petroleum in Calcutta; you cannot transport it without a license. So that we have already a complete check on the receipt of petroleum, on the storage of petroleum, and on the transport of petroleum, and consequently we have nothing more to do than to take things as they stand and at a convenient point, when the transport license is given, to impose this duty. The proposed duty on petroleum is so small, it is so easily levied, and the article is so valuable as compared with the duty, that the danger of confiscation is quite enough to prevent any attempt at evasion of the duty, without the necessity for any army of peons and other underlings, or the watching of canals and khals or roads and bye-ways, which is the spectre which my hon. friend has conjured up a reason for not allowing the imposition of a municipal tax on petroleum; and I feel certain that the growth of the trade is such, that the imposition of a small fee in addition to the Imperial duty will in no way protect other oils or prejudice the trade in petroleum. That being so, and a tax on petroleum being recommended unanimously by a Committee specially appointed for the purpose of seeing what extra taxation can be levied for municipal purposes, I ask whether it does not stand on very strong ground, and the least that can be done by any person who wishes to dethrone the proposal from its present position is to show where a substitute is to come from. Taxation per se is an evil, and every form of taxation is objectionable in some sense. But taxation is a relative evil, and merely to urge that it is not good is no sufficient argument. After the whole subject has been threshed out by a representative Committee appointed for the purpose, and after this form of taxation has been unanimously recommended, and has had the approval of the Commissioners, is it reasonable for a member of the Council to urge that it is a bad form of taxation, but that he has nothing better to suggest? Seeing that it is now two years since this Bill was placed before the public, and that neither the Chamber of Commerce nor the Trades' Association have objected to it till within the last few weeks, is it reasonable now to strike out this section without suggesting any substitute? I hope the Council will do nothing to cripple the new Municipality by closing its mouth. Give them the opportunity of making out a case to the Government of India, and I am confident that they will be able to make out such a case that in spite of the present intention of the Government of India, they will be obliged, by the force of justice and reason, in a few years to give permission to raise this tax.

The Hon. Mr. MOORE said:—I wish to say a few words merely to explain why I support this amendment. The arguments which the hon. mover of the amendment has used have entirely convinced me that this section of the Bill should not be allowed to stand. What I wish, however, specially to say is that a representation was made to me by the Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, as soon as they knew that this question was to be discussed, to the effect that they are very strongly opposed to this tax. The hon. member in charge of the Bill has complained that the Chamber of Commerce have not up to this time said anything against this proposal, but I do not see any reason why they should not do so now. Continual changes are going on in the Bill, and it is impossible for any one to say until an actual debate comes on what will eventually be done. The very question of the separation of the offices of Chairman of the Corporation and Commissioner of Police was believed to have been settled finally, and yet it was re-opened twenty-four hours only before this Council met and discussed it. The Octroi Committee, to which the hon. member has referred, were unanimously of opinion that no form of octroi was to be recommended. The members of the Committee, it ought to be remembered, included members of the Chamber of Commerce, the Trades' Association, and the British Indian Association. I gather that the general view of the whole of the Committee was opposed to an octroi in any form whatever, and in their first recommendation to tax petroleum I read only a kind of compromise, as they thought it necessary to recommend some fresh tax for Municipal wants. The member in charge shakes his head, and I cannot now appeal to the members of that Committee to ascertain their actual views; but whatever they were, the views of the present Chamber of Commerce are very distinct, and they oppose this tax strongly. They represent the views of an influential body, and I hope they will carry due weight when this amendment is put to the vote.

The Hon. Mr. PRATT said:—I venture to say that I also am commissioned by the Trades' Association to add my opposition to the passing of this section of the Bill. The imposition of a tax on petroleum was considered before the letter of the Government of India had been received. At that time there was no intention, as far as they knew, of imposing an Imperial tax on petroleum, and not much attention was paid to the subject. The Imperial tax on petroleum, we think, is quite enough.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—I think perhaps it may help matters if I explain exactly what the position of the Government of India is in respect to these sections as they stand in the Bill. The Government of India said:—“They involve the affirmation of a principle hitherto opposed to the policy of the Government; but as the clauses are permissive and the previous sanction of the Local Government is required before the power which they confer can be exercised, the Governor-General in Council will not insist on their being withdrawn. It will be understood, however, that the consent of the Local Government to any proposal to impose a municipal tax in any form on petroleum will not be given without the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council of India.” And in addition to that, in the same letter they make their contribution to the maintenance of the police depend on no municipal duty being levied on petroleum as long as it is subject to an Imperial customs duty. For the present, therefore, although we have had a very interesting discussion on the subject, it seems to me rather of an academical than a practical interest. Because it is perfectly clear from the letter of the Government of India that though we may keep our section if we like, the Government of India will not give us permission to make use of it. The question which then arises, is whether it is worth while to keep the section in the Bill; and although I regret exceedingly to find myself not in accord with such powerful bodies as the Chamber of Commerce and the Trades' Association, still I feel inclined to come to the assistance of the Municipality on this subject, and to explain the reasons why I prefer to keep the section as it stands in the Bill. You have been told what the history of these sections is. How it was a resource unanimously agreed upon by a tolerably strong and representative Committee and accepted by the Government. I do not think, although of course I cannot be sure, that any objection to this section would have been heard of if it had not been that the Government of India had been beforehand with us. They took the wind out of our sails and imposed an Imperial tax on petroleum, and they say that is enough, you must not tax petroleum any more. And no doubt people interested in the trade of petroleum look with some trepidation to an additional tax being thrust upon it, although for local and not for imperial purposes. It has just the same effect upon the trade for whatever purpose the tax may be levied. But whether that be so or not,—whether it be the case, as I suppose, that nobody would ever have heard of any serious objection being taken if it had not been for the imperial tax levied by the Government of India—I want to point out that the Government of India's objection merely applies to the superimposition of this tax over and above their own. If their own tax be taken off—and although I do not say it is likely, I have been reminded that the Government of India has been known to take off taxes—then they will not object to our tax being levied. I think that stands clearly in the letter which I have just read to the Council, and that shows, it seems to me, that there is equally good reason for keeping in these sections in their permissive shape in order that, should that good time ever come, it may be taken advantage of without fresh recourse to legislation. Of course it may be objected, as the hon. mover of the amendment probably will object, that the theory being wrong in principle, the question whether the Government of India thinks fit to levy an imperial tax on petroleum or not makes no difference, and that even if they take off their tax, the municipality ought not to levy a municipal tax upon petroleum. On that point I have listened with great interest to what the hon. member said on the subject of octroi generally, but it seems to me that his argument that it is objectionable in Bengal generally really amounts to this, that octroi duties are objectionable only so far as your towns are not conveniently situated to watch the ingress and egress to such towns, but in towns where you can watch the ingress and egress of goods without having recourse to any very large protective staff, the objection, so far, will be removed. Therefore the objection is not a universal objection of principle, but an objection as far as the cost of levying octroi duties is concerned. And, as the hon. member in charge of the Bill has pointed out, that objection, as applied to the levy of a duty on petroleum introduced into Calcutta for consumption, falls to the ground. For it is quite certain to all who pursued the subject that, so long as the restrictions to which the importation of petroleum is subjected by law, for the purpose of safety to the public, are in force, so long as the existing establishments and regulations are kept up, you do not want that army of peons which otherwise would be necessary for the imposition of a tax on petroleum brought into Calcutta. I think that on that point the argument of the hon. member in charge of the Bill is unanswerable. For my own part, although I think it may not do much good at present to retain these sections in the Bill, and although I do not think that Sir Henry Harrison, notwithstanding his sanguine temperament and the force of his eloquence, will be able to persuade the Government of India that they are wrong and he is right, still I think there is no objection to give him the opportunity he desires.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY said in reply :—With the President's permission, I will say a few words in closing the debate. My hon. friend, Sir Henry Harrison, has said that one of my arguments, or rather one leg of my argument, is an appeal to vis major. In fact, however, I used no argument at all in regard to the Government of India's decision. I merely stated the fact, and I think that, from the terms of that decision, there appears little hope of its being reversed. My hon. friend desires to use another vis, and to have the means of applying a lever to the Government of India. The question is whether the Council will place such an implement in his hands

There is another point in this part of the hon. gentleman's speech to which I must take serious exception. Sir Henry Harrison has said that the Select Committee had been told that if the octroi sections were accepted, the Government of India would veto the Bill. Now, in the first place, it appears to me to be an unusual and inconvenient course that any words used informally in Select Committee by one member to another should be officially stated to the Council. In the second place, I said nothing of the kind in Select Committee. I distinctly said that I did not speak on any official authority, but only mentioned that one member of the Government of India had said that he thought it likely that that Government would take exception to these sections. I believe that my hon. colleagues on the Select Committee will confirm what I have said. My hon. friend (Babu Kali Nath Mitter) assents. I need therefore say no more on this point.

Now as regards the main question, I regret that I shall have to imitate my hon. friend in his argument. I must, I fear, answer him with a tu quoque. My hon. friend said that I avoided the question of petroleum to deal with another question. But my hon. friend has also avoided the real drift of my argument. He has not observed that, though my argument was purposely directed against the general principle of octroi in Bengal, said that this led from the proposal regarding petroleum. I fully recognize that an octroi may be levied on petroleum without the general objections to the most. I quite recognize that the minute regulations regarding import and storage and transport offers facilities for it. It would raise the price no doubt, but beyond this I think it is as nearly as possible an ideal octroi. But, I would ask, if on petroleum, why not on salt? Salt is also subject to minute regulations, and certainly, apart from the objections to the levy of municipal taxation concurrently with imperial taxation, it would be as easy to levy an octroi on salt as on petroleum. Then, why not on coal? Coal, it is true, is not subject to minute regulations. But it enters the city in bulk by rail, or sometimes by boat, and an octroi could easily be levied on it. What I contend is that if an octroi is admitted on petroleum, it will be extended to other articles. Now in the stone of octroi, and there will be the ever widening circles petroleum, then salt, then coal, and so forth.

As regards my hon. friend's argument that because increased revenue is necessary, those who oppose octroi on petroleum are bound to propose a substitute, this seems to be an argument that should be addressed rather to the Government of India than to the Council. But as a matter of fact, as I shall have occasion to show later on, the amount of which Government is relieving the new Corporation of police charges will actually amount to precisely the figure which has been suggested as increased income required. This is Rs. 2,80,000 for police and Rs. 75,000 for petroleum. It will be found that the Government relief would amount to least Rs. 3,55,000. I have only referred to the circumstances of Bengal municipalities, because I thought that that argument was enough to convince the Council apart from the general objections to octroi in India. But even if the circumstances were the same, I think they would be wise to avoid the difficulties which the Bombay Chamber of Commerce has found in Bombay, and Sir John Pender found in the North-West. It is true that the Government of India has taken exception to the proposal only on the ground that municipal taxation should not be allowed to be concurrent with Imperial taxation. But as the Government of India has admitted octroi generally in other provinces,—though I have shown, with constant attempts to subject it to regulations,—it could well forbid it in Bengal. This, it appears to me, is a matter for the British Council.

The motion being put the Council divided:—

His Honour the President.

So the Motion was divided.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that the following new sections be inserted after section 100:—

"100A. It shall not be lawful for the Commissioners to apply the rates, taxes, fees, and other income belonging to the Town of Calcutta to the area added to the said town for any of the purposes contemplated by this Act, save and except the sum of Rs. 2,80,000, being the amount which the Local Government has relieved the said town from contributing to the expenses of the police maintained by the said Government.

"100B. The Commissioners shall yearly spend for the area to be added to the Town of Calcutta the whole of the revenue to be derived from the said area, including the sum of Rs. 2,80,000 referred to in the preceding section, the sums which may be raised under the provisions of section ninety-nine of this Act, and any sum which the Local Government may, with the sanction of the Supreme Government, contribute to the Municipal Fund."

He said:—The object of the insertion of the first of these two sections is to prevent any confusion ensuing as to the division of the funds of the present town of Calcutta, for any purpose contemplated by the Act, to the added area. The Amalgamation Committee in their report distinctly pointed out that one of the conditions on which the amalgamation should take place was that there should be no diversion of the funds of the town for the benefit of the amalgamated area. In the concluding portion of paragraph (15) of their report, they say—"It should, in our opinion, be accepted as a definite principle that the scheme of amalgamation is not to involve the town in any heavier charges than the town is now legally liable to bear." And in the Statement of Objects and Reasons appended to the Bill it is said that the Government of India having approved in general terms of the principle that no portion of the revenues and funds belonging to Calcutta should be diverted for any purpose to the added area it is necessary that a section of this sort should be introduced into the Bill because it is anticipated that the funds which are likely to be placed at the disposal of the new municipality will not be such as to enable it to administer to the wants of the added area in a satisfactory manner. The Amalgamation Committee thought that the revenue, which it would be possible to obtain from such added area, would be Rs. 6,00,000: that was the figure they put down in their report. I think that that was a sanguine estimate. I have since been in consultation with one of the Commissioners who takes an active interest in the affairs of the Suburbs, and from the figures with which he supplied me, the conclusion I have come to is that it will not be possible to obtain more than Rs. 5,00,000 from the added area. But even supposing that my figures are wrong, and that the expectation of the Amalgamation Committee is realized, we have Rs. 6,00,000, from revenues; to that has to be added Rs. 2,80,000, which is the amount of relief the town of Calcutta will obtain from not being required to contribute to the Police Fund, besides Rs. 25,000, the amount of rating to the added area on the same account; and if we add also Rs. 75,000 to be realised from a tax on petroleum, the prospect of realising which is as distant as ever from what has fallen from Your Honour, the whole amount available for expenditure on the added area will come to about Rs. 9,50,000. The question is whether that sum would be sufficient to administer the municipal affairs of the added area? I am deliberately of opinion that it will not be sufficient. The first thing to be done will be to construct reservoirs for filtered water, to lay down distribution pipes, and to pay for four million gallons of water which the Suburbs will take from Calcutta. That contribution will amount pretty nearly to Rs. 2,00,000. An estimate has, I understand, been prepared, which shows that the cost of laying down pipes will be somewhere about Rs. 7,00,000; then there will be charges for the distribution of the water, which will be a serious item of expenditure at the very outset. It will of course be necessary, as far as the works for the water-supply and other improvements are concerned, to raise a loan for the purpose; and therefore out of this estimate of Rs. 9,50,000, at least Rs. 1,00,000 will have to be set apart for the payment of interest and for a sinking fund for the loans to be raised for the water-supply, for the construction of latrines (I am not aware that there is any large number of latrines in the added area), for the drainage of the area, and for opening out new roads. If you really wish to improve the added area, the first thing to be done will be to open out new streets: you will not be able to effect any improvement unless you open out new streets. For all these purposes, it will be necessary to set apart at least Rs. 1,00,000 for interest and sinking fund on loans. This is a very moderate estimate, and there is every prospect of its being exceeded. Then we have Rs. 8,50,000 left. I have prepared a statement showing the different items of expenditure, and it is a very moderate estimate. The annual cost of distributing water, according to Mr. Buckley's estimate, will be Rs. 47,380, and of providing a large main will be Rs. 21,000. At present the scheme is to supply only two million gallons of water, but the Corporation of Calcutta has contracted to give a supply of four million gallons; and if we really want to improve the sanitation of the added area, it will be necessary to give at least four million gallons of water; so that the figures will be doubled, and the amount for this purpose will be Rs. 1,37,684. Then the establishment charges will be Rs. 40,538, maintenance of roads Rs. 3,50,000, conservancy Rs. 84,000, house-service Rs. 2,00,000, charges of collection Rs. 12,000, additional lights Rs. 75,000, watering streets and so on Rs. 50,000: the present contribution to hospitals is Rs. 4,560, cost of vaccination Rs. 3,431, education Rs. 4,000. These items make up a total of Rs. 9,14,832. But this does not take into account expenses incurred for the erection of latrines and for the opening out of drains. If these are done out of capital, perhaps Rs. 1,00,000 will, for a few years, suffice. We have therefore Rs. 9,14,000 against an asset of Rs. 8,50,000. This is a moderate estimate on the basis of the expenditure in the Suburbs at present, increasing it of course to the extent necessary. For my own part, I think that this estimate of Rs. 9,14,000 is not a sufficient estimate, and I would not put down the expenditure at less than Rs. 12,00,000 per annum. I think that is the conclusion also to which the Local Government arrived when this matter was placed before it. After reviewing the report of the Amalgamation Committee, the Local Government pointed out that although the Committee did not in so many words state the amount of expenditure which the municipality would have to incur, it came to the conclusion that the sum which should be provided for was Rs. 6,00,000. Although by the Statement of Objects and Reasons of this Bill, no portion of the funds of the town is to be applied for any of the purposes of the added area, yet in making provision for the additional sum of Rs. 6,00,000, Rs. 2,50,000 of the house-rate was taken into consideration. That is entirely opposed to the scheme of the Amalgamation Committee. The funds of the town are to be applied for the benefit of the town, excepting the amount of relief which the Government is about to give, and yet in the estimate for this additional Rs. 6,00,000, which the Local Government considered would be needed for the improvement of this area, 2½ per cent. house-rate is taken into calculation. That, I submit, is entirely a mistake. Therefore it seems to me absolutely necessary that a section of the sort I propose should be introduced in the Bill to protect the rate-payers of the town of Calcutta. If, with the maximum rates from the added area, it be found impossible to do all that is needed, the responsibility will not rest with the Commissioners of Calcutta, but with the Government, and I wish that to be stated in the Bill as clearly and definitely as possible. Now it is proverbial that the added area is in an extremely insanitary condition, and this has been brought about not by the neglect of a few years, but of ages. This area is now to be placed under the administration of the town which has done a great deal to improve its sanitation, but has not yet done all that is necessary. Therefore it cannot be said that the area to be made over to the town is precisely in the same condition as the town, and on these grounds I submit that care should be taken to make it as clear as possible that no portion of the funds of the town will be diverted for any of the purposes of the added area. Under these circumstances, I move that section 100A be added to the Bill, but I have no objection to any improvement in the drafting of the section which may appear necessary to the learned Secretary of the Legislative Department.

If section 100A is accepted by the Council, it will be necessary to insert also section 100B, and I put it on precisely the same footing. If these sections are adopted, I do not propose to raise a discussion by moving my next amendment, viz., that the following section be inserted:—

“The Local Government shall contribute to the Municipal Fund the sum of two lakhs of rupees per annum, to be devoted to the improvement of the area added to the town of Calcutta.”

My object is simply to put on record that if the funds available are insufficient for the proper municipal administration of the added area, the responsibility will not rest with the Commissioners.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—I think it will help somewhat to the decision of this section if I put the Council in possession of the gist of the correspondence with the Government of India on the subject of this contribution. This Bill has been before the Council about two years. When it was introduced by my predecessor Sir Rivers Thompson, it was introduced on the assumption, as you will see from the Statement of Objects and Reasons, that the Government of India are prepared to take over the entire charge of the contribution for the police, a charge which was stated at the time to be Rs. 3,00,000. That runs all through the correspondence, and when I took up the subject it had already very far advanced, so far in fact that when the Select Committee submitted its report, it did so on the assumption that this contribution of three lakhs had been settled. It was only during my absence in Chota Nagpore that I learned that the Government of India were of opinion that this assumption was without any sufficient foundation. On going into the official papers on record, I am bound to say that the Government of India had always carefully guarded themselves from consenting in so many words to undertake this entire charge, although they had always accepted the principle of bearing a portion of the charge. As soon as I returned and found this situation of affairs, I took immediate measures to get the matter definitely considered and settled. The result of the further consideration on the part of the Government of India was that the Imperial revenues will contribute Rs. 2,00,000 towards the police charges of the municipality. No more. It then became a question for me to consider what was to be done—whether to ask you to go on with the Bill and hand over the added area to the municipality with diminished means to meet the charge, or whether to abandon it altogether, or to await the result of our deliberations as to whether the Provincial revenues are going to bear the burden. Last year I do not think the Provincial revenues could have done it; but fortunately by dint of hardheartedness on the part of the hon. the financial member on the left (Mr. Macaulay) we have accumulated sufficient to give an extra contribution from the Provincial funds. As to this extra contribution which will be given from the Provincial funds, my hon. friend will explain further what the total burden of our contribution will be. But it includes the police charges which we have already relieved the Suburbs of, and part of which have accumulated from year to year with a view to furnish a water-supply to the Suburbs, a statement which the hon. member omitted to mention. With reference to the amendment now before the Council, I presume the hon. member in charge of the Bill will say how far he thinks it is possible to work it. It seems to me it will involve an almost impossible practical difficulty in working. I only wish to put the Council in possession of such information as I can as to how Rs. 3,00,000 are to be given, and to assure the Council that, although the Provincial revenues will gladly give the additional Rs. 1,00,000, it is quite impossible to give more. I may mention that I do not think I can allow the additional provision proposed by the hon. mover of the amendment, as it is contrary to the section in the Indian Councils' Act, which allows no measure affecting the public revenues or any charge which would be imposed on such revenues, to be put without the previous leave of the Government.

There is one other point it is well I should mention now, as the proposed section 100B gives me a better opportunity of doing so than at any other time. The Government of India, in agreeing to give Rs. 2,00,000, saddled it with two conditions, one of which you have already heard, namely, that we shall not put a tax on petroleum while the Government of India taxes it, and then that we shall give some guarantee that the sum so contributed in lieu of the cost of the Calcutta Police will be devoted to expenditure on works of sanitation, and will not eventually be diverted from such purpose and be applied to a reduction of such taxation. It is just such a guarantee which section 100B, moved by my hon. friend, proposes to give. I have been in consultation with my hon. friend, the member in charge of the Bill, on the subject, and he thinks as I do, that this guarantee ought to be given, and he will propose to put it in the Bill as clause No. (7) at the end of section 37 in a slightly different form, viz., "devote to the improvement of the area newly added to Calcutta by this Act not less than Rs. 3,00,000 annually from the receipts of the revenue funds described in sections 102, 103, and 105 of this Act; provided that the instalments of interest and reserve fund payable on any capital sum expended under clauses (3), (4) and (5) of this section, for the improvement of that area, shall be taken as part of the Rs. 3,00,000." It will probably be desirable that the Council should see this section and have an opportunity of considering it. Therefore my hon. friend will not ask you to vote upon it now. But in case you do not accept section 100B, or in case it is withdrawn, the provision to which I have referred will be brought forward after the Council have had an opportunity of considering it.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY said:—The precise figure in regard to the Calcutta Police charges of which the municipality will be relieved has been stated to be Rs. 2,80,000. I think that figure is taken from the figures of a year before additions were made on account of the mounted police. As a matter of fact in the current year the contribution payable by the Government is Rs. 1,02,720, and consequently the amount payable by the municipality is Rs. 3,08,158. In addition to that there is now the charge on account of the Suburbs, viz., Rs. 38,000. And I may mention that previously in 1883, Sir Rivers Thompson relieved the municipality of an equal sum of Rs. 38,000 on condition of its being devoted to the water-supply and other works of sanitation. The total sum is Rs. 3,84,000 for the whole of Calcutta and the Suburbs. But as the portion of the Suburbs, which will not be included in the Calcutta Municipality, is, if I recollect rightly, in the proportion of 12 to 26, the amount of which the Government will relieve the area to be included in the Calcutta Municipality will be about Rs. 3,55,000 a year. In addition to that I may mention that this Bill will involve a relief to the Howrah Municipality of Rs. 11,000, which will be made available for expenditure on works of water-supply and sanitation.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—I would ask whether, after the statement which Your Honour has made, it will not be better to reserve the discussion till the section which you read out is proposed. It nearly covers the same ground, and the objections are not objections in principle, but the section prescribes a course which in practice it will be difficult to follow. It will be better if the hon. member sees the section proposed to be introduced, and then moves any amendment he thinks necessary to effect the further purposes which his section is intended to embrace. He wishes to make it compulsory by law for the Commissioners to spend on the added area no larger sum from the revenues of the town than the sum of which they are to be relieved from payment on account of the police charges. I think the practical difficulty of making that a legal obligation is so great that I could not undertake to support such a provision. The hon. member himself perceived the objection when he said that it was the principle he wished the Council to adopt, and that he was open to an alteration in the wording of the section. It seems to me that the objects it is intended to accomplish are beyond the possibility of being expressed in the imperative manner in which he desires to do so. I wish to know if the hon. member will accept the suggestion I have made.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said:—If there is any chance to coming to an agreement on this point, I am quite willing to postpone the discussion on this matter. But the section which Your Honour has read out makes the Commissioners responsible for devoting a particular sum of money for the improvement of the added area. There it stops. It does not go further. It takes the restriction from my section, puts it in the Bill, and excludes all the privileges. I do not consider that a right course to adopt. If I am to be met on fair terms, if we can come to a compromise on this point, surely the English language will enable us to enunciate a principle which is just, and I do not think there will be any difficulty. Therefore, on that footing, I am ready to meet my hon. friend for the purpose of seeing whether we can come to a compromise.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—I think the objects of the two sections are really incompatible. The object of the Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter is, that you should spend nothing on the new area which should come out of the pockets of the rate-payers residing in the old area. He says, if you will undertake to do that, we will undertake to give a guarantee that the police contribution shall be spent in that way and in no other. Speaking for myself, I think that to put in the Bill a section making it illegal for the Municipality to spend on the objects of the new area any portion of the funds raised in the old area will make the whole thing unworkable. The Commissioners will have to keep separate accounts, and when you come to distribute the establishments, it will be almost impossible to make the distinction. And I may add that I think the Municipality is strong enough to distribute the funds in such a way as not to give the new area any advantage over the old. I think it will be advisable, as the hon. member has said, that we should leave the section as it stands.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said :—What Your Honour has recorded will be quite sufficient for my purpose. I am quite willing that the matter should stand over now. I understand from Your Honour now, that you affirm the principle that no portion of the funds of the town shall be applied to the improvement of the added area.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said :—What I distinctly refused to affirm is any legal restriction enforcing that principle.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE said :—I wish to make one observation in the interests of the newly-added suburban area. It will be most unfair to it to tie up the hands of the new Municipality in this way. The amalgamation scheme has been accepted for the sole purpose of enabling the municipal improvement of the Suburbs to be undertaken, which could not be done if the Suburban Municipality had been left unaided by itself. If the proposed section is allowed to stand, there would really be no amalgamation at all; at best there would be federation of the two Municipalities. When the strong and the weak go in partnership, the strong must assist the weak; and if the hon. mover of the amendment is not agreeable to that, he should oppose the amalgamation altogether. With regard to the remark of my hon. friend, that the present insanitary condition of the Suburbs is the result of the neglect for years past, it should be remembered that it is really due not to any neglect of the Municipality, but to the want of funds. His own argument went to show that the insanitary condition of the Suburbs was due to want of funds and not to the want of proper supervision.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said :—I need not say more than that, as Your Honour remarked, the proposal of the hon. member appears to me to be unworkable. Every salary paid to the Municipal officers and every payment made to the Municipality will have to be divided. My idea is that the town will not want any safeguard, as with a little care nothing will be more easy than for them to protect themselves. The body which will really want protection will be the Suburbs; and as they will be brought in from outside and engrafted on to a system in full working, it will be necessary that their representatives should look closely to see that they are getting their share.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said :—I do not possess the experience which the hon. member in charge of the Bill does, but to my mind it seems that there cannot be any difficulty in carrying out the sections I have proposed. Moneys are now being collected and duties totally distinct are being performed yet under the same authority. The water-rate, the lighting-rate, and the general rate are separate funds; yet there is no difficulty in working, and why should there be any further difficulty in working on the lines I have suggested. That portion of the objection I think is more imaginary than real. As to the remark that the Town Commissioners will be a stronger body, I do not see how that has anything to do with it. To me it seems possible that the Town Commissioners may wish to devote a portion of the funds of the Town for the benefit of the Suburbs. In the Statement of Objects and Reasons accompanying the Bill, the hon. member said that "care has been taken to protect the rate-payers of the Town against loss owing to the diversion of these rates and taxes to the benefit of the new area to be added to Calcutta." That being stated in the Statement of Objects and Reasons of the Bill, I cannot understand why there should be any opposition to inserting a section in the Bill affirming that principle.

The motions were then severally put and negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER withdrew the amendment of which he had given notice, that the following section be inserted after section 100 :—

"100A. The Local Government shall contribute to the Municipal Fund the sum of two lakhs of rupees per annum to be devoted to the improvement of the area added to the town of Calcutta."

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that clause (d) of section 101 be omitted.

He said:—This refers to what is called the Halalkhor rate, and is the same as the fees levied under the present Act for removing night-soil. My objection to this being put under the head of rates is one of principle. Fees for service performed cannot be made the object of a rate. The basis of a rate is rent; unless there is rent there cannot be a rate. If that objection fails, there is the further objection that this rate will have to be paid by three classes of persons—persons who have got their water-closets unconnected, persons who have them connected, and persons who have no water-closets at all. It may seem a strange statement to make that there are persons in the town who have no water-closets at all, but in point of fact it is so. This is principally to be found in places of business where different rooms of a house are assessed separately for the purposes of the assessment of the Trades and Professions Tax, and if this clause of section 101 is passed, they will have to pay a rate of two per cent. At present such persons do not pay any night-soil fees; no service is performed, and justly they ought not to be called upon to pay. Then again connected houses do not pay, but it has been very properly pointed out that the drainage works have been constructed at considerable expense to carry away the sewage of the town, and it is only fair that connected houses should make some contribution towards the maintenance of the sewers. But that unconnected houses should pay at the same rate as connected houses is, I think, far from right. The owners of connected houses have undergone very large expenditure to have their houses connected, and therefore they get the benefit of the sewers, and though it will be just to make them pay something for the maintenance of the sewers, to make them pay in the same way as unconnected houses seems unreasonable. I cannot understand on what principle persons who have never hitherto paid night-soil fees, and for whom no service is performed, should have to pay simply for the convenience of the Corporation. The argument for the imposition of a rate is simply this, that there will be a saving of trouble and expense in preparing bills for house service, and for collecting the fees due. No doubt there is considerable force in that argument, but I do not for a moment admit that that inconvenience justifies the adoption of a proposal which will make persons liable for payment who have not now to pay anything. This liability will not be restricted to a few persons, but will fall on large numbers who are not now liable to pay anything. If this amendment is carried, I shall propose two sections to enable the Commissioners to levy fees from connected as well as unconnected houses, and so far as the revenue is concerned, the Corporation will not lose anything. It will only have the effect of applying a differential rate. To impose the same rate upon connected and unconnected houses will be totally unfair to the owners and occupiers of unconnected houses. It is also an objection that a large number of persons who have not to pay now will have to pay though no service is performed for their benefit.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—If this amendment is accepted by the Council the results will be very embarrassing. This section is one of corner stones on which the whole scheme of taxation rests. I do not know what the views of other hon. members are; whether they are to any large extent in favour of the amendment. Therefore I shall have to set forth fully all the reasons why this section should be retained as it stands. This is essentially a part of the scheme for the consolidation of the rates, and if it is not accepted the difficulty will be great. The principle of it is that you may collect all the rates by one and the same bill and by one and the same establishment, and then fairly divide them between owners and occupiers. But the amendment will destroy both these arrangements; it will prevent one collection and a fair and equal division between owners and occupiers. At present, as pointed out by the Select Committee in their report, by the Trades' Association and by the Chamber of Commerce, the incidence of taxation is $9\frac{1}{4}$ per cent. upon owners and $7\frac{3}{4}$ upon occupiers, if you leave this occupiers' cess out of consideration. Fees for house service are entirely paid by occupiers; leaving them out, the proportion is as I have stated. But if you turn the house service fees into a rate, you have a maximum of $10\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. upon occupiers and the same upon owners, and then the fairness of an equal division comes in. Besides this, very great importance must be attached to a diminution of the expense and vexation caused by the separate collection of fees of this kind. In all Municipal establishments, especially in England, the first idea which naturally finds favour is to adjust the payment of the burden of taxation to each particular case. In this way, as one measure after another was introduced for local taxation, it was adjusted in a different manner, and the result has been that with the legitimate object of adjusting taxation fairly, local taxation in England has reached a state of perfect chaos, and although we have not yet reached a similar state, the difficulty is very great indeed, and it arises from our endeavour to discover payment for house service only from houses in which house service is performed. Where you have 30 houses and 10 privies, it is very difficult to find out who ought to pay and who ought not. There is now not a Municipal discussion on a quarterly report in which the failure to work the cess successfully does not form the first and chief topic of comment. At least 10 per cent. of the bills are returned unrealised, on the ground that the persons who are required to pay are not liable. Local enquiries are made and lead to reports which are not accepted, and the whole subject gives more vexation and more trouble than any other matter connected with the administration of the Municipality. On the other hand, the trouble of making out the bills is extreme. The scale varies with every form of rent. In the suburbs there are 23 scales; in Calcutta there are 20, according to the rating of the house. Then even in the matter of exemptions it is extremely invidious. The exemptions in the Suburbs are tanks, waste land, gardens, and shops without privies. Why should shops having no privies be exempted? The persons who occupy the shops are subject to the ordinary laws of nature; and as a matter of fact the only principle is this, that the town is for human beings and the Municipality has to undertake the task of removing the sewage for all, whether by means of drainage for connected houses, house service for unconnected houses, or public latrines where there are no privies at all. The one thing above all others to which attention is necessary is to make the municipal system work smoothly. In Mr. Goschen's Committee in 1871, this was the one point upon which they were most unanimous, and they recommended one consolidated rate. I have by me a handbook on local taxation by Wright and Hobhouse, and they write:—"There are some alterations in the system of local taxation in which all parties are agreed; one of which is the consolidation of the rates." That is now an accepted principle. Again, it is not possible in Municipal administration to apply generally the principle of taxing according to benefits. See how you break through that principle in the matter of the equal payment of water-rates. Do large business houses, the Port Commissioners, the Mint, the High Court, get anything like the amount of water they pay for? You ought not on that principle to make temporary residents in the town pay anything on account that part of the municipal income which is levied for the repayment of debt. Permanent residents of course benefit by the construction of permanent works; temporary residents derive much less benefit from them. If you once allow yourself to be drawn into that argument and insist on separate collections and collections according to some ideal of the extent to which persons are benefited, you will land yourself in unmistakable difficulties and inconsistencies. When the present system was introduced the Commissioners appointed a Committee to consider the question of the house service fees, and my hon. friend, the mover of this amendment, was a member of that Committee. I am not going to twit him with changing his mind, but I may appeal to his former judgment on the subject. Out of 13 members of the Committee all but three reported that it would be better to have a rate in preference to a system of fees, and my hon. friend himself was one of the majority. I say that this is a section which cannot be struck out without upsetting the whole arrangement of the Bill. It will remove from the poor a burden which they now in some cases pay to the possible point of 400 per cent. Therefore you see how very hardly the present system presses on the holders of small tenements, and it will be a very great relief to them if the Council accept the provision in the Bill which will have the effect of converting the house-service fees into a rate.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—As the hon. member in charge of the Bill has referred to my opinion on this point on a previous occasion, I will meet him on his own ground and point out that what he now considers the most fundamental part of the Bill on which everything depends, was not contained in the Bill as submitted by him to the Council after having been agreed to by the Select Committee. There was no Halalkhor rate at all in that Bill, although the consolidated rate was to be found in it. The consolidation of the rates was adopted at my suggestion, but at that time there was no idea of introducing a Halalkhor rate. That idea dawned on the mind of my hon. friend after the Bill had been remitted to the Select Committee for various consideration of details. It was only when the Bill was being reconsidered on points of detail that this idea dawned on his mind. If it is such a fundamental principle, why did not my hon. friend propose it on the first reference of the Bill to a Select Committee? It passed the Select Committee and was laid before the Council without any such provision. There is one circumstance connected with my change of opinion to which my hon. friend refers, and it is this, that although there were 13 members on the Committee, and I was one of those who were in favour of a rate instead of levying fees, yet three of the most experienced Commissioners were against their imposition. I had then recently joined the Municipality, and opinions formed then were subject to change by the light of experience. I came across a very curious case where the owner of a very large tank called the Kurballah tank was called upon to pay a bill for night-soil service in respect of the tank, but when the matter came before the Commissioners, it was unanimously agreed that no fee could be charged unless the service was performed. The lighting-rate was justifiable because the value of houses enhanced owing to the lighting of streets. In the same way water-rate was paid because the supply of filtered water increased the value of property in the town. It is very remarkable that the very law under which the water-rate is levied makes a distinction in the rate levied in different localities. When the water-rate is levied at a maximum, houses situated in streets where pipes are not laid have to pay one per cent. less than houses on streets having water: in the one case the rate would be five per cent. and in the other six. Night-soil fees cannot come under the definition of a rate; it is only by a forced construction that you can impose a rate for house service. The rates at present payable by owners and occupiers are $7\frac{1}{2}$ and $9\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. respectively. If the past literature on the subject is studied, it will be obvious under what circumstances the owners of house property were made to contribute one-fourth of the water-rate. The question was decided by the casting vote of the President. Perhaps it is right that they should pay something, but one-fourth was an arbitrary proportion fixed by the Legislature. Under these circumstances, I submit it is only fair to a large number of persons in whose houses no service is performed that they should be relieved from paying this charge for house service. My hon. friend said that all persons must have their places of convenience. He forgets that persons who have shops have also houses to live in for which they pay fees for house service. Therefore I do not see how that argument advances my hon. friend's argument. I again submit that an inequitable rate should not be levied merely for the sake of the convenience of collection.

The motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that in clause (d) of section 103 for the words "above purposes" the words "specified in clause (c)" be substituted.

He said:—This is a mere verbal amendment. The purposes of clauses (a) and (b) do not involve any expenditure, and I think the alteration in wording will be an improvement. It was suggested to me by the Secretary.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that section 117 be omitted.

He said:—Persons should not be made to pay for what they are not liable. Hut-owners are properly liable to pay this rate; but by this Bill the owners of the land on which the huts stand will be made to pay. This again is a question of convenience. Suppose the landholder is not able to realise the rate? Suppose the tenant absconds? The rates have to be paid in advance, while rents are paid to the landholder in arrear, and he cannot realise it in advance. I think this provision is most arbitrary, and I cannot perceive any principle of justice in it. Precisely the same thing was attempted to be done on the last occasion. The late Hon. Kristo Das Pal took exception to it. The matter came up for discussion, and the hon. and learned Advocate-General then said:—"It appeared to him that the objections of the hon. mover of the amendment were really unanswerable. He had put it on the ground of principle, that the person to whom the hut belonged should be the person chargeable with the tax. The hon. member in charge of the Bill said that such a procedure would produce confusion. The Advocate-General did not think the Council should legislate simply for facilitating the collection of taxes, but they were also to see that the party from whom the tax came was the party from whom it should come." With that I will leave the matter in the hands of the Council; it is not possible to adduce stronger arguments. The result was that the amendment of the late Hon. Kristo Das Pal was carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—I cannot accept this amendment, although I am aware that it had on a previous occasion the support of the learned Advocate-General. It is no new principle. It was in the Act of 1863 and in our present Act, but in an optional form, and it has not been acted upon, and therefore for some years we have collected from the smallest huts in the town. But that is not the principle elsewhere. Under the English law all the rates are paid by occupiers, so that you have much greater force of precedent. Nevertheless, in the case of small tenements, that rule is broken through. In the first instance it was done in the form of an appeal to the owners to compound for their tenants; but since the Act of 1869 was passed, the local authorities have the power of forcing the owners to compound, and an abatement of 15 per cent. is allowed from the amount of the rent for the cost of collection. It has been found necessary to make the owner compound. At present the tax gatherers have to go to all the smallest and poorest hut-owners to collect the rate, and afterwards the agency of the Warrant Department recovers the amount in addition to warrant fees. If any objection is taken, it ought to be to the amount allowed for collection, which is one-eighth of the total demand; and as a portion is payable by the landholder, it comes to about one-sixth of what he has to pay for others. It is a fair allowance, and it does not throw upon him any additional expense, because he will collect the rate by the same agency by which he collects his rent. The whole of the subordinate agency of the Municipality will be kept away from the doors of the poorest inhabitants, and the amount of saving in time and establishment, but above all the saving in vexation, harassment, and even worse than that, which must necessarily result from poor ignorant people being brought face to face with the tax-collectors, will be considerable. I consider this provision to be fair, it is fully covered by English precedent, and is expedient in an eminent degree in the interests both of the poor and of the Municipality itself.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said:—I wish to explain that the precedent which the hon. member in charge of the Bill relies upon does not apply in this case. In England all house property belongs to the landlord: in this country huts belong to the tenants. Everything put upon land in England belongs to the landlord: here huts belong to the tenant. And therefore, I submit, it is unfair to make the landholder pay for property of which he is not the owner.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—In this country the tenant is allowed to remove his hut: in England the landlord gets the benefit of permanent fixtures. My hon. friend, the member in charge of the Bill, has given a glowing picture of the harassment to which poor hut-owners are subjected by the Municipal agency; but does not he foresee the harassment to which they will be subjected by the sircars and durwans of the landholders? The landlords will have to pay the rate even when the hut-owner absconds. My hon. friend has not attempted to meet my argument that if the tenant absconds, how is the landholder to recover the money which he has paid? Moreover, the harassment and annoyance to which the hut-owner is subject will be nothing less because the agency is changed.

The motion being put the Council divided :—

So the Motion was negatived.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, for the first paragraph of section 117, the following be substituted :—

“ The entire consolidated rate imposed upon bustee land and the huts built thereon shall, after deducting therefrom a sum equal to one-eighth of such rates, be paid by the owner of such land. The sum deducted shall be retained by the owner of the land as a set-off against the expenses which may be incurred in collecting the portion of the rate recoverable from the occupiers of the land, or the owners or occupiers of huts built thereon, under the provisions of the next succeeding section, and as a commutation of all refunds in respect of huts which are vacant, or which may be removed or destroyed during the continuance of the period for which the rate is imposed.”

He said :—It is not intended to make any alteration in substance in this section, but it was considered by the learned Secretary to be an improvement in the wording.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, in line 1 of section 118, for the words “in such cases” the words “whenever a rate is imposed on bustee lands” be substituted.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, in line 7 of section 120, for the words “duly entered” the words “registered provisionally” be substituted.

He said :—This section is a reproduction of section 103A of the present amending Act, with alterations which are a little more than verbal. If the section had been acted upon, it might have led to a very serious abuse. If a person's name is registered as owner, it may assist him very much in borrowing money on that property. Now that we have a system of provisional registration, it is better to say that it shall be provisionally registered so as to be subject to all the safeguards of that form of registration.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE moved that, for the first paragraph of section 122, the following be substituted :—

“ For the purpose of assessment under this Act, the annual value of land and the annual value of any house shall be the gross annual rent at which such land or house might reasonably be expected to let from year to year, less, in the case of a house, an allowance of ten per cent. for the cost of repairs, and for all other expenses necessary to maintain the house in a state to command such gross rent.”

He said :—The object of this amendment is to leave out that portion of the section in the Bill which provides a special mode of valuation for residential and other houses not intended for letting purposes, and to fix one general mode of valuation for all lands and houses. That is the law at present, and is the only method which can be supported on principle; and so far as I can discover, from the report of the Select Committee, no case has been made out for the proposed alteration. The only grounds upon which the Select Committee propose to introduce the change are two, namely, difficulty of assessment under the present law, and its inequitableness. With regard to the first ground of objection, I think the difficulty is not peculiar to Calcutta. Similar difficulties arise in England in similar cases as Sir Richard Garth points out in the case of Nundo Lal Bose v. The Corporation of Calcutta (see L. L. R. 11 Calc. p. 281). I may further point out that the mode of assessment proposed to be substituted in this Bill also involves a difficulty, namely, that of ascertaining the amount of deduction for deterioration, which is certainly not less, and may often be greater, than the difficulty which is sought to be avoided. In the second place let us see how far the other objection is well grounded. It is said that if we are to assess houses built for purposes of residence on their expected letting value, the assessment may be far below what it ought to be. But on what principle? The majority of the Select Committee say on this principle, that we should adopt 5 per cent. on the cost price as the letting value. Nobody denies that that will give a valuation considerably above the expected letting value. But to infer thence that the existing assessment is too low is to beg the whole question. If 5 per cent. on the cost price is the proper basis of assessment, then no doubt anything less than that would be unjustly low. But is there anything in reason which supports that basis? The report of the Select Committee refers to the great English political economist Mill, and points out that the cost price of a house may be fairly adopted as the basis of taxation, because it indicates the extent of the owner's means, and therefore it fairly indicates his capability of paying the tax. With reference to that argument, I would beg to point out that that is not the case in this country, and for a very simple reason. We all know that many a man builds a large house to live in because he has a large family consisting of his own children and those of his father and grandfather, and secondly, because there is a prevailing sentiment that one ought to have a house which he can call his own to live in; and therefore to tax a person on the basis of the capital he has invested in building the house will, in this country, be not taxing him according to his means, but taxing him on account of his feeling and sentiment. Another point I will draw attention to. In the report of the Select Committee an English decision is referred to:—

“In the case of such houses in England as are not built to let to tenants from year to year, the rule has been judicially declared to be that ‘a hypothetical tenant must be assumed, and the terms of such tenancy are not difficult to be conceived; the occupying tenant must be assumed to pay adequate remuneration to a contractor for land and fixed capital vested therein, and the local rateable value would be such a sum as would pay the rent of the land and profit on the fixed capital therein.’”

I have not been able to find this case in the reports, but the hon. member in charge of the Bill has handed me the book from which he made the quotation, and I find that the case is not the case of a residential house but of a manufactory. In the case of a residential house, which is also referred to in that book, the basis of assessment is said to be a percentage not on the capital invested, but on the market value which the property will fetch. That one can understand, but that is very different from the provision in the Bill. A man may build a house which suits his convenience more than the convenience of another man, and he may invest more money in building it than another man. But if he sells the house, what he would get would not be the cost price, or the cost price less a deduction for deterioration, but it will be something which would be quite different from and much less than the sum of money invested in building the house. So that the standard on which the section is based is quite an arbitrary standard, and therefore I submit it ought not to be allowed to stand. If this amendment does not commend itself to the Council, I propose as an alternative the substitution of “4” for “5” in line 14 of section 122, the object of which is to bring the valuation nearer to the proper standard.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—I am very much disposed to agree with the concluding remarks of the hon. member. I would consider it a considerable improvement if “market value” is substituted for “cost price.” So far, if the hon. member will agree to that, I shall be very glad to make the alteration.

The HON. MR. ALLEN said:—The principle of this section has been attacked as if it was perfectly unknown, but already it is the law in all mofussil municipalities that where property or houses have been erected not for purposes of letting, a certain percentage should be struck on the cost price as correctly as can be ascertained. It was found necessary to introduce this principle, because while mills and structures of that character were over-assessed, houses in which Municipal Commissioners and their friends resided were as much under-assessed. From the report of the Chairman of the Corporation it would appear that something of the same kind is not unknown in Calcutta, and that on houses occupied in the northern part of the town, hitherto the average assessable value has been about 2 per cent. or less of the cost of construction; while in regard to all houses in the southern part of the town which are built for letting purposes, there is not a house which is let for less than 6 or 7 per cent. on the cost, and the full rent is taken as assessable value of all such. I have heard of houses being built with money borrowed at 7 per cent., and the Hon. Mr. Irving took the trouble to ascertain from a partner of Messrs. Mackintosh, Burn and Company, who reported that it is a thing unknown in Calcutta to expect less than 6 per cent. as a return for the money invested in house property. This being the case, while the southern part of Calcutta is assessed at the full rent, that is 6 or 7 per cent. on the outlay, a totally different principle of assessment is in force for the northern part of the town. If the amendment now proposed is carried, the only way to adjust the incidence of taxation between the north and south of the town will be by deducting one-third of the rent paid in the southern portion and taking two-thirds as the assessable value. It will to that extent be equitable. But possibly the total receipts of taxation would fall so far short that a higher rate would have to be struck. The market value of a house is supposed to be a proper indication of the value rather than the cost of construction. What is the market value of that for which there is no market? The first difficulty is that the houses in the northern portion of the town are not built for sale, and they are not in the market. Market value implies that somebody should be willing to sell, and that more than one person should be willing to buy. The hon. mover of amendment talks about a man building a house to suit his own taste which differs so much from the taste of everybody else that he sinks a greater sum of money in the construction than any other person would be willing to give. If he is a poor man, the probability is that he will not sink money in that way. It is a novelty to hear that natives of this country are willing to accept 4 per cent. on money in house property. In other matters even 6 per cent. will not suit them. If a man does so sink money, the money sunk represents his stake or interest within the municipality, and it is precisely on the stake each member so has that municipal tax is properly levied. The average rate they expect for their money is far beyond what Europeans expect; far above 6 per cent. The only way to effect an equitable assessment is either to deduct 33 per cent. of the rent of houses in the southern part of the town, or to take a percentage on the cost price where houses are built for the purpose of residence and not for the purpose of letting.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that, for section 122, the following be substituted:—

“The annual value of any house or land for the purposes of assessment shall—

- (a) in cases where the gross annual rent at which such house or land might reasonably be expected to let from year to year can be ascertained, be such gross annual rent, except that, in case of a house, an allowance of ten per cent. shall be made for the cost of repairs and for all other expenses necessary to maintain such house in a state to command such gross rent;
- (b) in cases where such gross annual rent cannot be ascertained, be four per cent. on the sum obtained by adding the estimated cost of building, less a reasonable amount to be deducted on account of depreciation (if any) to the estimated value of the land valued with the house as part of the same premises:

Provided that in making the assessment under clause (b) the estimated value of ornamental works in any house or building shall be excluded; and provided further that no assessment under the said clause shall be valid unless sanctioned by the Commissioners in meeting.”

He said:—There are a few houses in Calcutta in regard to which perhaps it may be difficult to obtain the letting value. To meet these few exceptional cases I propose to frame the section in this manner. In cases where the lettable value can be ascertained, the assessment should be the rent less a certain deduction for repairs; in cases where the lettable value cannot be ascertained, it would be a percentage on the cost price. The Select Committee in their report refer to the report made by the Committee of which Mr. Goschen was the Chairman. There it is pointed out that—

“When it appears to the assessing authority that for special reasons a building cannot be fairly valued according to the annual rent which a tenant might reasonably be expected to pay for it, it shall be valued in the following manner:—

“The gross value of any such building shall be a sum equal to 4 per cent. on the capital sum which a purchaser might justly be expected to give for such a building in its actual state and existing mode of occupation.”

Therefore, as far as this report is concerned, it clearly points out the distinction. In cases where the lettable value cannot for any special reason be ascertained, then we must take a percentage on the market value. I wish to adopt that principle, and have therefore framed the section in this manner. In the first place objection is taken to the amendment of my hon. friend on the ground that in the mofussil a percentage on the value is allowed by law. But my hon. friend forgets that the value of land in the mofussil is very different from Calcutta. Here you have to pay large sums of money to purchase land. A cottah of land has been known to sell for Rs. 5,000. In the mofussil in the best of position it will perhaps be Rs. 50. Therefore the mode of valuation allowed in the mofussil does not justify its being introduced into Calcutta. It was said by the hon. member opposite (Mr. Allen) that a person who has money to spend after his house should not grumble to pay Municipal taxation. Take the case of a person who has embellished his house with gilded corners and ornamental works, would it be just because he has spent money in that way to take the annual value as a percentage on the cost price? To my mind such a proposal should not be entertained for a moment. Rent is the basis of rating; before you can tax property, that property must be capable of producing rent. It has been pointed out that there are some cases in which it is not possible to fix the rent of a house: in those cases perhaps an exception is needed. The Select Committee referred to certain observations of Mr. Mill, but those observations are inapplicable to Calcutta, because the rate he speaks of is paid by the occupier and not by the owner. It shows that the rent which a man is able to pay for a house to live in, is a fair guide to go upon; but it is different when the rate is to be paid by the landlord. A landholder sinks his money with the view of getting a fair return, and surely the rent is to be taken into consideration. The hon. member in charge of the Bill will correct me in what I now say I am mistaken. When this question was considered for the first time in Select Committee, he referred to those exceptional cases showing that justice was not done because of this hard-and-fast rule of ascertaining the lettable value, and on that the section was framed as it stood in the last Bill. But when the question came before the Select Committee on the second occasion I understood the hon. member to say that in the majority of cases, in the case of almost all residential houses, the assessment should be based on a percentage of the cost. While I agree that there are some exceptional cases which ought as far as possible to be dealt with on that principle, I think the proposal to assess all residential houses at 5 per cent. on the cost price would press unduly upon owners. In the first place who is to decide the market value of the property? The assessor fixes one value; the owner puts it at a different figure. From the amendment to be moved by the hon. member in charge he seems to wish that there should be no appeal from the decision of the Commissioners. I myself am not in favour of allowing an appeal to the Presidency Small Cause Court. The Judges of that Court not having to decide matters relating to land have no experience as to the value of real property, and therefore they will find extreme difficulty in determining the market value. There will besides be the further disadvantage and inconvenience of the parties having to dance attendance for perhaps six months before a case is decided. I believe I am perfectly correct in saying that although recourse is now allowed to the Small Cause Court by way of appeal from the assessment of the assessor, there has hardly been a single appeal to that tribunal. People avail themselves largely of the right of appeal to the Commissioners, but they do not resort to the Small Cause Court. What is the reason for that preference of one tribunal to another? It is this, because in the one case the Judges are themselves mostly land-owners and are fair judges of what the assessment should be, and in the other there is no such experience, and moreover there is the harassment and annoyance of a case hanging on for months. I admit that the amendment of the hon. member in charge is an improvement on the section in the Bill, but not to the extent desirable. This is a question on which the rate-payers of the town are very much interested, and I hope therefore that on this and all other matters of importance due consideration will be given. The British Indian Association is composed of men of property in Calcutta, and they have pointed out that it is only in exceptional cases that the assessment should be based on the value, but that in such cases it should not exceed four per cent. My hon. friend the last speaker believed that the natives of Calcutta would not invest money at 4 per cent. I think he is labouring under some misapprehension on that point. A very large proportion of the Government securities is held by the natives of Calcutta, and that is a strong argument that they are satisfied with that investment. From my own experience I know that house-owners now lend out money on mortgage of house property at from 6 to 8 per cent., whereas the rate of interest formerly was 12 per cent. Hitherto no difficulty was found in the assessment of property in Calcutta till we came to the memorable case of Nundolall Bose. I know of no other case which was appealed to the High Court. There was one other case appealed to the Small Cause Court from an over-assessment of the Justices. Besides these two cases I am not aware of any other where, as far as the Commissioners are concerned, any difference has arisen between them and the rate-payers. The case of Nundolall Bose, which gave rise to the proposed alteration in the mode of assessment, shows that in that case no attempt was made to ascertain the lettable value of the property, but the assessor professedly took a certain percentage on the market value. Nundolall Bose appealed to the Commissioners. A Bench of five Commissioners sat. There was no denial that the assessment was made irrespective of the lettable value and solely on a percentage of the value of the property. The Commissioners made a slight reduction, which did not satisfy the appellant, and he applied to the High Court for a rule of certiorari. The matter first came before Mr. Justice Pigot, who was of opinion that the Commissioners were not justified in making the assessment in the way they did; but that they had acted within their jurisdiction, and the High Court could not interfere. That decision was appealed against, and the appeal was heard by the then Chief Justice, Sir Richard Garth, and Mr. Justice Wilson. There was nothing before those Judges to show that there was any attempt to fix the assessment on the lettable value of the property, and the statement made, that the assessment had been reduced out of regard to the Pleader who acted for Babu Nundo Lall Bose, was not challenged in any way. The Appeal Court held that this was not a question of jurisdiction but of a mistake made by the Commissioners in fixing the assessment on a principle not warranted by the law, and the rule was made absolute. I do not think there is anything in that case to justify a change in the principle of assessment hitherto followed, and to make the value of property the basis of assessment. It is contrary to all the principles of rating in England so far as I am aware. The case referred to in the report of the Select Committee is in respect of a manufactory. It is a case in which Mr. Justice Whitman said there should be a hypothetical tenant. Probably in the case of Nundolall Bose, if it could have been shown that the lettable value could not be ascertained, and that it was necessary to presume a hypothetical tenant, the result might have been different; but the assessor simply stated that he took the percentage which he considered fair and reasonable (2½ per cent.) on the value of the property. I submit it is quite evident from the ruling in this case that the law as it at present stands does not warrant the value of the property being taken as the basis of assessment. What has happened to justify the proposed change in the law? Simply this case of Nundolall Bose. If my amendment is adopted, the ordinary method of assessment will be the lettable value. Where that cannot be ascertained, a percentage on the value would be taken; but then there would be this safeguard, that it would need to be sanctioned by the Commissioners. The cases in which this mode of assessment would be resorted to would be exceptional cases where the lettable value cannot be ascertained, but the ordinary mode of assessment would be the lettable value.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—I would suggest that the Council should adjourn at this stage. This is, I think, the most difficult section in the Bill. It is beset with difficulties, and it is one to which I have given more attention than to any other part of the Bill. Several principles of extreme difficulty are involved in it; and before I proceed to propose the amendment of which I have given notice, I would ask the President to adjourn the Council.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—I am rather unwilling to cut short this discussion in the middle of it; but if the hon. member in charge of the Bill thinks it expedient to take time to consider the suggestions which have been made before making his reply, I think it would be wrong in me to refuse an adjournment.

The further consideration of items Nos. (15), (16), and (17), and of the other clauses of the Bill, was postponed till the next sitting of the Council.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 14th April, 1888.

CALCUTTA AND SUBURBAN MUNICIPALITIES AMALGAMATION BILL.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that the clauses of the Bill to consolidate and amend the Law relating to the municipal affairs of the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta, as further amended, be further considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

[The adjourned debate on section 122 was resumed.]

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—The amendment which stands in my name has been wrongly shown in the notice paper. I gave notice of two amendments in respect to this section, each distinct from the other, the first to substitute for the words 'the estimated cost of the building' 'the estimated present cost of building the house.'

The other to add the words—

"When a house is occupied by the owner under such exceptional circumstances as renders a valuation of 5 per cent. of the cost of building, less depreciation, excessive, a lower percentage may be taken."

It seems to me that this provision stands on quite a different footing, and therefore I put it separately, although it may be discussed with the other amendment. If both are put as one amendment, they would stand or fall together; but if put separately this branch of the amendment might be adopted, although the first portion might be rejected. Having Your Honour's permission to put my amendments in this way, I shall now proceed to discuss them. As I stated to the Council at the last meeting, my reason for asking for the adjournment of this discussion was that the question is the most difficult and most important which we have to face. Most important because it will be easy to show, and in fact it has been shown by my hon. friend Mr. Allen, that there is an abuse prevalent in the existing system which renders the whole incidence of taxation in the town unequal—an abuse which goes to the root of the whole equity of our municipal taxation. If that is an opinion which I can conclusively establish, then a case is made out for correcting it, and it is not difficult to point out to a certain extent the direction in which amendment should take place. But as to the exact wording which will best meet the case, there is considerable difficulty, and it is a matter on which I may fairly appeal to the assistance of the whole Council to help me in solving the difficulty in the best manner possible. A few words I ought to say in the first instance as regards the serious abuse which it seems to me indispensable to correct in the new Bill. It is this. Obviously fair and equal valuation lies at the root of all municipal rating. If one house is estimated at half its proper value and another at its full value, it is perfectly evident that the same injustice is done as if you put a rate of 5 per cent. upon one and of 10 per cent. upon the other. If it is a fact that a large portion of Calcutta is being valued at more rather than less than double of the other, it means that more rather than less than double taxation has been levied from one class of rate-payers as compared with the other, and it is difficult to conceive any abuse which more urgently requires remedy than this. It is not so much a case as between the south and the north of the town, as between different classes of the community. The class which has benefited, I think unjustly, is the class living in their own houses. The class which has suffered has been first and chiefly the business community; that portion of the community which does the work of Calcutta, and which most contributes to its wealth and greatness, and in this class must be included public offices and buildings. In the second category are all those classes of the community who live in tenanted houses. These are the two classes who suffer; while the class who are living in their own houses have had an unfair advantage. If that is the case, the first point to notice is that it is exactly the opposite of the distinction which should be made, if any. Business premises, according to political economists, ought not to be taxed at all, and on the principle of this tax, as pointed out by Mill, whatever portion of a house is occupied for business purposes ought to be exempted altogether. That obviously would not be practicable in Calcutta. Still this much is reasonable, that certainly the business parts of the town ought not to be selected for exceptional taxation. I will not contend that any immunity ought to be given; but if any immunity ought to be given, then the only sound principle of justice in municipal taxation is that that portion of a property which is devoted to reproductive purposes—business purposes—ought rather to be exempted. Then there is another principle why business premises should not be too heavily taxed. For water-supply and some other purposes, they pay much more than the benefits they receive. There is no difficulty in showing, in fact I have already shown, that a large portion of the business part of the town undoubtedly pays more for water than the advantage they get in return. I am merely pointing out that if there is to be any distinction, if all classes are not to be put on the same footing, the portion of the community engaged in business is the one which ought rather to be treated with consideration.

Next as regards tenanted houses, their occupiers also may put in a claim for indulgence. Certainly, as regards the water-supply, they get their share; but a large portion of the revenue of the town goes to making improvements or paying interest for improvements. Suppose a great improvement is made. If the money is laid out wisely, property rises in value. So long as there is a lease the tenant enjoys the benefit, but when the lease expires, the result is that the rent is raised. It is therefore a well-recognised principle that, in so far as taxation is devoted to improvements, and not to ordinary current expenditure, the taxing of occupiers who are tenants, and occupiers who are owners, on the same basis, is not equitable. I do not like to take up the time of the Council by reading long extracts; but I may say that this is very clearly pointed out in the last pages of Fawcett's Political Economy. Therefore I say that the two classes now worst off are those which, if there should be any immunity at all, ought rather to be favoured. But so far from being favoured they have not merely been over-assessed, but another class has been under-assessed. I say they have been over-assessed, because in making a valuation you should on principle allow such deductions as will enable the property to be kept in such a condition as to continue to command the full letting value. Suppose Rs. 3,000 is the annual letting value, but, to keep the property in a state to obtain that value, Rs. 500 have to be spent annually for repairs: you ought to deduct this Rs. 500 for repairs before fixing the fair letting value. That is never done in Calcutta, and the objection has been dismissed with the remark that taking the assessment all round it comes to the same thing in the long run. But in this instance it is not an all round deduction. Houses occupied by owners have been assessed on a totally different principle. They have not been assessed much below their value: therefore the classes I speak of—persons occupying business premises and tenanted houses—have been assessed on the gross rent realised, and they have consequently been over-assessed to the extent of 10 or 20 per cent., while others occupying their own houses have been assessed at less than the true value. My hon. friend Babu Kali Nath Mitter has said that I am unnecessarily stirring up dirty water, that hitherto things have worked well, and he does not see why I need have raised the question. But I maintain that I should have been absolutely wanting in my duty, when my attention was drawn to the unfairness, if I had not laid before the Select Committee proposals for remedying it.

Assuming that this inequality of assessment does exist, and that the injustice should be redressed, the question is how should it be done? The first question is, to what is it due? I have taken a great deal of trouble to discuss the matter with several Commissioners and the officers of the Corporation, and, so far as the state of facts is concerned, I have found no real dispute but I have found many persons ready and eager to justify the system. I have therefore pressed them to disclose the reasons for favouring one class of the community. I give the best reasons I have heard. One very intelligent advocate argued that when the owner lets his house he gets an income, and therefore he feels that he ought to pay a rate on that income as a deduction from his profits; he receives Rs. 1,000 and pays Rs. 100. But when he gets no profit, and is living in his own house, he feels it particularly hard that he should have to pay anything. It is not difficult to understand the sentiment; but how about those who have to pay Rs. 1,000 to occupy a house? If the person who makes no income from his house feels the payment of rates a grievance, what must the person feel who has to pay rent and rates besides? If the owner who gets no return feels it a grievance that he has to pay an equal rate of taxation, ought not the person who pays rent to feel that he ought to have a portion of the rent returned to him? Arguments of this kind cannot help the matter. There is, I am aware, a strong sentiment that my proposal is extremely unjust. It is looked upon as a grievous act of oppression, reflecting the greatest possible discredit on me and on some hon. members of the Council who adopt my proposal; but surely an accusation such as this must rest on something better than the sentiments of those whose pockets it touches, it must be shewn to have some reasonable foundation.

Another argument advanced is this, that a gentleman, when he builds a house to dwell in, looks upon it as his jewels or his ornaments, and he feels it as great a hardship to be taxed for that house as if he is taxed on his diamonds and his pearls. Lastly, we have the objection which is embodied in the amendment before the Council, proposed by my hon. friend Babu Kali Nath Mitter, which says: "Provided that in making the assessment under clause (b) the estimated value of ornamental works in any house or building should be excluded." That in fact he ought not to pay anything more than before for the brick and mortar. Is that reasonable? If a person spends a certain sum to ornament his house, plainly he ought to pay on that sum just as much as he ought to pay on any outlay for additional buildings.

The next point is what are the causes of this anomaly? One cause is the system of procedure in force for the last 12 years; the other is, to the wording of the substantive law. As regards the system of procedure, the assessor fixes the valuation. On his doing so, if the owner is dissatisfied, he has the option of appealing either to the Small Cause Court or to a bench of three Commissioners from which the executive officers of the Corporation are excluded. As a matter of fact, the second of these modes of appeal is invariably adopted. Within my experience I have known, I suppose, of 200 or 300 appeals against assessments, and I have known of only one appeal to the Small Cause Court. The appeal to a bench of three Commissioners is almost invariably followed. In the law of 1863, and in the revised law of 1866, the rule was that the appeal should be heard by three Justices, the Vice-Chairman being usually one. But on the motion of the late Hon. Kristo Das Pal in 1876, objection was taken to any executive officer of the Corporation sitting on Assessment Benches; and that objection was allowed, and the result is that appeals are now heard by three Commissioners. We have had various systems in the selection of the three Commissioners to hear such appeals. Under the latest system the selection has been by lot amongst those who offer to sit on appeal benches, volunteers being invited for the purpose. To this appeal, which is made once a year generally rather more than half the Commissioners respond. The European Commissioners, as a rule abstain. It is true it is their own fault, but they consider they have not the time to spare. The Assessment Committee thus consists of about 36 Native Commissioners and about 4 European Commissioners; and I only know of 3 Europeans who have ever sat on appeal benches during the last six or seven years. Nearly all these Commissioners are owners residing in their own houses. I do not say that this has been designed; it comes about by natural drift; they are most interested, therefore they put their names down, and they naturally have sympathy with their own class and look kindly on any interpretation of the law which tells in their own favour. They have adopted one standard for houses occupied by owners and a totally different one for houses occupied by tenants or for business purposes, or for large Government buildings. The Government officers have accepted the assessments, and Government buildings have on the whole been assessed at a fair valuation.

Now, as regards this lenient interpretation of the law, I ask the Council to bear with me while I explain what the law is. The present law of assessment in England dates from the time of William the Fourth. Before that time it was in great confusion. At that time an Act was passed which has maintained its ground ever since. It prescribes that the valuation is to be the rent at which the tenement might reasonably be expected to let from year to year, free of all usual tenant's rates and taxes, and deducting therefrom the average annual cost of repairs, insurance, and other expenses, if any, necessary to keep the estate in a state to command such rent. The words adopted by the Indian Legislature are "the rent at which it may be reasonably expected to let from year to year." That is in the existing Act and in the present Bill, and the principle has been everywhere accepted as the best. Although in England an amendment of the law is now considered necessary by all authorities, nevertheless the law has worked fairly well there owing to the liberal interpretation which has been put by the Courts on the words of the Act. The difficulty which has to be faced, is how to apply it to houses which are not ordinarily let, such as large manufactories, light-houses, hospitals, and, above all, large family mansions. The case of large family mansions soon came up in England, and the very same abuse resulted there for some time. Instead of being assessed at anything like their proper value, such mansions were assessed at a mere song, on the ground that no one would be likely to take houses like those on rent from year to year. On this subject Mr. Mill says:—

"The public were justly scandalised on learning that residences like Chatsworth or Belyoir were only rated at the imaginary rate of perhaps 200 a year, under the pretext that owing to the great expense of keeping them up they could not be let for more, probably even they could not be let for that, and if the argument were a fair one they ought not to have been taxed at all. But a house tax is not intended as a tax on incomes derived from houses, but on expenditure incurred for them. The thing which it is wished to ascertain is what a house costs to the person who lives in it, not what it would bring in if let to some one else. When the occupier is not the owner and does not hold on a repairing lease, the rent he pays is the measure of what the house costs him; but when he is the owner some other measure must be sought. A valuation should be made of the house, not what it would sell for, but what it would cost for rebuilding it, and the valuation might be corrected by an allowance for what it had lost in value by time, or gained by repairs and improvements."

Does not every word of this argument thoroughly bear out and justify the changes proposed in this section?

But how has the law been interpreted in England? I have here a manual on assessments by Lumley published in, and I will read to you the summary of decisions given by the Superior Courts in the cases of manufactories, light-houses, family residences, and hospitals (Here the Hon. Member read from the manual).

What can be more reasonable than the spirit of these decisions? The determination which the Courts manifest not to allow the letting test to be used as a handle for under-assessment, on the plea of no tenants coming forward to offer more. They invariably insist that either the cost of building with ground rent, or the market value, must be taken to determine the rent which a hypothetical tenant should pay.

How, on the other hand, has the law been applied in Calcutta? I am not referring to the decision of the High Court in the case of Nundolall Bose, partly because it has very little to do with the matter, because the decision in that case is not constructive, but merely reverses the decision of the Appellate Bench. What is the principle on which our assessor has proceeded under the guidance of these Appellate Benches? I have questioned him very closely on the point, and he thinks that in general the Assessment Benches do not proceed on any principle at all. Just consider what is likely to be the principle of action of three gentlemen, taken haphazard, who have never sat before together, and who have forty appeals to decide in the course of an afternoon. But still they are clearly in agreement on one point, that if any one desires to let his family residence, he is not likely to get any one to rent it at its full value. There is no demand for such houses, and he will perhaps have to wait a long time before he can get a tenant at all; when he gets one, a small sum will be offered. Hence on that principle they value such houses just as was done in the case of Chatsworth and Belvoir at very small amounts. Now I put it to the Council that this is not a proper interpretation of the law. I believe it to be erroneous and contrary to the spirit of the interpretation in England. When a house is built for occupation by the owner, and the owner is the tenant himself, that house has found its tenant, and you have not got to go into the highways and byeways to find another tenant; but to ask what is the tenancy worth to him, and not to any imaginary successor. He builds it to suit his own taste and family, and has no intention of letting it. Now so much do the owners of such houses value the tenancy that far from this principle leading to too low an assessment, it would, if correctly applied, lead to over valuation. It would take two or three times the fair value of the house to tempt them to give it up. Of course that is partly due to the sentiment of attachment to ancestral property, and, above all, to the desire to live in their own houses. It is said that it is not fair to make a man pay for his sentiment. This may be admitted: but it remains that if the true test, the value of the tenancy to the actual tenants, were looked to, they would have to pay much more rather than less than others; and if the present law were applied by an unsympathetic instead of a sympathetic tribunal, they would soon come to their senses and see the justice of applying some other test.

I consider therefore that I have fully shewn, looking to the very different way in which the present words of the law may be interpreted, the necessity for changing that wording. The same difficulty was found by Mr. Goschen's Parliamentary Committee; and in the Bill, which he brought before Parliament, he thought it necessary to add some sections about taking the capital sum paid for the house. Opinion oscillates between two different tests. The first is to take "the capital sum which would be paid for the house," which is the same virtually as the market value, or should be so. The second, the cost of building, which in several decisions is said to be the best and the proper test, or, as Mill has it, the present cost of the building, allowing for depreciation. When my hon. friend Dr. Gooroo Dass Banerjee proposed at the last meeting the words "market value," I was disposed to accept the suggestion, because it is, on the whole, a question of equity, as people would not be willing to under-value their own property. On the other hand, there is an objection to use the words "cost of building," because it is not quite clear whether it should be the original or the present cost of the building. The original cost is not a fair test. The cost of building might have been much less 30 or 40 years ago; the true test is the cost of building now, not then. On the other hand, as regards "market value," I have been dissuaded from accepting this test by my hon. friends the learned Advocate-General and the Legal Remembrancer; they consider the expression "market value" to be fraught with far more embarrassment, and prefer taking the present cost of building the house, making due allowance for deterioration. After full consideration I have come to the conclusion that it is best to be advised by experts in a matter of this kind, and I therefore submit that the wording should be "estimated present cost of building the house, less an allowance for depreciation on account of deterioration."

Then as regards percentage, the Committee at first thought 6 per cent., or nearly 16 years' purchase, to be a fair assessment, and that is usually taken by the Courts in the valuation of property; but the remonstrances to that were so strong, that by a narrow majority we thought it better to reduce it to 5 per cent. Less than 5 per cent. I cannot say is fair. I cannot think that in ordinary circumstances 5 per cent. on the cost would be too high an assessment, looking at the rate of interest. At the same time I have, after giving very careful consideration to the question, thought it necessary in a subsequent amendment, to which I shall refer now, to add these words: "When a house is occupied by the owner under such exceptional circumstances as renders a valuation of 5 per cent. of the cost of building, less depreciation, excessive, a lower percentage may be taken." I would not propose this if the appeal is to be left as heretofore to the haphazard tribunal of three men to-day and a different set of three men to-morrow, because I am afraid the exceptions, as in the Latin grammar, will be the rule. But I hope in future to have a fair-minded and impartial officer to decide objections to assessments under an appeal to a judicial tribunal, so that it may be shorn of the objections which I would otherwise admit. I shall now explain the necessity for this clause. A person builds a house for his own use and to suit his tastes and his means, and when he occupies it you may fairly rate him at the full value of the house to him; but circumstances may change very materially. Subsequently, whether in one, two or three generations, the family may fall into less prosperous circumstances, as happens in this country very frequently. They have this house on their hands; their circumstances are such that they would not have built so expensive and well-kept a house; they would with their means have built a much less pretentious house. They have only three alternatives at hand; they have either to sell or to let the house, or to continue to live in it themselves. It is hard, looking to the great attachment to ancestral property in this country, to drive owners to these alternatives; but if he retain the house you cannot in justice say that it is worth the same to him as it was to his ancestor who built it. To him it is really not worth more than he could get for it if he sold it or let it. You cannot make out that the house is worth more than it will command in the market, and I should therefore be very reluctant to make a hard-and-fast rule in the case of poor house-owners of this kind. I think that in such extreme cases an assessment of 4, 3 and even 2 per cent. might be taken equitably as the fair value in the case of once wealthy families whose property and circumstances have become depreciated. I propose to move this as a separate amendment, because I do not think I ought to include the amendment on the general principle with this amendment, which is intended to deal only with exceptional cases. I hope the Council will fully realise that such a clause is essential, if we are to keep a 5 per cent. valuation as the general principle on which residential houses ought to be assessed, where they now pay 4 per cent. or even less: on the other hand even 4 per cent. would in some cases be very hard. We should levy taxation fairly over the town, but at the same time should not be unjust to those families in impoverished circumstances who have inherited houses of a better kind. For these reasons I ask the Council to consider these two amendments.

The HON. MR. ALLEN said—This is one of the hon. member's last thoughts. During the two years the Bill has been before the Council, I do not believe that this proposal has ever been brought forward. The early part of his speech distinctly showed the evils to be guarded against; and having guarded against those evils by a section which is substantially the same as the Select Committee has provided, he proceeds to undo the whole and to introduce a clause which is vague above all vagueness. Having erected a dyke to keep out the sea, he is not content till he burrows a hole through it which lets in the sea again. He provides that "when a house is occupied by the owner under such exceptional circumstances as renders a valuation of 5 per cent. of the cost of building, less depreciation, excessive, a lower percentage may be taken." And he mentions one single circumstance to which the exception would apply, viz. where a man lives in a bigger house than his circumstances warrant. But the words of his clause reach far beyond anything of that kind, and they are words which should not find a place in any law. They are, as I said, vague beyond any permissible degree of vagueness, and they afford not the slightest indication as to what limits the reduction may extend. And further with reference to the words "valuation of 5 per cent. of the cost of building being excessive." With reference to what is it excessive? Not with reference to the valuation of the property. The whole system of municipal taxation proceeds on the idea that the property owned by a person within a municipality is an indication of the amount of tax to be paid by him; he is to pay in proportion to the extent of his property. Whether he is a poor man or a rich man, whether he occupies it himself or lets it, is immaterial for purposes of municipal taxation. His poverty would be a good ground to reduce his income-tax, or any tax which takes the circumstances of the individual into consideration. But when the law discards all consideration of the circumstances of individuals, and takes into account only the value of property in the municipality, if the circumstances of a man are to render the valuation of his property excessive, we have altogether a new principle introduced; it is utterly impossible to say how far it will extend, or to what extent the resources of the municipality will be affected by it. The hon. member is unwilling to allow appeals to the assessment benches of Municipal Commissioners, and suggests that the decision on appeals should be left to the Small Cause Court. But suppose enquiries into these exceptional circumstances are to be held by the Small Cause Court. It is the bounden duty of this Council to lay down some indication of the character of the exceptional circumstances which should be admitted as a sufficient justification for a reduction of the assessment valuation. I can imagine nothing more exceptional than the position of Government House, which is occupied only for three months in the year; the Government may ask for a heavy reduction of the assessment. Then there is the Indian Museum, which is a building occupied by the Government not for any benefit of its own, but for the public good. Can anything be more exceptional? Suppose the residential house of a Hindu gentleman proves unhealthy; and that its inmates are unable to work more than three days in the week on account of illness. Who can say that that is not an exceptional circumstance, and the parties may ask the Court to take into consideration the unhealthiness of the house. Hotels are not very numerous in this town, and therefore occupation as a hotel is an exceptional circumstance. Messrs. Dykes & Co. have premises behind the Great Eastern Hotel a mile in circumference; that is exceptional. All these may be held to be exceptional circumstances. But while the hon. member means to limit the reduction of the assessment to the case of probably one or two respectable gentlemen in reduced circumstances, all these classes of cases may be brought successfully before the Small Cause Court. [The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison—The contention is that the property in these cases is of less value than before.] Property has a certain value according to the amount of money sunk in it, and when there is a demand for such property, as at the time of the Exhibition, it will certainly command its full value: when it is otherwise, it is simply that there is no demand and that purchasers are not forthcoming. Were a wealthy family to migrate from the mofussil into Calcutta, they would have to pay for the house its full value according to the expense of construction, and the situation of the fact is that there is no change in the value of the property, but an impoverished man is perhaps not justified in living in such a house. In natural history we learn that the oyster dying by starvation expends its last efforts of strength in constructing for itself a smaller shell to match its reduced size. If it is a fact that the people of this country are unwilling to follow the example which nature has set them, I can therein see no sufficient reason to violate the principle of this Act. I think that under any circumstances this clause in its present state ought not to be accepted for its vagueness and uncertainty.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said:—I wish to say just one word as to what has fallen from my hon. friend Mr. Allen. The clause goes on the supposition that there are circumstances which depreciate the value of the building. The whole of my hon. friend's argument proceeds on the assumption that there are no circumstances under which a valuation of 5 per cent. would be excessive. That is a very different thing. Suppose a person of eccentric habits builds a large house in a grotesque fashion; it suits his fancy, but after he dies it will not be valued at the price the building cost? It is an exceptional case which would fall under this clause. I quite agree with my hon. friend that no human wisdom, ingenuity or ability could define the range of exceptional circumstances, and frame a section which would clearly be applicable to all cases. Cases of this sort cannot be defined: this must be left to the discretion of the court for determination. It must not be supposed that in the northern part of the town property yields a return of 5 or 6 per cent. when they are let; sometimes they fetch only $2\frac{1}{2}$ or 4 per cent. It will be impossible for the Legislature to summarise all the exceptional circumstances; they can only enunciate some general principle such as a reasonable person could interpret. I do not see that that makes a hole in the rule laid down. The rule applies to ordinary circumstances, leaving the court to deal with exceptional cases as they arise. I think it does honour to the hon. member in charge of the Bill that he has thought proper to introduce some sort of a safety-valve which may be applied in the case of those who have been excessively assessed.

Then with regard to the substantive section. The hon. member in charge of the Bill dwelt on the value of the house to the owner. I might put it in this way. Suppose a man wants a house to suit his fancy and another man is to build it for him; the cost of the house would be a fair test of its value to the occupant. The only thing I am a little in doubt about is whether the words "a lower percentage may be taken" ought to be allowed to remain, and whether or not a minimum limit of assessment ought not to be given. I throw this out as a suggestion for the consideration of the hon. member in charge of the Bill.

The HON. DR. MAHENDRA LAL SIRCAR said:—The amendment proposed to be introduced by the hon. member in charge of the Bill, and the arguments which have been adduced both in favour and against it, clearly show that it is inconvenient to have two different standards of valuation of houses in town. This introduction of two different standards of valuation will lead to most unfair and inequitable conclusions unless we can make these two standards correspond. Now we have just heard from the hon. and learned Advocate-General that, in the northern part of the town, houses built for dwelling purposes would scarcely fetch even so much as 3 per cent. of the cost of building. [The Advocate-General—I said sometimes.] It is a notorious fact that houses built at the same cost in different parts of the town fetch different rents, the difference being sometimes enormous—two, three, four, and even tenfold. Take the case of two similar houses, one in the south and one in the north of the town, both built at a cost of Rs. 50,000. The house in the south of the town may fetch Rs. 200 a month or even Rs. 300; whereas a similar house built in the northern portion of the town at the same cost would scarcely fetch Rs. 100 a month. Suppose both the houses were let, one fetching Rs. 200 and the other only Rs. 100. Under the first standard, that is, taking the rent as the net annual value, the two houses would be assessed at different rates. But suppose the owner of the house built in the north of the town, after having let it for one year, chooses to keep it to himself, he would have to pay now at quite a different rate from what he was doing when he got Rs. 100 a month. Would that be fair? You will now assess his house by the standard of cost, whereas a year ago you assessed him to the extent of the net annual income or rent of the house. Then, again, what is to be the basis of the estimated present cost? Are you prepared to accept the cost as given by the owner of the house? Is it not a fact that similar houses may be built at very different costs? Two similar houses built, one under the supervision of the owner, the other by a contractor, would cost different sums of money: the one could be built for much less than the other. That being so, how are you to proceed in making the estimate? You must accept the cost given by the owner. In the one case it may be Rs. 50,000; in the other as much as Rs. 80,000. A difference of Rs. 30,000 would make a great difference in the assessment. It is also notorious that large houses like those of Baboo Nundo Lal Bose, Maharajah Sir Jotendro Mohun Tagore, and others built by different contractors, are built at enormously different costs, each contractor having his own estimates and prices differing considerably from those of others. How would you assess such houses? Taking all these things into consideration, I am of opinion that the use of two different standards of valuation of houses would not work fairly and justly. You must revert to the old standard of the annual rental of the house; otherwise you will be doing serious injustice to occupiers and owners of houses.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE said:—I do not wish to protract this debate much longer. I will only ask permission to say a few words in answer to the remarks against my amendment, and to point out the objections to which some of these remarks are open. My hon. friend on my left (Mr. Allen), who spoke against my amendment at the last meeting of the Council, was pleased to remark that the portion of section 122 to which I objected was rendered necessary by the under-assessment of houses in the northern division of the town resulting from the Committees of the Commissioners being led away by personal feelings of favour towards their friends and neighbours. [The Hon. Mr. Allen—I did not say so. I referred to what had occurred in mofussil municipalities.] My hon. friend reminds me that he referred to the Commissioners of mofussil municipalities, with whom we have nothing to do just now. It is fortunate that I was not a mofussil Commissioner before the passing of Act III of 1884, in which the new assessment provision was incorporated for the first time. Then my hon. friend pointed out what to his mind was a shocking absurdity and inequity of assessment; the inequity, namely, of a house in the south of the town being assessed as 5 per cent. on the cost-price, whereas houses in the northern division are assessed at only $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. But how is that an inequity? The whole argument assumes that we are bound, in making valuation for the purpose of rating, to have a certain uniform percentage on the money actually spent in building the house; that is the only basis on which all these arguments about inequality and inequity rest. Now my hon. friend was good enough to point out that we must base municipal taxation on the standard of the extent of interest that the rate-payer has in the municipality as determined by the capital sunk by him within its limits. Granting, for argument's sake, that the extent of permanent interest which a rate-payer has in immoveable property owned by him in the municipality ought to be the basis of taxation, I deny that the capital sunk in building a house is any indication of it. The capital may be misspent and may be partially irrecoverable when the property is put up for sale, and would it be right in such cases to tax a man for his folly because he has sunk capital which cannot be recovered? There is no reason or justice in that. It is not the capital sunk, but so much of it as can be recovered in the shape of market value which ought to be the standard of valuation for assessment. Adopt that standard, and you at once get rid of all those difficulties and anomalies which have been pointed out in the course of the discussion on the amendment moved to-day by the hon. member in charge of the Bill. And if you adopt the market value, you will after all be returning to the present law; for how is the market value ascertained? Every intending purchaser calculates what income the property will bring in if it were to be let out; and therefore ultimately we come to the expected letting value. The annual letting value and a proper percentage on the market value are convertible terms. Well, then, it is said it is a difficult thing to ascertain the market value. Perhaps it may be difficult: but is it not equally difficult to ascertain that which has been made the basis of the proposed law, as well as of the provision in the last amendment proposed by the hon. member in charge of the Bill? Here we have to make a deduction on account of depreciation. How is that to be ascertained? Is it not at least as difficult as the other? Perhaps it is more so. The only fair way of ascertaining the amount of deduction on account of depreciation will be by finding the difference between the cost price and the present market value. That is the only way which will indicate what the deduction ought to be. If, then, we are beset with the same difficulty, in accepting the proposed provision, that we have in the existing law, where is there any good in the change? It is said by the hon. member in charge of the Bill that the cost-price or the estimated present cost-price indicates the value of the property, if not to a third party, at least to the owner; and that in the case of an owner building a house to live in he has found a tenant, and we have only to ask him how much rent he has to pay. It is clearly the interest from 4 to 6 per cent. on the capital he has spent. That may be true, but the argument has one fallacy in it. In the case of an ordinary tenant living in another man's house, he has the option of giving it up whenever it suits his convenience. In the other case he becomes a permanent tenant because he has invested his money in building a house for his own residence. It will not do, if afterwards his means are reduced, for him to let the property, because it has been admitted by several hon. members that it will not yield anything like the interest on the capital sum; nor will it do to sell it, because it will not fetch anything like the sum spent in building it. If that be true, by adopting the other standard of valuation you ignore change in circumstances. These anomalies and sources of difficulty can be avoided only by taking the annual value as the basis of assessment, or, if that form appears objectionable, by putting in its stead a certain percentage of the market value. But really it comes to the same thing. I fail to see that anything has been pointed out to show why the section in the present law should not be re-introduced in this Bill.

The English law has been freely referred to on the point, and it has been remarked that under the English law rating proceeds on a different principle from that which has been the basis under the existing law. Instead of presuming to say what the English law is, I think I may put before the Council the remarks of the late Chief Justice and Mr. Justice Wilson, in the case of Nondo Lall Bose versus The Corporation of Calcutta. Sir Richard Garth in that case said—

“The principle of rating on which the Commissioners are directed to proceed is the same which is adopted in England; and similar difficulties arise there in the case of gentlemen's parks and mansions which are laid out for residential purposes and not for sale or letting. But such properties are nevertheless constantly rated upon the basis of their annual letting value.”

And Mr. Justice Wilson in the same case said—

“But the whole system of taxation and assessment under the Act in question is obviously borrowed in its general outlines from English Rating Acts.”

I have already pointed out that the case referred to in the report of the Select Committee is not at all a case in point. It is a case with reference to the valuation of a manufactory, and I do not think we have anything to do with such a case, because we have exempted machinery from valuation. With regard to dwelling-houses, the basis of assessment is not the estimated cost, but the market value. The report of Mr. Goschen also adopts the same basis. There is no sound reason for adopting the cost-price, either actual at the time the house was built, or estimated at the present time, as the basis of valuation.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said—The hon. member in charge of the Bill has confidently stated that he has made out a strong case for making an alteration in the law. He makes that statement on two suppositions. First, that his statement of facts is perfectly correct; and secondly, that the present state of the law is unjustifiable. I have no hesitation in joining issue with him as to the point of fact. I think it is an error to suppose that as a general rule the owner of a residential house has hitherto been under-assessed. I admit that in certain exceptional cases it has been so, but barring those exceptions, I submit that the statement of the hon. member is wholly erroneous, and, if necessary, I think it would be well, before the Council finally decides this matter, to have a thorough enquiry on the point. My hon. friend has not given his authority, but has said that his friends amongst the Commissioners and other persons have made certain statements to him. I am quite willing that this matter should be referred to the Commissioners, and I have little doubt as to the manner in which their view will be expressed. I venture to think that before any change is made in the law on the supposition that a certain statement of facts is true, it is necessary to make a thorough examination of the facts and to find out whether such statement has proceeded from erroneous impressions or is justified by the actual state of things. Now when the Local Government was pleased to intimate its willingness to assist the Commissioners in raising further funds, and with that view appointed the Octroi Committee. I never heard that there was such a simple method by which the income of the municipality might be greatly increased. If the reports of the Calcutta Municipality from 1877 to the present time are overhauled and examined, I am almost certain that not a single word will be found anywhere which will justify the statements which have been made by the hon. member in charge of the Bill. Will it be just, will it be right, without making due enquiry into this matter, so far as the question of fact is concerned, to come to the conclusion that the owners of residential houses have not been fairly assessed up to the present time? I submit that it will not. As regards the law, the English law is applicable to this country. It is the law which in most cases is administered by the Courts here. If the law on the subject is that which has been propounded by my hon. friend the member in charge, why cannot he persuade the Judges to agree with him? I think it is going too far to say that it is impossible to have the law properly interpreted here. I think we have Judges here who are capable of enunciating the law in matters of this kind without any difficulty whatever. That being so, and as the provision of the law to which my hon. friend referred is based on the probable letting value of the property, why should not the matter be left there, and in exceptional cases, resort to the ruling of the different Judges in England, and fix the assessment in such cases on the basis my hon. friend has suggested? But he is not satisfied with that. He wants a change in the law. He has referred to what I said on the last occasion, and he said he felt it is his duty to point out the inequalities which exist. Of course he is responsible for his own acts, and what he considers his duty no doubt he will perform to the best of his ability. But it is also my duty to show the Council that we shall be doing a grave injustice if, without making due enquiries, we adopt the hon. member's proposal in this matter. He has entered into an elaborate discussion in order to show how it is that this inequality has come into existence. He has been pleased to refer to several appeals before assessment benches of the Commissioners; but it would have been better if he had pointed out the percentage of appeals allowed, of modifications made in the valuations of the assessor, and of appeals disallowed altogether. If these percentages are given, I am positive that the conclusion to which the Council will come will be different from that which my hon. friend asks the Council to adopt. I think that if those cases are carefully examined you will find that substantial justice has been done; that in most of the cases the appeals were rejected; that in about 30 or 35 per cent. of the appeals there were modifications made; and that in only a very small percentage appeals were wholly allowed. My hon. friend shakes his head. I am now speaking from recollection; but my hon. friend has the papers before him, and he could have given the information on this head without the slightest difficulty, and he could have shown that in most cases the appeals were allowed.

In the course of his argument he has been pleased to say that he would only support his modified proposal in the event of a proper system of appeal being fixed, and that proper system he has foreshadowed by his notice of amendment, that appeals are to be taken out of the hands of Commissioners and preferred to the Small Cause Court. I submit that it will be a great mistake to drive persons to the Small Cause Court, putting them to the expense of appointing vakeels and to the harassment and annoyance of frequent attendance for the purpose of having the appeals heard. There is another difficulty which has suggested itself to my mind, and which I shall refer to at the proper time in a much fuller manner than I shall do at present, viz., that by the constitution of the Court of Small Causes, there is no provision in the law which compels the Judges of that Court to take up this duty. Suppose the Judges refuse to entertain these appeals on the ground that the law which constitutes the Court does not provide for the hearing of such cases. What then would be the state of things? One executive officer would make the assessments, another would hear objections, and then, if the person was dissatisfied, he will be compelled to go to the Small Cause Court. In addition to the harassment and annoyance of frequent postponements, and to the absolute necessity of incurring expense for engaging vakils, the person preferring the appeal will run the risk, when such appeals become frequent, of the absolute refusal of the Small Cause Court Judge to hear him, on the ground that there is no provision under which that Court can be compelled to hear such appeals. I submit that this is a matter of very great importance, and that, before the facts stated by my hon. friend are accepted, it will be far better that an enquiry should be made; and if in the course of that enquiry it transpires that his position is unassailable, I shall then have nothing to say against his proposal; but I do think it will be altogether a mistake, especially when the rates are being consolidated, when the owners are to pay one-half and the occupiers the other half, to have two modes of assessment. A great deal has been urged by my hon. friend to show that one class of rate-payers is now benefited at the expense of the other two classes. I am not prepared to admit that the two classes mentioned by my hon. friend are sacrificed for the benefit of the other class; it has not been ascertained that they consider they have been sacrificed. Therefore, it seems to me that before we give way to any of the arguments adduced by my hon. friend in respect of this matter, we should really realize what we are doing. It seems strange that no complaint of any kind has been heard up to the present time from one class or the other of the unequal incidence of taxation. It seems strange that there should be such unequal incidence of assessment. It can only be possible if the assessment has been made on some erroneous basis; for if the Council would refer to the assessment of appeals, they would find that the percentage of appeals is very small. On the contrary, the rate-payers are generally satisfied by the assessments made by the officer of the Corporation. And if the percentage of appeals has not been large, what does it show? Either that the officer entrusted with the duty of assessing has entirely mistaken his vocation, or that he has made correct assessments. I think the Council would be perfectly justified, in the absence of any complaint, to come to the conclusion that the assessments have been justly made. Under these circumstances, I submit that we should pause and consider before we accept a mode of assessment which prescribes two different methods of valuation for two different classes of property. I am aware that I have myself proposed two methods; and, as far as that is concerned, it is open to my hon. friend to say that my remarks are somewhat out of place. But my alternative proposal is restricted to cases where, owing to exceptional circumstances, it is not possible to ascertain the letting value. It puts the matter on this sound footing, that it will only be in certain exceptional cases that the assessment will be affected. And then there will be the safeguard that the assessment will not be valid unless it is sanctioned by the Commissioners in meeting, showing that it will only be in exceptional cases that assessments under the second clause will be permitted. With these observations I leave the matter in the hands of the Council.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said in reply:—As regards the facts, I must leave every member of the Council to judge. We have just heard the statement made by a very competent member of the Council that if two similar houses be built in the two divisions of the town, each at a cost of Rs. 50,000, the house in the southern division would be assumed to carry a letting value of Rs. 200 a month or more, while the house in the northern division will be valued at only Rs. 100. Is any single circumstance more than that necessary to establish the case which I have laid before the Council? There is no question that land is more valuable in one part of the town than in another; but the moment you have bought the land, you have cleared the ground for the operations of Calcutta, which in the long run will look for the same return in one neighbourhood as in another, otherwise it will not be invested. Is not what has been stated above sufficient to establish my contention that the opinions of a large class of the community have completely lost their bearings in a matter of this kind? Is not that conclusive of the position I have taken that, where the lettable value cannot be ascertained, the valuation should be fixed at 5 per cent. on the estimated present cost of building the house? Can any one doubt that in the part of the town where this Council Chamber is situated, on the river bank, or in Chowringhee houses are assessed at fully 5 per cent. on their cost; probably more, either 6 or 7 per cent. If there is any doubt that in the native part of the town houses are assessed less highly, then why this outcry against 5 per cent.? So far from there being an outcry, we ought to be thanked for reducing it to 5 per cent. Is anything more necessary to show that my fundamental contention is right?

As regards the assessment benches, that will be more properly discussed in another stage of the proceedings. I shall only say further that the hon. and learned Advocate-General has correctly explained what is the meaning of the exceptional clause I have proposed. It does not mean an appeal et misericordiam to the poverty of the owner; it means that for some exceptional reason the valuation of 5 per cent. will be at times excessive, and when that can be shown, the operation of this clause will come in. One exceptional case is that in which property passes from the person who built it for his own purposes to his successor, to whom it is not worth what it was to the original owner. I should feel no difficulty in applying the principle to the other cases selected by the Hon. Mr. Allen. To Government House, the Museum, and the Great Eastern it would not apply; whereas the other case put by my hon. friend, where a person builds a house at great expense in a position which he thinks will be healthy, and the house turns out to be very unhealthy, is precisely one of these exceptional cases. The clause is proposed to meet such exceptional cases, and in each case the exceptional circumstances must be proved.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE'S motion that, for the first paragraph of section 122, the following be substituted:—

"For the purpose of assessment under this Act, the annual value of land and the annual value of any house shall be the gross annual rent at which such land or house might reasonably be expected to let from year to year, less, in the case of a house, an allowance of ten per cent. for the cost of repairs, and for all other expenses necessary to maintain the house in a state to command such gross rent."

being put, the Council divided:—

His Honour the President.

So the Motion was negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER'S motion that, for section 122, the following be substituted:—

"The annual value of any house or land for the purposes of assessment shall—

(a) in cases where the gross annual rent at which such house or land might reasonably be expected to let from year to year can be ascertained, be such gross annual rent, except that, in case of a house, an allowance of ten per cent. shall be made for the cost of repairs and for all other expenses necessary to maintain such house in a state to command such gross rent:

(b) in cases where such gross annual rent cannot be ascertained, be four per cent. on the sum obtained by adding the estimated cost of building, less a reasonable amount to be deducted on account of depreciation, if any, to the estimated value of the land valued with the house as part of the same premises:

Provided that in making the assessment under clause (b) the estimated value of ornamental works in any house or building should be excluded; and provided further that no assessment under the said clause shall be valid unless sanctioned by the Commissioners in meeting."

being put, the Council divided:—

So the Motion was negatived.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON's motion that the following clause be added to section 122:—

"When a house is occupied by the owner under such exceptional circumstances as renders a valuation of 5 per cent. of the cost of building, less depreciation, excessive, a lower percentage may be taken."

being put, the Council divided:—

So the Motion was carried.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE moved that, in line 14 of section 122, for the figure "5" the figure "4" be substituted.

He said:—I have already explained to the Council the reason of this amendment. The reason is that 5 per cent. is not anything like the profit which is likely to be made where the house is not built for letting purposes, but is the dwelling of the owner. The profit is much nearer 4 per cent. than 5. And if that is the case, there is no reason why the Council should adopt an arbitrary percentage instead of the real one, viz., the value of the property to the owner. In the course of the discussion on the last amendment, it has been abundantly shown that in the Northern Division of the town, house property does not bring anything like 5 per cent. on the cost price. Why, therefore, should we take 5 per cent. as the basis of valuation? It is only by adopting the figure "4" that we can do anything like justice. The adoption of the figure "5" does not rest on any principle of justice unless we hold that justice requires that a man must be taxed uniformly on capital whether it is sunk profitably or unprofitably. We may as well say that the same percentage of valuation must be taken on property drowned in a river within the municipality.

The Motion being put, the Council divided:—

Ayes 4.

The Hon. H. J. Reynolds.
The Hon. the Advocate-General.
His Honour the President.

So the Motion was negatived.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, at the end of section 123, the following proviso be inserted:—

"Provided that, for the purpose of dividing the town into districts under section one hundred and twenty-nine, the Commissioners may retain the valuation of the houses in any part of Calcutta for a further period not exceeding six years, or may, with the same object, make a re-valuation for a less period than six years."

He said:—The town is divided into districts for the purposes of assessment, and each division is assessed in turn after six years. But it is not equally divided, and when the new area is added, it may be that by an accidental flush of assessments a great deal more will have to be taken in hand in one year than in another. Therefore I wish to give a power of re-arranging these assessment districts as may be convenient, and to allow an assessment which has terminated to go on for another period, or if the period happens to be a long one to re-assess a district for a shorter period. Suppose the assessment of a certain portion of the new area terminates inconveniently, and that it is desirable that it should be re-assessed, say, in 1892, it will be for the Commissioners to say, we will continue the existing assessment till 1892, or we will make a new valuation up to 1892. This is a new power which it is proposed to give to enable the assessments to be properly carried out.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—I propose to discuss together the following four amendments to be moved by myself for the omission of section 135 of the Bill, the substitution of a new section for section 136, the insertion of a new section after section 136, and the substitution of a new section for section 137, as well as the amendment to be moved by the Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter for the omission from clause (a) of section 135 of the words "the Chairman or Vice-Chairman and." My amendments run thus—

(1). That section 135 be omitted.

(2). That, for section 136, the following be substituted:—

"Any person who is dissatisfied with a valuation made under this Chapter shall, in the case of houses, within fifteen days after the publication of the notice referred to in section one hundred and thirty-two, or after receipt of the notice referred to in section one hundred and thirty-three when such notice is received after the publication of the notice referred to in section one hundred and thirty-two, and in the case of bustee or other land within fifteen days after the receipt of the special notice referred to in section one hundred and thirty-four, deliver at the office of the Commissioners a notice in writing stating the grounds of his objection."

(3). That, after section 136, the following be substituted:—

"136A. All such objections shall be entered in a register to be maintained for the purpose, and on receipt of any objection, notice shall be given to the objector of a day and place when his objection will be investigated.

"On the day and place notified, the Chairman or Vice-Chairman (if the case is referred to him by the Chairman) shall hear the objection in the presence of the objector if he shall appear, or the Chairman or Vice-Chairman may, for reasonable cause, adjourn the investigation. When the objection has been determined, the order passed shall be recorded in the register of objections, together with the date of such order."

(4). That, for section 137, the following be substituted:—

"Any person dissatisfied with the orders passed on his objection may appeal to the Court of Small Causes having jurisdiction in the place where the house, land, or bustee land is situated. Such appeal shall be presented to the Court of Small Causes within thirty days of the decision of the objection under section one hundred and thirty-six A, and shall be accompanied with an extract from the register of objections containing the order objected to. No appeal shall be admitted unless an objection has first been taken under section one hundred and thirty-six."

He said:—First with regard to section 135. I have for a long time past thought that the present system of assessment benches is utterly unsound. In Select Committee it was known that my hon. friend would move that from clause (a) the words "Chairman or Vice-Chairman and" be omitted, and as we were desirous of getting on with the Bill, I suggested that he should bring forward his motion in Council, and I reserved my amendment also. It is an amendment in principle to be considered on its own merits. The present system is that a person aggrieved has a right of appeal to a bench of three Commissioners or to the Small Cause Court, and the former is always exercised. The effect of this is that the assessor knows perfectly well who is the controlling authority. The closing remark of my hon. friend in the last debate was that if the assessor did his duty no inequalities of assessment would happen. Is this remark either just or true? The assessor cannot rise above the body which controls him. If he knows the assessment will be revised on one principle, naturally he cannot be expected to make his assessments on any other basis. The proportion of appeals is small, as he generally persuades people to accept his assessments. He knows perfectly well what system of assessment will ultimately prevail, and he adapts himself to it, and it is understood that houses occupied by their owners will be assessed on the rent which another tenant can be found to pay for it, and therefore the assessor assesses these houses on that principle. So far from the assessment bench not usually modifying what the assessor does, the fact is precisely the opposite. I have added up two pages of assessment appeals taken haphazard. In one of them there are 29 cases, and I find that the assessment was modified in 18 cases, and the objection fully allowed in 7 and disallowed in 4 cases only. Where there is an old assessment, and it is retained or reduced, I call that a rejection of the assessment in toto; where there is a new assessment, it is hard to say whether it is rejected or modified. In the next page 5 assessments are upheld out of 25; 19 are modified, and the other one, the objection is maintained in full. Again in another page the results are remarkable. In the Chitpore Road six houses are assessed. The first is a new assessment, which the assessor fixes at Rs. 1,800; the Committee reduces it to Rs. 1,200. In the next case the assessor fixes Rs. 3,000; the Committee reduces it to Rs. 1,200. In the case of the next house, formerly assessed at Rs. 720, the assessment is raised by the assessor to Rs. 900; the bench lower it to Rs. 600. In the next the former assessment was Rs. 480. The assessor raises it to Rs. 900. The bench reduce it to Rs. 360. In the next the former assessment was Rs. 360; the assessor raises it to Rs. 480. The assessment is reduced to Rs. 240. The last case is that of a new house which the assessor values at Rs. 3,000; the bench reduce it to Rs. 1,200. I do not select those as average cases; they are no doubt extreme, but can any officer be expected to do his duty according to principle when the opinions he forms are upset in this manner, although he is a most experienced officer? I have often asked the assessor what he thinks is the best remedy, and it is instructive to hear what he says. One of his suggestions is, that the assessment benches should be obliged to give their reasons in all cases where they admit appeals or modify the assessments. The second suggestion is, that they should be required personally to satisfy themselves by seeing the house which has been assessed. For myself I do not think that the remedy lies in any of these courses. It is true that in England there have been Assessment Committees of two kinds. First, in parishes, introduced in 1837, and at first they were highly thought of. But actual experience showed that exactly the same objection applied there as here. It was found that their decisions were unequal and commanded no respect, and now they have been nearly discarded, and, as far as possible, not resorted to. Then there were Assessment Committees appointed by the Unions, and the object here was different: it was to check the partiality of officers in their own parishes. In 1869 an assessment law was passed for London under which the system of appeals was very elaborate. There was an Assessment Committee, whose functions were relegated to the hearing of objections, totally different from the supreme appellate benches here. After the assessments are made, the Assessment Committee revises them; then they are ready for appeals, and the rule is that anybody can appeal. Our idea is that only the owner of the house assessed may appeal. In England if a person's neighbour is under-assessed the aggrieved person may appeal. And the overseer of the parish may also object, and above all an officer appointed by the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, called the Surveyor of Taxes, and it is his duty to go round and see that the assessments are fair, and the decision of the Surveyor of taxes is made binding on the ultimate appellate bench of Justices from the decision of various Committees, unless it can be proved to be wrong. So the whole burden of proof is thrown on those who oppose the judgment of an experienced officer. The assessor here says I am thrown over for no reason. I have seen the house; it has so many large rooms. The appellant says they are small rooms, I cannot afford to pay. Instead of an assessment of Rs. 180 which the assessor proposes, the Assessment Bench fixes Rs. 120, and it is settled. Is it possible for assessments to be carried on in this way on any fair and satisfactory manner? And some continuity of principle is needed. The system I propose, is, I am convinced, the only one if you want to have Calcutta fairly and equally assessed. It is true that in Select Committee I accepted the Chairman or Vice-Chairman being a member of the Bench, and as a makeshift that would be something. He would be the principle of continuity, and that would do something. But I have only to appeal to the discussions of the last few days and ask you, looking to the extreme divergence of views, is it possible that a tribunal constituted by haphazard in this way can be an equal tribunal? Would it not depend on the lot whether an appeal would be decided on one way or the other? My hon. friend says he is confident that if an appeal is made to the Commissioners, they will endorse his views. He is right. But either that view is right or it is wrong. I say that it is wrong, and that from the very nature of the circumstances the Commissioners are disqualified from being a good tribunal. In a matter between class and class we choose a fair and impartial officer to decide. It is not a question of Municipal convenience or expediency. It is simply a question of justice between man and man, and is it fair to let the question depend upon the opinions of three Commissioners chosen by lot? That is not at all fair. The work of the Assessment Bench is judicial work, and must be made over to an officer who feels the responsibility, and who has constant experience. Therefore I am satisfied that if you wish to do what is right, you will accept the system of appeals which has always been in force in Bombay. There the Municipal Commissioner, an Executive officer, issues most elaborate instructions for the guidance of the assessing officer, and he is the person to whom the appeal comes, and if the appellant is dissatisfied, he goes to the Small Cause Court or to the Presidency Magistrate there. That is the system I wish to adopt in Calcutta. I am quite satisfied that it will be very fair, and that the assessments will be much more equal. If the Council is unwilling to adopt this system, I hope the section in the Bill will be allowed to remain by which the Chairman or the Vice-Chairman will be made members of the Assessment Bench. The feelings of the different classes of the community are so widely different and so incompatible, that I may almost say that it is a farce to leave the decision of these cases to Commissioners chosen by chance, who would take an entirely different view of the equity of the case if they belong to one class, and an entirely different view if they belong to another class. My object is simply to do justice to all classes of the people.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that in clause (a) of section 135 the words "the Chairman or Vice-Chairman and" be omitted.

He said:—As regards the amendment of the hon. member in charge of the Bill, my first objection is this, that there is no provision in the Presidency Small Cause Court which confers jurisdiction in such cases on that Court. I appeal to the hon. and learned members, the Advocate-General and the Legal Remembrancer, to say whether it is so or not. [The Advocate-General—Opinions are divided: it is extremely doubtful.] I think the question is very doubtful. [Sir Henry Harrison—Numbers of cases have been decided under the provisions of all the Municipal Acts.] I went through the Presidency Small Cause Court Act on a recent occasion, and I found that in the Chapter on Jurisdiction there is nothing in my judgment to show that the Court can be compelled to take up a case of this kind. The hon. the Advocate-General is pleased to say that opinions are divided; two eminent lawyers came to one opinion and two to another. Therefore I am right in saying it is a doubtful question. In the second place the constitution of that Court is such that it has nothing to do with questions relating to immovable property. The Judges who preside in that Court, have not the experience necessary to enable them to determine the value of real property, because questions of that kind never come before them. They have to deal with questions relating to moveable property, matters of contract, and so on; and it is not a Court which in my humble opinion is capable of doing justice in cases of this kind, and it will not be the best tribunal to select for the purpose. When the Bill was in Select Committee, I intimated my intention to move for the omission of the words "Chairman and Vice-Chairman" which were inserted on the motion of the hon. member in charge, without in any way intimating that he reserved his amendment for the consideration of the Council. Not a word was then said by him as to the hearing of these appeals being taken out of the hands of the Commissioners. The section regarding the mode of assessment will operate very hardly on the owners of residential houses. I have said before and I repeat that the hardship of dancing attendance on the Small Cause Court will be intolerable. Contested cases will not be decided in that Court in less than four or five months; sometimes they take years, and in my own experience I know of one case which took more than two years to decide. The cases in the Court are so numerous that it is impossible for the judges to do more than they are doing; and that being so, when a case of assessment comes on, the first thing which will infallibly happen will be its postponement for two months. That is the first satisfaction the appellant will have, and I cannot say in the ordinary course how many postponements will be made, and on each of these occasions a pleader will have to be engaged. I ask the Council whether it is right or just to drive persons to a Court not so constituted as to be able to deal with these cases in a proper manner. The English precedents referred to by the hon. member show that these appeals are placed before Justices. I ask how any continuity of principle can be maintained under such a procedure, as the Justices hearing appeals will not always be the same persons. Here in 1863 the duty of administering the affairs of the town was entrusted to the Justices of the Peace, and the assessment appellate benches were formed from amongst them. In 1876, on the amendment of the law, Commissioners were substituted for Justices, the change being only one in name. It is a singular fact that complaints as to the decisions of assessment appeals are heard here for the first time; they are not made the subject of complaint in the administration reports published from year to year. The Chairman never pointed out to the Commissioners that appeals are not conducted as they should be. On the contrary, judging from the fact that the number of appeals is very small in proportion to the number of assessments, I am emboldened to say that the mischief the hon. member speaks of does not exist. He has referred to a few cases to show that reductions have been made in the assessments, and he asked the Council to infer from that, that appeals are not conducted in a fair and proper manner. I submit that two or three cases or even five will not justify any tribunal to determine whether appeals are conducted fairly or not. If the public are under the impression that they have only to appeal to get their assessments reduced, how is it that the proportion of appeals is so limited? That one fact goes to the root of my hon. friend's argument. It shows that there is no such belief in the minds of the people. The belief is quite the other way, viz., that the appellate benches will not admit appeals unless there is real ground of complaint. The method proposed by my hon. friend is no doubt a very convenient one as far as the executive officers of the municipality are concerned; one officer assesses, another deals with objections, and then the appellant is driven to the Small Cause Court. The annoyance and trouble and expense of litigating in that Court are so great that in many cases the parties will be deterred from instituting appeals. I am sure the Council will not in a matter of this kind, after passing a very stringent clause as to the assessment of house property, place people in a position not to be able to obtain justice. It is all very well for my hon. friend to say that that will be the best course. He said there will be a continuity of policy. We have had instances when the Corporation has been either plaintiff or defendant in the Small Cause Court. In one case it was a question of taking out a license, and some very strong remarks were made by the presiding Judge, and there was another case where another Judge made similar remarks. Therefore the result will depend very much upon whether the case will always come before a particular Judge before you can say that there will be a continuity of principle. If the Commissioners are unfit to be trusted to hear these appeals, they are not fit to be trusted with the administration of the affairs of the town. My contention is that the executive officer having done his duty, the hearing of appeals should be left to the Commissioners. Ordinarily the number of Commissioners who sit to hear appeals is five, and not three. Five Commissioners are chosen by ballot, and that is done because it was said that if a person knows beforehand who are to hear his appeal, probably the Commissioners who are going to sit will be subjected to the annoyance of receiving personal solicitations from the appellant. That rule was therefore established and is in force now. It seems to me that of all persons the persons who have to deal with these appeals are the very persons who, by virtue of their position, are far better able to judge of the value of property than any Judge of the Small Cause Court. If the theory is that they will not do justice, then I say that the elective system should not be retained in Calcutta. If there is this fear lurking in my hon. friend's mind, he should be the last person to advocate the elective system. Large sums of money are expended on the advice of the Commissioners for the benefit of the town, and yet these persons are considered by my hon. friend not fit to decide whether the value of a particular property is Rs. 5,000 or Rs. 50,000. My deliberate opinion, formed from an extensive and intimate knowledge of the value of house property in the town, is that the Commissioners are the best persons to decide assessment appeals. Under these circumstances, I say that the adoption of my hon. friend's amendment will be a gross injustice to the rate-payers of the town, and I hope the Council will, at any rate, not alter the existing law in this respect. If the report of Nundolall Bose's case is carefully read, it will be seen that it does not help my hon. friend's contention. The Judges there came to the conclusion that the valuation on which the assessment was made is wrong, and therefore they allowed the appeal. Therefore there is no decision of any Court which will justify the Council in taking this matter out of the hands of the Commissioners. They are responsible for the well-being of the town, and I cannot understand why they should not be entrusted with the assessment of house property. I can understand the principle of their supersession under the control section of the Bill, but I cannot understand their supersession in the matter of hearing assessment appeals.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON's motion that section 135 of the Bill be omitted, being put, the Council divided:—

Ayes 8.

The Hon. H. Pratt.
The Hon. C. H. Moore.
The Hon. Sir Alfred Croft.
The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison.
The Hon. T. T. Allen.
The Hon. C. P. L. Macaulay.
The Hon. H. J. Reynolds.
The Hon. the Advocate-General.
So the Motion was carried.

Noes 5.

The Hon. Dr. Gooroo Dass Banerjee.
The Hon. Mahendra Lal Sircar.
The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter.
The Hon. Moulvie Abdul Jubbar.
His Honor the President.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON's motion that, for section 136, the following be substituted:—

"Any person who is dissatisfied with a valuation made under this Chapter shall, in the case of houses, within fifteen days after the publication of the notice referred to in section one hundred and thirty-two, or after receipt of the notice referred to in section one hundred and thirty-three when such notice is received after the publication of the notice referred to in section one hundred and thirty-two, and in the case of bustee or other land within fifteen days after the receipt of the special notice referred to in section one hundred and thirty-four, deliver at the office of the Commissioners a notice in writing stating the grounds of his objection."

was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON's motion that, after section 136, the following new section be inserted:—

"136A. All such objections shall be entered in a register to be maintained for the purpose, and on receipt of any objection, notice shall be given to the objector of a day and place when his objection will be investigated.

"On the day and place notified, the Chairman or Vice-Chairman (if the case is referred to him by the Chairman) shall hear the objection in the presence of the objector if he shall appear, or the Chairman or Vice-Chairman may, for reasonable cause, adjourn the investigation. When the objection has been determined, the order passed shall be recorded in the register of objections, together with the date of such order."

was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON's motion that, for section 137, the following be substituted:—

"Any person dissatisfied with the orders passed on his objection may appeal to the Court of Small Causes having jurisdiction in the place where the house, land, or bustee land is situated. Such appeal shall be presented to the Court of Small Causes within thirty days of the decision of the objection under section one hundred and thirty-six A, and shall be accompanied with an extract from the register of objections containing the order objected to. No appeal shall be admitted unless an objection has first been taken under section one hundred and thirty-six."

was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON's motion that, in section 138, for the words "two last preceding sections" the words "last preceding section" be substituted, was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that section 151 be omitted.

He said:—This provision is not in the existing law. The water-supply to the shipping is working satisfactorily and no friction has arisen, and I do not see why a section of this sort fixing a maximum charge of Rs. 5 per thousand gallons should be introduced when Rs. 8 per thousand gallons is now charged without complaint. At present the Port Commissioners get all the water they want, ships are supplied with water, and I am not aware that any difficulty has arisen.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—This section was inserted in the interests of the Port Commissioners. At present we charge Rs. 8 per thousand gallons, but the price is no doubt excessive when the cost of the water is from 2 to 2½ annas per thousand gallons, although the cost of putting it on board is something considerable. I think on the whole Rs. 5 per thousand gallons is really a very liberal allowance.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—My argument is that no necessity has been shown for the introduction of such a provision. It is a notorious fact that one-third of the town has not yet been piped, and it might seem invidious to make legal provision for the supply of water to the shipping when a large proportion of those who have contributed to the expense of the water-supply have not yet been supplied. Charity begins at home, and I think that matters of this kind ought to be left to the discretion of the Commissioners.

The motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The Council was adjourned to Wednesday, the 18th April, 1888.

The rules of the Madras Government for the grant of licenses to prospect for gold or other metals on Government waste land, published in the Fort St. George Gazette under order No. 126 of 1st February, 1882.

It has been brought to the notice of the Bengal Government that great delay occurs in the disposal of the applications occasionally made for leave to prospect for minerals on Government estates, as local officers think it necessary to refer every case of the kind for special instructions, no general rules having been prescribed for their guidance; and, in the absence of any recognised policy, even the superior revenue authorities find much difficulty in issuing orders with the promptness which in such cases is of the greatest consequence. After consultation with the Board of Revenue and the officers of the Chota Nagpore Division, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to prescribe the following rules to be in force for two years, at the end of which period the matter will be reconsidered :—

1. Persons desirous of obtaining the exclusive privilege to search for metals on Government waste land should apply to the Collector or Deputy Commissioner of the District, specifying distinctly the situation of the land within which it is proposed to search, and its boundaries as accurately as possible, together with its estimated area. Every application should be accompanied by a rough sketch of the tract applied for, which must be a compact block not ordinarily exceeding half a square mile. Applications will be dealt with in order of receipt by the Collector or Deputy Commissioner. On an application being accepted by the Collector or Deputy Commissioner, a license to search for metals will be granted on the following conditions :—

- (1). That the license shall be in force for a term of six months, and shall be available for purposes of prospecting only, and shall not justify mining proper.
- (2). That a rent of one rupee per acre, or such lower amount as the Collector or Deputy Commissioner shall find to be adequate, shall be payable by the licensee in advance on the date of the grant of the license.
- (3). That if the licensee satisfies the Collector or Deputy Commissioner that he has effectually explored the tract, he shall have the preferential right to a mining lease on such terms as Government may consider suitable.

- (4). If the licensee shall have caused any injury by digging pits or otherwise to any land in excess of the extent for which he can obtain a mining lease, he shall pay to Government as compensation such sum as shall be required to repair the damage done; provided, however, that the amount so payable shall not exceed twenty-five times the assessment on the portion of the area affected, if assessed, or of the assessment which the lands would bear if they were rated in the same way as similar assessed lands in the neighbourhood.
- (5). That in all questions or differences of opinion in regard to the observance or non-observance of the conditions of this license, the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal shall be the arbiter, and his decision shall be final.

2. Without the written permission of the Collector or Deputy Commissioner previously obtained, the land applied for must not be entered upon, nor operations commenced.

3. Immediately on receipt of an application for permission to search for metals in a specified tract of country, the Collector or Deputy Commissioner shall ascertain whether the land is at the disposal of Government, and whether there is any objection to the grant of the permission sought, by reason of the land being required for public purposes, or on any other ground.

4. If no such objection is known to exist, the Collector or Deputy Commissioner will accept the application, and will, without loss of time, place the land in the possession of the applicant and grant him a license in the form prescribed below.

5. A register of applications to search for metals shall be kept in the Collector's or Deputy Commissioner's office in English in the following form:—

Register of Applications for permission to search for Metals.

Number.	Date of application.	Name and residence of applicant.	Situation of the land, i.e., district, sub-division, village, &c.	Boundaries of the land.	Estimated extent.	Date of license.	REMARKS.

NOTE.—In the Remark column it should be stated whether the application is for permission to search for gold or other metals, and whether a mining lease was eventually granted, reference being made in such cases to the number of such lease in the register.

Form of License to search for Metals.

Whereas A.B of has applied to the Collector Deputy Commissioner of acting for and on behalf of the Right Honorable the Secretary of State for India in Council, for the grant to him the said A. B. of the full and exclusive license and authority to search for metals in, under, and throughout the tract of Government land measuring about acres in extent and particularly described in the schedule hereunder written; and whereas the said A.B. has paid to the said Collector Deputy Commissioner acting as aforesaid the sum of Rs. being rent at the rate of per acre of the said tract of land for such full and exclusive license and authority; now these presents witness that the said Secretary of State in Council in consideration of the said sum of Rs. so paid by the said A.B., as aforesaid, hereby gives and grants to the said A.B. full and exclusive license and authority to enter upon and to search for metals for the period of six calendar months in, under, and throughout the said tract of land upon the following terms, that is to say,

1. That the said A.B. forthwith commences and during the aforesaid term continues to explore the said lands and search for metals therein in a skilful and workmanlike manner.

2. That if the said A.B. shall have caused any injury by digging pits or otherwise to any land in excess of the extent for which he can obtain a mining lease, he shall pay to the Government of Bengal as compensation such sum as shall be required to repair the damage done; provided, however, that the amount so payable shall not exceed twenty-five times the assessment on the portion of the said lands so damaged, if assessed, or of the assessment which such lands would bear if they were rated in the same way as similar assessed lands in the neighbourhood.

3. That in all questions or differences of opinion on points connected with this license the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the time being shall be the arbiter and his decision shall be final. This license shall be available for prospecting purposes only and shall not justify mining proper.

ORDER.—Ordered that this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and that copies of it be forwarded to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, and all Commissioners of Divisions and District Officers.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

REPORT ON THE TORNADO WHICH VISITED DACCA ON THE 7th APRIL 1888.

No. 877J, dated Dacca, the 27th April 1888.

From—W. R. LARMINIE, Esq., Commissioner of the Dacca Division,
To—The Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

I HAVE the honour to forward herewith a copy of the Magistrate of Dacca's report on the tornado which visited Dacca on the 7th April last.

2. Although at the time within a few hundred yards of the centre of the storm, I did not observe any special violence, but noticed the peculiar noise as of a number of trains. I was not aware, till next morning, that any great damage had been done.

3. As Dr. Crombie has prepared a scientific account of the tornado, it is unnecessary for me to enter into any details as far as that branch of the subject is concerned.

4. The damage done to life and property has been stated by the Magistrate, and I am satisfied that he has not over-estimated it. I have myself gone over the greater part of the area which suffered; and if I had not done so, would have found it difficult to credit the completeness of the damage done.

5. Great credit is due to Mr. Clark and his subordinates for their prompt and continued exertions; also to Mr. S. J. Sarkies, Secretary to the Municipality.

6. The liberality displayed by the Nawab in particular, and the other gentlemen named, in regard to the relief of the sufferers, deserves special notice. The list has since been increased by the name of Baboo Protap Chandra Banerjee, who has subscribed Rs. 500.

7. Every care is being taken that the money at our disposal is being judiciously distributed.

No. 835, dated Dacca, the 25th April 1888.

From—L. HARE, Esq., Offg. Magistrate of Dacca,
To—The Commissioner of the Dacca Division.

I HAVE the honour to submit a formal report upon the recent tornado, and to furnish a statement showing the damage it caused.

2. On the night of Saturday, the 7th April, there was to all appearance only the signs of an ordinary storm. I hurried home from polo before the game was ended at about 6-20, and got home just as the storm began.

At about 7 o'clock p.m. the tornado struck the town, and so sudden was its arrival, and so partial the course it took, that those outside its path were hardly aware of anything unusual.

3. On the night of Saturday it was clear that very much damage had been done, but it was not until Sunday morning that anything like a full idea could be formed of the enormous extent of the damage. At first I was of opinion that there had only been in a part of the town a somewhat more severe storm of wind than I had experienced in my own house, and that it was only thatched houses and badly constructed kutchapucca houses which had suffered. But subsequent examination showed that even fairly well built pucca houses, such as the Nawab's house, had been wrecked by the tornado.

4. The tornado appears to have entered the town on the north-west extremity and to have followed the river bank for some distance, and turned in towards the lunatic asylum, a bit of the wall of which was thrown down. It then turned back to the river, which it crossed into Keranigunge, the suburb on the opposite bank of the river to Dacca. Here it did great damage to the boats moored to the banks. It then went inland for some two or three hundred yards. Then it stopped and turned at right angles to its former course, going straight for the Nawab's Ahsun Munzol. Here, and close behind this building, the greatest havoc was committed. After travelling through Saukari Bazar, the tornado disappeared apparently between the College and the Cutcheries.

5. Dr. Crombie, Civil Surgeon, has written a detailed account of the tornado, which has been submitted to Mr. Pedlar, who is preparing a scientific account of the tornado for the Lieutenant-Governor, and it is not necessary to give any further description of the storm.

6. All along its track houses were wrecked and unroofed, and in many places, as I have stated, pucca buildings were demolished. If I had not seen it, I would not have believed it possible that such a complete wreck could have been caused by the wind.

The damage seems to have been all done in some two or three minutes, and was not the result of a continually increasing pressure of wind, but apparently of a sudden, irresistible and overwhelming force of wind.

7. As to the damage done, as far as can be ascertained 118 persons were killed by the fall of houses and flying bricks and bamboos, or were drowned. It is probable that more were drowned than there were bodies recovered, and it is impossible to say how many were really drowned, as many of the boats destroyed had only recently arrived and were manned by foreigners.

Of wounded people, as many as 1,200 were counted, and of these 222 were seriously wounded and treated in hospital. Besides the attendance given at the hospital, 248 persons were treated in their own homes. The Civil Surgeon, Dr. Crombie, and the Assistant Surgeons (especially Mr. Kelly) were indefatigable in their exertions to help the wounded. Additional Hospital Assistants were also employed to visit people at their homes.

8. When on Sunday as the ruins began to be cleared and more and more bodies were found and the wounded began to pour into the hospital, something like a panic occurred for a short time, and there was some difficulty in keeping the hospital clear of the crowd.

9. The damage done to property has been estimated at Rs. 6,78,428; nine pucca houses were completely demolished and 148 partially so. Of cutcha houses 3,518 were completely and 61 partially destroyed, and 121 boats were wrecked. Amongst the latter was the District Superintendent of Police's Government steamer Marion, which was sunk.

10. The police behaved very well and worked hard throughout Saturday night and Sunday in maintaining order in the excitement which prevailed, and in guarding the large amount of property which was exposed.

No cases of theft in connection with this calamity have been reported. They also did much useful work in rescuing buried persons and forwarding wounded persons to the hospital. Mr. Clark, District Superintendent, worked most admirably. He specially mentions the assistance rendered by Inspector Abhoy Chara Ghose, who has also since given me much help.

11. The streets, many of which were wholly or partially blocked by debris, were speedily cleared by the exertions of Mr. S. J. Sarkies, Secretary to the Municipal Committee, who superintended and directed the municipal coolies.

12. For the relief of those who have suffered by the calamity, the Nawab has generously given you Rs. 10,000, and Rs. 5,000 was subscribed by Baboo Raghu Nath Das, Rs. 1,000 by Baboo Sonatun Das, and Rs. 500 by Baboo Sri Nath Roy. The generosity of the Nawab is the more marked, inasmuch as he is one of the principal sufferers by the storm.

13. Enquiries have been steadily conducted and are still being conducted to ascertain who of the many sufferers from the tornado should be relieved. Already Rs. 5,670 have been distributed, and further sums are being distributed daily.

14. Very shortly after the tornado visited Dacca, a part of the Munshiganj sub-division was visited by a tornado, either the same or another. The damage done by this was very severe, and it is at present reported that 66 deaths occurred, and that 128 persons were wounded. This tornado passed for a great part through open country, and did comparatively little harm to property, though, where it did strike houses, it carried them away more completely than in the crowded city of Dacca.

15. Medical assistance was at once sent to the villages which had suffered, and Rs. 1,000 has been put at the disposal of the Sub-divisional Officer from your relief fund for the assistance of those who require it.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Barometrical observations are taken at the representative stations at intervals of four hours, and the mean of the readings during the same period for the last ten years is taken as the normal mean. The pressure is reduced to sea-level by adding the correction for the height of the station above sea-level. A clear sky is denoted by 0, and an overcast sky by 10. The number of rainy days is the number of days on which the rain which fell did not determine the contents sent up by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past 10 years. The number of rainy days is the number of days on which the rain which fell did not determine the contents sent up by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past 10 years. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

he week ending Friday, the 27th of April 1888.

CALCUTTA, the 1st May 1888.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 27TH OF APRIL 1888.

In the report for the previous week it was noticed that towards its close the meteorological conditions obtaining over the province had undergone a considerable change, and that a moist easterly wind current had set in at the eastern and northern stations, and have gradually driven back the dry westerly current which had been previously blowing over almost the entire province. As usually happens in such cases, where there are two conflicting wind systems, which are opposed both in direction and character, weather conditions at once became disturbed, and local storms attended with rain occurred in the eastern, northern and southern districts. Similar conditions have obtained throughout the present week; a very moist easterly wind current has prevailed over the greater part of the province, and has even penetrated over the greater part of Behar, though westerly and south-westerly winds have been still blowing generally in Chutia Nagpur and Orissa and at the neighbouring stations of South-West Bengal. Consequently weather conditions have remained decidedly disturbed in Bengal throughout the week, and local storms with rain have been extremely frequent. The districts of Pooree and Cuttack in Orissa, and all the districts of South Behar and Chutia Nagpur, except Sonthal Pergunnahs and Manbhoom, have, however, been comparatively free from these storms, and rainfall in these districts has been scanty, but in the districts of East and North Bengal these storms have been very numerous, and the rainfall brought by them has been heavy. Some of these storms have again been exceptionally severe, and notice has been received that in the Hooghly district, on the evening of Friday, the 23rd, the small town of Bhudressur, which is close to Serampore, or only 16 or 17 miles north of Calcutta, was visited by a small but severe tornado, which lasted from about three to six minutes. Mr. Duke, the Sub-divisional Officer, Serampore, writes that the storm entered the south-eastern part of the town from the river about 8 o'clock in the evening. At first the direction of the track was north-west by north, and having travelled about 1½ miles, finally left north-east about the northern part of Bhudressur, disappearing in the river as it had come. The breadth of the course was about 200 to 300 yards on land from the shore, and the centre and point of greatest violence about the line of the riverbank near the gunge. The winds rotated from right to left, and the tornado was preceded by a booming sound. Much damage was done and large boats were lifted out of the water and thrown over the banks, and in one case a dinghy had been blow up on to a tree which had first been partially blown down. Seven persons are known to have been killed and three are missing, while a considerable number have been injured. Even up till the close of the week these disturbed conditions have continued over a large part of the province, nor did there at that time appear to be any immediate prospect of more settled weather setting in over the province.

Pressure.—As might be expected from the unsettled weather which has been experienced during the week, the pressure oscillations have been unusually large and varied. Thus on Friday, the 21st, there was an increase of pressure at many stations of nearly a tenth of an inch, which was followed by a further rise on the 22nd of about half that amount; on Monday, the 23rd, there was a fall which in some cases exceeded a tenth of an inch, which was followed by a further moderate fall on the 24th. A still larger fall took place on the 25th, but on the 26th this was succeeded by a rapid rise, while on the last day of the week the pressure changes were comparatively small. At neighbouring stations also the amounts of these changes have been rather variable, pointing clearly to a disturbed state of the atmosphere. A rather important result of the changes which have taken place during the week has been the establishment of a distinct low pressure area over Chutia Nagpur and the western parts of the province generally, and thus the mean pressure for the week is decidedly below the normal over this area, while almost the whole of the remainder of the province shows a pressure in excess of the normal. Taking, however, the whole province into consideration, the mean pressure for the week has been 0·012 inch above the normal. The largest variations from the normal have been a defect of 0·029 inch at Gya and one of 0·026 inch at Hazaribagh, and an excess of 0·048 inch at Durbhunga and one of 0·046 inch at Dacca.

Temperature.—Has fallen rather rapidly during the week over the greater part of the province, and has remained rather low owing to the succession of small storms and rain. Thus, while the mean temperature of the province for the previous week was 2·2° in excess of the normal, in the present week the mean temperature has been 3·5° below the normal. The defect is particularly large in North Bengal, where it amounts to 6·9°, and in East Bengal and North Behar, where it is from 5° to 6°; while on the other hand temperature has been in slight excess in Chutia Nagpur, where there has been little or no rain. The defects at particular stations are even larger than those just quoted, and at Berhampur the mean temperature for the week has been 9° below the normal, and at Rampur Beaulah 10·2° below it.

The following table, which gives the actual average temperatures during the week and their variations from the normal values at nine typical stations in the province, will show the general temperature distribution clearly:—

Rainfall.—Decidedly heavy rain has fallen in East and North Bengal, which have received an average amount of about four inches during the week. South-West Bengal and North Behar have also received good rain, and an average fall of about one-and-three-quarters to one and-a-half inches is recorded. The fall in Orissa has been much smaller and has been mainly confined to the Balasore district; in South Behar the fall has been principally in the Sonthal Pergunnahs district; and in Chutia Nagpur the slight fall, has been to a great extent in Manbloom. In the last three large meteorological divisions, however, the average rainfall only varies from about three-tenths to one-tenth of an inch.

In East Bengal all the districts have received good rain, but the Dacca district has received very heavy falls averaging six inches for the week. In South-West Bengal, Jessore and Khoulna and the 24 Pergunnahs have received the largest amounts, and in North Bengal, Pubna, Rungpore and Julpigore districts have received heavy falls, while Maldah has registered a comparatively light fall. In Orissa the Balasore district has received nearly an inch, Pooree and Cuttack being almost rainless. In North Behar, Mozufferpore and Purneah report good rain, while in South Behar all districts have been practically rainless except the Sonthal Pergunnahs. In Chutia Nagpur a few isolated stations only report rain.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 27th of April 1888:—

METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, INDIA;

The 30th April 1888.

ALEX. PEDLER,

For Offg. Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of India.

MEMORANDUM.

The principal Municipalities in Bengal registered, during the week ending 14th April 1888, births and deaths at the rates of 19·3 and 29·8 per 1,000 of population, respectively, as opposed to 19·9 and 27·5 per 1,000, respectively, in the preceding week ending 7th April, indicating a sensible improvement in the registration of deaths.

2. With regard to local distribution of the births and deaths of the week in question, the following Municipalities show the highest rates :—

Births.			Deaths.
		Ratio per mille.			Ratio per mille.
Monghyr	...	44·3	Beaulcah	...	110·4
Bhagulpore	...	35·3	Narainganj	...	103·5
Serampore	...	33·4	Jessore	...	97·9
Beaulcah	...	31·5	Serampore	...	86·4
Durbhanga	...	30·7	Suburbs of Calcutta	...	49·2
			Chittagong	...	42·3
			Durbhanga	...	37·8
			Gya	...	32·8
			Purneah	...	31·1
			Comillah	...	30·8

3. In comparison with the results of the preceding week, there was a noticeable enhancement of mortality from cholera and fever, particularly from cholera, and only small differences in the casualty-rates from the rest of the death-causes, vide figures given below—

						Ratio per mille during the weeks ending—
						14th April 1888.	7th April 1888.
Cholera	9·8	8·1
Small-pox	1	2
Fever	9·9	9·0
Bowel-complaints	3·1	2·7
Injury	5	4
Other causes	6·4	7·0

4. The following Municipalities appear to have suffered the most from the diseases specified in the above table, excepting small-pox, bowel-complaints and injury, the casualties from which were nowhere above normal :—

Cholera.			Fever.			Other causes.
		Ratio per mille.			Ratio per mille.			Ratio per mille.
Jessore	...	97·9	Beaulcah	...	28·9	Serampore	...	25·5
Beaulcah	...	78·8	Purneah	...	27·7	Narainganj	...	16·5
Narainganj	...	74·5	Durbhanga	...	22·8	Puri	...	10·5

Chittagong	...	23·5				Suburbs of Calcutta	...	9·5
Suburbs of Calcutta	...	21·5
Comillah	...	19·2
Howrah	...	13·7
Hughli	...	10·7
Dacca	...	4·5

It will be seen that, in comparison with the results of the preceding week, the severity of cholera had abated considerably in Serampore, but that in Jessore, Beaulcah, and Narainganj the prevalence of the disease was very severe.

5. The mortality of the week, distributed under the heads of Sex, Class and Age, stood as indicated below—

According to Sex.			According to Class.			According to Age.
		Ratio per mille.			Ratio per mille.			Ratio per mille.
Males	...	34·0	Christians	...	21·7	Under 1 year	...	190·4

INCREASE.

Tons.

Cotton piece-goods—

(1) European

19

This increase is due to steamer not running between Jeaganj and Calcutta, the river being dry.

Grains—

(1) Wheat

(2) Rice

190

(4) Gram

23

20

The increase is due to steamer not running between Jeaganj and Calcutta, the river being dry; and to greater despatches from intermediate stations owing to good crops and favourable demands.

Salt

This increase is due to steamer not running between Jeaganj and Calcutta, the river being dry.

Oilseeds—

(1) Linseed

13

(2) Mustard and rape...

47

(6) Others

41

This increase is due to river communication being stopped for want of water.

Stone and lime

This increase is due to more lime carried for building purposes.

Tobacco

This increase is due to river communication being stopped for want of water.

All other articles of merchandise

This increase is due to steamers not running between Jeaganj and Calcutta.

DECREASE.

Coal

204

This decrease is due to brick-burning coming to a close.

Jute—

(1) Raw

This decrease is due to no jute being carried for low market rate.

HUGLI, the 5th May 1888.

BRAHMA MOHAN MALLICK,
Inspector of Schools, Western Circle.

Educational Prospectus.

The Calcutta Medical College Session, 1888-89, will commence on the 23rd June next. Students who may be desirous of commencing their studies are requested to apply to the Principal between the hours of 11 A.M. and 4 A.M. on or before that date.

2. Ten free presentations will then be awarded. These are given to students according to their relative position in the University, B.A., B.L., and F.A. Examinations, preference being given to those who have passed the highest examination.

3. No person shall be enrolled as a matriculated student who has not previously passed the First Arts Examination of the Calcutta University, or a preliminary Arts Examination of the United Kingdom recognised by the British General Medical Council.

4. All matriculated students of the College shall pay Rs. 15 on entrance, Rs. 30 for the summer session on the 23rd June, and Rs. 30 for the winter session on 1st November of each year.

Mahomedan students are required to pay Rs. 15 on entrance and one-third fee, i.e., Rs. 10 per session. The remaining two-third fees are charged to the Moshin Fund.

5. Any matriculated student of the College may, with the permission of the Principal and the Professor of the subject, attend courses of lectures or departments of hospital practice in addition to the full curriculum for the year, and shall be entitled to certificates of attendance at such extra lectures, if the Professor is satisfied that he or she has really studied the subject. The fees payable in advance for such additional courses are the following :—

	Rs.
For a single course of lectures on each subject in one year ...	40
For six months' attendance in each department of hospital practice ...	60

6. Any matriculated student who leaves the College before completing his University course, with the object of continuing his studies at a Medical School in Europe, may receive certificates of attendance at lectures on payment of fees at the rate fixed in the foregoing rule. But in calculating the sum to be so paid, the amount of the fees already paid by him as a regular student, or in the case of a free student, the amount which would have been paid by him had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

7. Any person not being a matriculated student of the College, who wishes to attend any course of lectures, or any department of hospital practice, may do so with the permission of the Principal and Professor of the subject, on payment, in advance, of fees at the rates fixed in rule 5. If he has passed the Entrance Examination of the University, he shall receive certificates of attendance at lectures. If he has not passed the Entrance Examination he shall receive no class certificates.

8. College scholarships, prizes and certificates of honour are open for competition only to matriculated students of the College, Hospital Apprentice and Female Certificate classes.

9. Junior scholarships of Rs. 8 per mensem and free tuition for one year are annually awarded to 10 students of the 2nd and to 10 of the 3rd year, on the results of the first and second years' Test and Honour Examinations respectively.

10. Ten senior scholarships of Rs. 12 per mensem and free tuition are annually awarded to students of the 4th year on the results on the University First Examination in Medicine. But these shall not be awarded to students who gain Doorga Charan Laha and Female Medical scholarships. These are tenable for two years. Failed students are not eligible for these scholarships.

Goodeve scholarship of Rs. 12 per mensem is annually awarded to students of the 5th year on the result of the Midwifery Test Examination of the 4th year.

F. C. Chatterjee scholarship of Rs. 17 per mensem is annually awarded to the best students in Histology at the end of the 4th year.

Abdool Gunny scholarship of Rs. 26 per mensem is annually awarded to the best student at the General Examinations of the 1st to 4th year.

Duke of Edinburgh's prize is awarded to the best in Surgery at the end of the 5th year.

Bhola Nath Bose's prize of Rs. 40 is awarded to the best clinical clerk in Surgery and Medicine in alternate years.

A gold medal and certificates of honour are awarded to the best students in each subject.

Goodeve and Macnamara silver medals are given to the 1st year students in Anatomy and Chemistry, respectively.

11. College scholars, who receive less than Rs. 20 per mensem, are not required to pay Rs. 30 per session. All other scholars shall pay fees as matriculated students. These may pay their fees in advance, or have their scholarship money deducted till the full amount is received.

12. Any student holding a Medical College scholarship will be permitted to draw the stipend of the said scholarship at any recognized Medical School in the United Kingdom, provided he furnishes from the head of such school a certificate of good conduct and diligence.

13. This College classes are acknowledged by all the Medical Schools in the United Kingdom.

14. The class assistantships of Pathology, Physiology, and Comparative Anatomy can be held only by matriculated students of the College :—

SENATE HOUSE,

The 3rd May 1888.

P. K. RAY, D.Sc.,

Registrar.

Civil Engineering College, Seebpore.

CANDIDATES for admission to the Engineer Department should apply to the Principal before the 25th May 1888. The Session begins on Monday, the 4th June 1888. Candidates must furnish proof that they have passed the Calcutta University Entrance Examination, and that they are under 19 years of age. This limit will be raised to 21 years of age in the case of candidates who have passed the F. A. Examination of the University.

Ten scholarships will be awarded to students entering the Engineer Department not being already holders of junior scholarships. These scholarships will be awarded after admission with general reference to the place taken by candidates at the Entrance Examination.

Mechanical Apprentice Department.

Students who have passed the University Entrance Examination in April are eligible for admission to the Mechanical Apprentice Department up to the 4th June 1888. They must send in their applications before 25th May 1888.

Every applicant, before admission to the College, will be examined by the College Surgeon as to his physical strength, fitness for manual labour, and eyesight.

Further particulars will be supplied on application to the Principal.

S. F. DOWNING.

Principal, Civil Engineering College.

SEEBPORE, the 14th April 1888.

NOTIFICATION OF THE BOARD OF REVENUE.

No. 599B.

Notice is hereby given that the Sixth Sale of Opium, the Provision of 1885-86 will be held at the Government Opium Sale-room, No. 2, Bankshall-street, on Monday the 4th June 1888, at 11 A.M., and will comprise 4,750 chests, viz.—

SUPPLY BILLS.

NOTICE is hereby given that supply bills for sums of Rs. 500 and above in even rupees are usually obtainable on the treasuries named below at the rates of premium shewn.

Any person desiring to obtain a supply bill should send to the Bank of Bengal, Calcutta, a written application containing the following information—(1) his own name and address; (2) the name of the person to whom payment is to be made; (3) the treasury on which the bill is to be granted; and (4) the amount for which the bill is to be granted. With this application the cost of the bill (the amount plus the premium) should be paid into the Bank. If payment by telegram is desired (but this is admissible only in cases in which the name of the payee has been previously registered in the Accountant-General's office), the fact should be stated in the application, and an additional rupee paid with the cost.

The Bank of Bengal will, if the amount is available at the treasury named, receive the money tendered, and grant a receipt, returning the application therewith. The receipt and the application should then be sent to the Accountant-General's office, by which the bill will be granted.

The Bank of Bengal will be advised by the Accountant-General on the 1st and 16th of each month of the amounts available at the several treasuries, and will receive the amounts tendered by the first comers till those amounts are exhausted.

If the Bank refuses to receive any sum tendered owing to the amount not being available at the treasury, the application will be retained by the Bank and forwarded by it to the Accountant-General, who will advise the Bank and the applicant if the amount can be made available.

Separate account No. 369

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned plots of lands situated in pergunnah Chainpur, which are no longer required by Government for the purpose for which they were acquired, will be put up to public auction at the Shahabad Collectorate on the 8th June 1888, at noon, and will be sold to the highest bidder on the conditions specified below:—

- (a).—On the termination of the sale the auction purchaser will be required to deposit a sum equal to one-fourth of the purchase money, failing which the land will be resold immediately.
- (b).—Within a period of 30 days from the date of sale the auction purchaser must pay the entire amount due from him on account of the sale; in the event of his failing to pay in the money within the prescribed time, the deposit of one-fourth money will be forfeited by him and the land resold.
- (c).—If the price obtained by the second sale falls short of that offered at the original sale, the first auction purchaser will be required to make good the difference.

Maps of the several plots to be sold are available for inspection in the office of the Collector.

A. POWER, Collector.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned plots of Nalhati Railway land, no longer required by the Government, situate in the district of Moorshedabad, will be put up to sale on the 31st May and 1st and 2nd June next, in Moorshedabad Collector's Office.

The purchasers of the plots will be subject to the following conditions:—

1st.—The purchasers will have no power to make any excavation on the land nearer than 15 feet from the Railway fencing, or plough it closer than 3 feet from its foundation.

2nd.—If the amount of purchase-money does not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

3rd.—If the amount of purchase-money exceeds Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the 15th day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale to be cancelled, the sum deposited being forfeited to Government, and the estate to be again put up for sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement as in the case of original sale.

4th.—The plots will be sold revenue-free to the highest bidders.

5th.—The purchaser shall be put in possession on receipt of the orders of the Collector approving of the sales. But such possession shall be liable to be disturbed in case the final confirmation of the Board of Revenue should not be accorded to the proceedings.

H. MOSLEY, Collector.

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the undermentioned estate situate in the district of Hooghly, will be put up to sale at the Hooghly Collectorate on Thursday, the 28th June 1888, corresponding with 15th Assar 1259.

The purchaser will be subject to the following conditions of sale :—

Conditions of Sale.

1st.—The estate to be sold to the highest bidder above the upset price. The purchaser of the estate will be considered as the proprietor of the estate, and the entire proprietary right of Government in the estate will be transferred to him, subject to the revenue fixed in perpetuity.

2nd.—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings and by the laws in force, and the purchaser to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the schedule of assessment prepared by the Revenue authorities.

3rd.—If the amount of purchase-money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4th.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the 15th day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or, if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the succeeding office day, the sale to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government) and the estate to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement as in the case of original sale.

NOTICE.

It is hereby notified, for general information, that subscriptions to the complete series of the Indian Law Reports should be registered during the first three months of each calendar year. Subscribers are therefore requested to send in their subscriptions for the complete series before the 31st March in each year. Those who register their names after that date will understand that copies will be supplied only if available.

H. A. D. PHILLIPS,

Under-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.
The 24th November 1886.

The following revised advertisement is published in substitution for that which appeared at page 1084, Part II of the Calcutta Gazette of the 9th July 1884:—

The Indian Law Reports,

Published under Authority.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st April 1888, the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876:—

Terms of subscription payable annually in advance.

Bills of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Bill was introduced and read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations, and referred to a Select Committee, on the 5th May, 1888, with instructions to report thereon at the next sitting of the Council, and is hereby published for information:—

A Bill to amend the Howrah Bridge Act, 1871.

WHEREAS it is expedient to empower the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to remit the payment of the tolls, fees and charges levied under the provisions of the Howrah Bridge Act of 1871 upon all passengers, animals, vehicles and goods using or conveyed upon the said Bridge: And whereas, under the provisions of the said Act, the Commissioners for making Improvements in the Port of Calcutta have from time to time invested the surplus income arising from the tolls, fees and charges levied for the use of the Howrah Bridge in the purchase in their corporate name of Government securities, and the money so invested together with interest thereon now amount to a sum of Rs. 5,50,000: And whereas it is expedient to empower the said Commissioners to transfer such portion of the said Government securities as will represent a sum not exceeding Rs. 2,00,000 to the Commissioners for the Town of Calcutta, and to further amend Bengal Act IX of 1871: It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title. 1. This Act may be called the "Howrah Bridge Act Amendment Act, 1888."

Construction and commencement of Act. 2. It shall be read with, and taken as part of, Bengal Act IX of 1871; and it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor-General.

3. For the proviso to section 3, the following proviso shall be substituted:—

"Provided always that such tolls, fees and charges shall not exceed the respective rates mentioned in the said schedule, and that it shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor from time to time to exempt all or any passengers, animals, vehicles and goods using or conveyed on the said Bridge from payment of the tolls, fees and charges prescribed in the said schedule."

4. After the proviso to section 4, the following proviso shall be added:—

"Provided also that the said Lieutenant-Governor may, from time to time, re-impose the payment of the fees on any goods or any passengers which may have been exempted from such payment under this section."

5. After section 18, the following section shall be added:—

"18A. Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act to the contrary, it shall be lawful for the Commissioners to sell such portion of the Government securities purchased in their corporate name under the provisions of section eighteen as shall represent a sum of Rs. 2,00,000, and with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal transfer the said sum of Rs. 2,00,000 realized upon such sale to the Commissioners for the Town of Calcutta, to be applied by such last-mentioned Commissioners to such purposes and in such manner as the Lieutenant-Governor shall, by a notification to be published in the Calcutta Gazette, direct."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

UNDER section 22 of Act IX of 1871, an Act for the construction of a Bridge across the Hooghly between Howrah and Calcutta, it is prescribed that, after the repayment of all sums advanced by Government for the construction of the bridge and its approaches and the formation of a sufficient reserve fund, the Lieutenant-Governor shall so regulate the scale of fees, tolls and charges that the income derivable from them shall not exceed the expenditure. The debt to Government has now been repaid, a sufficient reserve fund has been formed, and there is a surplus of income to be disposed of. The Lieutenant-Governor accordingly appointed a Committee to report upon the measures by which the income derivable from the fees, tolls and charges should be reduced, and the surplus disposed of. Under section 3 tolls must be levied for the use of the Bridge, and under section 18 all surplus of income must be expended for some of the purposes of the Act. The Committee have recommended that all tolls levied for the use of the bridge under section 3 should be remitted, and that of the surplus a sum of two lakhs of rupces should be granted to the Calcutta Municipality for expenditure on a new road to connect the Bridge with the Sealdah Railway Station. The object of this Bill is to enable the Lieutenant-Governor to give effect to these recommendations.

THE following Report of the Select Committee, together with the Bill as amended by them, is, by order of the President, published for general information :—

REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE ON THE BILL TO AMEND THE HOWRAH BRIDGE ACT, IX OF 1871.

WE have considered the Bill in connection with the letter from the Government of India, No. 489R.T., dated 30th April, 1888, and have modified it accordingly. We have altered the Preamble, and have omitted the section which it was proposed to introduce after section 18 of the Act.

We recommend that the Bill as amended be passed.

A Bill to amend the Howrah Bridge Act, IX of 1871.

WHEREAS it is expedient to empower the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to remit the payment of the tolls, fees and charges levied under the provisions of the Howrah Bridge Act of 1871 upon all passengers, animals, vehicles and goods using or conveyed upon the said Bridge, and to reimpose the payment of the fees on any goods or any passengers which may have been exempted from such payment under section four of the said Act: It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title. 1. This Act may be called the "Howrah Bridge Act Amendment Act, 1888."

2. It shall be read with, and taken as part of, Bengal Act IX of 1871; and it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor-General.

3. For the proviso to section 3, the following proviso shall be substituted :—

"Provided always that such tolls, fees and charges shall not exceed the respective rates mentioned in the said schedule, and that it shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor from time to time to exempt all or any passengers, animals, vehicles and goods using or conveyed on the said Bridge from payment of the tolls, fees and charges prescribed in the said schedule."

4. After the proviso to section 4, the following proviso shall be added :—

"Provided also that the said Lieutenant-Governor may, from time to time, re-impose the payment of the fees on any goods or any passengers which may have been exempted from such payment under this section."

CALCUTTA AND SUBURBAN MUNICIPALITIES AMALGAMATION BILL.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—Before we commence the work of the day, I think I ought to inform the Council that yesterday I received a deputation of some leading gentlemen of Calcutta, who were deputed on the part of a public meeting held last week at the Town Hall to submit a memorial protesting against a number of the provisions of the Municipal Bill that is before you. Many of the points to which they have objected have already been decided by the Council; there are others which are still waiting for the Council to consider. A copy of the memorial and of my reply will be laid before you to-day, but I should tell you that in my reply I thought it necessary to say, in regard to those sections which have already been debated by the Council, and in respect of which decisions have been come, seeing that a Select Committee, consisting first of seven and subsequently of nine out of twelve members of the Council, have already through two Sessions made two separate careful investigations and examinations of the Bill—I say that, considering the constitution of the Council with relation to the Select Committee, I thought it would be scarcely consistent with proper respect towards the Council if I were to ask them without fresh arguments being put forward to reconsider their decisions. At the same time, if I should hear of any desire on the part of the Council to take up any of the points already decided, I shall not let any technical objection stand in the way. I think it right that this should be mentioned to you and the memorial placed before you in case the Council wishes to express any views or desires on the point.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that the clauses of the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the Municipal affairs of the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta, as further amended, be further considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—I may be out of order, but perhaps your Honour will not object to my saying a few words on one point of the Building Regulations, with reference to section 233 and the recent accident in Kyd Street, so that if any members consider an amendment of the law ought to be made, they should have an opportunity of bringing it forward. A similar accident occurred some time ago, and the Coroner's jury having made some remarks as to the functions of the Municipality with respect to such buildings, we took legal advice, and the opinion clearly expressed by the Solicitors to the Corporation was that the present section does not impose any obligation of an inquisitorial character with regard to buildings which are not dangerous to a highway. The Government thought it expedient to take further opinion on the subject, and the opinion of the learned Advocate-General was to the same effect. Therefore in preparing this Bill it was fully considered whether it was desirable to impose any further obligations, and, as far as I am concerned, it was deliberately decided that it was not expedient to do so. I wish to draw attention to the distinction between watching over the safety of all buildings and of those which are absolutely dangerous to the public safety. But in case any hon. member thinks that the Corporation should have an obligation imposed on them with reference to all buildings, whether dangerous to the public safety or also to the inmates, I draw attention to the provisions of section 233, so that members may have an opportunity of proposing an amendment if desired.

In accordance with the instructions received from the Government of India, which your Honour explained to the Council two meetings ago, in the amendment which I now propose by way of addition to section 37 of the Bill I have endeavoured to embody the views and wishes of the Government of India. It makes no change in the intentions of the Government in framing the law, but it makes it obligatory upon the Corporation by law always to spend three lakhs of rupees annually—equivalent approximately to the town police rate—on the improvement of the added area. The following amendment does nothing more than reduce to words the obligations which it is always understood that the Corporation would undertake. Accordingly I move that the following clause be added to section 37:—

“(7). Devote to the improvement of the area newly added to Calcutta by this Act not less than three lakhs of rupees annually from the receipts of the revenue funds described in sections one hundred and two, one hundred and three, and one hundred and five of this Act.

Provided that the instalments of interest and reserve fund payable on any capital sum expended under clauses (3), (4) and (5) of this section for the improvement of that area shall be taken as part of the three lakhs of rupees.”

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said:—As the amendment is worded, it is not open to any other objection than this. By an earlier clause (3) of the section an obligation is imposed on the Commissioners to spend two lakhs for drainage and bustees. So far as the drainage works of the town are concerned, they are almost completed now, and probably in another year or two there will be no appreciable expenditure on those works. And as regards the improvement of bustees, I believe in the course of another year the improvements contemplated three years ago at an estimate of Rs. 7,50,000 will also be completed. Therefore the greater part of these two lakhs will after a year or two be available for the improvement of the added area. That being so, is it desirable to make it obligatory to spend a further sum of Rs. 3,00,000, making Rs. 5,00,000 in all, for the improvement of the added area? As far as I understand the obligation, it has reference only to the contribution on account of Police. Such relief, without going to the benefit of the rate-payers, was originally intended to go to the benefit of the town; but since the question of the amalgamation has come up, it was decided to appropriate it for the improvement of the added area. That has been throughout the understanding, and I am quite willing that that understanding should be made clear by the law to save any misunderstanding hereafter. But if it is put in the form proposed, without having regard to clause (3), it might be that it will be obligatory to spend five lakhs on the Suburbs, which is far more than what was contemplated.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said in reply:—It appears to me that clause (3) must stand on its own merits and it was passed without objection, being mainly taken from the existing law. Instead of an obligation to spend Rs. 1,50,000, as in the existing law, on drainage, the Corporation is required to spend Rs. 2,00,000 on drainage and bustees. No doubt something should be done to drain the Suburbs. How much is a difficult question, whether Rs. 200,00,000 or 50, 40 or 30 lakhs, which is an inside estimate. The system of drainage remains to be decided on the best advice available. Still a considerable sum must be spent for a considerable time, and that is the reason why bustee improvement is thrown in with drainage. My hon. friend is correct in supposing that it would mainly be spent on the added area. The interest, &c., on the sums thus borrowed will be part of the three lakhs.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that in section 155 the words "five thousand gallons" be substituted for "three thousand gallons"; and that the words "through a ferrule, the size of which is to be determined by the Commissioners in meeting" be substituted for the words "through a ferrule of the size indicated in the ninth schedule."

He said:—The matter which I have to place before the Council is one of very great importance, and I have no doubt that it will receive from my hon. colleagues that consideration which it fully deserves. The question, as I understand it, is this. Whether the supply of water to the town within a given time should be reduced, for, broadly speaking, the reduction in the size of the ferrule will have that effect. Before a question of this sort can be fairly discussed and settled, it is absolutely necessary that independent opinion should be had from experts eminently qualified to advise in a matter of this kind. Undoubtedly the note submitted by the hon. member in charge of the Bill is a valuable document, and it should deserve consideration as coming from one who by virtue of his position is qualified to express an opinion; but no further. It should not be accepted as conclusive on the point and as justifying this Council in making a change in the law which must operate with very great disadvantage to the poorer classes. The literature of the water-supply of the town is rather extensive, and any one who has studied it will be struck with some of the features that have exhibited themselves from time to time, and generally it will afford this instruction, that the executive officers of the present Corporation and of the late Justices, who were entrusted with the duty of supervising the works, have not been able to give the satisfaction which was expected. That position I think even my hon. friend the member in charge of the Bill will admit. It is a notorious fact that when the 42-inch main was laid by the Justices, they did so under an agreement by which an eminent firm undertook to lay the main so as to bear a certain amount of pressure. When the work was completed, pressure was applied to a portion of the main and the whole thing burst; and on advice being taken from experts, they unanimously advised the Justices not to test the main at all, but to take it over as a bad job. The result was that the main was taken over without having been laid in the way contracted, and it was not capable of bearing the pressure which it was intended to bear. Again when the extension of the water-supply was taken into consideration, various questions came up for discussion. Questions of great importance were submitted to experts; opinions were obtained, and ultimately the Committee of the Commissioners appointed to consider the subject submitted a report which was confirmed by the Commissioners, and the works were begun. But there was one striking feature above all others. When the extension works were first contemplated, the advice of the Engineer was that there should be a brick culvert of 60 inches diameter, and the Committee then appointed adopted it. It was placed before the Commissioners in meeting, who sent it back for further consideration, and some time after, when Mr Kimber, the present incumbent, obtained leave to go to England, Mr. Buckley was appointed to act for him. Mr. Buckley, on looking over the various papers in connection with the water-supply scheme, advised that it would be better to have an open cut instead of a brick culvert. The two questions were discussed in all their phases; they were submitted to experts, and their opinions were obtained. But at the very last moment the Chairman suggested that a 48-inch iron main would serve the purpose best. I was one of the Commissioners who opposed this suggestion on the ground that the supply would not be sufficient for the town, that it would be necessary to have a still larger supply than what was contemplated, and that it would be a mistake to be satisfied with a 48-inch main. I was in the minority. But at my instance it was agreed that the main should be so laid as to be capable of bearing a pressure of 100 feet. Perhaps it would be well to explain what is meant by a pressure of 100 feet. The water was to be raised to a height of 100 feet at Pultah and then forced into the main, instead of being allowed merely to flow down by gravitation. Up to a very late period the Commissioners were under the impression that the main was being laid so as to be capable of bearing this pressure; but it was all a delusion. When the time came for testing the main, it was successfully pointed out that it would be more economical to have a third main than to run the main under a pressure of 100 feet. The majority of the Commissioners adopted that view, and the main, after undergoing a certain test which by all was admitted to be insufficient if the main was to be worked under a pressure of 100 feet, but sufficient if it was not to be worked under that pressure, was put into use. There the question remained. Therefore I say that the question of the water-supply is not free from difficulties; it is not one in regard to which the public would be justified in putting implicit confidence in the statements of the executive officers. It is one which should be narrowly enquired into before any change in the law is adopted. The note of my hon. friend shows that, whereas under the present law the maximum supply to which a person is entitled is at the rate of 1,500 gallons for every rupee of taxation paid by him, the average present supply to the whole town is at the rate of 5,500 gallons to the rupee; but he proposes to allow only 3,000 gallons for the rupee. Is this equitable or just? I say that the people are not getting sufficient for the money they are paying. My hon. friend admitted at the last meeting that the average cost of filtered water was 2 annas or $2\frac{1}{2}$ annas for every thousand gallons. In providing filtered water to the town the Corporation was not acting on commercial principles. They took the rate-payers' money for constructing the works and for providing a Sinking fund for the liquidation of the loan, and it could not therefore be said that they are selling water to the town. They are only giving the town what they are entitled to have, and if we give them 5,000 gallons for the rupee they will not get more than they have paid for. My hon. friend complains that the standard of 1,500 gallons has become a dead letter, and it is quite right that it should. Why should the people who have paid for the water-supply purchase the water at an enormous profit to the Corporation? There is no justice or sense in that. The original standard was fixed under a total misconception of facts: the facts were erroneously stated to the then Council.

But if by equity, good conscience and justice the rate-payers of the town are entitled to have 5,500 gallons for every rupee of tax they pay, I do not see why they should not have it. In fact it is only right they should have it.

An important question is raised in paragraph 7 of my hon. friend's note. He says—

"So far therefore as command over the water to the individual is involved, and loss of command to the Commissioners, this depends on the size of the ferrules; and it is the simple fact that the scale of ferrules sanctioned has been such that it has entailed entire loss of command over the water-supply, and if the Commissioners are to be responsible for the pressure of the future supply, they can only fulfil this duty if they recover their command by a wholesale reduction in the size of the ferrules."

If it is a fact that the Commissioners have lost command over the water-supply, is it not strange that there should be a general complaint all over the town as to the scanty supply of water. If that shows anything, it shows that the people have not got the command over the water which is stated in the note; they cannot get the water which they want, and therefore there is this outcry and howl of indignation on all sides. If an enquiry be made from 100 persons, probably only five persons will say that they get a fair supply; but 95 per cent. will complain that they do not get a proper supply. My hon. friend shakes his head, but I am quite willing to leave it to the rate-payers to say whether what I have stated is not perfectly correct. The effect of the proposed reduction in the size of the ferrules will be that within a given time the supply will be great deal less than it is at present. People require their supply within a given time, and care should be taken to give it to them within that time. It will be no satisfaction to tell the rate-payers that whilst you are now getting a given supply within one hour, by reducing the size of the ferrule, you will not get less than that quantity, but you will get it within three or four hours. This will be no satisfaction, because a supply within three or four hours will not serve their purpose. It is within a certain time that water is needed, and it must be supplied within that time. The whole of my hon. friend's memorandum is based on certain mathematical formulæ set out in paragraph 9, and it shows that in one minute $16\frac{1}{2}$ gallons of water can be obtained if a tap of half inch diameter is left open. This statement has been tested by a friend of mine, a European gentleman living in the European quarter of the town. I have in my hand the letter in which he gives the result of his testing and which he has given me permission to use, and the fact is that he got only $1\frac{1}{4}$ quarter gallon of water by leaving the tap open uninterruptedly for a whole minute. He says he has two taps—one 18 feet above the ground level from which he got no water at all, and the other only six feet high from which he got the quantity specified. If that is so, what is the utility of my hon. friend's formulæ. Before the formulæ can be applied, there must be a certain state of things existing to satisfy the requirements on which the formulæ is based. If the main has not been satisfactorily laid, if the inclination of the main is different from what it should be, if the connection has several bends,—all these things will have a material effect on the supply; and until all these facts can be ascertained in respect of every case, the formulæ cannot be relied upon. As I have said, the complaint of the scanty supply of water is a just one, and on the 12th of November last a motion on the subject was brought before the Town Council, and a Committee was appointed for the purpose of making a thorough enquiry into the matter. On that Committee there were persons some of whom by virtue of their professional position were highly qualified to give an opinion in a matter of this kind. On the 19th of November this Committee met, and on that day, after a good deal of discussion, the following Resolution was passed at the instance of Mr. Spring:—

"That the engineer be requested to prepare a scheme for the Committee's approval for ascertaining in a reliable manner the actual quantity of water which passes clearly into certain isolated sections of the town which he may be able to select. The object of the scheme should be to furnish as far as possible the following information:—

- (1). Period during which the supply is given.
- (2). Pressure maintained during that period.
- (3). Area of ferrule orifices in each isolated district.
- (4). Population of each district.

It was hoped that the Engineer would be able to prepare this scheme on an early date. But that early date has not yet come. The Commissioners have been anxiously waiting for this scheme, but it has not yet been placed before them. If the information which has been asked for was available in a reliable form, there would be no difficulty in at once ascertaining what are the causes of the scanty supply of water, instead of giving credit to the vague general statements made, that persons are getting more water than they should have, or that a great deal of water is wasted. I submit that when the Commissioners are themselves enquiring into this matter, and when their executive officers have not placed the information before them up to the present moment, although it was called for so far back as the 19th November last, it will be a mistake to proceed now on the basis that people are getting more water than they are entitled to, or that there is a great deal of wastage. My motion is that instead of 3,000 gallons of water, 5,000 gallons should be supplied for every rupee of tax paid, the actual cost being less than at the rate of 5,500 gallons. That is the least quantity of water to which the rate-payers are fairly entitled, and if they are fairly entitled to that quantity, why should the law reduce it? My hon friend speaks of his generosity in giving 3,000 gallons when the existing law only allows 1,500 gallons. Is there any generosity in giving 3,000 gallons when the rate-payers are entitled to 5,500 gallons? They are entitled to have more, and therefore they should have more. For the convenience of discussion I may state that my amendment should be divided into two parts.

My first amendment is to substitute in section 155, lines 3 and 4, "five thousand gallons" for the words "three thousand gallons." And my second amendment is that in lines 9 and 10 of the same section the words "through a ferrule, the size of which is to be determined by the Commissioners in meeting" be substituted for the words "through a ferrule of the size indicated in the ninth schedule." If in the course of the enquiry to which I have referred it transpires that the real cause of the scanty supply to several persons is what is put forward by the hon. member in charge of the Bill, he may be able to bring before the Commissioners a proposition for the reduction in the size of ferrules. If he can clearly show that that is the cause, there is no reason to suppose that he will not succeed in doing what he is attempting to do by the arm of the law. If the size of the ferrule is fixed by law, the result will be that in the absence of any enquiry this Council will take upon itself to say that some persons are getting more water than they are entitled to. That is my objection to fixing the size of the ferrules by legislative enactment. It does not go to the principle of the proposal, but it is whether the legislature should fix the size of the ferrule without being in possession of any reliable data. It is a question of pure justice.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—I find the speech of my hon. friend very difficult to answer, because, instead of having brought out the essential points of the questions before the Council, he has directed his speech to an impeachment of the action of the Executive of the Corporation on the water-supply question. Naturally it is somewhat embarrassing for me to answer him in reply to this impeachment without saying anything, but I do not think I have the right to inflict upon the Council a disquisition upon the several matters which have arisen between the Commissioners and their Engineer. All I ask the Council to consider is the present issues which we have to decide to-day. It remains for me to point out what the issues are—a task which my hon. friend himself should have undertaken. I am very glad that he has divided his amendment into two parts, as it consists in fact substantially of two amendments—one that the Corporation shall be bound to supply to the rate-payers for every rupee of the tax paid by them 5,000 instead of 3,000 gallons of filtered water; the other that the supply should be given through a ferrule, the size of which is to be determined by the Commissioners in meeting instead of being laid down by law. Taking the first question, he has twitted me with claiming generosity. I never claimed any generosity whatever in this matter. I said you can easily give 3,000 gallons per rupee, instead of 1,500 as heretofore, and thus show that there is no intention to diminish the supply. But would it be equally safe to guarantee 5,000 gallons? The total supply may be said to be sufficient to give 5,500 gallons per rupee, and when the extension works are completed, they will give 7,000 or even 8,000 gallons. But the effect of the amendment is to make it obligatory on the Commissioners to supply water to each person to that extent. How can we undertake to do so unless we can prevent others from taking more than they are entitled to have? There is no doubt that some persons are getting a supply equivalent to from 9,000 to 12,000 gallons per rupee, and as long as we cannot stop that, how can we guarantee to each person a supply of 5,000 gallons? The Select Committee thought I was too generous in proposing to fix the supply at 3,000 gallons: still we do think that under the proposed restrictions as to ferrules we can undertake to give 3,000 gallons. That seems on the whole a commendable concession, but we cannot undertake to do even that if we have not some surety that people are not taking more than their fair share. Therefore I cannot accept the first amendment.

Next as to the question of ferrules. This is a point in respect of which, by the unanimous agreement of all bodies who have been consulted, something must be done. We found ourselves bound not to overlook the unanimous appeal of all parties, and therefore we have carefully looked into the matter and examined the reasons why at present a good supply cannot be given to all persons. It has, I think, been shown to demonstration that the ferrules of the town are at present on too liberal a scale. I have consulted Mr. Kimber, the Engineer to the Corporation, and that point admits of no doubt. And yet how has it been accepted by my hon. friend? He seems to consider that, although the result is produced by a law of nature, yet I am in some way responsible for it. Is it right, when we try to combine forces and to cope with a serious difficulty, to hold back and decline to admit that the only solution which the laws of mathematics and hydraulics impose on you, is not the correct one? That attitude is taken up not only by my hon. friend, but by a large number of Commissioners. I am quite prepared to admit that it is a question of very great difficulty, because mathematically the formula can only apply under normal conditions. When you come to apply it to actual conditions, such as the pipes through the tortuous lanes and gullies in the town, the taps and bends throughout Calcutta, you must bring an enormous number of disturbing elements into the calculation. If there is a bend before or after the connection, if instead of going from one street to another there is a dead end, the pressure is not so good as it is elsewhere. Mr. Kimber is now engaged in completing experiments throughout the town with a view of testing the discharges; but there has not yet been time to tabulate the results and to examine them, but there can be no doubt that a ferrule of a certain size will operate very differently in different cases. By some mistake the section in the Bill does not stand in the way it was settled by the Select Committee; we directed that there should be a power of altering the schedule by the Commissioners in meeting with the sanction of the Local Government. We desired to introduce this power either in the section or in the schedule, but it has been left out of both. Seeing the uncertainty of the precise effect of a hard-and-fast scale of ferrules, I do think there must be a power of modifying the schedule in that way.

Then comes the further amendment of my hon. friend, that instead of inserting a scale of ferrules in the Act, it should be left to be determined by the Commissioners in meeting. I do not look on this proposal with any great disfavour. It will put a very hard task on the officers of the Corporation to persuade the Commissioners to adopt a reduced scale, for it is plain how very unwilling the Commissioners will be to face the question in the only way it should be faced, but it is a power which ought perhaps to rest with the Commissioners; and although it will be difficult to convince them of what is the right thing to do, I believe they will in the end be convinced. Therefore as Chairman of the Corporation I raise no opposition to the second portion of my hon. friend's amendment. It is a question for the Council to settle. It is not I, as representing the Corporation, who say that you must prescribe a schedule in the Act. Hard as the task may be, I am prepared to let the Commissioners settle it if the Council think fit, but it is a further question to consider how far we will be doing our duty to the public. This the Council must determine. If they are willing to leave the decision with the Commissioners, I do not object.

I must add one word as regards the allegation that 95 per cent. of the people complain of the scanty supply of water. This I deny in toto: 40 per cent. might be nearer the mark. There is not the slightest doubt of what the supply is; the capacity of the pumps is known. Every stroke that is pumped up is registered, and there is no doubt that the quantity of water shown by the indicator is actually delivered. But it is delivered to 13,000 or 14,000 houses in the town. Of these about 8,000 or 9,000 have a good supply, 2,000 or 3,000 have an indifferent supply, and 2,000 or 3,000 have a very bad supply; and these 2,000 or 3,000 persons have a very bad supply, because others take the water off before it reaches them. We had a very good practical test the other day. Out of 13 Commissioners who were present at a meeting of the Town Council only two of them, Mr. Simmons and Dr. Mahendra Lal Sircar, complained that they had a bad supply; and I believe every member of this Council, except the Doctor, would say that they have a fair supply. Mr. Simmons' house is situated in one of the worst quarters of the town. (St. James' Square) in relation to the water-supply, and for some reason the pipes there are so arranged and are of such a size as to act very badly indeed: and see how wide of the mark his comments are as read out by the Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter. Mr. Simmons is one of the most intelligent, hard-working and devoted members of the Corporation. The formula shows that he ought to get $16\frac{1}{2}$ gallons of water per minute, but it is a question of pressure, and he says (as has been stated by my hon. friend) he gets only $1\frac{1}{2}$ gallons per minute. All that that proves is that the pressure in his house is extremely bad. He has a tap 6 feet in height, therefore 6 feet of pressure goes in raising the water to the tap; and if the pressure there is only 7 feet, he can only get one foot of pressure. Applying the mathematical formula to this case, and assuming that the average quantity supplied is $16\frac{1}{2}$ gallons per minute on the 30 feet pressure, it follows that if there are no disturbing elements in the case, the supply to Mr. Simmons should be very small indeed. Making due allowance for the existence of some or all of the disturbing elements to which I have referred, the formula must be taken to be only approximately correct. My hon. friend knows that everybody wants the water quickly and at the same hour; is it not therefore perfectly plain that everybody cannot have what he wants, as the supply has been so arranged as to give the full supply not in one hour, but in three or four? It has often been suggested that we should give the supply at different parts of the town at different times, but that will give great cause of complaint, and will, moreover, involve a fundamental alteration of the scheme of the water-supply works. I have only to repeat that as regards the size of the ferrules I have no objection to leave it in the hands of the Corporation.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY said:—As regards the first amendment of my hon. friend Babu Kali Nath Mitter, I think the arguments of the hon. member in charge of the Bill cannot be disputed, and that the Council should resist the amendment. As regards the willingness of Sir Henry Harrison to accept the second amendment, I would ask the Council to consider what the effect of that amendment will be. It is perfectly clear that the existing scale of ferrules has resulted in a considerable waste of water by certain people to the disadvantage of other people. Some people get a great deal more water than they pay for, because they are able to intercept it, while others are unable to get even as much as they pay for. This is the result of the adoption of the present scale of ferrules. Still I do not think it can be fairly said the Commissioners will be willing to exercise the very invidious task of reducing the dimensions of ferrules, and therefore I think the Council should wait until they are in a position to fix the schedule of ferrules in such a way as to give a standard to which the Commissioners can apply themselves. I understood in Select Committee that we had practically decided that. We found that the existing ferrules were on too liberal a scale, that the Engineer to the Corporation was engaged in practically testing the correctness of the mathematical formula, and that his enquiries have not yet been completed. There remain only the questions whether we should now fix a scale of ferrules in the schedule, or leave it to the Commissioners to do so, or wait until we are in possession of the results of Mr. Kimber's investigations. I ask the Council to allow the consideration of this question to stand over during the time we are in Session, so that we may be in possession of fuller information before we come to prescribe any scale in the schedule.

The HON. MR. ALLEN said :—I would ask the hon. member in charge of the Bill to say whether it was not his suggestion that the question of the size of ferrules should be taken out of the hands of the Commissioners and embodied in the Bill by the Select Committee, and whether it was not in consequence of his having informed the Select Committee that he felt it perfectly hopeless to induce the Commissioners (who wanted a larger quantity of water than that to which they were entitled) to reduce the size of the ferrules, and that he wished a scale of ferrules to be inserted in the Act. At present the scale of ferrules is such that those who have been first in the field are able to take much more water than that to which they are entitled, to the disadvantage of those who apply for water connections later on. It has been a regular scramble; first come first served. To avoid that the hon. member induced the Select Committee (another view was adopted by a large majority) that the responsibility of fixing the size of the ferrules should be taken out of the hands of the Municipal Commissioners; that the Act itself should lay down the scale of ferrules according to the mathematical formulæ, so calculated that during the hours the pressure is kept up every man in Calcutta would be capable of receiving an amount of water which the rate he paid entitled him to receive. There was no intention to deprive a single person of a gallon of water which his rate entitled him: but it was determined that he should take his allowance so as not to deprive others. We were at the same time prepared to allow that in exceptional cases, where from houses being situated at a distance from the centre of the water-supply or from other exceptional circumstances, the proper supply could not be given from the standard ferrule, the Commissioners should have the power of altering and enlarging the ferrule to suit the peculiarities of the locality, and I understood that a clause to this effect would be appended to the schedule. I would strongly urge that this is the better course to adopt, and that the section now under consideration should stand as it is; but when we come to consider the schedule, it may, if necessary, be altered, and a clause may be inserted, entitling the Commissioners, with the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor, in exceptional cases and for special reasons, to enlarge the ferrule.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE said :—After the admission made by the hon. member in charge of the Bill that the formula upon which the schedule of ferrules depends is not strictly correct, and that experiments are being made to test its accuracy, I think it will be very unsafe to pass this section of the Bill as it stands; for the result of the testing may show that the standard we have adopted as the basis of the schedule, viz., a supply of $16\frac{1}{2}$ gallons per minute through a ferrule half inch in diameter, is nothing near the truth, and that the real quantity is about the eighth part of that. In that case there will be no justification for saying that what we call the normal standard is the normal standard. Either the consideration of this question should stand over, or if the Council prefer to dispose of it now, we must accept the amendment of the Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said :—I do not see any substantial difference between the action which I now propose to take and what I did in Select Committee. If the Council, looking to the representations made by all classes of the community, wish to settle this question now, they must settle it by themselves prescribing a standard. What I have said to-day is that, so far as the Executive will have difficulty in getting the consent of the Commissioners to a proper scale of ferrules, I am willing to undertake the task of getting it passed. I think that in the long run when the matter is threshed out, the Commissioners will adopt a reasonable scale of ferrules; but it will be much more difficult to convince them than it has been to convince the Select Committee. As regards the proposal to postpone the consideration of this question, I have only to say that what I know now the Council will know a month hence. A formula which requires normal conditions cannot apply strictly to concrete cases. There is scarcely a single house in the town to which the formula will absolutely apply. In some cases the supply will be more abundant, and in other instances less than the standard quantity. I am afraid the Council will not find themselves in a better position by postponing this question, but if they wish to do so I have no objection. I think there can be no objection to a standard schedule so long as it is perfectly clear that there is power to alter it; and so far as the alteration applies to individual cases that power must be left in the hands of the Commissioners. Provision is made for such cases in section 158, clause 2, which provides that if the house is so situated that the size of the ferrule prescribed is insufficient to pass the daily supply of water which the occupier of such house is entitled to receive, the Commissioners shall permit the use of a ferrule of such size as shall be sufficient to pass such supply. That is the section which applies to particular cases, but we also agreed to give a power to revise the schedule as a whole. That might be left to the Commissioners in meeting with the approval of the Local Government.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—I do not propose to take up much time in replying, after the hon. member in charge of the Bill has expressed his willingness to accept my second amendment: at any rate he has no objection to offer to it, and that being so, I hope the Council will adopt that amendment, which I think is right in principle. The question of the reduction of the ferrule has never been raised before the Commissioners in any shape whatever; but after the enquiry which is now being made it may be necessary to do so. As the whole matter of the water-supply of the town is in the hands of the Commissioners, it is only right that the question of the size of ferrules should also be left to them. If my amendment is not accepted, I shall be willing to adopt the suggestion of my hon. friend Mr. Macaulay, and allow the consideration of the question to stand over.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—It seems to me that the proposals before the Council are getting a little mixed. As it stands we have a scale of ferrules in the schedule, and we have a proposal that a scale should be laid down with power to the Commissioners to modify the scale in individual cases. On the top of that the Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter proposes that the arrangement of the scale of ferrules should be left entirely to the Commissioners, and that the Legislature should take no part in it. Again, until the enquiry of which we have heard is completed, we have been told by the Hon. Mr. Macaulay that it will be better to hang up the question altogether. But the hon. member in charge of the Bill tells us that the enquiry will not be completed for another month, and that when it is completed we shall know little more about it than we do now; so a further proposal is made for us nominally to adopt the scale of ferrules now in the schedule, but at the same time we are to say that the Commissioners need not adopt it unless they like. It seems to me that if we are to leave to the Commissioners the power to alter the schedule at their pleasure, it is better to leave it to them at once. If you cannot trust your scale, and if the enquiry is not likely to throw any real light on the way in which the working of the formula differs from the practical discharge through the ferrules, it seems to me that as you cannot lay down a scale which you can trust to work easily, it will be better not to take the responsibility of laying down any scale at all. The first question is whether we shall adopt the section in the Bill as it stands, leaving, as the hon. member in charge of the Bill suggests, the schedule which contains the scale an open question; in which case it can be considered at another sitting of the Council, or any other scale can be inserted in the Bill; and we can at the same time discuss the provision which Sir Henry Harrison proposes that it should be in the power of the Commissioners in meeting, with the sanction of the Local Government, to alter or vary the schedule from time to time. These two motions will be proposed when we come to the schedule. If that is lost, then we come to the proposal of the Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter that the scale of ferrules be determined by the Commissioners in meeting.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER's motion that in section 155, the words "five thousand gallons" be substituted for the words "three thousand gallons" was put to the vote and negatived.

The consideration of the HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER's second amendment, that the words "through a ferrule, the size of which is to be determined by the Commissioners in meeting" be substituted for the words "through a ferrule of the size indicated in the ninth Schedule," was postponed till the Ninth Schedule of the Bill comes up for consideration.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE moved that in lines 6 and 7 of section 186 the words "every person present at the death, or in case of their default" be omitted.

He said:—The object of this section is to have correct and complete registers of deaths, and that object, I submit, will be fully secured by imposing an obligation to register deaths on the relatives and persons in attendance during the last illness of any persons dying in Calcutta, and also in case of their default, on the occupiers of the houses in which the death takes place. It is not only unnecessary, but unfair and unjust, to impose the duty on every person present at the time of the death. Many of the persons may be mere casual spectators; and the injustice of this provision will appear all the more clearly when it is borne in mind that a breach of this duty is made punishable under section 188.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—This is an obligation which has been imposed by law for some years past, but how far it has been of use I cannot say: people are not present at deaths unless they have some interest in the person dying.

[His Honour the President pointed out that the wording of the existing Act is "some one of the persons present."]

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE saw no objection to the wording of the existing Act.

The amendment was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that in section 187, for the words "seven days from the date of the death" the words "seven days of his becoming cognizant of the death" be substituted.

He said:—A medical gentleman represented to me that in many cases a doctor attends, but not having given satisfaction, he has not attended further. The object is not to make him liable under this section unless he knows of the death.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE moved that in line 3 of section 191, after the word "certificate" the words "or entry in a register" be inserted.

He said:—This is a verbal amendment. The object is to make the language of the section harmonise with section 190, which provides that in certain cases an entry in the register is substantially the same as a certificate.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE moved that, for section 204, the following be substituted:—

"The Commissioners in meeting may acquire any land required for the purpose of opening, widening, extending or otherwise improving any public street, or of making any new public street, and the buildings, if any, standing upon such land."

He said:—The object of this amendment is to leave out of section 204 those classes which authorize the Commissioners to acquire in addition to any land which may be actually required for the opening or widening of any street, additional land extending to 100 feet on both or either side of the street. That provision, I submit, is wholly objectionable. Private property ought to be held to be sacred, and the compulsory acquisition of it ought never to be allowed unless it is distinctly required for a public purpose. Acquiring land for the purpose of selling it at a profit may be advantageous to the Municipality, but I can hardly persuade myself to say that it is a public purpose which would warrant compulsory acquisition. If the doctrine were true that a public body like the Corporation can increase their funds by acquiring lands in that way, the doctrine will be most dangerous to private property, and I do not think the hon. member in charge of the Bill will rest his case on that ground. I know it may be said that there is further justification. Whenever a new street is opened or an existing street is improved or widened, it increases the value of the adjacent land on both sides up to a certain distance; and if the former owners are allowed to retain the land, they will, it is said, benefit at another's expense. But if we examine the point a little more narrowly, it will appear that this argument is more specious than sound; for it is not correct to say that the owners of the adjacent lands derive advantage without paying for it. They do pay by contributing as rate-payers to the funds of the Municipality, and that is the purse out of which the acquisition is made. Nor can it be said that it will be wholly wrong for them to derive an incidental advantage. A street is to be opened or widened for a public purpose. It is a public purpose not merely because a street will be required for public traffic, but because the public will be benefited in other ways, such as by improved ventilation and the like. Therefore the advantage which the owners of adjacent lands derive by the value of their property being raised is one of the necessary incidental advantages to which the public or a portion of the public have a right. And I see no reason why the Municipality should be allowed to acquire these additional lands for the purpose of selling it at a profit.

Again it might be said that for the ornamentation of the town it is desirable that the buildings on either side of large streets should be of a certain form or size. This object would be secured if the Municipality in the first instance acquires land adjacent to a street and sells it under certain conditions. If that is the object, let us provide that the buildings by the side of public roads should, whenever they are taken down, be rebuilt in a certain way. That will be a far more satisfactory way of securing the object in view than this indirect mode.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTAR moved that clauses (b) and (c) of section 204 be omitted, and that the last paragraph of the same section be also omitted.

He said:—This motion is precisely the same in effect as the last. Clause (b) of the section applies to the acquisition of additional lands, and clause (c) gives authority to sell or otherwise dispose of any land or building acquired under clause (b). And then there is a further clause that any reconveyance of land or of a building under clause (c) may comprise such conditions as the Commissioners think fit as to the removal of the existing building, the description of new building to be erected, and such matters. I do not know whether, having regard to the Transfer of Property Act, such conditions can be imposed. That Act regulates the purchase of property in Calcutta, and I am not aware that such conditions can be imposed. Besides that, my opposition to these clauses also rests on the ground that it is altogether inequitable. Section 190 of the existing law provides that the Commissioners, making due compensation to the owners and occupiers of any houses or land which may be acquired for any such purposes, may lay out and make new streets, and may widen, open, enlarge or improve any street; and for the purposes of this section the Commissioners in meeting may purchase any land necessary for houses and buildings to form any public street or for the improvement of any public street. So far as I have been able to understand the present Act, there are three modes by which the Commissioners may take over lands. First, they may do it themselves, under certain circumstances, the Court of Small Causes settling the amount of compensation to be paid; secondly, they may acquire it under the Land Acquisition Act; and thirdly, they may obtain it by purchase or by mutual agreement. I can see no objection to the Commissioners purchasing additional land whenever there is any necessity to do so; that means whenever the owner is willing to part with it. But the section in this Bill alters that, and makes it lawful for the Commissioners to acquire in addition land and buildings outside of the regular line of a street, provided that, without the special sanction of the Local Government, not more than 100 feet shall be acquired on either side of the regular line of the street. I wholly fail to understand this latter clause. Under the law in every instance the sanction of the Local Government is to be obtained, and without the sanction of the Government not a single inch of land can be acquired. The idea, though not stated in the section, is that by acquiring a great deal more land than is required when a locality is to be improved, the excess land when resold will fetch a considerably larger price than was paid by the Commissioners, and thus the cost of the improvement will be very much reduced, and in some cases it will probably be nil. That, I submit, is not the policy of the law. The policy of the law is that not only the present generation, but future generations should pay for works of a permanent character. If you drive away a large number of persons from their houses in expectation of re-selling the land at a profit, you virtually make property belonging to a certain portion of the community pay for the whole of the improvement. That to my mind is inequitable. The argument which has been put forward with success—and I have no doubt will be put forward now with a great deal of force—is that by spending a large sum of money the Commissioners improve a certain locality, and why should they do that for the benefit of a limited number of persons; that if this limited number of persons get the largest benefit, they should pay for an adequate share of the improvement—an adequate share by the deprivation of their property. If a loan is raised for the improvement, these persons will have to bear their share of the interest and of the sinking fund for the repayment of the loan; and moreover when the locality is improved, the assessment on the property of these persons will be increased. In the first instance they contribute in the same way as the rest of the public for the payment of interest and for the sinking fund; and secondly, because they enjoy the benefit most their property is made to pay a larger assessment. It strikes me also in another manner. Whenever a particular property is improved, it is improved no doubt in the first instance for the benefit of all, and secondarily for the benefit of the persons who reside in the locality. The improvement of sanitation benefits the town, and these persons expect to share in the improvement. But the secondary object of the improvement is defeated if the property is taken away from these persons, and they are driven out of Calcutta. If the Legislature provides that additional lands may be acquired for improving a locality, and that the excess lands should be resold to the parties at the cost price, the objection would be minimised. Of course, no profit would not then be made. But I rest my objection on the higher ground that a violation of the rights of private property should not be tolerated unless it is for the public benefit, and that is the ground on which the Land Acquisition Act is based. The Government has to declare that a particular tract of land is required for a public purpose, and then the acquisition can be made. Traffic in land is in effect declared by this section to be a public purpose, which to my mind is not a public purpose contemplated under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act. Under these circumstances I move that these clauses of the section be omitted.

The HON. MOULVIE ABDUL JUBBAR said:—I support the motion of the Hon. Dr. Gooroo Dass Banerjee. I do not see any good reason for authorising the Municipal Corporation to acquire more land than what is strictly required for municipal purposes. The only reason which is given for the authority claimed is that the adjacent lands on both sides of the street will command a higher value than they commanded before the street was opened or improved. But I do not think that is an equitable ground for depriving persons of their property. The property on either side of a line of railway is improved in value by its construction, but I do not think a Railway Company is authorised to acquire excess lands on both sides of a railway because their value will be increased by the opening out of the railway.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—I do not propose to argue this question at any length. The section in this Bill is not believed to make any change in the law: legal opinion has declared that clearly; but as some doubts had been expressed, it was thought as well to introduce the wording of the Bombay Act which states the matter clearly. To my mind the first principles of equity show as clearly as possible that what is proposed is right. The section provides that when you are constructing a street, you may take up sufficient land to cover the buildings on either side of the street: to make it possible for proper houses to be built, you must give proper plots of lands. Otherwise you will find here a deep block, there strips of a few feet wide only enough to build godowns. If you wish to ensure success, you must acquire sufficient land on either side; and having got the land, is there anything unjust in selling it for a higher price entirely caused by your improvement? Owners are already paid 15 per cent. in addition to the market value as compensation for the enforced acquirement. Suppose the construction of a street to cost twenty lakhs, and the property on both sides to be enhanced five times in value; our friends contend that the public should get none of the enhanced value, and that the fortunate owners on both sides of the street should get the whole of the benefit? To my mind there is absolutely no equity in such a proceeding.

Those who have created the enhanced value of the side lands are the persons to whom the increased value ought to go. The law sufficiently guards the interests and rights of the owners themselves by giving them 15 per cent. as compensation in addition to the market value of their property. Therefore I hope the Council will reject these amendments.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE'S motion being put, the Council divided :—

His Honour the President.

So the Motion was negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER'S motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. DR. MAHENDRA LAL SIRCAR moved that after clause (c) the following words be added :—“Provided that the profits accruing therefrom be devoted to the purpose for which the land is acquired.”

He said :—The object of the amendment is to prevent the profits derived from the construction or improvement of a street being applied to any other purpose. The amendment is so clear and just that I do not see what possible objection can be taken to it.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said :—I do not see any reason for this amendment. The Municipality does not derive any profit in such cases. If, for instance, the construction of a road cost 20 lakhs, and 15 lakhs are recovered from the sale of surplus land, the 15 lakhs are set off against the 20 lakhs.

The HON. DR. MAHENDRA LAL SIRCAR said in reply :—The proviso will serve as a check upon the Corporation acquiring more land than is necessary for a specific purpose, and it will prevent any surplus being applied to any other municipal purpose.

The motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE moved that, in line 7 of section 205, after the words “compensation to” the words “and providing sufficient means of ingress and egress for” be inserted.

He said :—The section as it stands only provides for the grant of compensation, by which I understand pecuniary compensation for the inconvenience caused by the closing of the road. The section says nothing about provision being made for means of ingress and egress of which in all probability the person will be deprived by the closing of the road. It may be said that, strictly speaking, under the ordinary law he would be entitled to means of ingress and egress, which is technically termed a way of necessity; but seeing that the section makes mention of the word “compensation,” there should be provision for a way of necessity. The amendment does not provide any additional obligation.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said :—The words “making compensation” are extensive. Compensation is to be given for every advantage which a person had, and the means of ingress and egress are usually matters which are included. It is perfectly certain that such provision will be made, otherwise the Corporation will have to pay enormous compensation, because the person's house would be hermetically sealed. If the amendment is adopted, what will be included within the words? Will it mean that in every case there must be a carriage way? It will be for the Court to decide in each case. Even by the common law a person cannot be shut up in his house.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that, for section 205, the following be substituted :—

“When any public street is permanently closed under section two hundred and three, the Commissioners may, with the consent of the owner or owners of the property situated on either side of such street, dispose of the site of so much of the roadway and footpath as is no longer required, making due compensation to such owner or owners. And if any dispute shall arise touching the amount or apportionment of such compensation, it shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses :

Provided that in determining such compensation, the Court shall make allowance for any benefit conferred on the same premises or any adjacent premises belonging to the same owner by the construction or improvement of any other public street, at or about the same time that the public street, on account of which the compensation is paid, is closed."

He said :—It is possible to conceive of many cases where a money payment will not compensate an individual for the closing of a road. Suppose a part of a street is closed or diverted, and there are twenty houses on one side of it. The road may now be 20, 30, or 50 yards off, and the land between the new street and the house is bought by a stranger. The injury done to the owners of the property which was situated on the side of the old road will be so great that it will be impossible to compensate them by a mere money payment. Each owner should be allowed to take up the land in front of his house at a reasonable value and to advance his premises to the new street. There would then be no objection; but if strangers are allowed to come in, great injury will be done. The section should be so worded as to render it impossible for the Commissioners to commit such injury. By a resolution of the Commissioners in meeting, the individual is always offered the land in front of his house at a fair valuation. Before that resolution was passed, the land was always sold by public auction, and I know of an instance where such land of the value of Rs. 500 a cottah was with some ulterior object bought by a man's next-door neighbour for Rs. 2,400 a cottah. Since then the resolution to which I have referred was passed, and no difficulty has occurred. Practically the object of my motion is to retain the present state of things.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said :—I cannot admit that the Commissioners are not to be allowed to close a street except with the consent of the owners of property on either side of it. The words in the Bombay Bill are, "with the sanction of the Council the Commissioners may permanently close all or any part of a public street," and in Select Committee they added :—"Provided that the sanction of the Council shall not be given unless at least one month before the meeting notice has been given informing the residents of the said proposal in order that objections may be received." I have no objection to a provision of that kind. But under the amendment now proposed, the Commissioners will be unable to dispose of the site without the consent of the owners of the property situated on either side of the street. The section in the Bombay Bill provides that "the site may be disposed of and sold as land belonging to the Corporation." If you construct a new street, you must sometimes close another street or part of a street. The right of selling the site must be given, compensation being paid for the injury done to owners of property, to such amount as may be determined by any independent tribunal.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE said in reply :—The remarks of the hon. member in charge of the Bill go fully to show the necessity of inserting the words in my amendment. First he said that due compensation may be taken to include provision for ingress and egress. He may be of that opinion, but others may think differently. The word "compensation" means pecuniary compensation. At the same time he admitted that it is a common law right that a way of necessity must be given, and there can therefore be no objection to provide for it expressly by mentioning it in the law itself. The only word in my amendment which is considered objectionable is "sufficient," but whether that word be inserted or not, the amount of compensation must be determined by a court of law. That, however, is no reason why no provision should be made in the Bill.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply :—The hon. member in charge of the Bill is under some misapprehension as to the effect of my amendment, as he thinks it will interfere with the power of the Commissioners to close streets. Suppose the Commissioners close up a street, and the land between the houses in front of such street and the new street is sold to strangers; the owners of such houses will not have the means of ingress and egress. There is no provision in the existing law authorising the Commissioners to sell a street.

[Sir Henry Harrison—The Commissioners may, under section 137, sell any land vested in them which is not required for the purposes of the Act.] That will not apply in these cases. I submit that section 205 of this Bill is a new provision, and it has actually been marked in the Bill as a new section; and before such a power is conferred there must be a safeguard as to the disposal of the land, having reference to the rights of the persons interested.

The HON. DR. MAHENDRA LAL SIRCAR said:—I cannot understand under what circumstances a street can be closed without interfering with the sanitation of the town.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON replied:—The closing of a street is always undertaken in connection with some other improvement.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—While I can perfectly see the objection to the motion of the Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter, I cannot understand what the objection to the amendment of the Hon. Dr. Gooroo Dass Banerjee really is. I cannot see why this section, giving legal authority to dispose of the site of a closed-up street, should conflict with the resolution of the Commissioners under which the sale of land in front of private property is now conducted. The Commissioners now dispose of such land to the owners on either side of it, but if they cannot come to terms with them, they must give it to an outsider. But I do think a provision for ingress and egress very reasonable.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE's motion being put, the Council divided:—

Ayes 5.

The Hon. O. P. L. Macaulay.
The Hon. H. J. Reynolds.

So the Motion was negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER's motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that in line 3 of the proviso of section 207, the word "direct" be omitted; and that the last clause of the same section be omitted.

He said:—Under the Land Acquisition Act damages are already allowed, and I cannot see why compensation should be limited by this Bill to "direct" damages. The Land Acquisition Act distinctly states what damages should be allowed. Indirect damages are as a matter of law never allowed.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—The question raised by this amendment is not of very great importance, but I will explain why the provision now objected to was put in. The law as it stands provides that whenever a house which projects beyond the regular line of a public street has been taken down in order to be rebuilt, the Commissioners may require the same to be set back to or towards the line of the street, or the line of the adjoining houses, provided that the Commissioners shall make full compensation to the owner for any damage he may thereby sustain. Certainly that section reads as if it was intended to confer a power of some value on the Commissioners; for instance, they might take advantage of the opportunity to widen the street more advantageously than they could otherwise do; but if this amendment is adopted of what value is it? The question is, what is the compensation to be given? Is it compensation under the Land Acquisition Act? An instance in illustration of this occurred in Old Court House Lane in which a house was taken down for the purpose of being rebuilt, and it was pointed out that advantage might be taken of the opportunity to make the lane (an important thoroughfare) of uniform width. We gave notice to the owner of our intention to take up a small portion of the land at the orifice to the lane for the purpose stated, but he insisted on the Commissioners taking up the whole house, and demanded Rs. 80,000 as compensation. We took advice, and we were advised not to acquire the land unless we were prepared to face the probability of having to pay for the whole of the plot; and thus an important improvement was abandoned. Suppose in such a case there are two cottahs of land, and the Commissioners wish to take up one cottah, it is fair and reasonable that the owner should be compensated for any injury done in diminishing the area of the land as building ground, but no indirect damages should be included.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE said:—I support this amendment. The law will never give a decree for indirect damages, and therefore the common law being sufficient, we should not, for the benefit of the Corporation, insert a provision that is unnecessary. Just as in the other case the hon. member pointed out that for the protection of private owners it is unnecessary to include in the law what the common law already provides for: so in this case. And there is a further reason for supporting this amendment. In the definition given of "direct" damage reduction in size is stated, but no reference is made to alteration in shape which may equally cause a depreciation in value. We know that people require rectangular pieces of land for building purposes, and therefore change in the shape of the land is a material element.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY could not see any necessity for the introduction of any reference to altering the shape of the piece of land. You can only alter the shape of a piece of land in such a case by increasing its size or by reducing its size. Here there is no question of increase in size. Consequently the words referring to reduction of size must include alteration in shape.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—A threat held out in a particular case should not justify an innovation in the law, on the supposition that the claim made in that case was a just one, and would be allowed by the courts. I do not think we can assume anything of the kind. Under the present law the owner will get what he is entitled to by the Land Acquisition Act, and I do not see why any difficulty should be thrown in the way by introducing the word "direct," and then proceeding to define the word.

The Motions being put, the Council divided:—

Ayes 4.

The Hon. Dr. Gooroo Dass Banerjee.
The Hon. Dr. Mahendra Lal Sircar.
The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter.
His Honour the President.

Noes 8.

The Hon. H. Pratt.
The Hon. O. H. Moore.
The Hon. Moulvie Abdul Jubbar.
The Hon. Sir Alfred Croft.
The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison.
The Hon. T. T. Allen.
The Hon. C. P. L. Macaulay.
The Hon. H. J. Reynolds.

So the Motions were negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that, after section 212, the following new section be inserted:—

"212A. It shall not be lawful for an owner or occupier of a house, which does not front, adjoin, or abut upon a public road, street or lane, to lay out a new street, lane or pathway leading to such public road, street or lane, without obtaining the written sanction of the Commissioners, who may, before granting such sanction, call upon such person to submit a plan showing the intended level and width of such street, lane or pathway, and the arrangements made for draining it. If the Commissioners approve of the plan, they shall, within thirty days from the date of the receipt of such plan, accord such sanction; but if they do not approve of the plan, they shall refuse such sanction."

He said:—To my mind the provisions of section 213, if properly worked, will be quite sufficient for all purposes, but that section has hitherto not been worked in that way, and therefore it is necessary that a provision of this sort should be introduced. Persons purchase land in the interior, not on the side of any street; they build houses, and leave small paths as streets or passages; other houses are built without leaving adequate paths for streets; the place becomes insanitary, and they ask the Commissioners to improve the locality. Precisely such a case happened in Sukea's Bagan, and it had to be improved at the expense of Rs. 30,000. It was sparsely inhabited at first, but afterwards became crowded with habitations. But if under the law a person having a house would be precluded from opening a street leading to a public street without permission, then the Commissioners would have full control as to the width of the street and the drainage. This amendment would render many of the sections providing building regulations unnecessary; because if the Commissioners have power in the first instance as to the opening out of streets, a great deal of the difficulty which at present arises will be overcome. Another case of the same sort recently came up in Rajah Bagan; small houses were built in promiscuous places without obtaining permission as to the opening out of lanes and pathways; the place got into an insanitary condition, and the residents applied for improvement. The late Officiating Chairman suggested the opening out of two large streets, and the result is that the Commissioners will have to spend about a lakh of rupees to improve the locality. All this will be prevented if the amendment which I now propose is adopted.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—The hon. member has admitted that all he wishes to do is to make more clear what section 213 is intended to do. I have no objection to the wording of the proposed section, but I do not see any necessity for it. The inconvenience which is felt is not as to the laying down of a new street, but to the building of houses here and there without reference to any proper street, but with only small tortuous paths here and there. The object which this section is intended to meet will be better obtained under the building sections which come later on.

The motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that, in line 1 of section 213, for the words "Every person who" the words "Whenever a person, being desirous of selling any land belonging to him in small parcels, or otherwise" be substituted.

He said:—The object of this amendment is to widen the scope of the section in order to prevent the very cases which generally happen, viz., that of persons who sell lands in small parcels, leaving only narrow pathways.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—The only objection I have to this amendment is as to its wording which is not clear.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS asked what test the hon. member proposed, to show that a person is desirous of selling land in small parcels? The words proposed appear to be unnecessary.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—To my mind section 213 is sufficient; but notwithstanding that section the Executive has not been able to control the cases which have happened; therefore I am desirous of seeing whether or not the section can be so improved as to deal with such cases. I wish to reach the person who in the first instance sells land in small parcels, instead of those who have purchased small plots of land, and subsequently build upon them.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—The object my hon. friend wishes to attain can best be secured by prohibiting the building of any house without the site being first approved. He wishes that owners should be prohibited from selling land in small parcels without warning the purchasers that they cannot build upon the land until a street is first laid out. I ask, is it the object of the owner of land to lay out roads? If asked, he will say he does not wish to lay out a new street.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—In every case certain portions of the land are left for streets. If those streets are constructed with the approval of the Commissioners there will be no difficulty. If the site is objectionable the sale will be objected to at the beginning, instead of punishing the persons who have bought the land in small parcels, by refusing them permission to build on it.

[His Honour the President thought the wording of section 213 covered all the ground of the amendment and more.]

The Motion was then, by leave, withdrawn.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, in the last paragraph of section 224, for the words "shall not apply to any portion of the area by this Act added to the Town of Calcutta" the words "shall not apply to the area by this Act added to Calcutta, or to any area hereafter included in it under section two hundred and fifty-seven" be substituted.

The HON. MR. ALLEN said:—I think this section prohibiting the roofs and external walls of huts being made of inflammable materials is already in force in a considerable part of the area which is to be added to Calcutta.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—In such portions of the added area where this section is already in force, its provisions will at once be applied by the Commissioners in meeting, and it will be extended thereafter as they think fit.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The consideration of the further clauses of the Bill was postponed till the next sitting of the Council.

CALCUTTA AND SUBURBAN MUNICIPALITIES AMALGAMATION BILL.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that the clauses of the Bill to consolidate and amend the Law relating to the municipal affairs of the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta, as further amended, be further considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that section 235 of the Bill be omitted.

He said:—This section gives power to the Commissioners to approve of, or to reject, any building site upon which any person wishes to build. The section provides that the person shall submit a plan showing the position of the house with reference to—(a) some existing public street, or (b) some projected public street, or (c) some existing private street, or (d) some proposed private street; and the plan has also to show the position and approximate height of all other houses within 40 feet of the proposed site. These provisions are not in the existing law; and when the Bill was before the Council on the last occasion, these innovations had not been introduced. Then the existing law was modified to some extent, and it was considered sufficient to leave it in that position; but since then the hon. member in charge of the Bill has thought fit to introduce this section, and it was adopted by a large majority of the Select Committee. The members of the British Indian Association have taken exception to this section. A memorial has also been submitted to your Honour on behalf of a public meeting recently held, and in Select Committee I also took exception to it. My objection to the section is that the power given to the Commissioners is a very extensive one, and unless it is exercised with very great discretion, it is likely to be abused and a good deal of injury done to owners who want to build on their lands. Take, for instance, a case of this kind. A man has, say, 3 bighas of land which he wishes to sell in building lots; a man of ordinary means purchases 3 cottahs out of it, and then applies to the Corporation for permission to build. Under this section the Commissioners will be entitled to require him to show them where the proposed street is to be. This man having purchased only 3 cottahs out of the 3 bighas of land is not in a position to say where the proposed street will be; all he can say is that he is willing to leave some portion of his land which may be necessary for a street to be hereafter constructed. The rest of the land may not be sold for a year to come, and this man will in the meantime be kept from building on his land. This is perhaps an extreme case, but the power being conferred in the Commissioners, it may for aught we know to the contrary be exercised in this way. The proper safeguard is to require the owner of any land, before he sells it in building lots, to lay out proper streets with the sanction of the Commissioners. That is the real remedy. Such a provision will not only be just, but it will have the desired effect. But in the case I put of the purchaser of 3 cottahs of land out of 3 bighas, the land will be valueless to him, and yet he will have to pay rates and taxes in respect of it. Subject to correction by the learned Advocate-General and the Legal Remembrancer, I submit that an owner of land has an inherent right to make a legitimate use of his land as long as he does not cause any injury to his neighbours, and one of the legitimate uses to which he can put his land is certainly the building upon it of a suitable house for himself. I am quite willing, and I have never objected to power being vested in the Commissioners, to regulate the construction of buildings, but I object to any further power being given. The Select Committee in justifying the introduction of this section say in their report that a good deal of mischief has arisen from the absence of the power proposed to be conferred by this section, and that this power exists in the model bye-laws and in the Bombay Act. If the Commissioners consider that those model bye-laws should be followed, having regard to the manners and customs of this country, by all means let them make such bye-laws; but the circumstances in England and in this country are so different that the fact of the power existing under the model bye-laws in England is no justification for its introduction here. I have given notice of motion for the introduction of the following section in lieu of section 236 of the Bill, regarding the information to be given by a person before beginning to build a house:—

“Before beginning to build any new house, or to rebuild or materially alter the structure of any house, the person intending so to do shall give to the Commissioners notice thereof in writing, and shall accompany such notice with a plan of the site and the proposed buildings drawn to the scale of not less than one inch to every eight feet, showing the following particulars:—

- (a) the position, form and dimensions of the several parts of such building, and of every water-closet, privy, urinal, cesspool, well and other appurtenances;
- (b) the width and level of the street, if any, in front, and of the street, if any, at the rear of such building, the level of the foundation, and the lowest floor of such building, and of any yard or ground belonging thereto;
- (c) the drainage of such building and of the intended size, depth, and inclination of such drain.”

I submit that if this information is given, it will be ample for all practical purposes: it will enable the Commissioners to exercise sufficient control over buildings, and it will be unnecessary to give the further power of approval or disapproval of the site. As far as I have been able to look into the English Acts on the subject, the limitations apply to sites falling within proposed streets and over sewers. These are the sites which are principally referred to in the English Statutes: the rest of the regulations are entirely as regards the nature of the buildings, the thickness of the walls, the open spaces to be left, and so forth. In the Bombay Bill section 340 provides as follows:—

“Every person who shall intend—

- (a) to make any addition to a building; or
- (b) to make any alteration or repairs to a building, not being a frame-building, involving the removal or re-erection of any external or party-wall thereof or of any wall which supports the roof thereof, to an extent exceeding one-half of such wall above the ground level, such half to be measured in superficial feet; or
- (c) to make any alteration or repairs to a frame-building, involving the removal or re-erection of more than one half of the posts in any such wall thereof as aforesaid, such half to be measured in superficial feet; or
- (d) to remove or reconstruct any portion of a building abutting on a street which stands within the regular line of such street; shall give to the Commissioner, in a form obtained for this purpose under section 342, notice of his said intention, specifying the position of the building in which such work is to be executed and the nature and extent of the intended work.”

The other sections of the Bombay Bill refer to the foundations and so forth, and I do not think they touch the point we are now discussing. The provisions in the Bombay Bill are very different from the sections in the Bill before the Council. They limit the power to sites which have not been built upon at all, and the first limitation is that where there is to be a new street it must be levelled and paved, and the opening of a new street may be dispensed with by the consent of the Standing Committee, so that in Bombay power has been given to the Corporation to control the discretion of the Municipal Commissioners. Here nothing of the kind is proposed. With every deference to the hon. member in charge of the Bill, I say that no controlling power is here given to the Corporation. I am fully aware that under the general supervising power of the Corporation over the proceedings of the Chairman, a motion may be brought forward in any particular case, and that the matter may be discussed. But that is a totally different thing: it is quite a different thing from first giving a power to refuse, and then leaving the aggrieved person liberty to have the matter brought forward by a Commissioner. The two things are totally different to my mind. As I have said, in Bombay there are the two things which the Bill provides regarding the approval of building sites; and as regards new streets, if there is to be one, it must be metalled and channelled: if there is to be no street, the matter is to be placed before the Standing Committee, and with their consent approval may be given. That is very different from the power to be taken here, for section 135 provides that until the approval of the site is signified in writing, the house shall not be constructed, so that I am quite correct in stating that in the case I have put the executive officers will be perfectly justified in refusing to grant permission. How then is the individual to utilise his land? Is he to wait till the whole of the 3 bighas has been sold, and a private street has been opened out before he can get permission to build? That is certainly not equitable. The memorialists say in the memorial presented to your Honour:—

“The building regulations (sections 235, 236, 237, 238, 241, 242, 243, and 244) invest the Corporation with preliminary powers, to refuse or to permit the erection of buildings. These sections are an unheard of innovation in the law of the land, and while they without fail to be a source of oppression to the people, they will, it is feared lead to the depreciation of the value of land in Calcutta, and open a wide door to corruption.”

I am quite prepared to support that statement, and I would add that if the building regulations are passed in the form in which they have been presented to the Council, they will open a wide door to corruption so far as the subordinate officers of the Corporation are concerned; and furthermore if the requirements are not modified in the way proposed there will be also this difficulty, that it will be impossible for a person to get sanction in less than six months. He must first get the site approved, then the position and the nature of the building must be approved, then all the materials must be approved. Before all this can be done, it seems to me that at least six months will elapse before a person will be able to obtain the sanction of the Commissioners. After having the site approved he has to submit plans and sections of every floor of the intended building, which shall show the position, form, and dimensions of the several parts of such building and of every water-closet, privy, urinal, cesspool, well, and other appurtenance; and in the case of a building intended as a dwelling-house for two or more families, or for carrying on any trade or business in which a number of people exceeding twenty may be employed, or as a public resort, the means of ingress and egress; he has also to give a description of the materials of which the building is to be constructed, of the thickness of the walls and roof, and of the intended mode of drainage, the means of water-supply, and means of ventilation; and if the building is to adjoin or abut on a street, the intended means of access from such street. To satisfy the Commissioners as to all these particulars must take a long time. As to the materials, the man may get his lime and his sand and the officer might not approve of them; he will have to pay for them, and yet he cannot make use of them. All these things in my opinion are not necessary in order to exercise proper supervision over the building. I do not think the Commissioners have anything to do with the internal arrangements of the house. I think it will be sufficient if control is exercised as to the level and the drainage of the intersected house and its position with reference to any street, and that the privy and cesspool are in a suitable place. A person may be building a house for his own residence, but he might fall into difficulties and wish to let it out to others. It will therefore be impossible for him to say whether it is to be a dwelling for two or more families, and the like. Well, having obtained all this information, the Commissioners may disapprove of the building for any of the following reasons: that it will be unsafe; that it encroaches on or over municipal land; or that its construction contravenes some specified provision of the Act or some specified bye-law made under the Act; and then the building shall not be proceeded with till such modifications have been made as will satisfy the requirements of the Commissioners. In place of these several provisions, I have read to the Council the provisions I propose. The second section which I propose runs as follows:—

“Within thirty days after receiving such notice as is mentioned in the last preceding section, the Commissioners shall see whether the proposed buildings are in accordance with such bye-laws as may be prescribed in this behalf. And if they are so, shall signify their approval of the proposed buildings; and if they are not, they shall, within a like period, point out such modification as to them may seem desirable.”

The advantage of what I propose will be this. The Commissioners in meeting have first to pass certain bye-laws, and before they can be operative they must have the sanction of the Local Government. There will be the safeguard, first, of the Commissioners in meeting, deciding, and then the approval by the Local Government of the proposed bye-laws. Whereas if these regulations are provided in the Act in the manner proposed, there will be great difficulty in the way of persons building on their own land. I do not think the object of legislation should be to depreciate the value of land in Calcutta. The value of land now is very high, and that means the prosperity of the town and a high assessment by the Commissioners. But if there is any doubt whether sanction will be given to building on any particular land, the value of land will decrease, and that is certainly not desirable. The policy of the sections in the Bill seems to be to punish persons who have purchased lands, and not the person who has received the purchase-money. If, on the other hand, the hon. member in charge had proposed sections to prevent persons selling land in such a way as to place the purchaser in the awkward position of being unable to utilise it for building purposes, I could understand it. I pointed this out in Select Committee repeatedly, but I was not able to convince the Committee that that was the right position to assume in respect of this matter.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—This matter is one of considerable difficulty and importance, and I would ask the Council to give it their best attention, and not to start with any prejudiced idea that the sections in the Bill are unnecessarily embarrassing or harsh. I will first remind the Council that we have to consider the suitability of the procedure proposed in the Bill as compared with the alternative procedure now proposed. It is useless for the hon. member to refer to the law in Bombay or in England, unless he is ready to move its adoption. In Calcutta the procedure is for the Executive as representing the Commissioners to act in the first instance, but they are under the control of the Commissioners at every stage. In Bombay, the Commissioner, who is the executive officer, is not under the control of the Corporation, except in matters in which it is definitely prescribed in the law that he shall be so. But after allowing for this difference of system, I believe there is no substantial difference between the procedure in this Bill and that at Bombay. The question is, can the procedure in the Bill be improved without materially affecting its efficiency? If that can in any way be done, I shall be glad to adopt any such proposals. But we must not lose sight of the circumstances under which the question comes before the Council. The Select Committee gave their special attention to the question as to sites for building, because Dr. Simpson, the Health Officer of the Corporation, stated that the health of the town and the possibility of its conservancy were seriously jeopardised by the way in which houses are now built, so as to make straight and wide streets impossible; and two of the public bodies in the town also drew special attention to the question. The Trades' Association writes:—

“Section 195. This section, which deals with the laying out of new streets, appears to be susceptible of improvement. It requires that the level and width of every new street shall be fixed or approved by the Commissioners, but it should also, the Committee consider, fix their minimum width, which should not, in the case of main streets, be less than 36 feet. As regards bustee lanes and back bustee lanes, their width should not be less than 12 and 9 feet, respectively, from eaves to eaves. It is in the opinion of the Committee, of the utmost importance, in view of the facts contained in Mr. H. J. S. Cotton's note on Raja Bagan Bustee, that the new Act should deal with this subject in a thorough manner. Mr. Cotton but represents the feelings of the public when he states that 'the superabundance of narrow lanes in the respectable inhabited portions of this city is an intolerable nuisance,' and the Committee of the Association are convinced that there will be no abatement of the nuisance until the Commissioners are vested with the necessary powers for dealing with it."

The Health Society similarly writes:—

"The insertion of four new sections is recommended after section 196 of the Bill. While on this subject the Secretary would invite the special attention of His Honour's Government to the remarks made by the Health Officer to the Corporation, Dr. W. J. Simpson, at pages 24 to 27, both inclusive, of his Annual Report for the year 1886, on the need of building regulations in this city. It would also draw special attention to a valuable memorandum on Raja Bagan Bustee, which was drawn up by the late Officiating Chairman, Mr. H. J. S. Cotton, and to the Proceedings of the Fourth Meeting of the Special Committee appointed by the Corporation to consider the amended Bill. The Council would only add that they are in complete accord with the views of the late Officiating Chairman and of Dr. Simpson; and they would urge, for the reasons which appear in the documents referred to, that building regulations applicable to both houses and huts should be embodied in the new Act."

With these recommendations before us, together with the special remarks of Dr. Simpson, we did what reasonable men would do who are convinced by the force of the arguments urged upon them. One of the most serious evils in Calcutta is the way in which new suburbs spring up and houses are built in the most chaotic manner so as to render conservancy impossible, and therefore it became incumbent on me to devise some means of regulating their construction in future. After full consideration I thought the form of dealing with the subject which this Bill proposes the best, namely, to give the Corporation the fullest control over the sites in the first instance, inasmuch as it will be impossible to provide an adequate remedy afterwards except at an enormous cost. If we can devise any means of making the person who sells land in building lots responsible in respect of the proper laying out of streets, I would be entirely in accord with my hon. friend; but I can see no way to do it. Suppose it was proposed that no person shall be allowed to sell his land in building lots until he satisfies the Commissioners that he has made proper provision for the opening of streets and the like. That a person is not to be allowed to sell his land without stating the purpose to which the land is to be applied; that the sale is to be invalidated unless the object is declared, and unless the Corporation is satisfied that these evils will not occur, would that be tolerated? I see no other way of doing it. If the hon. member can draft a better procedure, he should do so. Either you must leave the evils uncured, or you must have some such provisions as those contained in the Bill. It is impossible to intervene between the vendor and the purchaser at an earlier stage. We cannot take action until the use to which the land will be put is declared. It is unfortunate, no doubt, that an innocent purchaser should be the person who suffers, but we cannot put in our oar until it comes to the point of some one saying, I want to build on that land.

Now let me describe the procedure, and ask the Council to say whether it is harsh or dilatory. My hon. friend's proposal is that the site should be indicated and certain details given in all cases, whether the building is to be an addition to an existing house, or a new house; and further he proposes that within thirty days after receiving the notice, the Commissioners are to see whether the proposed buildings are in accordance with the bye-laws. Is it not obvious that that procedure does not meet the difficulty? If the Commissioners do pass bye-laws, how will it be better for the person? Would the bye-laws not say that the mode of access to the house must be shown, and the way in which it would be a mode of access to other houses in the neighbourhood so as to form a continuous street? If the bye-laws shirk this, then they will be of no use at all. The sections in the Bill have been specially drafted with a view to give the minimum of trouble. We avoid the hardship of going through the same forms in the case of an addition to an existing building, which may be only a godown or a coach-house, or stables, or some minor alteration. We do not make the question of site apply unless to a new house. In such cases the person has only to send in a very brief summary of what he proposes to do, in a printed form, to be prescribed by the Commissioners. Great value attaches to the use of a printed form. If people are allowed to send in the information according to their own ideas, they are most likely to put in things which are not wanted, and to leave out information which is essential; so we require that a printed form, to be supplied by the Commissioners free of charge, shall be used. Then a uniform scale is prescribed, because in that case you can file all these plans street by street, and can make out a complete plan of the whole street. These provisions require very little indeed; they comprise the information which is always required in ordinary cases. But if a new house is to be built, then the person must get sanction to the site, and the Commissioners may ask for information on a vast number of points copied from the Bombay Bill. But we have an alternative procedure. Applications for buildings of a simple kind can be passed without difficulty and in a short time; but if it is a large building of two or three stories which it is very desirable to watch and supervise properly, then a great deal more information is necessary. There is, however, nothing to prevent the builder sending all the requisite information at once—the plan of the site and the further information regarding the building in one and the same application, and of necessity there is nothing to prevent the whole being carried through in a fortnight without difficulty, because, though the Commissioners have a right to thirty days' time for the approval of the site and thirty days to give sanction for the building—not six months as the hon. member apprehends—if the proposed construction is put into the hands of a proper builder under circumstances which raise no difficulty, there is nothing to prevent the whole thing being passed in a week.

As regards the provisions relating to the site, they have been made as lenient as possible. All that is wanted is that the house shall not be built in such a way as to make it impossible to make it fit in with any proper street. If there is any existing public street leading to it, it must be shown. If there is no public street, but there is a projected public street in the locality in which new buildings are springing up, then the position of the site with reference to such street must be shown. If there is no public street either existing or projected, then the position with reference to an existing private street or projected private street must be given; and lastly, suppose no provision can be made for any such street, then for special reasons the Commissioners may accord sanction without reference to any street, public or private. The objection that it will lead to corruption and abuse of authority is an objection that may be taken to any Municipal Bill, but in framing a law we are bound to assume that the power will be exercised in a fair and reasonable manner, and there is moreover a special safeguard, inasmuch as the Executive are at every stage subject to the control of the Commissioners. Any person aggrieved can go to any Commissioner or to the ward Commissioner, and draw his attention to any proceeding of the Executive, and have the matter investigated by the General Committee or the Commissioners in meeting; and if anything unreasonable or harsh has been attempted, he can get it set aside. My hon. friend has argued as if these regulations are particularly harsh or at least stringent, and as if they might easily be relaxed without inconvenience. In Select Committee we were precisely of the opposite opinion. The Health Officer at every stage insisted that we were doing nothing; that the law would not be nearly sufficient; that we were leaving everything to the discretion of the Commissioners and to the bye-laws, and were not providing proper safeguards by legislative enactment. This was uniformly the burden of the position he took up before the Select Committee. We felt that what we were doing was the minimum; we were perfectly alive to the contention of my hon. friend that India was very different from England. We refused to introduce a number of provisions that are to be found in the Bombay Bill, although we were pressed by Dr. Simpson to insert them, because we felt that we had not sufficient knowledge of the circumstances of Indian life to justify the enactment of hard-and-fast rules of that kind. After all I am satisfied that in this Bill very little has been put in; we have put in the minimum of what seemed absolutely necessary; and unless this control over building sites is given, it will be impossible to prevent in future those evils which now exist, namely, the evil of persons building houses as they choose without reference to any regular street or to the other requirements of sanitation. My hon. friend has referred to the case of a person buying for building purposes a plot of 3 cottahs out of a piece of land 3 bighas in extent. That is just one of those instances of the idea which prevails in Calcutta that the interests of the community must be sacrificed to the convenience of the individual; that to avoid hardship to an individual the community must suffer; and it is extremely difficult to induce the people to understand that the individual should be placed under restrictions, having regard to the interests of the community in general. When a man is about to purchase a piece of land, he ought to bear in mind, in the first instance, that he should build upon it in a way that will enable houses in the neighbourhood to spring up in regular lines of streets. That is a most necessary discipline, and unless we are prepared to make people learn that the individual must so manage his own affairs that they shall be consistent with the well-being of those around him, we shall not have made any step in advance. Therefore, as regards the general principle of these sections, I submit that they are preferable to the provisions proposed by my hon. friend. He gives no control whatever over building sites and buildings except through bye-laws to be hereafter made by the Commissioners. Till such bye-laws are made, and when made if they are not as stringent as the provisions of this Bill, there will be no power to prevent the overcrowding of buildings without reference to the requirements of sanitation. The provisions he proposes lay down one hard-and-fast rule applying to the case of a small addition to a house and to a very large new building. The Bill makes a clear distinction between the two cases, and seems more convenient in this respect. There are one or two other matters to which I desire to refer, but they have reference more particularly to subsequent amendments on the list.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said:—There is one matter which I think should be pointed out. The section provides that the position of the house must be given with reference to certain streets. It says that the Commissioners shall either signify their approval of the site, or for reasons recorded their disapproval thereof as not being a proper site with reference to the street shown in the plan. That leaves it entirely to the caprice of the Commissioners as to what is a proper site. I can understand a rule which states that a building must be so many feet from a street. A. says:—I propose this site. The Commissioners say, we do not think that a proper site. Having given no proper test of judging what is a proper site, it rests with the Commissioners to say what is or is not a proper site. I consider that such an extensive power which might be exercised arbitrarily should not be given. My hon. friend in charge of the Bill says, if you object to the provision in the Bill, draw a better one. It may be that another person may not be able to draw a better provision on the lines of the section; but I say that that is no argument at all. In section 238 special reasons are given which shall justify refusal in respect of a building; that it will be unsafe; that it encroaches upon municipal land, or that its construction contravenes some specified provision of this Act. Three special reasons are given upon which the Commissioners may refuse their approval of a building. Unless those who have thought about it are able to suggest some appropriate way of providing a test which will justify the Commissioners in disapproving of a proposed site, I shall not be able to give my assent to section 235. If the Commissioners say a site is not proper, the individual is completely without remedy.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—I should be glad to see a provision introduced such as my hon. and learned friend the Advocate-General suggests, but I think it will be very inconvenient to lay down any hard-and-fast rule. The tribunal which is to judge will be a most lenient one, and there will be infinitely more danger of too much leniency than over-stringency. First, the Engineer will approve, then it will come before the Chairman, and then it may be taken before the Town Council and the Commissioners in meeting; and these will be found to be the easiest tribunals possible. Whereas if the distance from a street is fixed at 10 or 20 feet, it may be found not to work at all. The object is to make it possible to get some street in, so that it may be a proper site with reference to such street and the adjacent buildings. The Commissioners will be bound to show that it is not a proper site with reference to some existing or projected street or to the adjacent buildings. Can we go further than that without leading to harshness and inconvenience?

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—My hon. friend has asked what alternative proposal I would make in order to have proper regulations on the subject. The answer is quite evident. If the sections which were discussed on the last occasion regarding the laying out of new private streets are properly worked, cases such as those of Rajah Bagan and Sukea's Bagan could never have happened. The parties opened out several streets before the buildings were erected, and if the owner was prosecuted for doing so without sanction, the mischief would have ended; but that was not done, and those narrow and irregular streets were allowed to be opened. Then applications came for building, and as under the existing law there was no power to refuse, the buildings were sanctioned. But had there been a power to frame bye-laws in regard to buildings, with power to the Commissioners to refuse sanction to buildings not in accordance with such bye-laws, the remedy would have been at once found. That is a complete answer to the challenge of my hon. friend. Then he said that if these sections are not passed, the difficulty will only be postponed. I submit not. The circumstances of the country have to be taken into consideration. The Health Officer to the Corporation is no doubt a very competent officer, but he has no experience of this country. He comes fresh from England with English notions, and he naturally wishes all the provisions of the English Statutes to be introduced here; but it seems to those who live here that the provisions of the model bye-laws in England are not suitable to the manners and customs of the people here. Therefore it will be best to leave the framing of bye-laws to the Commissioners, and as they will require the sanction of the Local Government, the objection of my hon. friend will be minimised. So far as I have been able to gather, the English provisions have reference to buildings falling within certain streets or projected streets or constructed over sewers. I again submit that if the matter is left in the way I propose it will serve the purpose, more specially if proper attention is paid to the provision referring to private streets, and a prosecution instituted for its infringement. Reference has been made to what was urged by the late Officiating Chairman regarding Rajah Bagan. That is precisely one of the cases to which I referred when I addressed the Council before. A man purchased a large tract of land and resold it in small lots after leaving out certain passages. The Commissioners took no exception to the opening out of those streets without sanction; the purchasers of the building lots then applied for permission to build, and there being no power of refusal, sanction was given. The buildings were raised; the streets or passages were narrow and tortuous, and necessarily the place was reduced to a very insanitary condition. It would have been unfair to visit with punishment the purchasers of the building lots by refusing them permission to build: the person who should have been attacked was the man who sold his land in small building lots without making provision for the opening out of proper streets, and this could have been done under the existing law. I therefore submit that there will be no difficulty in working the provisions which I propose.

The motion to omit section 235 was put to the vote and negatived.

The motion to substitute the following for section 236 was also put to the vote and negatived:—

"Before beginning to build any new house, or to rebuild or materially alter the structure of any house, the person intending so to do shall give to the Commissioners notice thereof in writing, and shall accompany such notice with a plan of the site and the proposed buildings drawn to the scale of not less than one inch to every eight feet, showing the following particulars:—

- (a) the position, form and dimensions of the several parts of such building, and of every water-closet, privy, urinal, cesspool, well and other appurtenances;
- (b) the width and level of the street, if any, in front, and of the street if any, at the rear of such building, the level of the foundation, and the lowest floor of such building, and of any yard or ground belonging thereto;
- (c) the drainage of such building and of the intended size, depth, and inclination of such drain."

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER's motion to omit section 237 was also put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER's motion to substitute the following for section 238 was also put to the vote and negatived :—

“ Within thirty days after receiving such notice as is mentioned in the last preceding section, the Commissioners shall see whether the proposed buildings are in accordance with such bye-laws as may be prescribed in this behalf. And if they are so shall signify their approval of the proposed buildings; and if they are not, they shall, within a like period, point out such modification as to them may seem desirable.”

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER's motion to omit section 239 was also put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER, by leave, withdrew the following motions of which notice had been given :—

- (1). That section 240 be omitted.
- (2). That for section 241 the following be substituted :—

“ If any building or alteration, such as is referred to in section two hundred and thirty-six, be commenced without the notice and plan required by that section being sent to the Commissioners, or before the expiration of the thirty days, or at any levels different from those fixed by the Commissioners within the said thirty days, or in contravention of any lawful orders issued by the Commissioners under section two hundred and thirty-eight, the Commissioners may cause such work as has been done to be demolished or altered in such manner as they may think fit, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person failing to comply with the requirements of the Act.”

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE moved that, after the fourth paragraph of section 235, the following new proviso be inserted :—

“ Provided that where any site is disapproved by reason of its falling wholly or in part within the lines of any projected public street, the owner of such site shall be entitled to reasonable compensation if the site or the portion thereof that falls within such lines be not acquired by the Commissioners in meeting under section two hundred and four of this Act within one year after the date of such disapproval.”

He said :—Under the existing law the Commissioners have power to refuse sanction for a building if they disapprove the levels and foundation or it is otherwise contrary to the provisions of the Act; but they have no power to disapprove the site. Section 235 gives this additional power of disapproving of a site altogether for building purposes. Whether this large power should be given to the Commissioners or not is a question with which my present amendment has nothing to do. Conceding, however, that this power ought to be given, yet seeing that the exercise of it involves serious interference with private property, it seems desirable that the grounds of the exercise of this power should be narrowly examined, and that care should be taken to guard against any possible hardship or injustice in any case. Now referring to section 235, you will observe in lines 6 and 7 of paragraph 4 that amongst the grounds on which the Commissioners may disapprove any particular site is this, viz., the fact of the proposed site falling wholly or in part within the lines of any projected street. If the Commissioners find, on examining the plan, that the applicant proposes to build on land which falls within the line of any projected street, not an actual street, they may disapprove the site. The Commissioners under section 208 are authorised from time to time to prepare plans of proposed public streets, and it may happen that the Commissioners may anticipate the work of years and propose plans which are not likely to be carried out in the course of one or two years, but may take 10 or 20 years to complete. They may disapprove a site for building purposes which they may find they will have shortly to acquire for a public street, and which will cost much more money to acquire if built upon. In the interests of the Municipality there may not be anything very inequitable if they do so. That is the Corporation's side of the question. But it is necessary also to examine the rate-payers' side of the question. Where land is acquired or is about to be acquired the rate-payer loses nothing, for he gets the value of the land, and he may buy other land to build upon. Where, however, the site is disapproved because it is likely to be taken up by some projected street, and it is not likely the projected street will become a reality until 10 or 20 years, it is hardly fair to deprive the owner of the legitimate use of the land without paying him compensation. Under the Land Acquisition Act, if the land is acquired, he will be entitled only to the value of the land: it does not provide any compensation for any interdiction laid upon the owner prohibiting the use of the land until it is acquired. It is therefore, I submit, very necessary in the interests of the public to prescribe some limit of time within which the land should be acquired. My amendment allows a whole year's time to the Municipality. If they do not acquire the land within a year, then only will they have to pay compensation.

THE HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—This is not an unreasonable proposal, and I cannot say I think it necessary strongly to oppose it. But there is some disadvantage from a public point of view; and the question for consideration is the balance of advantages and disadvantages. The disadvantage from the public point of view is that it puts a somewhat unfair pressure on the Commissioners to anticipate action which may be reasonable. Suppose the neighbourhood of some street running in a certain direction becomes a building neighbourhood, the Commissioners mark the continuation of the street as the line of the new projected street. This is quite evidently the line the street ought to follow as soon as buildings spring up in the neighbourhood. Suppose some one proposes to build on a portion of the line of that street, which may be done for the purpose of forcing their hands, then the Commissioners may be compelled to take up the land and construct the street long before it is wanted, simply on account of the pressure put if the proposal to build is refused. On the other hand, I quite admit the hardship to the individual if he has no other place to build upon; but it may happen that although the line of street has been marked, there may be so much delay that the Commissioners may not be prepared to go on with the street within the year. I shall, however, raise no objection to the amendment if the Council think it a necessary act of justice.

THE HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said:—There ought to be no power to undertake the making of a street unless there is a reasonable prospect of making the street within a reasonable time. Here the demand is for compensation if you do not allow the man to build. I think the proposed provision is a reasonable one.

The motion being put, the Council divided:—

So the Motion was carried.

THE HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE moved that the last paragraph of section 235 be omitted.

He said:—In the earlier part of this section thirty days is the period within which the Commissioners must signify their approval or disapproval of the site, or pass any other order they may think fit. And thirty days is time enough for an efficient public body like the Calcutta Corporation to take proper action in the matter. But if the last paragraph of the section stands, it nullifies the operation of the first portion, and gives an unlimited time within which to pass orders. It is hardly fair to provide an indefinite prohibition.

THE HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—This is a matter of some difficulty, and I am free to say that the proposal of the hon. member is the identical one which I put before the Select Committee in the first instance. It is the general rule that unless disapproval is signified, approval is assumed, and that has been the rule hitherto in Calcutta. At the same time the Select Committee purposely put in the provision for reasons they considered sufficient. They considered it absolutely necessary that the builder should get approval. In such matters there is great room for manœuvring. In general a person who proposes to build on a site to which there can be no objection will send in the papers in the usual way and orders will easily be passed. But suppose he does not wish orders to be passed within thirty days, no doubt there are various means by which that can be manipulated; for instance, by sending in the papers a day or two before the Poojah vacation, and arranging that it should not be laid before the superior officers for that day or two, or by arranging with a subordinate that it shall lie in his desk, and be overlooked for a time, or last of all, by somehow evading receipt of the disapproval, because the receipt of the order of disapproval must be proved; consequently it is of the highest possible importance that approval should be obtained. If you make an order of approval necessary, it is more likely to be pushed on. On these grounds it seemed desirable that approval should be insisted on before beginning to build. There may be only two or three out of a hundred cases in which the proposal to build will by no possibility have sanction; and though the omission to pass orders within the prescribed time may happen in only a small percentage of cases, it is precisely in that small percentage of cases that the danger will happen. For these reasons the Select Committee thought it better to put in this provision.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE said in reply:—The hon. member in charge of the Bill has been pleased to point out that the necessity for inserting this paragraph of section 235 arises from the fact that the applicant may by manœuvring prevent the Municipality from taking up the matter within thirty days. That amounts almost to a confession, coming as it does from the Chairman of the Corporation, that the subordinate officers of the Municipality are amenable to such improper influences; if so, there is all the more reason why not only this paragraph of this section, but the whole of the building regulations should be done away with. Because just as there may be reason for the Municipality being taken advantage of by the action of their own officers, there is greater reason for the rate-payers being harassed by the action of these people. It becomes the Corporation to reform their own house before imposing building regulations for improving the houses of the ratepayers. I submit that what has been stated is no reason why we should have such a clause to the prejudice of the people. If its omission operates to the prejudice of the Corporation, the Corporation can take care of itself.

The motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, for the first eight lines of section 237, the following be substituted:—

“On receipt of such notice, the Commissioners shall, within thirty days, by a written order, either sanction the building of the new house, or for any one or more of the reasons set forth at the next succeeding section, disallow it, or call for further information on all or any of the following details.”

He said:—This is not intended to alter the sense. The alteration was suggested by the Secretary. Section 237 is identical with a certain portion of section 235, and the Secretary asks me to move this amendment, so that the wording of section 237 may be in accordance with the wording of section 235.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, in the last paragraph of section 237, for the words “competent surveyor” the words “competent builder or surveyor” be substituted.

He said:—This is a mere verbal alteration.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that section 242 be omitted.

He said:—The Commissioners have the power of demolition, and that is sufficient. To prosecute a man after demolishing his house is a heavier punishment than is necessary. The demolition of the building would be at the man's expense, and it is not necessary that the man should be further punished.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—Generally the Commissioners exercise the ordinary power of rectifying what has been done wrong; but there are some cases in which special muld fides are shown, and in such cases the man should be prosecuted. It is quite in accordance with the spirit of the existing Act, and has been acted upon in at least half a dozen cases.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—The last part of the section is very important; you prosecute him and compel him to demolish the building at his own expense.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—The effect of the section is very different from what the hon. member in charge of the Bill describes it to be. I am not aware that under the existing law the power is precisely the same. It does seem to me to be a very harsh proceeding.

The motion being put, the Council divided:—

The Hon. the Advocate-General.
His Honour the President.

So the Motion was negatived.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE moved that, in lines 1 and 2 of section 242, the words "in addition to or" be omitted.

He said:—Section 242 prescribes a penalty for building contrary to the orders of the Commissioners in addition to the demolition of the building under the preceding section. It is clear that the Commissioners do not require both these powers. It is not necessary to demolish a building, and at the same time to prosecute the person for contravening the orders of the Commissioners. If the object of the prohibition has been attained, there should be no further punishment. The object will be fully gained, if we leave out the words "in addition to or."

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—I have no objection to the motion, except that it is wrong in principle. I think there may be cases in which the Commissioners should have an alternative procedure. This is a power which will be exercised very rarely, but in some cases it ought to be exercised, though it is of no great practical importance.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said:—I also think the principle wrong for which the hon. mover of this amendment contends. If a man constructs a building illegally, the proper remedy is to pull it down, and to prosecute the offender. I think both the remedies should exist, and not one substituted for the other.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—The offence is the building of a house without sending a ground plan and giving the notice required, and the punishment is a fine of Rs. 100 with a further fine of Rs. 20 for every day during which the offence is continued after conviction. Which part of the operation constitutes the offence? Is the penalty for every day during which he does not send in the building plan or during which he goes on with the building?

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—Under the existing law the provision regarding the erection of huts is exactly the same. The Commissioners may pull down the hut, and the person who erects it contrary to the law is liable to a daily fine until the hut is removed. In the present case the penalty is a fine for every day the building is kept on

So the Motion was negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER, by leave, withdrew the motion, of which notice had been given, for the omission of section 243.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that, for section 244, the following be substituted :—

“ If the Commissioners fail to pass orders within thirty days, as required by section two hundred and thirty-eight, the person giving such notice may, notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, proceed to build or rebuild the house therein referred to according to such plan.”

He said :—Here my hon. friend's favourite legislation fails him. In the Bombay Bill the provision is precisely the same as in this amendment of mine. The section there is—

“ If within thirty days after receipt of any notice under section 335 or 340, or of the plan, section, description or further information, if any, called for under section 336, 338 or 341 as the case may be, the Commissioner fails to intimate in writing to the person who has given the said notice, his disapproval of the building which the said person proposes to erect, or of the work which he proposes to execute ;

or if, within the said period, the Commissioner signifies in writing to the said person, his approval of the said building or work ;

the said person may at any time within one year from the date of the delivery of the notice to the Commissioner, proceed with the said building or work in accordance with his intention as described in the notice or in any of the documents aforesaid, but not so as to contravene any of the provisions of this Act or any bye-law made under this Act at the time in force.”

An individual who wants to build complies with everything which the law requires, and if then the Commissioners fail to give sanction, under the present Bill the Commissioners must pay compensation. This is no satisfaction to the individual. He wants to build, and if the Commissioners do not give sanction within the time prescribed, he should be entitled to build. That is the law here and in the Bombay Bill, and why should there be any departure from that principle? My hon. friend said in reference to another amendment that it was a matter of great importance as to whether a person should build or not. A man gives notice that he wants to build, and if the Commissioners do not do their duty they are to blame, but the man should not suffer. I submit that the man should be entitled to build if within the time the Commissioners give him no answer.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said :—In voting on this amendment some care is necessary, because a part of it covers ground which has already been rejected. The section comprises three cases. Section 235 respecting sites, section 237 regarding buildings, and section 238 which refers to the demolition of buildings. With regard to the site, the view of the Select Committee was upheld that assent to a site is necessary, but as your Honour remarked, what applies to a site might not apply to a building. That is a distinction which may be drawn. The English law, the existing law here, and the Bombay law make the same provision in all cases, and my proposal in the Select Committee was made accordingly ; but the Select Committee saw the danger, and introduced the very strict rule that as far as the site is concerned approval must be obtained. But as regards the building, I think there will be less danger. In cases in which no site is in question, or where the site has been sanctioned, and the objection is only as to the details of the building, there will be no harm done. The only question is whether any compensation is necessary with reference to the site. If we accept the remedy as regards the building, there will be no remedy as regards the site. If we say that consent should be assumed as regards the building, we shall have no remedy as to the site.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply :—As regards the site, that has been already disposed of. The section provides that until the site is sanctioned in writing, the house shall not be constructed. The reference in my amendment can only apply to buildings, because as regards the site that has been discussed and settled. It will not be necessary to refer to section 235 in this section because that has already been passed.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said :—We have already passed the last paragraph of section 235, that until the approval of the site in writing, the house shall not be constructed. The next step is that when the site is settled the Commissioners ask for plans and details of the house. Section 244, providing compensation if the Commissioners fail to pass orders, applies to both the site and the building. The Hon. Dr. Gooroo Dass Banerjee's amendment applies only to the building. I think when you have secured the requirements as to the site, the question in regard to the building is one of very much less importance; and if the Commissioners fail to pass orders within thirty days, the assumption should be against them, and the man should be allowed to proceed with his building. I think that not altogether unreasonable. But the hon. member in charge of the Bill thinks the wording of the section as it stands leaves open the whole question as to the delay the Commissioners may make as to passing orders in regard to the site. If the Commissioners do not pass the site within thirty days, the Bill provides a small penalty on them. But if you cut out section 244, you leave no penalty as to the site.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—My idea as to this compensation is that it will never work, and I think it is very objectionable. The Bill authorises the Commissioners to call for plans in respect of buildings, and they can take proper care with regard to their own officers.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE moved that, in the first paragraph of section 244, for the words "they shall pay to the person intending to build compensation for such delay at the rate of Re. 1 per diem for every day in excess of thirty days" the words "their approval shall be presumed" be substituted.

He said:—My amendment is practically identical with that of my hon. friend. I think we may have both the sections providing against delay as regards approval of the site, and also a section providing for presumption of assent in regard to the building.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER's amendment was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE's motion was then, by leave, withdrawn.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE also, by leave, withdrew the following motions of which notice had been given:—That, in the event of amendment No. (17) not being carried, in line 8 of the first paragraph of section 244, for the word and figure 'Re. 1' 'Rs. 5' be substituted; that in line 2 of the proviso of section 244, for the words and figures "Rs. 2, Rs. 5, Rs. 10, or Rs. 20," the words and figures "Rs. 10, Rs. 15, Rs. 20 or Rs. 25," respectively, be substituted.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON, by leave, withdrew the following amendment of which he had given notice:—

That, for the second paragraph of section 237, the following be substituted:—

"If further information is called for, no steps shall be taken to build the house until orders have been passed upon receipt of such information."

He said:—If the Commissioners call for further information, and no information is given, then the previous notice would be of no value at all.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that, for section 247, the following be substituted:—

"It shall not be lawful for any person to erect a hut or shed, or any range or block of huts or sheds, or to add to any hut or shed, or to any range or block already existing at the commencement of this Act without thirty days' previous notice to the Commissioners; and the Commissioners may, within thirty days of the receipt of such notice by them, require, in the case of a single hut or shed, that it be built in the manner approved of by them; and, in the case of a range or block of huts or sheds, that they be built so that they may stand in regular line with a free passage or way in front of and between any two lines of such width as they may think proper for ventilation, and to facilitate scavenging, and with such number of privies and with such means of drainage as to them may seem necessary, and of such a level as will admit of such drainage, and with a plinth at least two feet above the level of the nearest public street:

Provided that no hut or shed shall be built within twenty feet of a tank without the leave of the Commissioners."

He said:—I should very much like to shorten the discussion, because the arguments will be very much the same in all these cases; therefore it will save the time of the Council if I make one speech for all. My object is that the sections of this chapter should be left in the same position as they were when the Bill was before the Council on the last occasion. One discussion can be had from this section up to section 249 almost on the lines on which they have already proceeded. When we come to the standard plans, &c., a separate discussion will be necessary. Many of these huts do not cost more than from Rs. 40 to Rs. 50 to build, and to expect the owners of such huts to submit plans will put them to an expense which they cannot afford; it will besides be very difficult for these persons to submit a plan containing all the information required. My object is to make the procedure as simple as possible. In respect to a single hut or shed, the information necessary is of a very limited character. As regards a block or range of huts, a little more information will be needed. Under the existing law a lane or passage is left between every two lines of hut; but if, as the Select Committee consider to be the meaning of the existing law, and, as has been provided in the Bill, a passage of sufficient width is to be left after each line of huts, a great deal of the bustee land will be taken up for the purpose, and the owners of bustee land will have to pay in rates and taxes the whole of the rent which they derive from the bustee, they will not be able to build upon more than one-third of the land. As regards section 248, it provides for the submission of plans which these persons will be unable to give. Instead of that, my amendment proposes that they shall give notice and conform to the rules and regulations framed by the Commissioners. If they build without notice, the huts may be pulled down. My amendment on section 248 runs thus, that for section 248 the following be substituted:—

“If any hut or shed be built, re-built, or added to without giving to the Commissioners such notice as is required by the last preceding section, or otherwise than as required by the Commissioners, the Commissioners may give notice to the owner or occupier thereof by affixing a notice to some conspicuous part of such hut or shed, to take down and remove the same within one month, or to effect such alterations as they may deem necessary; and it shall be lawful for the Commissioners, if they shall think fit so to do, to cause the same to be taken down and removed, and the expense incurred thereby shall be paid by the said owner or occupier thereof, and shall be recoverable as hereinafter provided.”

And I propose to omit section 249, which provides that in addition to the demolition of the hut a prosecution may be instituted.

The Hon. Dr. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE moved that, in the first paragraph of section 247, the words “such form shall require a ground plan of the hut drawn to the scale of eight feet to the inch, and such other details as the Commissioner may prescribe” be omitted.

He said:—This is a much more restricted amendment than any of those which have just been moved by my hon. friend. My object is to have section 247 so framed as to prevent poor people from being placed in any difficulty. It will very often be very difficult for them to procure the services of a competent surveyor. I also move that in line 11 of the first paragraph of section 247 for the word “thirty” the word “fourteen” be substituted. Under the existing law 14 days is the time within which the Commissioners are to state their approval or disapproval in the case of a pucca building; and if that time has hitherto been sufficient for a pucca building, it ought to be considered sufficient in the case of huts. People have to take a lease of the land before they can submit an application to the Commissioners for permission to erect a hut; the rent will begin to run, and yet they will not have the benefit of the lease until sanction is obtained to erect a hut; and they must in the meantime occupy some other land for which they have to pay rent. This will be a hardship. I have, therefore, reduced the period from 30 to 14 days. I have also to move that clause (d) of section 247 be omitted. That clause provides that a hut shall not be erected within 30 feet of a tank. It is well known that in the suburban area which will be amalgamated with Calcutta, tanks are situated so close to one another that there will be in many cases a difficulty to leave a clear space of 30 feet between a hut and a tank. With every regard for sanitation, we must have regard to the existing state of things. If it is thought undesirable that a hut should be built on the margin of a tank, in that case I will move that 10 feet be substituted for 30 feet. Practically huts are built much closer than that; and if we have a clear space of 10 feet from the edge of a tank to the edge of the hut, it would for all practical purposes be sufficient.

The Hon. Sir HENRY HARRISON said:—The question of bustees has for a long time embarrassed the town of Calcutta. These new sections have been drafted with a view to give practical effect to what has long since been decided upon as the proper course to adopt. It has long since been decided that the present custom of building huts one jumbled up with the other is utterly wrong. Till a few years ago it was found impossible to do anything with them; but during the past few years we have had narrow roads made to enable conservancy carts to pass through. But in the condition of the huts there has been very little improvement. Section 277 of the present Act provides that the Commissioners "may require a free passage or way in front of and between every two lines (of huts) of such width as they may think proper for ventilation and to facilitate scavenging." Attached to several of the mills around Calcutta you will find excellent bustees for the workmen built under the supervision of intelligent managers, especially one which I recently went over built under the supervision of Mr. Yule at Garden Reach, and there can be no comparison of their immense superiority to the Calcutta bustees. The difficulty is how to bring a proper system into operation. A project comes in the shape of an application for the building of a single hut, and you have to deal with it without any means of working it into a proper system. The officers of the Corporation urge that it is quite impossible to work out any system from such separate proposals, and the object of this part of the Bill is simply to make some improvement feasible; and therefore we compel the owners to interest themselves in laying out their bustee, and to submit a plan of the whole bustee, on which the site of every hut shall be marked, and this plan when approved by the Commissioners shall be taken as the standard plan of the bustee. It is a radical measure intended to deal with a radical disease, and I cannot see how anything short of that will deal sufficiently with the evil. As regards isolated objections, I quite admit that the Suburbs are so honeycombed with tanks that people have been accustomed hitherto to build their huts within even three feet of a tank, but this is considered by all sanitary authorities to be the worst of all insanitary evils. Tanks should, as far as possible, be obliterated, but it will take a long time to do so, and therefore we have provided a space of 30 feet as the minimum distance from a tank. As existing huts disappear or tanks are filled up there will be improvement; there may be some harshness in fixing that limit, but it appears to me to be necessary. For these reasons I am emboldened to ask the Council to adopt the principle on which the Bill proceeds.

The Hon. Mr. ALLEN said:—In the progress of these sections through the Select Committee, I particularly protested against all exaggerated notions of what is called sanitary science being brought into operation in Calcutta or the Suburbs without regard to all the surrounding circumstances. My whole contention was against the importation of such, and I certainly felt that in agreeing to the provisions which have been embodied in this Bill, I was acting with the least hardship to the people that was possible in a law of this kind. The hon. member on my right, who has moved an amendment as to the distance at which a hut might be allowed from a tank, entirely forgets that the law in the Suburbs at present provides a minimum distance of fifty feet from a tank. The hon. member declares stoutly against the hardship of poor people not being allowed to put up a shanty according to their own convenience; but he forgets that the interests of the whole of Calcutta are too important to be sacrificed to the convenience of poor people. One of the greatest evils which has hitherto existed is the facility which has been given to these poor people to put up their shanties in the best parts of the town. There is one bustee at the present moment to the south of Theatre Road which is considered to be an improved or reformed bustee, and I have seen such sights along that Theatre Road, when the filth of the bustee has been thrown into the road for removal in the morning, that the wonder is, not that there has been disease in Calcutta, but that any person in that neighbourhood can live at all, and this is called an improved bustee; but the sights that are to be seen of a morning in the neighbourhood of bustees are enough to make any person sick. Therefore, I consider that it is necessary to make some provisions for the proper laying out of bustees, and I agreed to these provisions as imposing the least restrictions compatible with the health and safety of the town. The hon. member thinks that these poor people will not be able to get plans made for them, but in saying so, he forgets the spread of education, which will enable them easily to get applications written, and plans made at very little cost.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—It is one of the points most frequently taken exception to, that the people who live in these huts build them, and not the owners of the bustee land. The hon. member in charge of the Bill has shown very clearly that the object is to make the owners of bustee land take an interest in the laying out of their bustees beforehand. Good; but the law as it stands at present is not that the owner of the bustee land, but the person who wants to build a hut, has to submit a plan; that is the real subject of complaint. It seems the most desirable thing in the world that landlords should be compelled to submit plans carefully drawn to scale, showing how they wish to lay out their lands. But it seems rather hard that a poor man, who builds his hut not with the aid of a proper contractor, but with ordinary hired labour, should be required to submit a plan. There is something in that objection, but I daresay that what is required of him is a mere rough plan which cannot cost him very much to get prepared. The other points to which exception is taken indirectly are in connection with the amount of space between a hut and a tank and between lines of huts. Without venturing to say what the present section does mean, I would concur with those who for the sake of sanitation would impose a certain amount of inconvenience on those who build in bustees. The point on which stress is practically laid in the public memorial is that under the general scheme for bustee building provided in the Bill, two-thirds of the land in a bustee will lie unoccupied; and the Commissioners may practically refuse to approve of any plan that does not leave two-thirds of the land for roads and open spaces. This, I think, is very unlikely, but it is an objection which has been taken, and I shall be glad to have it removed if possible. In regard to the space required between tanks and huts, we have just been told by my hon. friend, Mr. Allen, that the law in the Suburbs requires a space of fifty feet; that I think is quite sufficient justification for the space of thirty feet required by the Bill.

THE HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—The hon. member in charge of the Bill has told us that these sections have been framed with the express desire of compelling owners of bustee lands to submit standard plans, and so forth. But that is what he has absolutely failed to do. He forgets how bustee lands are laid out. For instance, a man has 3 bighas of land; a person wants to rent 3 cottahs of that land for a certain period; the rent is fixed and the land is marked out and given to him; another person takes 7 cottahs in the same way, and so on. The only way in which the owner of the land would be touched is by the framing of bye-laws expressly declaring that the owner of any land who wishes to let it out in small parcels to different persons must in the first instance submit a plan as to the sites to be built upon, the roads and open spaces to be left, and so on, and must obtain the sanction of the Commissioners to such land. If a provision of that sort were introduced, it would have a very good effect. It would prevent the owner from letting out small parcels of land to different individuals at a monthly rent for the purpose of building huts upon it as they think proper. My hon. friend asks why I do not introduce an amendment to that effect. I have repeatedly pointed out to him that if his object is to control the owners of bustee lands, this is the only way in which it can be done. Section 252 of the Bill, to which I have been referred by my hon. friend, authorises the Commissioners to call upon the owners of a bustee to prepare and submit a plan showing the manner in which the bustee should be laid out, and this plan, when approved by the Commissioners, shall be taken as the standard plan of the bustee. But the provisions of this section can be evaded by the owner saying I do not want to build upon the land; I have simply let it out. The section would be unassailable if the owner of the land wishes to build huts upon it. But the fact is not so: the huts are built by the tenants, and not by the owner of the land. The owner has nothing to do with the building sites; he simply lets out the land, and it is for each tenant to say how much land he wishes to take. That being so, the section will practically remain a dead letter. But if the law is framed in the manner I have suggested, it will prevent owners of land from converting their lands into bustees without submitting a plan of the way in which the bustee is to be laid out and obtaining the sanction of the Commissioners to the plan. Such a provision would effect the object in view, but the object with which section 252 has been framed must ultimately fail. On this point the memorial which has been presented to your Honour says:—

“The regulations relating to the erection of huts are cumbrous and unsuitable to the circumstances of the people, who will often be prevented from erecting huts, though at the same time they may be paying rent in respect of the land which has been let out to them, and upon which the huts are proposed to be built. The provision which makes it obligatory upon owners of bustee land to pay the rates leviable from their tenants, and then to realise them, is a proceeding which will entail hardship and loss upon owners, and will at the same time relieve municipal employes from the performance of their legitimate duties. Further, under section 263 owners will be required to set apart as much as two-thirds of bustee lands for roads, &c., for purposes of bustee improvement. The section would really amount to confiscation of private property, and your Honour's memorialists would beg to record their earnest protest against it.”

If this section is carried out to the extent to which it is proposed to do, owners of bustee land will have to pay in rates and taxes nearly the same amount which they will realise as rent, because they will get no rent for two-thirds of the land, but they will notwithstanding have to pay rates and taxes upon it. They will be considered to be the occupiers of all lands left vacant for sanitary purposes: they will be able to realise rent on only one-third of the land, and will have to pay 23 per cent. in rates at the maximum. Therefore it is very necessary that these sections should be carefully considered. I submit that the powers conferred by the existing law are ample for all purposes. If a bustee is not properly constructed, you can have it medically examined, and then compel the owner to do what is required; therefore you have plenary powers at present, and I submit that the effect of these sections of the Bill will be only to harass the ryots instead of putting such pressure upon the owners of land as is desirable.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE said in reply:—My hon. friend, Mr. Allen, was pleased to observe that under the existing law in the Suburbs no hut can be erected within fifty feet of a tank. I was not aware of any such law, and I therefore asked him to be good enough to point out to me the provision to which he referred; and it appears that the section to which my hon. friend alluded does not refer to the construction of huts, but of latrines. Section 236 of the Mofussil Municipal Act provides that no latrine shall be constructed within fifty feet of a tank, and section 238 regulates the position of latrines in regard to holdings; so that these two sections do not bear the construction which has been put upon them, and upon which my hon. friend based his argument.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER's motions that new sections (given above) be substituted for sections 247 and 248 of the Bill being put, the Council divided:—

Ayes 2.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE'S motion that clause (d) of section 247 be omitted, was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE'S motion that in clause (d) of section 247 the word "ten" be substituted for "thirty," was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE moved that, in lines 1 and 2 of section 249, the words "in addition to or" be omitted.

He said :—This point has already been considered in reference to the construction of pucca houses. The only additional argument, which can be brought forward in reference to the unauthorised construction of huts, is the poverty of the owners of these huts. It is enough that the power of demolition is exercised: we do not require a prosecution in addition. I am quite aware that I have to meet the powerful opposition of the learned Advocate-General, who remarked that on principle when the provisions of a law have been infringed a penalty is incurred, and the offender should be liable to punishment. But these are not offences against any moral law, or any law for the protection of person or property; they are merely offences against certain municipal regulations; and though on strict principle the offenders may have become guilty of an offence, there is no reason why they should be prosecuted in addition to the exercise of the other power of demolition which secures the object in view.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said :—This is a matter of no practical importance. There are scarcely any prosecutions in such cases, but the principle should be maintained.

The Motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER, by leave, withdrew the motion of which he had given notice, that section 249 be omitted.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that, for section 250, the following be substituted :—

"If the Commissioners fail to pass orders within fourteen days as required by section two hundred and forty-seven, their consent shall be presumed."

He said :—This motion stands precisely on the same footing as in the case of the building regulations.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said :—This provision is of much less importance in the matter of huts than it is in regard to houses. The present law prescribes a period of 14 days, and if within that time the building is not disallowed, consent is presumed. It is somewhat inconvenient to admit that presumption, but as the principle has been accepted in regard to houses, I must accept it in the case of huts.

The Motion was put to the vote and carried.

The consideration of the further clauses of the Bill was postponed till the next sitting of the Council.

The Council was adjourned to Wednesday, the 25th April 1888, at 11-30 A. M.

LIBERALITY OF BABOO GUNGA PERSHAD OF DURBHUNGA.

No. 1544P, dated Calcutta, the 4th May 1888.

From—J. WARE EDGAR, Esq., C.S.I., Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal,
To—The Commissioner of the Patna Division.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 165G, dated the 3rd ultimo, reporting that Baboo Gunga Pershad, son of the late Roy Bunwari Lal, of Durbhunga, has offered to contribute Rs. 9,000 towards the construction of a charitable dispensary at Laheria Serai, and that of this sum Rs. 4,000 have already been advanced by him.

2. In reply, I am to request that you will be good enough to convey to Baboo Gunga Pershad an expression of the Lieutenant-Governor's satisfaction at this proof of his public spirit and liberality. The correspondence will be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

No. 165G, dated Bankipore, the 3rd April 1888.

From—JOHN BOXWELL, Esq., Offg. Commissioner of the Patna Division,
To—The Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

I HAVE the honour to report that Babu Gunga Pershad, son of the late Roy Bunwari Lal, of Durbhunga, has offered to give Rs. 9,000 for the construction of a charitable dispensary at Laheria Serai, and that he has already made an advance of Rs. 4,000, promising the remainder when required.

2. The town of Durbhunga is nearly 7 miles in length. The medical requirements of the northern part of the town are fully met by the Raj Hospital.

The present handsome gift by the above Babu may be utilized in setting up a dispensary in the southern part of the town, which will enable the Municipal Commissioners of the place to offer medical relief to the poor of that quarter who are unable to attend the Raj Hospital.

3. The Municipal Commissioners have got at present a dispensary in somewhat central position of the town, but it is not conveniently situated.

4. I shall be glad if the Government acknowledge the gift in suitable terms.

GIFT OF A GOLD MEDAL BY BABOO DOWLAT CHANDRA RAY.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

Calcutta, the 5th May 1888.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The following communications from the Director of Public Instruction regarding the gift of a gold medal by Bahoo Dowlat Chandra Roy :—

Endorsement No. 789, dated the 10th February 1888.

Letter No. 2531, dated the 28th April 1888.

In commemoration of the Jubilee year of the reign of Her Majesty the Queen-Empress, Baboo Dowlat Chandra Roy, of Cassipore in the northern suburbs of Calcutta, has offered to award annually a gold medal to the student gaining the highest senior scholarship at the disposal of the Education Department in Bengal, and has accordingly deposited Government Promissory Notes for Rs. 2,000 at 4 per cent. to cover the annual cost of this reward. The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to accept this donation, and tenders his thanks to the donor for his liberality.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and that a copy of it be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore .003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0.2° lower; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0.6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

N. B.—In the monthly abstract for April 1888 read 269 for 249 as the number of hours with winds from S. W

Station. Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the readings during the same period for the last ten years. Humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear day is denoted by 0 and an overcast day by 100. The annual normal means or average of the rainfall in that district are obtained from the reports sent in by the sub-divisional stations for the period in question during the past 10 years. The district rainfall is obtained by dividing the sum of the rainfall of all the stations by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least one hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 4th of May 1888.

CALCUTTA, the 8th May 1888.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS
TAKEN IN BENGAL AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS
TAKEN IN ASSAM FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 4TH OF MAY 1888.

At the close of the previous week disturbed conditions existed over the whole of Bengal, except in Chutia Nagpore, Behar and Orissa, and local storms with rain were numerous in South-West, East and North Bengal. At the commencement of the present week a distinct low pressure area was formed over Chutia Nagpore, which also caused comparatively low pressure over the greater part of Orissa, South and South-East Bengal. The wind systems blowing over the province were also somewhat irregular; south-westerly winds prevailed in Orissa and Chutia Nagpore, southerly winds in South and South-East Bengal, and easterly, north-easterly and northerly winds elsewhere. These winds were also at the majority of stations very moist, and, owing to the rainfall which was occurring, temperature was generally considerably below the normal. Under such conditions weather continued disturbed, and local storms with rain were general in South-West, East and North Bengal, and in the southern parts of Chutia Nagpore up to 1st and in many cases up to the 2nd of May, and even over a large part of Behar, rainfall was general on April 30th; but in the Shahabad, Gya and Patna districts in South Behar and in the Hazaribagh and Lohardugga districts of Chutia Nagpore rainfall was practically absent throughout this period, and also until the close of the week. A slight change, however, commenced in the meteorological conditions of the province on the 1st, inasmuch as the easterly element in the wind directions became less strongly pronounced. These moist easterly winds again diminished in force on the 2nd, and by the 3rd they had practically retired from Bengal, and westerly and south-westerly winds, accompanied by a decided decrease in the humidity, obtained in their place. In Assam, however, moist easterly winds were still reported, and this district continued to receive rain until the close of the week. Thus from the 2nd to the end of the week, therefore, fairly settled weather obtained over the whole of Bengal, and rainfall was practically absent, and at the close of the week ordinary settled hot weather conditions again obtained.

Pressure.—A general fall of pressure was reported for the first two or three days of the week, the fall being particularly noticeable over the western parts of the province in connection with the feeble depression before referred to. On the 1st May, however, an extremely rapid rise of pressure took place, the increase equalling 0.15 inch at Hazaribagh, and thus to a great extent causing the depression to disappear. The increasing pressure usually continued on the 2nd instant, but on the 3rd a moderate fall set in, which was largest along the foot of the hills, and pressure became comparatively low in North Behar and North Bengal; on the 4th pressure rose, but still it was slightly low in the two districts last named and in Assam. Taking into consideration only those stations from which records have been received for a number of years, and which therefore yield reliable averages, the mean pressure for the week has been 0.033 inch in defect in Bengal and 0.03 in defect in Assam. As might be expected, the defects are largest in the districts affected by the depression, and at Hazaribagh the defect was 0.045 inch, at Ranchi 0.049 inch, and at Cuttack 0.048 inch.

Temperature.—During the general rainfall in the first half of the week temperature was low, but with the cessation of the rainfall about the 1st, temperature began to rise rapidly in all districts, and by the close of the week again very high temperatures were recorded. For the whole week, therefore, the mean temperature of Bengal was only 0.7° below the normal, though in Assam, where rainfall continued till the close of the week, the defect was no less than 2.6°. The distribution of temperature in Bengal has been rather unequal, and thus while North Behar registers a defect of 4.0°, East Bengal one of 2.0°, and North Bengal one of 1.6°, on the other hand Orissa and Chutia Nagpur record excess temperatures of 2°. At the close of the week some very high maximum temperatures were recorded, the highest being—

110.7°	at Chyebassa	on the 4th May.
109.6°	„ Gya	„ 3rd „
109.4°	„ Cuttack	„ 4th „

108.4°	„ Dehree	„ 4th „
107.6°	„ Bankipore	„ 4th „

Rainfall.—The heaviest rainfall has been received in East Bengal, the stations in which averaged nearly four inches during the week. In North Bengal the fall has averaged about one-and-a-half inches, and in South-West Bengal and North Behar the amounts equal an average amount of about an inch. The fall in South Behar has been very small, averaging only a little more than a tenth of an inch, while in Orissa and Chutia Nagpur the falls have been exceedingly small. Particularly heavy falls have been received in the Comilla district of East Bengal, but in most other cases the falls have been fairly well spread over the various districts in each division, except in the cases noted in the general summary.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 4th of May 1888 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newmann's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MEMORANDUM.

From the annexed table, exhibiting the vital statistics of the principal Municipalities in Bengal for the week ending 21st April 1888, it appears—

1. That during the week in question births and deaths were registered in the proportions, respectively, of 19.9 and 29.3 per 1,000 of population, as opposed to 19.3 and 29.8 per 1,000, respectively, during the preceding week ending 14th April.

2. That these events were returned at the highest rates by the following Municipalities:—

Births.			Ratio per mille.	Deaths.			Ratio per mille.
Narainganj	66.2	Beaulcah	94.6
Bhagulpore	38.9	Narainganj	66.2
Comillah	38.5	Serampore	53.0
Monghyr.	38.0	Suburbs of Calcutta	50.0
Beaulcah	34.1	Comillah	46.2
Durbhanga	33.0	Jessore	42.8
				Chittagong	42.3
				Gya	39.0
				Hughli	33.6
				Bali	31.6
				Durbhanga.	31.5

3. That the casualty-rates from the principal diseases specified below exhibit no noticeable variations in comparison with the death-rates from the same diseases in the preceding week:—

						Ratio per mille during the week ending—
						21st April 1888.	14th April 1888.
Cholera	9.5	9.8
Small-pox	3	1
Fever	9.5	9.9
Bowel-complaints	2.4	3.1
Injury	5	5
Other causes	7.1	6.4

4. That of the diseases above-named, cholera, fever, and maladies coming under the head of "Others causes" proved conspicuously fatal in the following Municipalities; and small-pox only in the Durbhanga town, where the death-rate from it stood at 2.3 per 1,000 of population:—

Cholera.		Ratio per mille.	Fever.		Ratio per mille.	Other causes.		Ratio per mille.
Beaulcah	...	55.1	Beaulcah	...	38.8	Narainganj	...	20.7
Narainganj	...	37.2	Purneah	...	20.8	Gya	...	16.4
Serampore	...	31.4				Comillah	...	15.4
Suburbs of Calcutta	...	26.2				Midnapore	...	13.9
Jessore	...	24.5				Bhagulpore	...	12.7
Comillah	...	19.2				Puri	...	10.5

Chittagong	...	16.4
Hughli	...	13.4
Howrah	...	9.7
Dacca	...	4.5
Patna	...	2.9

It is gratifying to find that the severity of cholera had abated considerably in Jessore, Beaulcah, Narainganj and Serampore, in comparison with its incidence during the preceding week.

5. That under the heads of Sex, Class and Age, the mortality stood as follows:—

According to Sex.			According to Class.			According to Age.
	Ratio per mille.			Ratio per mille.			Ratio per mille.
Males	...	33.0	Christians	...	17.4	Under 1 year	...	207.5
Females	...	25.0	Hindus	...	27.3	1 and under 5 years	...	42.7
Ratio of male deaths to every 100 female deaths	...	149	Mahomedans	...	34.0	5 " 10 "	...	19.0
			Other classes	...	109.2	10 " 15 "	...	13.6
						15 " 20 "	...	21.9
						20 " 30 "	...	22.1
						30 " 40 "	...	19.8
						40 " 50 "	...	24.0
						50 " 60 "	...	31.1

Orders and Notifications by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, the High Court, Government Treasury, &c.

ORDERS BY THE LIEUT.-GOVERNOR OF BENGAL.

NOTIFICATION.

The 15th May 1888—It is hereby notified for general information, that His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor will leave Calcutta for Darjeeling on Friday, the 18th instant.

The following instructions are issued for the guidance of officers corresponding directly with the Government of Bengal during the time His Honour is at Darjeeling:—

As a general rule, all communications should be sent, as usual, to the Secretariat at Calcutta, but communications which are urgent, and which can be made complete in themselves, so as not to require reference to papers at the Presidency, may be sent direct to the Secretary of the Department concerned with the Lieutenant-Governor at Darjeeling.

J. WARE EDGAR,
Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

FOREST DEPARTMENT,—BENGAL.

NOTIFICATION.

The 14th May 1888.—It is hereby notified, under section 4 of Act VII of 1878 (The Indian Forest Act), that it is proposed to constitute the following area in the Darjeeling district, which is a portion of the Sepoydhura location No. 1, the boundaries of which are described below, a reserved forest under the provisions of the said Act:—

DISTRICT.	Pergunnah or other sub-division.	Name of Forest.	Boundaries.
Darjeeling ...	Hill territory ...	Addition to Sepoydhura Block.	North-West.—Road Reserve of Hill Cart Road, and land retained by Mrs. Fooks. North-East.—Government Forest Reserve. South-East.—Ditto ditto. South-West.—Mr. Scott's location and Sepoydhura location No. 2.

The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to appoint the Deputy Commissioner of Darjeeling to be the Forest Settlement Officer, who will, under the provisions of chapter II of the Indian Forest Act, determine the boundaries to be finally laid down; and enquire into and determine the existence, nature and extent of any rights alleged to exist in favour of any person in, or over, any land comprised within the boundaries specified above, or in, or over, any forest produce to be found therein in cases where claims to such rights are preferred by any individual or community under section 6 of the said Act; and will also himself ascertain, as far as possible, and enquire into the existence of any rights mentioned in section 4 or 5 of the said Act within the said boundaries which are not claimed under section 6, so far as the same may be ascertainable from the records of Government and the evidence of any persons likely to be acquainted with the same; and will otherwise perform the duties of a Forest Settlement Officer under that chapter.

The Lieutenant-Governor is also pleased, under section 16 of the Indian Forest Act, to appoint the Commissioner of the Rajshahye Division to hear appeals from the decisions of the Forest Settlement Officer as above appointed.

P. NOLAN,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 14th May 1888.—Under the powers conferred upon him by section 101 of the Bengal Tenancy Act VIII of 1885, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to order that a survey shall be made and record of rights prepared in respect of all lands included within the boundaries of the following estates in the district of Backergunge:—

The particulars to be recorded in the survey and record of rights shall be the following:—

- (a)—The name of each tenant.
- (b)—The class to which he belongs, viz. whether he is a tenure-holder, raiyat holding at fixed rates, occupancy raiyat, non-occupancy raiyat or under-raiyat; and if he is a tenure-holder, whether he is a permanent tenure-holder or not, and whether his rent is liable to enhancement during the continuance of his tenure.
- (c)—The situation, quantity and boundaries of the land held by him.
- (d)—The name of his landlord.
- (e)—The rent payable.
- (f)—The mode in which that rent has been fixed, whether by contract, by order of a court, or otherwise.
- (g)—If the rent is a gradually increasing rent, the time at which, and the steps by which, it increases.
- (h)—The special conditions and incidents, if any, of the tenancy.

P. NOLAN,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 10th May 1888.—With reference to Government notification, dated 20th March 1888, directing that, under section 101 of the Bengal Tenancy Act VIII of 1885, a survey shall be made and record of rights prepared in respect of all lands included within the boundaries of estates Nos. 4734 and 4776, in the district of Backergunge, Baboo Grish Chandra Dutt, Deputy Collector, is hereby appointed, under rule 1, chapter VI of the rules under the Bengal Tenancy Act, to be the Settlement Officer of the said estates.

P. NOLAN,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 16th May 1888.—With reference to the notification, dated the 14th May 1888, published in to-day's Calcutta Gazette, directing that a survey be made and record of rights prepared in respect of all lands included within the boundaries of estates Madhupore, No. 5215, Koral Mara, No. 5250, and Bhusan Lakta, Madanpura, No. 5292, in the district of Backergunge, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to appoint Baboo Chandra Kumar Dutt, Sub-divisional Officer of Bhola, to be a Settlement Officer, under rule 1, chapter VI of the rules under the Bengal Tenancy Act, for the purpose of making the survey and preparing the record of rights of the said lands.

P. NOLAN,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 11th May 1888.—The following rules relating to money-orders other than revenue money-orders in favour of the Magistrate, Collector (or Deputy Commissioner), Chairman of the District Board, and officers in charge of departments under the Magistrate or Collector, have been approved by the Lieutenant-Governor and are published for general information.

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

PART I.

Procedure in the Office of Issue.

1. Whenever a money-order presented for issue is drawn in favour of the Magistrate or Collector or (Deputy Commissioner) or Chairman of the District Board, or in favour of the Deputy Collector or other officer in charge of any department under the Magistrate or Collector (or Deputy Commissioner), it will be the duty of the Money-order Clerk or Sub or Branch Postmaster to see that the proper form of money-order is used.
2. If the remittance is for land revenue, road cess, public works cess, or zemindari dāk cess, the revenue money-order form must be used, and the rules relating to revenue money-orders must be observed.
3. If the remittance is for any other purpose, the ordinary inland money-order form must be used.
4. The rule prohibiting the inclusion of pies (fractions of an anna) is not applicable to money-orders in favour of any of the officers named in rule 1. Such money-orders may contain any fraction of an anna not less than one pie. Remittances of amounts including fractions of pies are not allowed. The limit of the amount of a single money-order is the same as of any other ordinary money-order.
5. If a remitter of land revenue, road cess, public works cess, or zemindari dāk cess desires to remit at the same time any sum due to Government on any other account, he must use a revenue money-order for the remittance of land revenue, road cess, public works cess, or zemindari dāk cess, or for so many of these dues as he wishes to remit, and a separate ordinary inland money-order form for each other remittance.
6. A separate money-order form must be used for each Government due remitted by the ordinary inland money-order, and remittances on two accounts may not be included in one ordinary money-order.
7. (a) If the remittance is on account of income-tax, the remitter must be furnished with one of the special income-tax coupons (Form 1—G. M. O.), and must fill up all the particulars indicated thereon. The remitter is responsible for the correctness of the entries, but it is the duty of the Money-order Clerk or Sub-Postmaster or Branch Postmaster to refuse any money-order in which all the particulars are not entered.
(b) If the remitter is illiterate, the Money-order Clerk or Sub or Branch Postmaster should give him any aid he may require to fill up the entries. The Money-order Clerk or Sub or Branch Postmaster must give this aid freely, and may not demand or accept any gratification in return on pain of dismissal.
(c) The income-tax coupon should then be carefully and strongly pasted by the Money-order Clerk or Sub or Branch Postmaster over the coupon on the black side of the money-order form. Care must be taken that the coupon is not pasted over the entries on the black side of the acknowledgment.
8. If the remittance is on any account other than income-tax, the Money-order Clerk or Sub or Branch Postmaster must see that particulars of the object of the remittance are entered clearly on the ordinary coupon of the ordinary inland money-order form. If the object of the remittance is not clearly stated on the coupon, the Money-order Clerk or Sub or Branch Postmaster should not accept the order until the omission is rectified and the object clearly stated. The Money-order Clerk or Sub or Branch Postmaster should give any aid that the remitter may require to fill up the coupon, and may not demand or accept any gratification in return on pain of dismissal.
9. After the money-order has been properly filled up, it should be received and dealt with in the same way as any other ordinary inland money-order.
10. Every remitter of a money-order other than a revenue money-order in favour of any of the officers named in rule 1 should be informed that he will not receive the ordinary money-order acknowledgment signed by the payee, but that the usual departmental receipt will be forwarded to him direct by post, and that he should address the payee regarding it if he do not receive it in due course. He should also be advised to keep the carbonic receipt carefully until he receives the formal departmental receipt from the payer.

PART II.

Procedure in the Post Office on payment.

11. These rules only apply to disbursing offices at the head-quarters of districts. Other post offices which receive for payment ordinary money-orders in favour of Government or District Board officials will pay them in cash under the procedure applicable to money-orders in favour of private individuals.

12. When the ordinary money-orders in favour of the officers named in rule 1 are in all respects ready to be handed over to the postman, a list (Form 2—G. M. O.) should be made out by the Money-order Clerk, and the entries in the money column of the list should be carefully totalled. No money-order should be included in the list unless the object of the remittance is entered on the coupon.

13. The Postmaster should then check the entries in the list with those on the money-orders, and also check the total of the money column. He will then give the postman the list and money-orders, and a Treasury voucher (Form A/o 17) representing the total value of the money-orders as entered at the foot of the list.

14. The Postmaster will be responsible that he has always sufficient funds at his credit in the District Treasury to meet the voucher, and it will be his duty, when giving the voucher, to see that there are funds in the District Treasury to meet it.

15. The postman will take the list and money-orders and Treasury voucher to the Treasury Officer, and will receive back from the Treasury Officer the money-orders without the coupons and acknowledgments, and will be careful to see that he receives back all the money-orders, and that they are all duly receipted by the Treasury Officer.

16. The money-orders received back from the Treasury will be examined by the Money-order Clerk in the same way as other ordinary money-orders, and will be entered in the journal of money-orders paid, and be disposed of in the usual way. As the departmental offices under the Magistrate and Collector will furnish the remitters with departmental receipts, the acknowledgments will not be returned by the Treasury Officer for transmission to the remitters.

17. The amount of the Treasury voucher will be entered in the Post Office and Treasurer's cash day-books, and the cash account on the receipt side opposite the item "Drawn from District Treasury," and will be included in the sum entered on the disbursement side under the head "Amount of money-orders paid." The amount will also appear in the Treasury account as money drawn from the District Treasury. All these entries must be made on the same date.

18. If it should happen that a money-order is received at the disbursing office without the object of the remittance being entered on the coupon, the money-order will, as stated in rule 12, not be included in the day's list. The Postmaster will retain the money-order in deposit, and make a reference to the office of issue to ascertain the object of the remittance. On the receipt of a reply he will attach it to the coupon, and the reply will be considered as part of the coupon. The money-order will then be included in the next list sent to the Treasury Officer. If, notwithstanding a reference to the office of issue, the object of the money-order cannot be ascertained, the Postmaster of the disbursing office will treat the money-order as refused, and return it under the usual procedure to the office of issue, noting across the coupon the words "refused, as object of remittance not stated." Every case in which a money-order is received without the object being entered on the coupon should be reported by the office of payment to the Superintendent of the division in which the office of issue is situated.

19. On the 5th of every month the Money-order Clerk will prepare a return (Form 3—G. M. O.) of all official money-orders (other than revenue money-orders) received during the previous month, and this return will be submitted by the Postmaster to the head of the circle.

PART III.

Procedure to be followed in the Treasury.

20. On receipt of the list, money-orders and Treasury voucher in the Treasury, the Treasury Officer will check and compare the documents. If there is any error, he will return all the documents to the Post Office with a note of the error or errors. When the documents are correct, the Treasury Officer will at once cut off the strip of each money-order containing the coupon and acknowledgment, sign and date the money-orders as payee, and return them to the postman. The Treasury Officer will retain the strips, including the coupon and acknowledgment, the list of money-orders (Form 2—G. M. O.) and the Treasury voucher.

21. The Treasury Officer will on the same day charge the amount of the Treasury voucher against the letter of credit of the Postal Department as money paid to the disbursing Postmaster, and credit the amounts of the several money-orders as shown in the list and on the acknowledgments to the appropriate departments. If the amount of any money-order cannot for any reason be credited at once in the treasury accounts, the amount should be disposed of according to the standing rules and practice of the Account Department, or be made over in cash to the officer who would have been entrusted with it had the money been paid in cash instead of by money-order, or had it been sent as cash in an ordinary or registered letter.

22. To each department in favour of which any money-order or money-orders have been received and credited, the Treasury Officer will on the same day send an advice list in the accompanying form (Form 4—G. M. O.), together with the corresponding strips consisting of the coupons and acknowledgments. The Treasury Officer will be responsible that the total of the amounts of the advice lists, and any sums made over in cash under rule 21, is equal to the amount of the Treasury voucher received from the Post-office and debited to the Postal Department.

23. No money-order received from the Post-office may be refused. If the particulars given are not sufficient to enable the Treasury Officer to credit the amount under the proper sub-head of account, he must credit it or treat it in the same way as he would have credited or treated a currency note received by post with a letter furnishing only the particulars given in the money-order coupon.

PART IV.

Procedure in the Departmental Offices under the Magistrate or Collector or Chairman of the District Board.

24. On receipt of an advice list with the corresponding strips consisting of the coupons and acknowledgments, the usual entries will be made in the prescribed registers, and the prescribed receipts will be sent to the remitters by post, the postage being prepaid by service or ordinary stamps, according as the department is or is not entitled to use service stamps.

25. The officer in charge of the department will be responsible that the prescribed form of receipt is sent to each remitter at latest on the first open day after the receipt of the advice list from the Treasury.

26. If the amount of a money-order is more than is due from the remitter, the excess should be entered as an advance on account of future dues; if the amount is less than is due, it should be credited as a payment in part; if the period on account of which the remittance is made is specified, the amount should be credited on account of that period; if the period is not specified, the remittance should be set off against those dues which have been longest outstanding.

REVISED TEA AND ARABLE LEASE RULES.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—LAND REVENUE.

Calcutta, the 9th May, 1888.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

Letter No. 578A, dated the 13th July, 1883, from the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, with enclosures.

This Government's letter to the Board of Revenue, No. 959T—R, dated the 27th September, 1883.

Letter from the Board of Revenue, No. 779A, dated the 2nd November, 1886, with enclosures.

Letter No. 34CP, dated the 10th December, 1886, from Mr. Donald Sunder, Sub-divisional Officer, Alipur, Julpigoree.

Letter, dated the 12th January, 1887, from Mr. J. C. Stalkartt, with enclosure.

This Government's letter to the Board of Revenue, No. 208—84LR, dated the 21st January, 1887.

Letter from the Board of Revenue, No. 643A, dated the 14th September, 1887, with enclosures.

Letter, dated the 30th September, 1887, from the Doonars Planters' Association.

Letter No. 380T—O, dated the 11th November, 1887, from Mr. D. Sunder.

Rules for the grant of leases of Government waste lands for the cultivation of tea were first issued in 1875 for the district of Julpigoree only, and in 1878 they were revised and extended to the district of Darjeeling. There are also in force in the district of Julpigoree rules for the grant of leases of arable lands, which were framed in 1875 on the basis of the Tea Lease Rules. In 1882, the Board of Revenue suggested to the Commissioner of the Rajshahye Division that both sets of rules should be recast so as to bring them into accord with recently issued orders and decisions, and Lord Ulick Browne accordingly took occasion to propose a series of amendments suggested by his local experience. None of these proposals were of financial importance, nor did they affect any general question of principle, and they were with slight modifications accepted by Government, the Commissioner being subsequently requested to put them into the shape of draft rules. The draft prepared in accordance with these instructions was submitted to Government in November, 1886, and published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 1st December of that year, remarks and criticisms being invited up to the 15th January following.

The Lieutenant-Governor having duly considered, in consultation with the Board of Revenue and the local officers, such objections and observations as have been put forward, and having to some extent modified the original proposals in accordance therewith, is pleased to declare that, from the date of publication of this Resolution in the Calcutta Gazette, the rules published below will be adopted in supersession of all previous orders upon the subjects with which they deal.

Persons already holding tea or arable grants in these districts may have such grants brought under the operation of the new rules on intimating their desire in this respect to the Deputy Commissioner within six months from the date of the publication of these rules, but no such application will be entertained unless the new rules are elected in their entirety.

ORDER.—Ordered that this Resolution, together with the revised rules, be published in the Calcutta Gazette for general information, and that copies of the Resolution and of the revised rules be forwarded to the Departments and persons named in the margin.

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

REVISED RULES FOR THE GRANT OF TEA AND ARABLE LEASES.

Rules for the grant of leases of Waste lands for Tea cultivation in the Districts of Julpigoree and Darjeeling.

PART I.

THE following rules for the grant of leases for tea cultivation in the districts of Julpigoree and Darjeeling supersede all those previously passed :—

1. The lands that are generally available under these rules in the district of Julpigoree are the unsettled lands, excepting reserved forests, which lie within that tract of country, bounded on the north by Darjeeling and Bhootan, west by the Teesta river, south by the State of Cooch Behar, east by the Sunkos river. Any lots of waste land belonging to Government, lying in any other parts of the district of Julpigoree, and which are not reserved for other purposes, may also be made available for tea cultivation under these rules.

The lands that are generally available in the Darjeeling district lie in the Kalimpong or Daling sub-division of the district, east of the Teesta. They are in two blocks, bounded as follows :—

I.—North.—The Labah forest block.

South.—The Lehti, Noam, Pugo, and Mal forest blocks.

West.—The Jeet Chu.

East.—The Nim Chu to its junction with the Chu Chu, then the Chu Chu to a point about $\frac{1}{2}$ mile below Ambikb, then a line northwards up to the Ambikb forest block, and thence southward the boundary of the Dalingkote forest block and the Goorobathan khas mahal: area about 19.95 square miles.

II.—North.—The Mo forest block.

West.—The East Nar block.

South and South-west.—The Mochu, up to its junction with the Khoomanee.

East.—The Khoomanee and Bougo forest block: area about 8.20 square miles.

2. The following lands will not ordinarily be available under these rules :—

(a).—Lands which, by a notification in the Calcutta Gazette, are held to constitute a reserve for the supply of timber, fuel, grazing, or any other article of general and public consumption.

(b).—Lands not included in the above category, but which now bear India-rubber trees or other valuable timber, (such as sal, khair, chelownee, sissoo, &c.) in considerable quantities and in compact blocks or patches.

(c).—Lands in respect of which any person or persons, or any village community, possess rights of occupancy, or such other rights or privileges as render it impolitic or unadvisable to grant such lands to any other person or persons for the purpose of tea cultivation.

(d).—Lands lying within a distance of 60 feet on either side from the centre of any public road or thoroughfare: provided that such road or thoroughfare shall have been constructed, or shall be kept in repair, from public funds.

(e).—Lands which the Local Government may at any time, by a notification in the Calcutta Gazette, expressly exempt from the operation of these rules.

3. Every person, company, or association or promoter of a company or association, desirous of obtaining a grant of land under these rules, must, in person or by a duly authorized agent, present an application on stamped paper of the value of eight annas to the Deputy Commissioner of the district in which the land lies.

4. The application must specify—

(a)—The name, or names, and address or addresses, of the applicant, or applicants, and of his or their authorized agent, if any.

(b)—The area, situation, and boundaries of the land applied for as far as they can be ascertained without a detailed survey.

(c)—The particulars, if any, which may appear to the applicant to bring any part of the land applied for within the exceptions mentioned in Rule 2. The application must also state whether the land, or any part of it, is, or has ever been, cultivated in any manner.

5. Every lot applied for must be compact and capable of being enclosed in a ring-fence; and if any part of the land touches on a public road or navigable river, the length of such road or river frontage must not exceed one-half the breadth of the lot applied for.

The exact boundaries will be settled by the Deputy Commissioner, who will decide the point on a consideration of what is best in the public interests.

6. Not more than 800 acres will ordinarily be granted to any one applicant, company, or association; and when more than 800 acres are applied for, the applicant must set forth specially the grounds for such application, and give prima facie guarantees that he possesses the requisite capital for working such larger area.

The Deputy Commissioner may, when he has reason to believe it to be necessary, demand such a guarantee when the area applied for does not exceed 800 acres.

If, upon proceeding to survey and map out the grant, the Deputy Commissioner finds that it is desirable in the public interests, or for the sake of good boundaries, to include a larger area than 800 acres within the area to be granted on the application, it shall be in his discretion, with the sanction of the Commissioner, to grant to one applicant so much land, not exceeding 1,000 acres, as may be necessary to obtain good boundaries and to avoid waste, &c.

7. All applications for more than 800 acres will be forwarded by the Deputy Commissioner to the Commissioner, who, if he desires to recommend compliance therewith, will forward them to the Board of Revenue, who are empowered to sanction such grants up to a limit of 1,200 acres, and shall take the orders of Government upon applications for an area exceeding that amount.

8. The holder of a grant of 800 acres shall not be debarred from applying for a second grant if he has complied with the clearance and other conditions of the preliminary lease in respect of the first grant. Tea lease-holders may obtain arable grants contiguous to their tea lots.

9. On receipt of an application for any area not exceeding 800 acres, the Deputy Commissioner must satisfy himself, as far as lies in his power, that the requirements of the rules have been complied with. If he considers that the application should be rejected he will record an order to that effect, giving his reasons for such rejection. An appeal will lie from such order of rejection to the Commissioner of the Division, if preferred within 30 days from the date of the order. If the Deputy Commissioner considers that an application for such area as it is within his power to grant should be entertained, or, in the case of application for areas over 1,000 acres, when the orders of Government or the Board, as the case may be, accepting the application, are received, the applicant or his agent will be required to deposit the estimated cost of the enquiry referred to in the next rule, and the cost of survey and demarcation to be made as hereinafter provided. The amount to be so deposited must be calculated at one rupee per acre of the total area applied for. If the area is found to be greater, the sum of one rupee per acre must be paid on account of such excess area before a preliminary lease is granted.

Payments under this rule do not cover the cost of erecting permanent boundary marks under Rule 24.

In the event of the applicant withdrawing his application before any enquiry has been made under Rule 10, or in the event of its being found that the land has been previously applied for, the applicant shall be entitled to a refund of the survey fee paid by him; but in the latter case (i.e. of the land having been previously applied for) an enquiry fee at the rate of one anna per acre is to be deducted from the survey fee deposited, and the balance is to be returned.

If the cost of survey is not paid within one month of demand, the application may be struck off.

10. On receipt of the sum payable under the preceding rule, and of an agreement signed by the applicant, or by his authorized agent, to pay such further sum as may be required for the purposes above mentioned, the Deputy Commissioner will record an order appointing a tehsildar or other officer to visit the land and to make full and detailed enquiries into its condition and circumstances.

11. The general object of such enquiry shall be to ascertain whether or not the land applied for can be granted under the rules in force; but the Deputy Commissioner may instruct the officer making the enquiry to furnish him with such other specific and detailed information as may seem to him to be necessary.

12. On completion of this enquiry, the officer making it will record the result thereof, and submit a report for the orders of the Deputy Commissioner. If the Deputy Commissioner, after considering the report, and after calling for such further explanations, oral or written, as he may deem necessary, shall be of opinion that the land applied for cannot be granted under the rules, and should not therefore be surveyed, he will record an order to that effect. An appeal will lie from such order to the Commissioner of the Division if preferred within 30 days from the date of the order.

13. If the Deputy Commissioner decides that the land applied for can be granted under the rules, and should therefore be surveyed, he will record an order to that effect.

14. The Deputy Commissioner shall at once send a copy of any order passed under Rule 13 to the Conservator of Forests, in order that an estimate may be made by the Forest Department of the value of any forest trees standing on the land. The Conservator of Forests will depute an officer to examine the land and make a detailed report, a copy of which will be allowed to the applicant, suggesting the average rate per acre at which payment should be made for such trees. Such officer, in valuing the timber, shall have regard to its present market value on the spot, and to the local circumstances of the case, the accessibility of the grant, and the prospect of markets for timber becoming available during the currency of the lease. The Conservator will carefully examine the report, and forward it to the Deputy Commissioner with such remarks and alterations as he may think necessary. If the Deputy Commissioner, on receipt of the Conservator's decision, sees reason to object to the proposed rate per acre, he may refer the matter to the Commissioner, who shall take the orders of the Board of Revenue and of Government on any point on which he and the Conservator may eventually differ.

15. If the Deputy Commissioner finds the land, or any part of it, in the occupation of any person or persons or of any village community, he will submit a full report of the circumstances for the orders of the Commissioner, stating in detail how he proposes to deal with such prior occupants, and, if it is proposed to remove them, the compensation, if any, which the applicant undertakes to pay to such persons. If the Deputy Commissioner declines to propose the removal of such occupants, an appeal shall lie to the Commissioner within thirty days after the record of an order by the Deputy Commissioner declining to propose the removal. The Commissioner will report his orders in all such cases for the information of the Board of Revenue.

16. If any claim or objection be preferred under Act XXIII of 1868, the Deputy Commissioner will proceed to dispose of the same in accordance with the provisions of that Act.

17. The officer who made the enquiry provided for by Rules 10 to 12 will, on receipt of an order to that effect from the Deputy Commissioner, proceed to point out to the surveyor the boundaries of the land applied for, and such prominent features in it as may be useful for the purposes of the survey, and which should, in his opinion, be entered in the preliminary lease as hereinafter provided. The boundaries and other features above mentioned should be clearly marked and defined by the officer in presence of the surveyor, and the latter should be furnished with a list of them signed by the said officer.

18. The surveyor will then proceed to make the survey and put up such temporary boundary marks as are necessary for that purpose. He must prepare a map showing—

- (a)—All natural features of the country lying within the boundaries as fixed by the officer who made the enquiry under Rules 10 to 12, e.g., wheels, streams, forest clumps, &c.
- (b)—Such features of the country lying outside the boundary of the land to be surveyed as may serve to identify the latter and connect it with the revenue survey or other existing map.
- (c)—The total area within the boundaries after deductions of areas for roads or other Government reserves, jotes, &c., and the net area of the grant.
- (d)—Points at which permanent or other marks should be erected by the lessee.

The surveyor is bound to bring to the notice of the Deputy Commissioner any fact which may come to his knowledge in the course of the survey, rendering it advisable that the land he is surveying should not be granted under these rules. He is particularly bound to bring to notice any need for public roads across the lands he surveys, and if the Deputy Commissioner concurs with the surveyor in this matter, the road or roads should be marked off on the ground and on the map, and the area to be occupied thereby should be deducted from the rent-paying area of the grant.

19. The map should ordinarily be on a scale of 16 inches to the mile. If possible, the surveyor's field-book should be copied at the back of it. If not, a copy of the field-book should be attached to or accompany the map. If the map be made originally in the vernacular, the Deputy Commissioner will cause it to be translated into English.

20. On the map being completed, it must be checked by an officer appointed by the Deputy Commissioner. If found to be incorrect, it will be amended by the surveyor in conjunction with the officer above mentioned. If found to be correct, it will be laid before the Deputy Commissioner with the report of the officer who made the preliminary enquiry under Rules 10 to 12, and with all other papers connected with the case.

21. The Deputy Commissioner will then proceed to consider the application. A date for this purpose must be previously fixed by him, and due notice of it given to the applicant or to his authorized agent.

22. The Deputy Commissioner shall have power to reject an application at any stage of the proceedings under the rules, if he sees reason to do so, refunding in such case to the applicant the deposit made by him on account of survey, minus such an amount as it may seem to the Deputy Commissioner fair to retain in consideration of the expenses incurred. If, however, the application is rejected for a reason which could not reasonably be anticipated under these rules, no portion of the deposit money shall be retained. He is authorized to reject an application when he does not consider that there is a bond fide intention on the part of the applicant to cultivate in tea the land applied for, or when it appears desirable to reserve the land for cultivation other than tea, or to preserve any forest standing on it. An appeal against every such order of rejection shall lie to the Commissioner of the Division, if preferred within thirty days of the date of the order.

23. If the Deputy Commissioner grant the application, he will without delay grant the applicant a lease in Form A annexed, and call upon him to execute a counterpart thereof, which must be registered, and to pay for forest trees the sum assessed under Rule 14. Payment for these may be made by instalments with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, which will only be given when the Board are fully satisfied of the good faith and solvency of the applicant. In such case the dates and amounts of the instalments shall be endorsed upon the lease, and the lessee must covenant that, in the event of his throwing up his lease, all outstanding instalments shall be forthwith recoverable from him under the Public

Demands Recovery Act, whether the timber on the grant has been cut by him or not; but he shall have no further right to fell or remove timber from the grant.

24. When granting the lease the Deputy Commissioner shall also direct the lessee to mark out the land leased, within three months of the granting of the lease, by a continuous trench, or by clearing the jungle for a breadth of at least twelve feet along the boundaries, or in such other manner as the Deputy Commissioner may direct, and by erecting boundary marks at the points indicated on the map.

These boundary marks may be of masonry, or of stone, or hollow iron telegraph posts filled with clay or shingle, as the Deputy Commissioner may direct; and he will decide on their shape and dimensions.

25. On the expiry of the three months, the surveyor shall test the correctness of the boundary lines and ascertain if the boundary marks have been erected and in their proper places, and report the result to the Deputy Commissioner, at the same time pointing out to the lessee or his representative, by written notice, any mistakes or omissions that may be found. If the mistakes or omissions are not rectified or supplied by the lessee or his representative within sixty days of the receipt of such notice, the lessee or his representative shall be liable to a fine, not exceeding Rs. 50 per day, from the date of the expiry of such notice till the requirements of the notice have been complied with. If at the expiration of thirty more days the mistakes and omissions are not rectified, the lessee's rights in the land will be liable to forfeiture.

26. If upon any inspection being made it shall be found that owing to the neglect of the grantee the boundary lines and boundary marks of his grant have either never been cleared and erected in accordance with instructions received by him, or have been allowed to fall out of repair or become covered with jungle in such a manner that without a resurvey of the entire boundary line the exact position of such boundary marks or lines cannot be ascertained, the Deputy Commissioner may direct that such resurvey be made, and may recover from the grantee such sum not exceeding Rs. 78 per acre of grant as may suffice to defray the cost of such resurvey. All such sums shall be recoverable under the Public Demands Recovery Act as aforesaid.

27. Fines, cost of notices served, of clearing boundaries, of erecting or repairing boundary marks, or any other money that may become due from lessees to Government, shall be deemed to be a demand under the Bengal Council Act VII of 1880, or any other law for the recovery of public demands that may be in force at the time, and shall be recoverable as such.

28. Whenever, after receipt of an application, as provided for in Rule 3, and after making such enquiries as he may deem necessary, the Deputy Commissioner shall be of opinion that there is no prima facie objection whatever to the grant under the rules of the land applied for, he may put the applicant in preliminary and provisional possession of an area not exceeding one-eighth of the estimated area of the land applied for, with the object of enabling the applicant to make preparations for commencing cultivation and getting the land in order: provided that the applicant, before obtaining such preliminary possession, shall have cleared the boundaries, and erected such temporary boundary marks round the whole of the area applied for as the Deputy Commissioner may direct, and that the amount of all estimated charges incurred in connection with such preliminary occupation shall have been deposited by the applicant: provided further that the applicant shall engage in writing to pay the cost of any trees felled, at such rate as may be determined by the Forest Department after inspection of the land under Rule 14: and provided further that the applicant shall take on himself all risk of loss occasioned by other claims being preferred to the land, or by his application being eventually rejected, or from any other cause whatsoever. Such preliminary and provisional possession is not to be regarded as fixing the date of entry upon the grant.

29. The order for, and conditions of, such preliminary occupation shall be in Form B annexed, and shall be addressed to the tehsildar, or other officer appointed by the Deputy Commissioner. A copy of the order shall be delivered to the applicant at the time of giving preliminary possession by the officer who gives it, the officer signing and dating it then and there. The original order addressed to the tehsildar, or other officer, shall be signed by the applicant on the date he receives possession in acknowledgment thereof, and the tehsildar or other officer shall forward such original order, with his report written on the back of it, to the Deputy Commissioner for record in his office.

30. If any transfer of an application for land is desired before the grant of the preliminary lease, and if such a transfer is allowed,* it must be registered within twenty-one days of the issue of the order allowing the transfer, or within three months if the deed be executed out of India, and a registration fee of two annas an acre must be paid.

31. If after the survey an applicant shall fail to comply with any request of the Deputy Commissioner made in accordance with the rules, or fail to deposit any sums of money for which the applicant is liable under them, within two months, the application may be struck off.

32. Grantees are not permitted to club or amalgamate their grants otherwise than by transfers duly registered, as provided for in the preliminary lease. Any unauthorized amalgamation will subject the holders of the grants in question to forfeiture of all rights in the lands so amalgamated.

* No transfer will be allowed, for instance, when the proposed transferee already holds a Tea Lease Grant, 15 per cent. of the area of which does not yet contain growing tea-plants.

33. In the event of the amalgamation of two or more separate grants held by two or more different lessees for the purpose of forming an association, or for any other purpose, the fee of two annas per acre, prescribed under the conditions of the lease for registry of the transfer, shall be levied on the aggregate area of all the grants.

34. The lessee shall maintain the boundaries of the grant clear of jungle, and all the boundary marks in good repair. Where roads (kept clear of jungle) or streams do not form the boundaries, the lessee shall clear the boundaries of jungle at least once a year not later than the end of February in each year.

35. The Deputy Commissioner should annually, or as often as possible, himself inspect or cause to be inspected, the boundary lines and permanent marks referred to in Rules 24 to 26, and should he find any out of order, shall by letter instruct the lessee or his representative to place the same in order, and failing his doing so within thirty days of the receipt of the said letter, shall cause the same to be put in order, and shall recover from the lessee or his representative the cost of doing so, if need be, under the Public Demands Recovery Act.

36. If the lessee is at any time found, by survey or otherwise, to be in possession of land in excess of the acreage for which he has paid rent, he shall pay rent, at the rates payable by him for the grant itself, for such excess land, whether it be within or without the boundaries described in the lease or map, from one year after the date he received possession (preliminary or otherwise) of the grant, or any portion of it, unless it is established to the satisfaction of the Deputy Commissioner that no possession of the excess land was taken until after the grant of the renewed lease, in which case rent shall be payable from the date of the expiration of the preliminary lease. Provided that such unauthorized occupation of excess land, and payment of rent for it, shall give the trespasser no right to continued occupation, and the Deputy Commissioner shall be entitled, if he thinks fit to do so, to recover possession of the excess lands.

FORM A.

FORM OF PRELIMINARY LEASES OF LANDS FOR TEA CULTIVATION IN THE DISTRICTS OF JALPAIGUR AND DARJEELING.

Preliminary Lease of Land in granted by the Deputy Commissioner of to (name) of (address).

1. The Lands covered by this lease are situated within the boundaries shown by the red lines in map No. , dated , and attached to this lease. The lands may be described as being bounded as follows :—

North.—

East.—

South.—

West.—

Their area is more or less acres, and they are situated in the pergunnahs and tahsils detailed in the margin.

2. This lease shall be for a period of five years from the commencement of the official year next following the official year of actual entry; and the rights conveyed by it are heritable and also transferable: provided (a) that the entire grant, and not a portion of it, be transferred; (b) that the clearance conditions are duly observed by the transferor and transferee respectively; (c) that the transfer is registered in the Deputy Commissioner's office within twenty-one days of the date thereof, or within three months of the final execution if the deed of transfer be executed out of India; and (d) that a registration fee of two annas per acre on the entire grant, whether the succession or transfer be for the entire grant or only a portion thereof, be paid to the Deputy Commissioner on the occasion of every such transfer.* If any transfer of the rights conveyed by this lease is made otherwise than in accordance with the foregoing provisions and the rules,† all rights in the land leased shall be liable to be forfeited to Government. If any transfer not registered within the prescribed time is allowed by the Deputy Commissioner, a fine for the delay in registration, not exceeding one anna for every acre for every month of such delay, or any lesser sum, shall be payable by the transferee at the discretion of the Deputy Commissioner.

After the expiry of this preliminary lease, no right shall be claimed otherwise than as expressly provided for hereinafter.

3. The rent to be paid shall be as follows :—

Year of entry (i.e., from actual date of entry to 31st March following)	...	Nil.
1st full year (from 1st April following date of entry)	...	Nil.
2nd year	...	3 annas per acre.
3rd "	...	6 " "
4th "	...	9 " "
5th "	...	12 " "

* NOTE.—A shareholder in a registered Joint-stock Company may transfer his shares, or any part of them, without registering the transfer or paying any fee under this rule. A partner in any other form of company or association may transfer his in crop, or any part of it, but in that case the transfer must be registered under this rule, and a fee paid which shall bear to the maximum fee payable on transfer of the entire grant the ratio that the interest transferred bears to the sum of all the interests of the partners in the grant.

† For instance, a transfer to the holder of a tea lease for another grant of 800 acres, fifteen per cent. of which is not under tea plants, would be a violation of Rules 7 and 8.

In Julpigorce.

The rent shall be paid to the tehsildar of or other officer appointed by Government in the following instalments :—

1st September	One-half.
1st March	"

In Darjeeling.

The rent shall be paid to the Deputy Commissioner in the following instalments :—

On or before 20th July	One-half.
" " 12th January	"

4. The lessee shall either himself reside on or near to the lands covered by this lease, or he shall appoint a manager or agent who shall reside on or near to such lands, and who shall be provided with full legal power to act on behalf of the principal in all matters arising out of or concerning the lands covered by the lease.

5. The lessee binds himself to conform to all the provisions of the rules for the grant of tea leases under which this lease is granted.

6. Five per cent. of the area of the land leased shall be cleared by the end of the second year after the grant of this lease, and ten per cent. by the end of the third year.

7. Any land covered by the lease, which may at any time be required for a public purpose, may be taken up by Government free of cost on a reduction being made in the rent payable under the lease proportionate to the area taken by Government for the class of land taken. But the value of any improvements or property thereon shall be paid to the lessee, and shall be assessed under the provision of the law in force for the time being for the acquisition of land for public purposes.

8. All rights to minerals or quarries of all kinds are reserved to Government, together with such rights-of-way and other reasonable facilities as may be requisite for working, getting, and carrying away such minerals.

9. No right of fishery, and no right to dam up or otherwise obstruct the passage of any stream, is given by this lease. A public right of way over twenty yards on either bank of every stream, however much the bank may shift by action of the stream or otherwise, available at any time of the year for local boat traffic, is reserved.

Public access shall be allowed at all times to any springs of water on the lands leased, whenever such access is, in the opinion of the Deputy Commissioner, necessary for the convenient supply of good water to persons residing in the vicinity; and the lessee is bound not to injure the springs, or allow others to do so.

10. Standing timber must be paid for at the average rate per acre intimated to the lessee by the Deputy Commissioner before possession is given under this lease, unless, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, payment by instalments has been allowed. In the latter case, payment must be made according to the schedule of instalments endorsed upon the lease. In the event of the lessee throwing up the lease while any instalments due to Government on account of timber are unpaid, the lessee hereby agrees that all such instalments shall forthwith become due and be recoverable from him under the Public Demands Recovery Act, whether all the timber on the grant has been cut by him or not; but he shall have no right of any kind over any timber on the grant, cut or uncut, after the date of his so throwing up the lease.

11. Whenever on an inspection being made the boundary lines and marks referred to in Rules 24 to 26 are found to be out of order, the lessee shall be bound to put them in order at his own expense on receipt of a requisition to that effect from the Deputy Commissioner. Should the lessee fail to do so within thirty days from the receipt of the requisition, the Deputy Commissioner shall cause it to be done, and if the lessee fails to pay, the Deputy Commissioner shall be entitled to recover from the lessee, under the Public Demands Recovery Act, all costs incurred in doing so.

12. If upon any inspection being made it shall be found that owing to the neglect of the grantee the boundary lines and boundary marks of his grant have either never been cleared and erected in accordance with instructions received by him, or have been allowed to fall out of repair or become covered with jungle in such a manner that without a resurvey of the entire boundary line the exact position of such boundary marks or lines cannot be ascertained, the Deputy Commissioner may direct that such resurvey be made, and may recover from the grantee such sum not exceeding Rs. 78 per acre of grant as may suffice to defray the cost of such resurvey. All such sums shall be recoverable under the Public Demands Recovery Act as aforesaid.

13. The lessee shall be bound to furnish the Deputy Commissioner with information as to the births and deaths of residents in his tea garden, and as to progress and outturn thereof, in such form as may be approved by Government.

14. After the expiration of the second, third, and fifth year of the lease, the Deputy Commissioner, or any officer appointed by him, shall enter on, inspect, and measure the areas cleared and under cultivation, and the lessee may at any time demand that such inspection and measurement be made. The expenses of any such inspections and measurements as are made before the due date on demand of the lessee (but of no others) shall be paid by the lessee as rent due. The Deputy Commissioner may at other times enter on, inspect and measure the area under cultivation. If on any inspection being made during the term of this lease, or if on the first inspection being made after the expiration of such term, it is found that 15 per cent. of the total area held under the lease has been brought under cultivation by means of good husbandry, and actually bears tea plants, the lessee shall be entitled to the renewal of the lease for a further period of thirty years, and to renewals for similar periods in perpetuity, subject to the rules and the terms and conditions of renewed leases.

15. If, by the end of the fifth year after the grant of this preliminary lease, less than 15 per cent. of the total area held under it has been brought under cultivation by means of good husbandry, and less than 15 per cent. actually bears tea plants, the land may be resumed, or, on the application in writing of the lessee, he may be allowed to hold on from year to year as a tenant-at-will for three more years or such less period of time as the Commissioner, with the sanction of the Board, may determine, on agreeing to pay rent for such terms at the same rates for which he would have been liable if he had complied with the condition about bringing 15 per cent. under tea cultivation. On the application of the lessee an inspection and measurement shall be made as soon as convenient after the expiration of any one of the three years, and the Deputy Commissioner may make such inspection and measurement of his own accord after the expiration of the third year. If after any such inspection and measurement it is found that 15 per cent. of the area bears tea plants, a renewed lease shall be granted on the terms that would have been in force if the condition had been complied with by the end of the fifth year. At the expiration of the three years all rights in the lands leased will lapse to Government if 15 per cent. of the area does not then bear tea plants. The cost of all inspections and measurements made during the three years' grace shall be paid by the lessee.

16. All expenses connected with inspections and measurements, for which the lessee is liable under these rules, shall be recoverable under the Public Demands Recovery Act.

17. The rights and privileges conveyed by this lease, and by any renewed lease granted in accordance with its provisions, shall be liable to be forfeited on failure of the lessee to comply with any condition thereof.

FORM B.

FORM OF ORDER GRANTING PRELIMINARY OCCUPATION UNDER RULE 28.

and

(name) of

(residence) propose to enter into an agreement in regard to certain land (situated at or near the spot herein described) for the purpose of cultivating tea, and whereas

(name) of

(residence) desires immediately to enter upon occupation of some part of the above lands for the purpose of making preparations for, and for commencing such cultivation, I do hereby authorize the said

(name) of

(residence) hereby to use for that purpose any lands lying within

(here specify boundaries) and not exceeding 100 acres in all.

In the event of a lease being hereafter granted, the date of entry referred to in such lease shall be held to be not the date of this order, but the date of possession being given under such lease. In case of a lease being refused, no claim to compensation shall lie against the Government for any outlay incurred by the strength of this order. No rent shall be payable for land occupied during the currency of this order, the term whereof shall expire on the 31st March next.

(residence) on

Occupation under this order, or after its expiry, without any express condition to the contrary, shall never be held to constitute any tenure other than a tenancy-at-will from year to year. The occupant shall keep the boundary line and marks in repair and clear of jungle. A copy of this order has been delivered to with permission to enter into occupation. You will register him as in occupation of the land under the usual amalnama.

PART II.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF RENEWED LEASES OF LANDS FOR TEA CULTIVATION.

1. Subject to any general or special orders of Government, the rent to be paid on the renewal of the lease for a term of thirty years shall be fixed by the Board of Revenue on the report of the Deputy Commissioner on each occasion of renewal, but shall not exceed the rate* of rent per acre paid in the neighbourhood at the time of renewal for the highest class of lands under ordinary cultivation.

Provided that in no case shall the total rent payable under the renewed lease be less than twelve annas an acre on the entire area of the land leased.

If at any future time the administration of the tracts under tea cultivation should entail on the State any considerable increase of expenditure, it will be competent to the Government, with the sanction of the Legislature, to impose such special taxation as may be deemed necessary, either by raising the rent or in some other mode. But under no other circumstances will the rent, which has been fixed for a term of years on the principle above enunciated, be raised during the currency of such term.

Lands actually planted with tea in the Dooars will, for the present, be assessed at the rate fixed for roopit land in the pergunnah wherein they lie. Waste lands will be assessed at six annas an acre in all pergunnahs, and the rest of the lands in each grant will pay the pergunnah rate of bastoo, bamboo, roopit and faringhatta according to the area of the land answering to each of these descriptions that may be found in the grant.

In the case of the tract of Daling transferred to the Julpigoree district by Government notification, dated 9th January, 1882, the rates to be imposed will, for the present, be those paid for similar lands in the adjoining pergunnah of the Dooars, on the principle just stated, waste lands paying six annas an acre.

The rate to be charged for the present in the case of lands in the Darjeeling hills is a single uniform rate of one rupee an acre for all the lands in the grant.

2. The title conveyed by the renewed lease shall be heritable and transferable, provided that the prior sanction of the Commissioner of the Division be procured to the transfer of any portion of the grant less than the whole, and that no transfer shall be valid as against the Government, but shall, on the contrary, be equivalent to a surrender of the lease, unless notification of the transfer shall have been given by the transferee to the Deputy Commissioner within twenty-one days of the date thereof, or within three months if the deed be executed out of India, together with a registration fee of two annas per acre of the area leased.

3. In other respects the conditions of the renewed lease will be the same as those of clauses 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 11, 12, 13, and 17 of the preliminary lease.

FORM OF RENEWED LEASES OF LANDS FOR TEA CULTIVATION IN THE DISTRICTS OF

(b) that the transfer is registered* in the Deputy Commissioner's office within twenty-one days of the date thereof, or within three months of the final execution if the deed of transfer be executed out of India; and (c) that a registration fee of two annas per acre on the entire grant, whether the transfer or succession be for the entire grant or only a portion thereof, be paid to the Deputy Commissioner on the occasion of every such transfer. If any transfer of the rights conveyed by this lease is made otherwise than in accordance with the foregoing provisions and the rules, all rights in the land leased shall be liable to be forfeited to Government. If any transfer, not registered within the prescribed time, is allowed by the Deputy Commissioner, a fine for the delay in registration, not exceeding one anna per acre for every month of such delay, shall be payable by the transferee at the discretion of the Deputy Commissioner. After the expiry of this renewed lease, no right shall be claimed otherwise than as expressly provided for hereinafter.

3. The rent to be paid shall be as follows:—

In Julpigoree.

The rent shall be paid to the tehsildar of or other officer appointed by Government, in the following instalments:—

1st September	One-half.
1st March	"

In Darjeeling.

The rent shall be paid to the Deputy Commissioner in the following instalments:—

On or before 20th July	One-half.
" " 12th January	"

4. The lessee shall either himself reside on or near to the lands covered by this lease, or he shall appoint a manager or agent who shall reside on or near to such lands, and who shall be provided with full legal power to act on behalf of the principal in all matters arising out of or concerning the lands covered by the lease.

5. The lessee binds himself to conform to all the provisions of the rules for the grant of tea leases under which this lease is granted.

6. Any land covered by the lease, which may at any time be required for a public purpose, may be taken up by Government free of cost on a reduction being made in the rent payable under the lease proportionate to the area taken by Government. But the value of any improvements or property thereon shall be paid to the lessee, and shall be assessed under the provision of the law in force for the time being for the acquisition of land for public purposes.

7. All rights to minerals or quarries of all kinds are reserved to Government, together with such rights of way and other reasonable facilities as may be requisite for working, getting, and carrying away such minerals.

8. No right of fishery, and no right to dam up or otherwise obstruct the passage of any stream, is given by this lease. A public right-of-way over twenty yards on either bank of every stream, available at any time of the year for local boat traffic, is reserved.

Public access shall be allowed at all times to any springs of water on the lands leased, whenever, in the opinion of the Deputy Commissioner, such access is necessary for the convenient supply of good water to persons residing in the vicinity; and the lessee is bound not to injure the springs, or allow others to do so.

9. Whenever on an inspection being made the boundary lines and marks referred to in Rules 24 to 26 are found to be out of order, the lessee shall be bound to put them in order at his own expense on receipt of a requisition to that effect from the Deputy Commissioner. Should the lessee fail to do so within thirty days from the receipt of the requisition, the Deputy Commissioner shall cause it to be done, and if the lessee fails to pay, the Deputy Commissioner shall be entitled to recover from the lessee, under the Public Demands Recovery Act all costs incurred in doing so.

10. If upon any inspection being made it shall be found that owing to the neglect of the grantee the boundary lines and boundary marks of his grant have either never been cleared and erected in accordance with instructions received by him, or have been allowed to fall out of repair or become covered with jungle in such a manner that without a resurvey of the entire boundary line the exact position of such boundary marks or lines cannot be ascertained, the Deputy Commissioner may direct that such resurvey be made, and may recover from the grantee such sum not exceeding Rs. 78 per acre of grant as may suffice to defray the cost of such resurvey. All such sums shall be recoverable under the Public Demands Recovery Act as aforesaid.

* NOTE.—A shareholder in a registered Joint-Stock Company may transfer his shares, or any part of them, without registering the transfer or paying any fee under this rule. A partner in any other form of company or association may transfer his interest, or any part of it, but in that case the transfer must be registered under this rule, and a fee paid which shall bear to the maximum fee payable on transfer of the entire grant the ratio that the interest transferred bears to the sum of all the interests of the partners in the grant.

11. The lessee shall be bound to furnish the Deputy Commissioner with information as to the births and deaths of residents in his tea garden, and as to progress and outturn thereof, in such form as may be approved by Government.

12. The rights and privileges conveyed by this lease, and by any renewed lease granted in accordance with its provisions, shall be liable to be forfeited on failure of the lessee to comply with any condition thereof.

Rules for the grant of ordinary leases of Arable Lands in the Western Doars.

PART I.

The following rules for the grant of leases of arable lands in the Western Doars supersede all those previously passed:—

1. The lands that will be generally available under these rules lie within that tract of country in the Western Doars which extends in an easterly direction from the east bank of the river Teesta to the west bank of the river Sankos.

2. The following lands will not ordinarily be available under these rules:—

(a).—Lands which by a notification in the Calcutta Gazette are held to constitute a reserve for the supply of timber, fuel, grazing, or any other article of general and public consumption.

(b).—Lands not included in the above category, but which now bear India-rubber trees or other valuable timber (such as sal, khair, chelownee, sissu, &c.), in considerable quantities in compact blocks or patches.

(c).—Lands in respect of which any person or persons or any village community possess rights of occupancy, or such other rights or privileges as would, in the opinion of the Local Government, render it impolitic or unadvisable to grant such lands to any other person or persons.

(d).—Lands lying within a distance of 60 feet on either side from the centre of any public road or thoroughfare, provided that such road or thoroughfare shall have been constructed or shall be kept in repair from public funds.

(e).—Lands which the Local Government may at any time, by a notification in the Calcutta Gazette, expressly exempt from the operation of these rules.

3. Every person desirous of obtaining a grant of land under these rules shall, in person, present an application on stamped paper of the value of eight annas to the tehsildar of the tehsil in which the land lies.

4. The application shall specify—

(a).—The name, father's name, and address of the applicant.

(b).—The area, situation, and boundaries of the land applied for, as far as they can be ascertained without a detailed survey.

(c).—A statement of the particulars, if any, which may appear to the applicant to bring the land applied for, or any part of it, within the exceptions mentioned in Rule 2. The application shall also state whether the land or any part of it is, or has ever been, cultivated in any manner.

5. Every lot applied for shall be compact and capable of being enclosed in a ring-fence; and if any part of the land touches on a public road or navigable river, the length of such road or river frontage shall not exceed one-half the breadth of the lot applied for.

6. No application for an area exceeding 200 acres or less than 10 acres shall be registered, but a larger area than 200 acres may be granted to any one lessee by the Commissioner on the recommendation of the Deputy Commissioner, provided that no grant shall exceed 400 acres. In every case it shall be the duty of the tehsildar to satisfy himself that the applicant is possessed of sufficient means to cultivate the area applied for. Should the tehsildar be of opinion that a smaller area than that applied for should be granted, he will refer the point to the Deputy Commissioner for final orders.

7. The tehsildar shall require the applicant to pay in a sum of three annas an acre on the area applied for to cover cost of survey and enquiry. No further sum shall be required except the actual cost of the work prescribed in Rule 9, and no refund will be made.

8. The tehsildar shall then in person, or by an ameen, inspect the land and ascertain whether it is khas land and available under the above rules; and if it appear to be so, the ameen shall proceed to lay down the boundary and make a survey as follows.

9. The ameen shall fix the boundary, in accordance with Rules 5 and 6, as indicated by the applicant, and shall then clear it from end to end, and afterwards survey it with compass and chain, placing mounds of earth or stones not less than waist-high at every angle and at every point where more than two lots or patches of waste or other properties meet. One mound shall be not less than six feet high, and shall be marked on the map as the base mark, two bearings of which, or bearing and distance of which from good points of reference shall be recorded on the map.

10. The ameen shall prepare a map which shall show—

(a).—All natural features of the country lying within or on the boundaries fixed, such as streams, or the edge of forests, and also public pathways.

(b).—Such features of the country lying outside the boundary as may serve to identify the land and connect it with the revenue survey or with any other map made of other lands in the neighbourhood.

11. The map shall ordinarily be on the scale of 16 inches to the mile. If possible, the field-book shall be copied on the back of it. If not, a copy of the field-book shall be attached to or accompany the map. In submitting his report, the ameen shall state whether he had a clear line for his compass from end to end of the boundary, and whether the mounds are erected as ordered.

12. The tehsildar shall then report the case to the Deputy Commissioner stating whether he is satisfied that the ameen's work has been properly done, and giving any further information which may be required.

13. The Deputy Commissioner shall consider the report, and finally pass orders granting or refusing a lease.

14. The order on the case and on any objection decided on by the Deputy Commissioner shall be appealable to the Commissioner within one month.

15. On receipt of an order to grant a lease, the tehsildar shall deliver to the applicant a preliminary lease in the form annexed, signed by the Deputy Commissioner, together with a copy of the map, and shall place him in possession by planting a bamboo or in any other way locally acknowledged, and shall report delivery and registration of the tenant in a separate register of preliminary lease-holders.

16. The Deputy Commissioner may, in special cases of leases of 200 acres or less, and in all cases of greater area, alter the terms of the lease so as to allow a lessee to manage his land by an authorised agent. In such case the agent must reside on or near the land, and be provided with full legal power to act on behalf of the principal in all matters concerning it.

17. If the lessee is at any time found by survey or otherwise to be in possession of land in excess of the acreage for which he has paid rent, he shall pay rent, at the rates payable by him for the grant itself, for such excess land, whether it be within or without the boundaries described in the lease or map, from one year after the date he received possession (preliminary or otherwise) of grant, or any portion of it, unless it is established to the satisfaction of the Deputy Commissioner that no possession of the excess land was taken until after the grant of the renewed lease, in which case rent shall be payable from the date of the expiration of the preliminary lease. Provided that such unauthorised occupation of excess land and payment of rent for it shall give the trespasser no right to continued occupation, and the Deputy Commissioner shall be entitled, if he thinks fit to do so, to recover possession of the excess land.

18. If any transfer of an application for land is desired before the grant of the preliminary lease, and if such a transfer is allowed,* it must be registered within twenty-one days of the issue of the order allowing the transfer, and a registration fee of two annas an acre must be paid.

FORM OF PRELIMINARY LEASE OF ARABLE LANDS IN THE WESTERN DOOARS.

Preliminary lease for five entire years of land in _____, granted by the of _____ to _____ of _____

1. The lands covered by this lease are situated within the boundaries shown by the red lines in map No. _____, dated _____, and attached to this lease, and may be described as being bounded as follows:—

North—
East—

Their area is more or less _____ acres, and they are situated in pergunnah _____ talook _____, in the tehsil of _____ in the Western Dooars.

2. This lease shall be for a period of five years from the commencement of the official year next following the official year of actual entry; and the rights conveyed by it are heritable and also transferable: provided (a) that the entire grant and not a portion of it be transferred; but if in any case, on application being made to the Deputy Commissioner, he finds, after due enquiry, that the transfer of only a portion of the grant would save the entire grant from sale for arrears of Government revenue, or would specially benefit the lessee in any way, the Deputy Commissioner may, with the sanction of the Commissioner, permit the transfer of such portion; (b) that the clearance conditions are duly observed by the transferrer and transferee respectively; (c) that the succession or transfer is registered in the Deputy Commissioner's office within thirty days of the date thereof, or within three months of the final execution if the deed of transfer be executed out of India; and (d) that a registration fee of two annas per acre on the entire grant, whether the succession or transfer be for the entire grant or only a portion thereof, be paid to the Deputy Commissioner on the occasion of every such transfer. If any transfer of the rights conveyed by this lease is made otherwise than in accordance with the foregoing provisions and the rules, all rights in the land leased shall be liable to be forfeited to Government. If any succession or transfer not registered within the prescribed time is allowed by the Deputy Commissioner, a fine for the delay in registration not exceeding one anna for every acre for every month of such delay, or any lesser sum, shall be payable by the transferee at the discretion of the Deputy Commissioner. After the expiry of this preliminary lease, no right shall be claimed otherwise than as expressly provided, for hereinafter.

No transfer will be allowed, for instance, when the proposed transferee already holds an arable lease grant, half of the area of which has not been brought under cultivation.

The rent to be paid shall be as follows:—

Year of entry (i.e., from actual date of entry to 31st March following)	Nil.
1st full year (from 1st April following date of entry)	Nil.
2nd year	8 as. per acre.
3rd and 4th years	6 "
5th year	8 "

The rent shall be paid to the tehsildar of _____ in the following instalments:—

3. The lessee shall himself reside on or near to the lands covered by the lease. He shall keep all boundary lines or marks in good order and repair and clear of jungle, to the satisfaction of the Deputy Commissioner, and shall, within one year from the date of this preliminary lease, make such continuous boundary mark as he shall be required to do by a written order. If he fail to do so, the Deputy Commissioner may cause the boundary to be made, and recover the cost thereof under the Public Demands Recovery Act, or he may call on the lessee to make it within a specified time on pain of forfeiture of the lease.

4. Any land covered by the lease, which may at any time be required for a public purpose, may be taken up by Government free of cost on a reduction being made in the rent payable under the lease proportionate to the area taken by Government. But the value of any improvements or property thereon shall be paid to the lessee, and shall be assessed under the provision of the law in force for the time being for the acquisition of land for public purposes.

5. All rights to minerals or quarries of all kinds are reserved to Government, together with such rights of way and other reasonable facilities as may be requisite for working, getting, and carrying away such minerals.

6. No right of fishery and no right to dam up or otherwise obstruct the passage of any streams is given by this lease. A public right-of-way on either bank of every navigable stream, available at any time of the year, is reserved. Public access shall be allowed at all times to any springs of water on the lands leased, whenever such access is, in the opinion of the Deputy Commissioner, necessary for the convenient supply of good water to persons residing in the vicinity; and the lessee is bound not to injure the springs or allow others to do so.

7. All sissoo, sal, champ, semul and chelownce trees of a girth of over three feet at a distance of three feet from the ground, and all such khair trees as may be fit to cut, are to be paid for by the lessee at the rates at which they may be valued by the Forest Department. All other trees may be disposed of by the lessee. The six kinds of trees above specified shall be counted and paid for previous to possession being given.

8. The Deputy Commissioner may at any time, and shall as soon as possible after the expiration of the lease, enter on, inspect, or measure the area under cultivation, and the lessee may at any time demand that such measurement be made. Provided that the cost of any such inspection or measurement as may be made before the expiration of the lease on demand of the lessee shall be paid by him as rent due. If after such inspection by any officer deputed for the purpose it shall appear that one-half of the total area held under the lease is occupied by homesteads or is cultivated, or left fallow, according to good husbandry, or otherwise fairly turned to account for agricultural purposes, the lessee shall be entitled to renewal of this lease for such further period as shall coincide with the termination of the settlement period then current, and thereafter to renewal for the period of each fresh settlement of the taluk, subject always to the following conditions:—

(a).—The rent to be paid shall be fixed by the Deputy Commissioner on the order of Government on each occasion of renewal, but without the special order of Government shall not exceed double the rent previously paid.

(b).—The title conveyed by the renewed lease shall be heritable and transferable, provided that no transfer shall be made of less than the whole, but if in any case, on an application being made to the Deputy Commissioner, he finds, after due enquiry, that the transfer of only a portion of the grant would be beneficial to the lessee, the Deputy Commissioner may, with the sanction of the Commissioner, permit the transfer of such portion; that no succession or transfer shall be valid as against the Government, but shall, on the contrary, be equivalent to a surrender of the lease, unless notification of the succession or transfer shall have been given and the transfer registered in the Deputy Commissioner's office within thirty days of the date thereof, or within three months if the deed of transfer be executed out of India; and that a registration fee of two annas per acre on the entire grant, whether the succession or transfer be for the entire grant or only a portion thereof, be paid to the Deputy Commissioner on the occasion of every such transfer.

9. The rights and privileges conveyed by this lease, and by any renewed lease granted in accordance with its provisions, shall be liable to be forfeited on failure of the lessee to comply with any condition thereof.

10. If before the expiration of this preliminary lease, no application for a renewal of the lease shall have been made in accordance with the above provisions, the lessee may be allowed to hold on as a tenant-at-will, but not otherwise, until other arrangements may have been made by the Deputy Commissioner.

11. The lessee may sublet any part of the land covered by this lease on such terms as he pleases, provided that he gives the same promise of renewal of the tenure to his sub-tenant on condition of bringing his land into cultivation as is given to himself by this lease. The rent to be paid on renewal shall be determined, on the application of either party, by the Deputy Commissioner, who has the power to fix equitable rates of rent as he has, under sections 76 to 79 of Act X of 1859, to fix terms of pottah.

12. No sub-tenant under the lessee shall sublet any part of his land on pain of forfeiture of his tenure; but this rule and the last shall not be held to prevent the employment of adhaire, projaha, and other labourers supplied with seed and paid by giving them half the crop. If a sub-tenant under the lessee sublets any of his land, no suit or proceeding for the recovery of rent in money or kind on his part shall lie in any court. The Government reserves power to make rules to be observed by the lessee and his tenants for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this and the last preceding clause; and the lessee agrees to abide by such rules when published for general observance, and to hold the land subject to such rules on pain of forfeiture.

13. Tea may not be cultivated on the area covered by this lease if that area exceeds 200 acres.

14. No clubbing or amalgamation of grants is allowed, and all land bearing tea will be forfeited to Government if more than one grant becomes the property of the same owner, except by inheritance.

PART II.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF RENEWED LEASES OF ARABLE LANDS.

1. Subject to any general or special orders of Government, the rent to be paid on the renewal of the lease shall be fixed by the Board of Revenue on the report of the Deputy Commissioner and Commissioner on each occasion of renewal, but shall not exceed the rates of rent per acre paid in the neighbourhood* at the time of renewal for the different classes of lands included in the lease. Provided that in no case shall the total rent payable under the renewed lease be less than eight annas an acre for the entire area leased.

2. The term of every renewed lease shall coincide with the unexpired period of the then current settlement in the pergunnah in which the lands are situated.

3. The title conveyed by the renewed lease shall be heritable and transferable: provided that the whole, and not a part, of the grant be transferred; but if in any case, on an application being made to the Deputy Commissioner, he finds, after due enquiry, that the transfer of only a portion of the grant would be beneficial to the lessee, the Deputy Commissioner may, with the sanction of the Commissioner, permit the transfer of such portion; that no succession or transfer shall be valid as against the Government, but shall, on the contrary, be equivalent to a surrender of the lease, unless notification of the succession or transfer shall have been given, and the transfer registered in the Deputy Commissioner's office within thirty days of the transfer, or within three months if the deed of transfer be executed out of India; and that a registration fee of two annas per acre on the entire grant, whether the succession or transfer be for the entire grant or only a portion thereof, be paid to the Deputy Commissioner on the occasion of every such transfer. If any succession or transfer, not registered within the prescribed time, is allowed by the Deputy Commissioner, a fine for the delay in registration, not exceeding one anna for every acre for every month of such delay, or any lesser sum, shall be payable by the transferee at the discretion of the Deputy Commissioner.

4. Where half the area of the grant has not been brought under cultivation during the term of the preliminary lease, as required by that lease, the renewed lease shall ordinarily include an area of waste land equal to the extent of land brought under cultivation during the currency of the preliminary lease. It will be in the discretion of the Deputy Commissioner, subject to the supervision of the Commissioner, to grant or refuse renewal of the lease in such cases, and also to include, if necessary, a larger area of waste, so as to make the grant under the renewed lease equal to the whole area granted under the preliminary lease. In the exercise of this discretion, the Deputy Commissioner should be guided by the consideration whether the excess waste is likely to be separately taken up by other applicants or not. If it is likely to be so taken up, he should settle it separately; if it is likely to remain on the hands of Government, he should include it in the new lease.

* The rates per acre paid at present in the Western Doars of Julpigoree are as follows:—

DESCRIPTION OF SOIL.	In Ambaree, Fallacotta, Chengamaree, Moraghat, and North Mynagore.			In Lukheepore and West Madaree.			In East Madaree and Chukwakatee.
	Rs.	A.	P.	Rs.	A.	P.	Rs.	A.	P.

Warto	0	3	0	0	3	0	0	3	0

The rent shall be paid to the tehsildar of instalments:—

in the following

4. The lessee shall himself reside on or near to the lands covered by this lease. He shall keep all boundary lines and marks in good order and repair and clear of jungle, to the satisfaction of the Deputy Commissioner. If he fails to do so, the Deputy Commissioner may cause the boundary to be made or put in order, and may recover the cost thereof from the lessee or his representative under the Public Demands Recovery Act, or any provision of law for the time being in force for the recovery of arrears of Government revenue, or he may call on the lessee to put the boundary lines and marks in order by a specified date on pain of forfeiture of the lease.

5. Any land covered by the lease, which may at any time be required for a public purpose, may be taken up by Government free of cost on a deduction being made in the rent payable under the lease proportionate to the area taken by Government. But the value of any improvements or property thereon shall be paid to the lessee, and shall be assessed under the provision of the law in force for the time being for the acquisition of land for public purposes.

6. All rights to minerals or quarries of all kinds are reserved to Government, together with such rights-of-way and other reasonable facilities as may be requisite for working, getting out, and carrying away such minerals.

7. No right of fishery and no right to dam up or otherwise obstruct the passage of any streams is given by this lease. A public right-of-way on either bank of every navigable stream, available at any time of the year, is reserved. Public access shall be allowed at all times to any springs of water on the lands leased, whenever such access is, in the opinion of the Deputy Commissioner, necessary for the convenient supply of good water to persons residing in the vicinity; and the lessee is bound not to injure the springs or allow others to do so.

8. This lease shall be renewable on a rent the rates of which, subject to any general or special orders of Government, shall be fixed by the Board of Revenue on the report of the Deputy Commissioner on each occasion of renewal, but shall not exceed the rates of rent per acre paid in the neighbourhood at the time of renewal for the different classes of lands covered by the lease.

9. The rights and privileges conveyed by this lease, and by any renewed lease granted in accordance with its provisions, shall be liable to be forfeited on failure of the lessee to comply with any condition thereof.

10. If before the expiration of this lease no application for a renewal of the lease shall have been made, the lessee may be allowed to hold on as a tenant-at-will, but not otherwise, until other arrangements may have been made by the Deputy Commissioner.

11. The lessee may sublet any part of the land covered by this lease on such terms as he pleases, provided that he gives the same promise of the renewal of the tenure to his sub-tenant as is given to himself by this lease. The rent to be paid on renewal shall be determined, on the application of either party, by the Deputy Commissioner, who has the power to fix equitable rates of rent as he has, under sections 76 to 79 of Act X of 1859, to fix terms of pottah.

12. No sub-tenant under the lessee shall sublet any part of his land on pain of forfeiture of his tenure; but this rule and the last shall not be held to prevent the employment of adhairs, prajahs, and other labourers supplied with seed and paid by giving them half the crop. If a sub-tenant under the lessee sublets any of his land, no suit or proceeding for the recovery of rent in money or kind on his part shall lie in any court. The Government reserves power to make rules to be observed by the lessee and his tenants for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this and the last preceding clause; and the lessee agrees to abide by such rules when published for general observance, and to hold the land subject to such rules, on pain of forfeiture.

13. Tea may not be cultivated on the area covered by this lease if that area exceeds 200 acres.

14. No clubbing or amalgamation of grants is allowed, and all land bearing tea will be forfeited to Government if more than one grant becomes the property of the same owner except by inheritance.

Educational Prospectus.

THE Calcutta Medical College Session, 1888-89, will commence on the 23rd June next. Students who may be desirous of commencing their studies are requested to apply to the Principal between the hours of 11 A.M. and 4 P.M. on or before that date.

2. Ten free presentations will then be awarded. These are given to students according to their relative position in the University, B.A., B.L., and F.A. Examinations, preference being given to those who have passed the highest examination.

3. No person shall be enrolled as a matriculated student who has not previously passed the First Arts Examination of the Calcutta University, or a preliminary Arts Examination of the United Kingdom recognised by the British General Medical Council.

4. All matriculated students of the College shall pay Rs. 15 on entrance, Rs. 30 for the summer session on the 23rd June, and Rs. 30 for the winter session on 1st November of each year.

Mahomedan students are required to pay Rs. 15 on entrance and one-third fee, i.e., Rs. 10 per session. The remaining two-third fees are charged to the Moshin Fund.

5. Any matriculated student of the College may, with the permission of the Principal and the Professor of the subject, attend courses of lectures or departments of hospital practice in addition to the full curriculum for the year, and shall be entitled to certificates of attendance at such extra lectures, if the Professor is satisfied that he or she has really studied the subject. The fees payable in advance for such additional courses are the following :—

	Rs.
For a single course of lectures on each subject in one year	40
For six months' attendance in each department of hospital practice	60

6. Any matriculated student who leaves the College before completing his University course, with the object of continuing his studies at a Medical School in Europe, may receive certificates of attendance at lectures on payment of fees at the rate fixed in the foregoing rule. But in calculating the sum to be so paid, the amount of the fees already paid by him as a regular student, or in the case of a free student, the amount which would have been paid by him had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

7. Any person not being a matriculated student of the College, who wishes to attend any course of lectures, or any department of hospital practice, may do so with the permission of the Principal and Professor of the subject, on payment, in advance, of fees at the rates fixed in rule 5. If he has passed the Entrance Examination of the University, he shall receive certificates of attendance at lectures. If he has not passed the Entrance Examination he shall receive no class certificates.

8. College scholarships, prizes and certificates of honour are open for competition only to matriculated students of the College, Hospital Apprentice and Female Certificate classes.

9. Junior scholarships of Rs. 8 per mensem and free tuition for one year are annually awarded to 10 students of the 2nd and to 10 of the 3rd year, on the results of the first and second years' Test and Honour Examinations respectively.

10. Ten senior scholarships of Rs. 12 per mensem and free tuition are annually awarded to students of the 4th year on the results on the University First Examination in Medicine. But these shall not be awarded to students who gain Doerga Charan Lahri and Female Medical scholarships. These are tenable for two years. Failed students are not eligible for these scholarships.

Goodeve scholarship of Rs. 12 per mensem is annually awarded to students of the 5th year on the result of the Midwifery Test Examination of the 4th year.

F. C. Chatterjee scholarship of Rs. 17 per mensem is annually awarded to the best students in Histology at the end of the 4th year.

Abdool Gunny scholarship of Rs. 26 per mensem is annually awarded to the best student at the General Examinations of the 1st to 4th year.

Duke of Edinburgh's prize is awarded to the best in Surgery at the end of the 5th year.

Bhola Nath Bose's prize of Rs. 40 is awarded to the best clinical clerk in Surgery and Medicine in alternate years.

A gold medal and certificates of honour are awarded to the best students in each subject.

Goodeve and Macnamara silver medals are given to the 1st year students in Anatomy and Chemistry, respectively.

11. College scholars, who receive less than Rs. 20 per mensem, are not required to pay Rs. 30 per session. All other scholars shall pay fees as matriculated students. These may pay their fees in advance, or have their scholarship money deducted till the full amount is received.

12. Any student holding a Medical College scholarship will be permitted to draw the stipend of the said scholarship at any recognized Medical School in the United Kingdom, provided he furnishes from the head of such school a certificate of good conduct and diligence.

13. This College classes are acknowledged by all the Medical Schools in the United Kingdom.

14. The class assistantships of Pathology, Physiology, and Comparative Anatomy can be held only by matriculated students of the College:—

NOTICE BY THE ACCOUNTANT-GENERAL, BENGAL.

SUPPLY BILLS.

NOTICE is hereby given that supply bills for sums of Rs. 500 and above in even rupees are usually obtainable on the treasuries named below at the rates of premium shewn.

Any person desiring to obtain a supply bill should send to the Bank of Bengal, Calcutta, a written application containing the following information—(1) his own name and address; (2) the name of the person to whom payment is to be made; (3) the treasury on which the bill is to be granted; and (4) the amount for which the bill is to be granted. With this application the cost of the bill (the amount plus the premium) should be paid into the Bank. If payment by telegram is desired (but this is admissible only in cases in which the name of the payee has been previously registered in the Accountant-General's office), the fact should be stated in the application, and an additional rupee paid with the cost.

The Bank of Bengal will, if the amount is available at the treasury named, receive the money tendered, and grant a receipt, returning the application therewith. The receipt and the application should then be sent to the Accountant-General's office, by which the bill will be granted.

The Bank of Bengal will be advised by the Accountant-General on the 1st and 16th of each month of the amounts available at the several treasuries, and will receive the amounts tendered by the first comers till those amounts are exhausted.

If the Bank refuses to receive any sum tendered owing to the amount not being available at the treasury, the application will be retained by the Bank and forwarded by it to the Accountant-General, who will advise the Bank and the applicant if the amount can be made available.

ORDERS BY THE LIEUT.-GOVERNOR OF BENGAL.

MUNICIPAL AND LOCAL.

NOTIFICATION.

The 12th May 1888.—The following rules framed by the Deputy Commissioner of Hazaribagh, with the approval of the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division, under section 15 of the Bengal Ferries Act I (B.C.) of 1885, for the management of public ferries in the district of Hazaribagh, have been accepted by the Lieutenant-Governor and are published for general information.

COLMAN MACAULAY,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RULES UNDER SECTION 15, ACT I (B.C.) OF 1885, FOR THE DISTRICT OF HAZARIBAGH.

Rule 1.—In these rules the term “Magistrate” means Deputy Commissioner of Hazaribagh and includes any Magistrate subordinate to him and appointed by him in that behalf.

Rule 2.—Every public ferry in the district of Hazaribagh shall either be held khas by the Magistrate, or be leased by public auction.

Rules for the management of public ferries held khas.

Rule 3.—For every public ferry which is held khas, the Magistrate shall from time to time—

- (a) provide such boats, rest-houses, and other appliances as he shall think proper;
- (b) appoint a suitable person to superintend the plying of the ferry, provide and pay boatmen, receive the authorised tolls, and remit the same to the treasury;
- (c) fix, with the approval of the Commissioner, the tolls to be levied from persons using the ferry;
- (d) cause a schedule of such tolls, legibly written in the vernacular, to be fixed up on both landing-places;
- (e) determine the maximum number of passengers, animals, carts, vehicles, and goods which each ferry-boat shall carry;
- (f) determine the hours within which the boats shall ply, and the minimum number of journeys to be made every day;
- (g) provide for the prompt conveyance of the mails at all times across the ferry.

Rule 4.—Any person may compound for tolls payable for the use of the ferry; and if the ferry should be closed before the expiry of the period for which such person has compounded for tolls payable for its use, he shall be entitled to a refund, the amount of which shall bear the same proportion to the whole sum paid by him as the period remaining bears to the whole period for which he compounded. Such refund shall be made under the orders of the Magistrate.

Rules for leasing out ferries.

Rule 5.—When it has been determined to lease the tolls of any public ferry by auction under section 9 of Act I (B.C.) of 1885, the Magistrate shall, at least 15 days before the auction is held, cause an advertisement of such auction to be published, both in English and in the vernacular, in such place and in such manner as to him shall seem expedient.

Rule 6.—The advertisement shall specify—

- (a) the time and place of the sale;
- (b) the period for which the ferry is to be leased, and the approximate dates between which the lessee shall be bound to ply the ferry every year;
- (c) the number and description of the boats to be maintained, the strength of the crew to be employed on each, and the maximum number of passengers, animals, vehicles, and the bulk or weight of goods each is authorised to carry;
- (d) the liability or otherwise of the lessee to provide the boats and to keep them in repair;
- (e) the liability or otherwise of the lessee to provide and keep in order the rest-houses or travellers' sheds, if any, at either or both landing places;
- (f) the rate of tolls to be levied;
- (g) the persons and things to be ferried over free of toll as provided in Rule 14;
- (h) the instalments in which the rent for the ferry is to be paid; and
- (i) such other particulars as the Magistrate shall consider necessary.

Rule 7.—A copy of the advertisement, and of the Rules and the Form of Agreement required to be executed under section 9 of the Act, shall be posted up in a conspicuous place in the Magistrate's office, and shall be duly notified on the day of the auction.

Rule 8.—On the day of the auction the lessee to whom the ferry has been knocked down shall deposit one-fourth of the annual rent as security for the due fulfilment by him of the conditions of his lease. This deposit may, however, at the discretion of the Magistrate, be dispensed with in the case of small ferries in which boats or canoes are not provided by Government.

Rule 9.—In cases in which the ferry is leased for only a year, or part of a year, the lessee shall be held liable for the rent for the entire period the moment the ferry has been knocked down to him. In cases in which the ferry is leased for a number of years, the liability for each year's rent shall accrue from the first day of the year.

Rule 10.—The contract which the lessee will be required to execute under section 9 of the Act shall be in the form appended to these rules. If the lessee fails to execute the contract within 15 days of the sale, the Magistrate shall have power to relet the ferry, and the amount deposited by the lessee will be liable to be forfeited.

Rule 11.—As soon as possible after the contract has been executed by the lessee, the Magistrate shall furnish him, free of charge, with a copy of these rules, a list of the authorised tolls duly signed under section 19 of the Act, and two notice-boards having written on them legibly in the vernacular the schedule of tolls applicable to the ferry, the number of boats which the lessee is bound to keep plying, the number of men by whom each boat is to be manned, and the maximum number of passengers, &c., each boat is allowed to carry. The notice-boards shall be fixed by the lessee in a conspicuous place at both ends of the ferry, and shall be kept by him in a proper condition. On the expiry of his lease they shall be returned by him to the Magistrate.

Rules for the management of ferries leased by public auction and for regulating their traffic.

Rule 12.—The lessee shall be bound to ferry over diligently, carefully, and with the least possible delay, all passengers, vehicles, animals, and goods which may come to the ferry ghât to be ferried over.

Rule 13.—The rate of tolls to be levied shall be those fixed by the Magistrate, with the approval of the Commissioner, under section 18 of the Act.

Rule 14.—The lessee shall not charge or demand tolls for ferrying over—

- (a) Mails, mail-carts, dâk-runners, and Government telegraph messengers on duty.
- (b) Commissariat stores, animals, and vehicles, when accompanied by a challan from the Commissariat officer.
- (c) Military officers, soldiers, and their followers
- (d) Police and other public officers and process-servants } when travelling on duty with their bona fide baggage, horses, palkies, or other conveyances.
- (e) Executive officers of the District Road Department when travelling on duty.
- (f) Coolies engaged in repairing roads, with their tools and instruments.
- (g) Persons carrying dead bodies or property sent in by the police.

Rule 15.—The lessee shall not charge or demand tolls from persons who wade or swim across, or take cattle or other animals or property across at their own cost and risk, or from persons who cross themselves, or take other persons across without charge, in their own boats.

Rule 16.—The ferry shall ordinarily ply between sunrise and sunset; but the lessee may employ the boats in ferrying passengers across at any time after sunset, provided each boat so employed carries a light, which must be displayed in a conspicuous part of the boat.

Rule 17.—The Magistrate may, if necessary, fix the times for the crossing of the mails and dâk-runners, and may, as occasion arises, vary such times. He shall in all such cases give notice in writing to the lessee of the times at which the mails are to be ferried over, and it shall thereupon become the duty of the lessee to see that arrangements are specially made for the crossing of the mails immediately on their arrival at the ferry ghât, and that no delay is allowed to occur in their transit.

Rule 18.—The lessee shall provide proper rest-houses or travellers' sheds on the banks of the ferry as required by the Magistrate, and shall make all proper arrangements and provide all suitable accommodation on the ferry-boats for passengers and goods traffic.

Rule 19.—The lessee shall mark on each boat the number of passengers, animals, and vehicles, and the bulk and weight of other things it is authorised to carry at a single trip.

Rule 20.—When any ferry which has been leased for a given period is discontinued under the orders of the Magistrate before the expiry of that period, the lessee shall be allowed a deduction in the rent payable for the unexpired portion of the term of the lease. If it be shown to the satisfaction of the Magistrate that the lessee has suffered any loss, consequent on the discontinuance of the ferry, the Magistrate may allow him such compensation as he thinks is deserved.

Rule 21.—In the event of the ferry being discontinued before the expiry of the lease, either by order of the Magistrate or otherwise, all persons who have compounded for the tolls for its use shall be entitled to receive a refund calculated as in Rule 4, and unless the claims of all such persons have been satisfied by the lessee, the Magistrate shall have authority to satisfy their claims out of the compensation payable to the lessee under Rule 20.

Rule 22.—The lessee shall, when required by the Magistrate to do so, but not otherwise, furnish all information in his power regarding suspicious persons or classes of persons who may have been, or may come to be, ferried over.

Rule 23.—The Magistrate may at any time require the lessee to repair or replace any boat which he considers to be in a dangerous state of disrepair, and the lessee shall thereupon be bound to repair or replace it as directed, within a time to be fixed by the Magistrate.

Rule 24.—Police officers will report at once any instance of mismanagement of a public ferry, the insecurity of the boats, landing-stages, slopes or approaches, and any other defect in the working of the ferry, which may come to their notice.

Rule 25.—Notwithstanding anything contained in Rule 3, clause (f), the ferry boats belonging to any public ferry shall not be plied when the current, wind, or state of the weather is such as to render the crossing unsafe and endanger the lives of the passengers.

Rule 26.—A register in the following form, showing the demand and collection on account of rents payable for tolls of public ferries, shall be kept up by the Magistrate:—

*Receipts on account of ferry , farmed by , at an annual rent of Rs.

But if at any time before the expiry of the period for which the ferry has been leased to me, I be removed therefrom for any breach of the terms and conditions of the lease, or for any wilful breach of any of the rules under section 15 of the Act, I shall be liable to pay rent up to and including the instalment due next after my removal.

8. If the rates of toll are reduced during the currency of my lease, or the exemptions from the payment of it are extended, this agreement is to be modified accordingly. I shall be given a fair opportunity of satisfying the Magistrate as to the effect of the change, and if the terms proposed by him thereafter are not such as I can reasonably accept, I will, according to the law, immediately carry into effect the order reducing the rates of toll, or extending the exemption from payment of it, but will at the same time state the amount of rent I may be willing to pay under the altered circumstances of the case. Should my offer appear to the Magistrate to be inadequate, it shall be competent to him to remove me and place another person in charge of the ferry, and for such time as I remain in charge of the ferry after the issue of the order reducing the rates of tolls, or extending the exemption from payment of it, I shall pay rent only at the rate tendered by me.

9. If I make default in the payment of the rent for the ferry, or of any penalty which may be lawfully imposed, or if I do not observe and perform the covenants herein contained, it shall be lawful for the Magistrate to remove me from the charge of the ferry, and to settle the same with some other person. After such removal, I shall not be entitled to any part of the proceeds of the ferry or to levy any toll therefor. And if the rent on reletting the ferry fall short of the amount at which it was leased to me, and the Government thereby incur loss, I shall be held responsible for such difference or loss, the amount of which may be deducted from my deposit. If the deposit does not cover the loss incurred, the rent due from me, and the amount of tolls refunded by the Magistrate under Rule 21 of the rules under section 15 of the Act, the total amount which is deficient shall be recoverable in the manner set forth in section 12 of the Act.

10. I will not assign, sublet or part with the possession of the ferry, without the previous consent in writing of the Magistrate.

11. I shall not claim any compensation on account of roads being closed for repairs, or on account of inundations, or the breaking down of bridges.

12. I shall not be entitled to resign or surrender my lease without the previous permission in writing of the Magistrate, and if I resign or surrender my lease without such permission, I shall remain liable for the rent of the whole period of my lease, and my deposit shall also be liable to be forfeited.

NOTIFICATION.

The 12th May 1888.—The following rules, framed by the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division, under section 22 of the Bengal Ferries Act I (B.C.) of 1885, for the management of private ferries in the district of Hazaribagh, have been accepted by the Lieutenant-Governor, and are published for general information.

COLMAN MACAULAY,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RULES UNDER SECTION 22, ACT I (B.C.) OF 1885 FOR THE DISTRICT OF HAZARIBAGH.

Rule 1.—All private ferries shall be registered in the office of the Magistrate of the district in which they are situated, and particulars under the following heads shall be entered in the application for registration:—

- (a). Name of the ferry and names of the villages and thannah in which, and the river across which, it is situated, and its distance from the nearest public ferry, if there be one, on the same river.
- (b). The number and description of the boats to be maintained, and the strength of the crew to be employed on each.
- (c). The maximum number of passengers, animals, vehicles and bulk or weight of goods to be carried by each boat.
- (d). The periods or season during which the ferry is to be plied every year.

Rule 2.—Before a private ferry is registered, the Magistrate shall satisfy himself that the statements contained in the application are correct, and are not in their nature objectionable. If any of the particulars entered in the application be found to be false, or if the Magistrate has reason to object to the terms proposed by the applicant in his application, he may require the applicant in writing to correct the statements or to modify the terms contained in the application according to his suggestions within a specified time, and if the applicant fails to comply with his orders within the time fixed, the Magistrate, may refuse to register the ferry on such terms as he may deem fit. The owner of a private ferry, the registration whereof has been refused by the Magistrate under this rule, shall have no right to maintain it, or to allow it to be maintained. The reasons for the refusal shall be recorded by the Magistrate himself, and shall be subject to revision on appeal by the Commissioner.

Rule 3.—If the proprietor of any private ferry shall not apply, as required by rule 1, for its registration within three months from the publication of these rules, the Magistrate of the district may serve upon him a written notice requiring him to furnish the particulars stated in rule 1 within a stated period of not less than one month; and any proprietor on whom such a notice has been served in respect of any ferry shall not maintain the same, or allow it to be maintained, after the expiry of the period fixed in such notice, unless the particulars required by rule 1 shall have been furnished to the Magistrate as ordered, and the Magistrate shall have been satisfied as to the accuracy and reasonableness of the statements and terms contained in the application in the manner provided by rule 2.

Rule 4.—The proprietor of every private ferry shall be bound to adhere to the terms of his application, or of any statement furnished by him under rule 3, and if such terms or statements be modified or revised under rule 2. then to such modified and revised terms and statements, and shall not reduce the number of boats or crews to be maintained by him, or allow any of his boats to carry an excess number of passengers, animals, vehicles or weight or bulk of goods.

Rule 5.—The proprietor shall mark on each boat the number of passengers, animals, and vehicles, and the bulk and weight of other things it is authorized to carry at a single trip.

Rule 6.—The ferry shall ordinarily ply between sunrise and sunset, but the proprietor may also ply the boats after sunset, provided each boat carries a light, which must be exhibited in a conspicuous part of the boat.

Rule 7.—The ferry shall not ply when the current, wind, or state of the weather is such as to render the crossing unsafe, or to endanger the lives of the passengers.

Rule 8.—The Magistrate may direct that any boat used in any private ferry may be examined by such officer as he may depute, and may prohibit the use of such boat if he is satisfied that it is of such a kind, or in such a condition, that its use is dangerous to life or property.

Rule 9.—The owner of every private ferry shall report without delay, at the Police station within whose jurisdiction the ferry is situated, the occurrence of any accident at the ferry resulting in serious injury or in loss of life.

Rule 10.—The Magistrate may require the owner of any private ferry to state the name of any person to whom such ferry may be leased, or who may be placed in charge of such ferry.

Rule 11.—The person in charge of a private ferry, and all persons employed in working a private ferry-boat, shall be responsible that such boat shall not be overladen; and every person having been directed not to enter a fully laden boat, or not to load animals and goods in it, shall be bound to obey such direction.

Rule 12.—The Magistrate of the District may delegate his duties and powers under these rules to Sub-divisional Magistrates or any Subordinate Magistrate of the head-quarters sub-division, and may authorize them to entertain petitions.

NOTIFICATION.

The 12th May 1888.—The following rules, framed by the Deputy Commissioner of Lohardugga, with the approval of the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division, under section 15 of the Bengal Ferries Act I (B.C.) of 1885, for the management of public ferries in the district of Lohardugga, have been accepted by the Lieutenant-Governor and are published for general information.

COLMAN MACAULAY,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RULES UNDER SECTION 15, ACT I (B.C.) OF 1885, FOR THE DISTRICT OF LOHARDUGGA.

Rule 1.—In these rules the term “Magistrate” includes the Deputy Commissioner of Lohardugga and any Magistrate subordinate to him and appointed by him in that behalf.

Rule 2.—Every public ferry in the district of Lohardugga shall either be held khas by the Magistrate, or be leased by public auction.

Rules for the management of public ferries held khas.

Rule 3.—For every public ferry which is held khas, the Magistrate shall from time to time—

- (a) provide such boats, landing-stages, rest-houses, and other appliances as he shall think proper;
- (b) appoint a suitable person to superintend the plying of the ferry, provide and pay boatmen, receive the authorised tolls, and remit the same to the treasury;
- (c) fix, with the approval of the Commissioner, the tolls to be levied from persons using the ferry;
- (d) cause a schedule of such tolls, legibly written in the vernacular, to be fixed up on both landing-stages;
- (e) determine the maximum number of passengers, animals, carts, vehicles, and goods which each ferry-boat shall carry, and cause a notice to this effect to be affixed to each boat;
- (f) determine the hours within which the boats shall ply, and the minimum number of journeys to be made every day;
- (g) provide for the prompt conveyance of the mails at all times across the ferry.

Rule 4.—Any person may compound for tolls payable for the use of the ferry; and if the ferry should be closed before the expiry of the period for which such person has compounded for tolls payable for its use, he shall be entitled to a refund, the amount of which shall bear the same proportion to the whole sum paid by him as the period remaining bears to the whole period for which he compounded. Such refund shall be made under the orders of the Magistrate.

Rules for leasing out ferries.

Rule 5.—When it has been determined to lease the tolls of any public ferry by auction, under section 9 of Act I (B.C.) of 1885, the Magistrate shall, at least 15 days before the auction is held, cause an advertisement of such auction to be published, both in English and in the vernacular, in such place and in such manner as to him shall seem expedient.

Rule 6.—The advertisement shall specify—

- (a) the time and place of the sale;
- (b) the period for which the ferry is to be leased, and the dates between which the lessee shall be bound to ply the ferry every year.
- (c) the number and description of the boats to be maintained, the strength of the crew to be employed on each, and the maximum number of passengers, animals, vehicles, and the bulk or weight of goods each is authorised to carry;
- (d) the liability or otherwise of the lessee to provide the boats and to keep them in repair;
- (e) the liability or otherwise of the lessee to provide and keep in order the landing-stages and the rest-houses or travellers' sheds, if any, at either or both termini of the crossing;
- (f) the minimum number of crossings to be made daily at any particular season of the year;
- (g) the rate of tolls to be levied;
- (h) the persons and things to be ferried over free of toll as provided in Rule 14;
- (i) the instalments in which the rent for the ferry is to be paid; and
- (j) such other particulars as the Magistrate shall consider necessary.

Rule 7.—A copy of the advertisement, and of the Rules and the Form of Agreement required to be executed under section 9 of the Act, shall be posted up in a conspicuous place in the Magistrate's office, and in such other places or offices as the Magistrate issuing the advertisement may deem fit, and shall be duly notified on the day of the auction.

Rule 8.—On the day of the auction the lessee to whom the ferry has been knocked down shall deposit 25 per cent. of the bid as security for the due fulfilment by him of the conditions of his lease. This deposit may, however, at the discretion of the Magistrate, be dispensed with in the case of small ferries in which boats or canoes are not provided by Government.

Rule 9.—In cases in which the ferry is leased for only a year, or part of a year, the lessee shall be held liable for the rent of the entire period the moment the ferry has been knocked down to him. In cases in which the ferry is leased for a number of years, the liability for each year's rent shall accrue from the first day of the year.

Rule 10.—The contract which the lessee will be required to execute under section 9 of the Act shall be in the form appended to these rules. The lessee shall be bound to execute this contract within 24-hours immediately after the ferry has been knocked down to him, unless the Magistrate grants an extension of the time for executing the same.

Rule 11.—As soon as possible after the contract has been executed by the lessee, the Magistrate shall furnish him, free of charge, with a copy of these rules, a list of the authorized tolls duly signed under section 19 of the Act, and two notice-boards having written on them legibly in the vernacular the schedule of tolls applicable to the ferry, the number of boats which the lessee is bound to keep plying, the number of men by whom each boat is to be manned, and the maximum number of passengers, &c., each boat is allowed to carry. The notice-boards shall be fixed by the lessee in a conspicuous place at both ends of the ferry, and shall be kept by him in a proper condition. On the expiry of his lease they shall be returned by him to the Magistrate.

Rules for the management of the ferries leased by public auction and for regulating their traffic.

Rule 12.—The lessee shall be bound to ferry over diligently, carefully, and with the least possible delay, all passengers, vehicles, animals and goods which may come to the ferry ghât to be ferried over.

Rule 13.—The rate of tolls to be levied shall be those fixed by the Magistrate, with the approval of the Commissioner under section 18 of the Act. The lessee shall not charge or demand tolls at a higher rate, although for special reasons he is at liberty to ferry over free of charge, or at a less rate of tolls, any passengers, vehicles, animals and goods which may come to the ferry ghât to be ferried over without thereby claiming any deduction in the rent.

Rule 14.—The lessee shall not charge or demand tolls for ferrying over —

- (a) Mails, mail carts, dâk-runners, and Government telegraph messengers on duty.
- (b) Commissariat stores, animals, and vehicles, when accompanied by a challan from the Commissariat officer.
- (c) Military officers, soldiers, and their followers
- (d) Police and other public officers including } when travelling on duty with village policemen and road patrols } their bond fide baggage, horses, employed under Act V (B.C.) of 1887, } palkies or other conveyances.
and process-serving peons
- (e) Executive officers of the District Road Department when travelling on duty.
- (f) Coolies engaged in repairing roads, with their tools and instruments.
- (g) Persons carrying dead bodies or property sent in by the police.

Rule 15.—The lessee shall not charge or demand tolls from persons who wade or swim across, or take cattle or other animals or property across at their own cost and risk, or from persons who cross themselves, or take other persons across without charge, in their own boats.

Rule 16.—The ferry shall ordinarily ply between sunrise and sunset; but the lessee may employ the boats in ferrying passengers across at any time after sunset, provided each boat so employed carries a light, which must be displayed in a conspicuous part of the boat, and shall be bound to ferry over at night, whenever called upon to do so, any police or Government officer travelling on duty, together with his baggage and conveyances.

Rule 17.—The Magistrate may, if necessary, fix the times for the crossing of the mails and dâk-runners, and may, as occasion arises, vary such times. He shall in all such cases give notice in writing to the lessee of the times at which the mails are to be ferried over, and it shall thereupon become the duty of the lessee to see that arrangements are specially made for the crossing of the mails immediately on their arrival at the ferry ghât, and that no delay is allowed to occur in their transit.

Rule 18.—The lessee shall provide and keep in proper order, to the satisfaction of the Magistrate, the landing-stages on both sides of the ferry, and shall move them when necessary according to the rise and fall of the water. He shall also provide proper rest-houses or travellers' sheds on the banks of the ferry as required by the Magistrate, and shall make all proper arrangements and provide all suitable accommodation on the ferry-boats for passenger and goods traffic.

Rule 19.—The lessee shall mark on each boat the number of passengers, animals, and vehicles, and the bulk and weight of other things it is authorised to carry at a single trip, and if the Magistrate so direct, a safety line shall be painted round each boat, and it shall be the duty of the lessee to see that the boat is not so overladen as to sink below this line.

Rule 20.—When any ferry which has been leased for a given period is discontinued under the orders of the Magistrate before the expiry of that period, the lessee shall be allowed a deduction in the rent payable for the unexpired portion of the term of the lease. If it be shown to the satisfaction of the Magistrate that the lessee has suffered any loss consequent on the discontinuance of the ferry, the Magistrate may allow him such compensation as he thinks is deserved.

Rule 21.—In the event of the ferry being discontinued before the expiry of the lease, either by order of the Magistrate or otherwise, all persons who have compounded for the tolls for its use shall be entitled to receive a refund calculated as in Rule 4, and unless the claims of all such persons have been satisfied by the lessee, the Magistrate shall have authority to satisfy the claims out of the deposit made by the lessee under Rule 8.

Rule 22.—The lessee shall, when required by the Magistrate or police officers above the rank of a constable to do so, but not otherwise, furnish all information in his power regarding suspicious persons or classes of persons who may have been, or may come to be, ferried over.

Rule 23.—The lessee shall be bound to furnish such returns of traffic as may from time to time be called for by the Magistrate, and for this purpose he shall keep up a register of traffic in the form to be prescribed by the Magistrate.

Rule 24.—If the lessee desires to establish communication across the ferry by means of a bridge of any kind, he shall first obtain the sanction, in writing, of the Magistrate, and shall, on obtaining such sanction, carry out any orders which the Magistrate may make regarding the opening of such bridge for the through passage of vessels and rafts. Such bridge shall on no account obstruct the free passage of the stream.

Rule 25.—The Magistrate may at any time require the lessee to repair or replace any boat which he considers to be in a dangerous state of disrepair, and the lessee shall thereupon be bound to repair or replace it as directed.

Rule 26.—Police officers will report at once any instance of mismanagement of a public ferry, the insecurity of the boats, landing-stages, slopes or approaches, and any other defect in the working of the ferry which may come to their notice, and the officer in charge of the police station and out-post within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the public ferry is situated shall inspect the ferry ghât at such intervals as the Magistrate may direct, and shall be held responsible for any habitually insecure state of the ferries and infringement of the rules by the lessee which he may have failed to bring to notice.

Rule 27.—The ferry boats belonging to any public ferry shall not be plied when the current, wind or state of the weather is such as to render the crossing unsafe and endanger the lives of the passengers.

Rule 28.—A register in the following form, showing the demand and collection on account of rents payable for tolls of public ferries, shall be kept up by the Magistrate:—

Receipts an account of ferry , farmed by _____ at an annual rent of Rs. _____
[Signature of officer holding sales.]

Serial number.	Details of payment.	Amount.	PAYMENT.					REMARKS.
			Amount.	Date.	Number of challan.	Initial of Magistrate.	Initial of Treasury officer.

NOTIFICATION.

The 12th May 1888.—The following rules, framed by the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division, under section 22 of the Bengal Ferries Act I (B.C.) of 1885, for the management of private ferries in the district of Lohardugga, have been accepted by the Lieutenant-Governor, and are published for general information.

COLMAN MACAULAY,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RULES UNDER SECTION 22, ACT I (B.C.) OF 1885, FOR THE DISTRICT OF LOHARDUGGA.

Rule 1.—All private ferries shall be registered in the office of the Magistrate of the district in which they are situated, and particulars under the following heads shall be entered in the application for registration :—

- (a). Name of the ferry and names of the villages and thannah in which, and the river across which, it is situated, and its distance from the nearest public ferry if there be one on the same river.
- (b). The number and description of the boats to be maintained, and the strength of the crew to be employed on each.
- (c). The maximum number of passengers, animals, vehicles, and bulk or weight of goods to be carried by each boat.
- (d). The periods or season during which the ferry is to be plied every year.

Rule 2.—Before a private ferry is registered, the Magistrate shall satisfy himself that the statements contained in the application are correct, and are not in their nature objectionable. If any of the particulars entered in the application be found to be false, or if the Magistrate has reason to object to the terms proposed by the applicant in his application, he may require the applicant in writing to correct the statements or to modify the terms contained in the application according to his suggestions within a specified time, and if the applicant fails to comply with his orders within the time fixed by the Magistrate, may refuse to register the ferry on such terms as he may deem fit. The owner of a private ferry, the registration whereof has been refused by the Magistrate under this rule, shall have no right to maintain it or to allow it to be maintained. The reasons for the refusal shall be recorded by the Magistrate himself, and shall be subject to revision on appeal by the Commissioner.

Rule 3.—If the proprietor of any private ferry shall not apply, as required by Rule 1, for its registration within three months from the publication of these rules, the Magistrate of the district may serve upon him a written notice requiring him to furnish the particulars stated in Rule 1 within a stated period of not less than one month; and any proprietor on whom such a notice has been served in respect of any ferry shall not maintain the same or allow it to be maintained after the expiry of the period fixed in such notice, unless the particulars required by Rule 1 shall have been furnished to the Magistrate as ordered, and the Magistrate shall have been satisfied as to the accuracy and reasonableness of the statements and terms contained in the application in the manner provided by Rule 2.

Rule 4.—The proprietor of every private ferry shall be bound to adhere to the terms of his application, or of any statement furnished by him under Rule 3, and, if such terms or statements be modified or revised under Rule 2, then to such modified and revised terms and statements, and shall not reduce the number of boats or crews to be maintained by him, or allow any of his boats to carry an excess number of passengers, animals, vehicles or weight or bulk of goods.

Rule 5.—The proprietor shall mark on each boat the number of passengers, animals, and vehicles, and the bulk and weight of other things it is authorized to carry at a single trip.

Rule 6.—The ferry shall ordinarily ply between sunrise and sunset, but the proprietor may also ply the boats after sunset, provided each boat carries a light, which must be exhibited in a conspicuous part of the boat.

Rule 7.—The ferry shall not ply when the current, wind or state of the weather is such as to render the crossing unsafe, or to endanger the lives of the passengers.

Rule 8.—The Magistrate may direct that any boat used in any private ferry may be examined by such officer as he may depute, and may prohibit the use of such boat if he is satisfied that it is of such a kind, or in such a condition, that its use is dangerous to life or property.

Rule 9.—The owner of every private ferry shall report without delay, at the police-station within whose jurisdiction the ferry is situated, the occurrence of any accident at the ferry resulting in serious injury or in loss of life.

Rule 10.—The Magistrate may require the owner of any private ferry to state the name of any person to whom such ferry may be leased, or who may be placed in charge of such ferry.

Rule 11.—The person in charge of a private ferry, and all persons employed in working a private ferry-boat, shall be responsible that such boat shall not be overladen; and every person having been directed not to enter a fully-laden boat, or not to load animals and goods in it, shall be bound to obey such direction.

Rule 12.—The Magistrate of the district may delegate his duties and power under these rules to Sub-divisional Magistrates or any subordinate Magistrate of the head-quarters sub-division, and may authorise them to entertain petitions.

NOTIFICATION.

The 12th May 1888.—The following rules framed by the Deputy Commissioner of Singbhoom, with the approval of the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division, under section 15 of the Bengal Ferries Act I (B.C.) of 1885, for the management of public ferries in the district of Singbhoom have been accepted by the Lieutenant-Governor and are published for general information.

COLMAN MACAULAY,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RULES UNDER SECTION 15, ACT I (B.C.) OF 1885 FOR THE DISTRICT OF SINGBHOOM.

Rule 1.—In these rules the term “Magistrate” means the Deputy Commissioner of Singbhoom and includes any Magistrate subordinate to him and appointed by him in that behalf;

Rule 2.—Every public ferry in the district of Singbhoom shall either be held khas by the Magistrate, or be leased by public auction.

Rules for the management of public ferries held khas.

Rule 3.—For every public ferry which is held khas, the Magistrate shall from time to time—

- (a) provide such boats, rest-houses, and other appliances as he shall think proper;
- (b) appoint a suitable person to superintend the plying of the ferry, provide and pay boatmen, receive the authorised tolls, and remit the same to the treasury;
- (c) fix, with the approval of the Commissioner, the tolls to be levied from persons using the ferry;
- (d) cause a schedule of such tolls, legibly written in the vernacular, to be fixed up on both landing-places;
- (e) determine the maximum number of passengers, animals, carts, vehicles, and goods which each ferry boat shall carry;
- (f) determine the hours within which the boats shall ply, and the minimum number of journeys to be made every day;
- (g) provide for the prompt conveyance of the mails at all times across the ferry.

Rule 4.—Any person may compound for tolls payable for the use of the ferry; and if the ferry should be closed before the expiry of the period for which such person has compounded for tolls payable for its use, he shall be entitled to a refund, the amount of which shall bear the same proportion to the whole sum paid by him, as the period remaining bears to the whole period for which he compounded. Such refund shall be made under the orders of the Magistrate.

Rules for leasing out ferries.

Rule 5.—When it has been determined to lease the tolls of any public ferry by auction, under section 9 of Act I (B.C.) of 1885, the Magistrate shall, at least 15 days before the auction is held, cause an advertisement of such auction to be published, both in English and in the vernacular, in such place and in such manner as to him shall seem expedient.

Rule 6.—The advertisement shall specify—

- (a) the time and place of the sale;
- (b) the period for which the ferry is to be leased, and the approximate dates between which the lessee shall be bound to ply the ferry every year;
- (c) the number and description of the boats to be maintained, the strength of the crew to be employed on each, and the maximum number of passengers, animals, vehicles, and the bulk or weight of goods each is authorised to carry;
- (d) the liability or otherwise of the lessee to provide the boats and to keep them in repair;
- (e) the liability or otherwise of the lessee to provide and keep in order the rest-houses or travellers’ sheds, if any, at either or both landing-places;
- (f) the rate of tolls to be levied;
- (g) the persons and things to be ferried over free of toll as provided in Rule 14;
- (h) the instalments in which the rent for the ferry is to be paid; and
- (i) such other particulars as the Magistrate shall consider necessary.

Rule 7.—A copy of the advertisement, and of the Rules and the Form of agreement required to be executed under section 9 of the Act, shall be posted up in a conspicuous place in the Magistrate’s office, and shall be duly notified on the day of the auction.

Rule 8.—On the day of the auction the lessee, to whom the ferry has been knocked down, shall deposit one-fourth of the annual rent as security for the due fulfilment by him of the conditions of his lease. This deposit may, however, at the discretion of the Magistrate, be dispensed with in the case of small ferries in which boats or canoes are not provided by Government.

Rule 9.—In cases in which the ferry is leased for only a year, or part of a year, the lessee shall be held liable for the rent for the entire period the moment the ferry has been knocked down to him. In cases in which the ferry is leased for a number of years, the liability for each year’s rent shall accrue from the first day of the year.

Rule 10.—The contract which the lessee will be required to execute under section 9 of the Act shall be in the form appended to these rules. If the lessee fails to execute the contract within 15 days of the sale the Magistrate shall have power to relet the ferry, and the amount deposited by the lessee will be liable to be forfeited.

Rule 11.—As soon as possible after the contract has been executed by the lessee, the Magistrate shall furnish him, free of charge, with a copy of these rules, a list of the authorized tolls duly signed under section 19 of the Act, and two notice boards having written on them legibly in the vernacular the schedule of tolls applicable to the ferry, the number of boats which the lessee is bound to keep plying, the number of men by whom each boat is to be manned, and the maximum number of passengers, &c., each boat is allowed to carry. The notice boards shall be fixed by the lessee in a conspicuous place at both ends of the ferry, and shall be kept by him in a proper condition. On the expiry of his lease they shall be returned by him to the Magistrate.

Rules for the management of ferries leased by public auction and for regulating their traffic.

Rule 12.—The lessee shall be bound to ferry over diligently, carefully, and with the least possible delay, all passengers, vehicles, animals and goods which may come to the ferry ghat to be ferried over.

Rule 13.—The rate of tolls to be levied shall be those fixed by the Magistrate, with the approval of the Commissioner, under section 18 of the Act.

Rule 14.—The lessee shall not charge or demand tolls for ferrying over—

- (a) Mails, mail carts, dāk-runners, and Government telegraph messengers on duty.
- (b) Commissariat stores, animals and vehicles, when accompanied by a challan from the Commissariat officer.
- (c) Military officers, soldiers, and their followers
- (d) Police and other public officers and process-servants { when travelling on duty with their bonâ fide baggage, horses, palkies or other conveyances.
- (e) Executive officers of the District Road Department when travelling on duty.
- (f) Coolies engaged in repairing roads, with their tools and instruments.
- (g) Persons carrying dead bodies or property sent in by the police.

Rule 15.—The lessee shall not charge or demand tolls from persons who wade or swim across, or take cattle or other animals or property across at their own cost and risk, or from persons who cross themselves, or take other persons across without charge, in their own boats.

Rule 16.—The ferry shall ordinarily ply between sunrise and sunset; but the lessee may employ the boats in ferrying passengers across at any time after sunset, provided each boat so employed carries a light, which must be displayed in a conspicuous part of the boat.

Rule 17.—The Magistrate may, if necessary, fix the times for the crossing of the mails and dāk-runners, and may, as occasion arises, vary such times. He shall in all such cases give notice in writing to the lessee of the times at which the mails are to be ferried over, and it shall thereupon become the duty of the lessee to see that arrangements are specially made for the crossing of the mails immediately on their arrival at the ferry ghat, and that no delay is allowed to occur in their transit.

Rule 18.—The lessee shall provide proper rest-houses or travellers' sheds on the banks of the ferry as required by the Magistrate, and shall make all proper arrangements and provide all suitable accommodation on the ferry boats for passenger and goods traffic.

Rule 19.—The lessee shall mark on each boat the number of passengers, animals and vehicles, and the bulk and weight of other things it is authorised to carry at a single trip.

Rule 20.—When any ferry which has been leased for a given period is discontinued under the orders of the Magistrate before the expiry of that period, the lessee shall be allowed a deduction in the rent payable for the unexpired portion of the term of the lease. If it be shown to the satisfaction of the Magistrate that the lessee has suffered any loss, consequent on the discontinuance of the ferry, the Magistrate may allow him such compensation as he thinks is deserved.

Rule 21.—In the event of the ferry being discontinued before the expiry of the leases either by order of the Magistrate or otherwise, all persons who have compounded for the toll for its use shall be entitled to receive a refund calculated as in Rule 4, and unless the claims of all such persons have been satisfied by the lessee, the Magistrate shall have authority to satisfy their claims out of the compensation payable to the lessee under Rule 20.

Rule 22.—The lessee shall, when required by the Magistrate to do so, but not otherwise, furnish all information in his power regarding suspicious persons or classes of persons who may have been, or may come to be, ferried over.

Rule 23.—The Magistrate may at any time require the lessee to repair or replace any boat which he considers to be in a dangerous state of disrepair, and the lessee shall thereupon be bound to repair or replace it as directed, within a time to be fixed by the Magistrate.

Rule 24.—Police officers will report at once any instance of mismanagement of a public ferry, the insecurity of the boats, landing stages, slopes or approaches, and any other defect in the working of the ferry, which may come to their notice.

Rule 25.—Notwithstanding any thing contained in Rule 3 clause (f). The ferry boats belonging to any public ferry shall not be plied when the current, wind, or state of the weather is such as to render the crossing unsafe, and endanger the lives of the passengers.

Rule 26.—A register in the following form, showing the demand and collection on account of rents payable for tolls of public ferries, shall be kept up by the Magistrate.

Receipts on account of ferry , farmed by , at an annual rent of Rs.

THE Secretary of State for India in Council doth hereby lease to me hereinafter called the lessee, son of resident of mouzah , pergunnah , thana district , and I the said lessee do hereby take the lease of the public ferry across the river , and situated on the road from to at the rent of Rs. upon and under the following terms and conditions, viz.—

1. I, the lessee, have deposited with the intent that the Magistrate shall hold the same until the determination of the lease, as partial security for the due performance by me of the stipulations herein contained, and for the observance by me of the provisions of the Bengal Ferries Act I (B.C.) of 1885, and the rules framed under it, and may deduct therefrom any rent which may become due, or penalties which may be awarded under sections 23, 24, and 25 of the said Act.

2. I, the lessee, do hereby acknowledge to have received a copy of the Rules under section 15 of the Act aforesaid, and to be aware of the provisions of section 10 of the Act, under which I am legally bound to conform to them. I also acknowledge to have received a list of the tolls to be levied at the ferry.

3. The lease to me is to be for , namely, from the , to the , and during this period I shall be bound to ply the ferry from the to the every year.

4. I hereby agree—

- (a) to provide boats for the ferry and) to keep the boats (provided by the Magistrate for the ferry) in proper repair;
- (b) to employ a crew of men on each boat;
- (c) to make at least crossings every day; and
- (d) to (provide and) keep in order the travellers' sheds on both banks of the river.

5. I shall not charge or demand tolls for ferrying over—

But if at any time before the expiry of the period for which the ferry has been leased to me I be removed therefrom for any breach of the terms and conditions of the lease, or for any wilful breach of any of the rules under section 15 of the Act, I shall be liable to pay rent up to and including the instalment due next after my removal.

8. If the rates of toll are reduced during the currency of my lease, or the exemptions from the payment of it are extended, this agreement is to be modified accordingly. I shall be given a fair opportunity of satisfying the Magistrate as to the effect of the change, and if the terms proposed by him thereafter are not such as I can reasonably accept, I will, according to the law, immediately carry into effect the order reducing the rates of toll, or extending the exemption from payment of it, but will at the same time state the amount of rent I may be willing to pay under the altered circumstances of the case. Should my offer appear to the Magistrate to be inadequate, it shall be competent to him to remove me, and place another person in charge of the ferry, and for such time as I remain in charge of the ferry after the issue of the order reducing the rates of tolls, or extending the exemption from payment of it, I shall pay rent only at the rate tendered by me.

9. If I make default in the payment of the rent for the ferry, or of any penalty which may be lawfully imposed, or if I do not observe and perform the covenants herein contained, it shall be lawful for the Magistrate to remove me from the charge of the ferry, and to settle the same with some other person. After such removal, I shall not be entitled to any part of the proceeds of the ferry or to levy any toll therefor. And if the rent on re-letting the ferry fall short of the amount at which it was leased to me, and the Government thereby incur loss, I shall be held responsible for such difference or loss, the amount of which may be deducted from my deposit. If the deposit does not cover the loss incurred, the rent due from me, and the amount of tolls refunded by the Magistrate under Rule 21 of the rules under section 15 of the Act, the total amount which is deficient shall be recoverable in the manner set forth in section 12 of the Act.

10. I will not assign, sublet or part with the possession of the ferry without the previous consent, in writing, of the Magistrate.

11. I shall not claim any compensation on account of roads being closed for repairs or on account of inundations, or the breaking down of bridges.

12. I shall not be entitled to resign or surrender my lease without the previous permission in writing of the magistrate, and if I resign or surrender my lease without such permission, I shall remain liable for the rent of the whole period of my lease, and my deposit shall also be liable to be forfeited.

NOTIFICATION.

The 12th May 1888.—The following rules, framed by the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division, under section 22 of the Bengal Ferries Act I (B.C.) of 1885 for the management of private ferries in the district of Singbhoom, have been accepted by the Lieutenant-Governor, and are published for general information.

COLMAN MACAUAY,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RULES UNDER SECTION 22, ACT I (B.C.) OF 1885, FOR THE DISTRICT OF SINGBHOOM.

Rule 1.—All private ferries shall be registered in the office of the Magistrate of the district in which they are situated, and the particulars under the following heads shall be entered in the application for registration :—

- (a) Name of the ferry and names of the villages and thannah in which, and the river across which, it is situated, and its distance from the nearest public ferry if there be one on the same river.
- (b) The number and description of the boats to be maintained, and the strength of the crew to be employed on each.
- (c) The maximum number of passengers, animals, vehicles and bulk or weight of goods to be carried by each boat.
- (d) The periods or season during which the ferry is to be plied every year.

Rule 2.—Before a private ferry is registered, the Magistrate shall satisfy himself that the statements contained in the application are correct, and are not in their nature objectionable. If any of the particulars entered in the application be found to be false, or if the Magistrate has reason to object to the terms proposed by the applicant in his application, he may require the applicant in writing to correct the statements or to modify the terms contained in the application according to his suggestions within a specified time, and if the applicant fails to comply with his orders within the time fixed by the Magistrate, may refuse to register the ferry on such terms as he may deem fit. The owner of a private ferry, the registration whereof has been refused by the Magistrate under this rule, shall have no right to maintain it or to allow it to be maintained. The reasons for the refusal shall be recorded by the Magistrate himself, and shall be subject to revision on appeal by the Commissioner.

Rule 3.—If the proprietor of any private ferry shall not apply, as required by Rule 1, for its registration within three months from the publication of these rules, the Magistrate of the district may serve upon him a written notice requiring him to furnish the particulars stated in Rule 1 within a stated period of not less than one month; and any proprietor on whom such a notice has been served in respect of any ferry shall not maintain the same, or allow it to be maintained, after the expiry of the period fixed in such notice, unless the particulars required by Rule 1 shall have been furnished to the Magistrate as ordered and the Magistrate shall have been satisfied as to the accuracy and reasonableness of the statements and terms contained in the application in the manner provided by Rule 2.

Rule 4.—The proprietor of every private ferry shall be bound to adhere to the terms of his application, or of any statement furnished by him under Rule 3, and if such terms or statements be modified or revised under Rule 2, then to such modified and revised terms and statements, and shall not reduce the number of boats or crews to be maintained by him, or allow any of his boats to carry an excess number of passengers, animals, vehicles or weight or bulk of goods.

Rule 5.—The proprietor shall mark on each boat the number of passengers, animals and vehicles, and the bulk and weight of other things it is authorized to carry at a single trip.

Rule 6.—The ferry shall ordinarily ply between sunrise and sunset, but the proprietor may also ply the boats after sunset, provided each boat carries a light, which must be exhibited in a conspicuous part of the boat.

Rule 7.—The ferry shall not ply when the current, wind, or state of the weather is such as to render the crossing unsafe, or to endanger the lives of the passengers.

Rule 8.—The Magistrate may direct that any boat used in any private ferry may be examined by such officer as he may depute, and may prohibit the use of such boat if he is satisfied that it is of such a kind, or in such a condition, that its use is dangerous to life or property.

Rule 9.—The owner of every private ferry shall report without delay, at the police-station within whose jurisdiction the ferry is situated, the occurrence of any accident at the ferry resulting in serious injury or in loss of life.

Rule 10.—The Magistrate may require the owner of any private ferry to state the name of any person to whom such ferry may be leased, or who may be placed in charge of such ferry.

Rule 11.—The person in charge of a private ferry, and all persons employed in working a private ferry-boat, shall be responsible that such boat shall not be overladen; and every person having been directed not to enter a fully-laden boat, or not to load animals and goods in it, shall be bound to obey such direction.

Rule 12.—The Magistrate of the district may delegate his duties and powers under these rules to Sub-divisional Magistrates or any subordinate Magistrate of the headquarters sub-division, and may authorize them to entertain petitions.

NOTIFICATION.

The 12th May 1888.—The following rules, framed by the Deputy Commissioner of Manbhoom, with the approval of the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division, under section 15 of the Bengal Ferries Act I (B.C.) of 1885, for the management of public ferries in the district of Manbhoom, have been accepted by the Lieutenant-Governor, and are published for general information.

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RULES UNDER SECTION 15, ACT I (B.C.) OF 1885, FOR THE DISTRICT OF MANBHOOM.

Rule 1.—In these rules the term “Magistrate” means Deputy Commissioner of Manbhoom, and includes any Magistrate subordinate to him and appointed by him in that behalf.

Rule 2.—Every public ferry in the district of Manbhoom shall either be held khas by the Magistrate or be leased by public auction.

Rules for the management of public ferries held khas.

Rule 3.—For every public ferry which is held khas, the Magistrate shall from time to time—

- (a) provide such boats, rest-houses, and other appliances as he shall think proper;
- (b) appoint a suitable person to superintend the plying of the ferry, provide and pay boatmen, receive the authorised tolls, and remit the same to the treasury;
- (c) fix, with the approval of the Commissioner, the tolls to be levied from persons using the ferry;
- (d) cause a schedule of such tolls, legibly written in the vernacular, to be fixed up on both landing-places;
- (e) determine the maximum number of passengers, animals, carts, vehicles, and goods which each ferry-boat shall carry;
- (f) determine the hours within which the boats shall ply, and the minimum number of journeys to be made every day;
- (g) provide for the prompt conveyance of the mails at all times across the ferry.

Rule 4.—Any person may compound for tolls payable for the use of the ferry; and if the ferry should be closed before the expiry of the period for which such person has compounded for tolls payable for its use, he shall be entitled to a refund, the amount of which shall bear the same proportion to the whole sum paid by him as the period remaining bears to the whole period for which he compounded. Such refund shall be made under the orders of the Magistrate.

Rules for leasing out ferries.

Rule 5.—When it has been determined to lease the tolls of any public ferry by auction under section 9 of Act I (B.C.) of 1885, the Magistrate shall, at least 15 days before the auction is held, cause an advertisement of such auction to be published, both in English and in the vernacular, in such place and in such manner as to him shall seem expedient.

Rule 6.—The advertisement shall specify—

- (a) the time and place of the sale;
- (b) the period for which the ferry is to be leased, and the approximate dates between which the lessee shall be bound to ply the ferry every year;
- (c) the number and description of the boats to be maintained, the strength of the crew to be employed on each, and the maximum number of passengers, animals, vehicles, and the bulk or weight of goods each is authorized to carry;
- (d) the liability or otherwise of the lessee to provide the boats and to keep them in repair;
- (e) the liability or otherwise of the lessee to provide and keep in order the rest-houses or travellers' sheds, if any, at either or both landing-places;
- (f) the rate of tolls to be levied;
- (g) the persons and things to be ferried over free of toll as provided in Rule 14;
- (h) the instalments in which the rent for the ferry is to be paid; and
- (i) such other particulars as the Magistrate shall consider necessary.

Rule 7.—A copy of the advertisement, and of the Rules and the Form of Agreement required to be executed under section 9 of the Act, shall be posted up in a conspicuous place in the Magistrate's office, and shall be duly notified on the day of the auction.

Rule 8.—On the day of the auction, the lessee to whom the ferry has been knocked down shall deposit one-fourth of the annual rent as security for the due fulfilment by him of the conditions of his lease. This deposit may, however, at the discretion of the Magistrate, be dispensed with in the case of small ferries in which boats or canoes are not provided by Government.

Rule 9.—In cases in which the ferry is leased for only a year, or part of a year, the lessee shall be held liable for the rent for the entire period the moment the ferry has been knocked down to him. In cases in which the ferry is leased for a number of years, the liability for each year's rent shall accrue from the first day of the year.

Rule 10.—The contract which the lessee will be required to execute under section 9 of the Act shall be in the form appended to these rules. If the lessee fails to execute the contract within 15 days of the sale, the Magistrate shall have power to relet the ferry, and the amount deposited by the lessee will be liable to be forfeited.

Rule 11.—As soon as possible after the contract has been executed by the lessee, the Magistrate shall furnish him, free of charge, with a copy of these rules, a list of the authorised tolls duly signed under section 19 of the Act, and two notice-boards having written on them legibly in the vernacular the schedule of tolls applicable to the ferry, the number of boats which the lessee is bound to keep plying, the number of men by whom each boat is to be manned, and the maximum number of passengers, &c., each boat is allowed to carry. The notice-boards shall be fixed by the lessee in a conspicuous place at both ends of the ferry and shall be kept by him in a proper condition. On the expiry of his lease, they shall be returned by him to the Magistrate.

Rules for the management of ferries leased by public auction, and for regulating their traffic.

Rule 12.—The lessee shall be bound to ferry over diligently, carefully, and with the least possible delay, all passengers, vehicles, animals and goods which may come to the ferry ghât to be ferried over.

Rule 13.—The rate of tolls to be levied shall be those fixed by the Magistrate, with the approval of the Commissioner, under section 18 of the Act.

Rule 14.—The lessee shall not charge or demand tolls for ferrying over—

- (a) Mails, mail carts, dâk-runners and Government telegraph messengers on duty.
- (b) Commissariat stores, animals and vehicles, when accompanied by a chalian from the Commissariat officer.
- (c) Military officers, soldiers, and their followers
- (d) Police and other public officers and process-
serving peons
- (e) Executive officers of the District Road Department when travelling on duty.
- (f) Coolies engaged in repairing roads, with their tools and instruments.
- (g) Persons carrying dead bodies or property sent in by the police.

Rule 15.—The lessee shall not charge or demand tolls from persons who wade or swim across, or take cattle or other animals or property across at their own cost and risk, or from persons who cross themselves or take other persons across without charge, in their own boats.

Rule 16.—The ferry shall ordinarily ply between sunrise and sunset; but the lessee may employ the boats in ferrying passengers across at any time after sunset, provided each boat so employed carries a light, which must be displayed in a conspicuous part of the boat.

Rule 17.—The Magistrate may, if necessary, fix the times for the crossing of the mails and dâk-runners, and may, as occasion arises, vary such times. He shall in all such cases give notice in writing to the lessee of the times at which the mails are to be ferried over, and it shall thereupon become the duty of the lessee to see that arrangements are specially made for the crossing of the mails immediately on their arrival at the ferry ghât, and that no delay is allowed to occur in their transit.

Rule 18.—The lessee shall provide proper rest-houses or travellers' sheds on the banks of the ferry as required by the Magistrate, and shall make all proper arrangements and provide all suitable accommodation on the ferry-boats for passenger and goods traffic.

Rule 19.—The lessee shall mark on each boat the number of passengers, animals and vehicles, and the bulk and weight of other things it is authorized to carry at a single trip.

Rule 20.—When any ferry which has been leased for a given period is discontinued under the orders of the Magistrate before the expiry of that period, the lessee shall be allowed a deduction in the rent payable for the unexpired portion of the term of the lease. If it be shown to the satisfaction of the Magistrate that the lessee has suffered any loss, consequent on the discontinuance of the ferry, the Magistrate may allow him such compensation as he thinks is deserved.

Rule 21.—In the event of the ferry being discontinued before the expiry of the lease, either by order of the Magistrate or otherwise, all persons who have compounded for the tolls for its use shall be entitled to receive a refund calculated as in Rule 4, and unless the claims of all such persons have been satisfied by the lessee, the Magistrate shall have authority to satisfy their claims out of the compensation payable to the lessee under Rule 20.

Rule 22.—The lessee shall, when required by the Magistrate to do so, but not otherwise, furnish all information in his power regarding suspicious persons or classes of persons who may have been, or may come to be, ferried over.

Rule 23.—The Magistrate may at any time require the lessee to repair or replace any boat which he considers to be in a dangerous state of disrepair, and the lessee shall thereupon be bound to repair or replace it as directed, within a time to be fixed by the Magistrate.

Rule 24.—Police officers will report at once any instance of mismanagement of a public ferry, the insecurity of the boats, landing-stages, slopes or approaches, and any other defect in the working of the ferry which may come to their notice.

Rule 25.—Notwithstanding anything contained in Rule 3, clause (f), the ferry-boats belonging to any public ferry shall not be plied when the current, wind or state of the weather is such as to render the crossing unsafe and endanger the lives of the passengers.

Rule 26.—A register in the following form, showing the demand and collection on account of rents payable for tolls of public ferries, shall be kept up by the Magistrate.

Receipts on account of ferry , ferried by , at an annual rent of Rs.

1. I, the lessee, have deposited with the intent that the Magistrate shall hold the same until the determination of the lease, as partial security for the due performance by me of the stipulations herein contained, and for the observance by me of the provisions of the Bengal Ferries Act I (B.C.) of 1885, and the rules framed under it, and may deduct therefrom any rent which may become due or penalties which may be awarded under sections 23, 24, and 25 of the said Act.

2. I, the lessee, do hereby acknowledge to have received a copy of the rules under section 15 of the Act aforesaid, and to be aware of the provisions of section 10 of the Act, under which I am legally bound to conform to them. I also acknowledge to have received a list of the tolls to be levied at the ferry.

3. The lease to me is to be for _____, namely, from the _____ to the _____, and during this period I shall be bound to ply the ferry from the _____ to the _____ every year.

4. I hereby agree—

- (a) (to provide boats for the ferry and) to keep the boats (provided by the Magistrate for the ferry) in proper repair;
- (b) to employ a crew of _____ men on each boat;
- (c) to make at least _____ crossings every day; and
- (d) to (provide and) keep in order the travellers' sheds on both banks of the river.

5. I shall not charge or demand tolls for ferrying over—

- (a) Mails, mail-carts, dāk-runners and Government telegraph messengers on duty.
- (b) Commissariat stores, animals and vehicles, when accompanied by a challan from the Commissariat officer.
- (c) Military officers, soldiers and their followers

But if at any time before the expiry of the period for which the ferry has been leased to me, I be removed therefrom for any breach of the terms and conditions of the lease, or for any wilful breach of any of the rules under section 15 of the Act, I shall be liable to pay rent up to and including the instalment due next after my removal.

8. If the rates of toll are reduced during the currency of my lease, or the exemptions from the payment of it are extended, this agreement is to be modified accordingly. I shall be given a fair opportunity of satisfying the Magistrate as to the effect of the change, and if the terms proposed by him thereafter are not such as I can reasonably accept, I will, according to the law, immediately carry into effect the order reducing the rates of toll, or extending the exemption from payment of it, but will at the same time state the amount of rent I may be willing to pay under the altered circumstances of the case. Should my offer appear to the Magistrate to be inadequate, it shall be competent to him to remove me and place another person in charge of the ferry, and for such time as I remain in charge of the ferry, after the issue of the order reducing the rates of tolls, or extending the exemption from payment of it, I shall pay rent only at the rate tendered by me.

9. If I make default in the payment of the rent for the ferry, or of any penalty which may be lawfully imposed, or if I do not observe and perform the covenants herein contained, it shall be lawful for the Magistrate to remove me from the charge of the ferry, and to settle the same with some other person. After such removal I shall not be entitled to any part of the proceeds of the ferry, or to levy any toll therefor. And if the rent on re-letting the ferry fall short of the amount at which it was leased to me, and the Government thereby incur loss, I shall be held responsible for such difference or loss, the amount of which may be deducted from my deposit. If the deposit does not cover the loss incurred, the rent due from me, and the amount of tolls refunded by the Magistrate under Rule 21 of the rules under section 15 of the Act, the total amount which is deficient shall be recoverable in the manner set forth in section 12 of the Act.

10. I will not assign, sublet or part with the possession of the ferry without the previous consent in writing of the Magistrate.

11. I shall not claim any compensation on account of roads being closed for repairs, or on account of inundations or the breaking down of bridges.

12. I shall not be entitled to resign or surrender my lease without the previous permission in writing of the Magistrate, and if I resign or surrender my lease without such permission, I shall remain liable for the rent of the whole period of my lease, and my deposit shall also be liable to be forfeited.

NOTIFICATION.

The 12th May 1888.—The following rules, framed by the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division, under section 22 of the Bengal Ferries Act I (B.C.) of 1845 for the management of private ferries in the district of Manbhoom, have been accepted by the Lieutenant-Governor, and are published for general information.

COLMAN MACAULAY,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RULES UNDER SECTION 22, ACT I (B.C.) OF 1885, FOR THE DISTRICT OF MANBHOOM.

Rule 1.—All private ferries shall be registered in the office of the Magistrate of the district in which they are situated, and particulars under the following heads shall be entered in the application for registration :—

- (a). Name of the ferry and names of the villages and thannah in which, and the river across which, it is situated, and its distance from the nearest public ferry if there be one on the same river.
- (b). The number and description of the boats to be maintained, and the strength of the crew to be employed on each.
- (c). The maximum number of passengers, animals, vehicles, and bulk or weight of goods to be carried by each boat.
- (d). The periods or season during which the ferry is to be plied every year.

Rule 2.—Before a private ferry is registered, the Magistrate shall satisfy himself that the statements contained in the application are correct, and are not in their nature objectionable. If any of the particulars entered in the application be found to be false, or if the Magistrate has reason to object to the terms proposed by the applicant in his application, he may require the applicant in writing to correct the statements or to modify the terms contained in the application according to his suggestions within a specified time, and if the applicant fails to comply with his orders within the time fixed, the Magistrate may refuse to register the ferry on such terms as he may deem fit. The owner of a private ferry, the registration whereof has been refused by the Magistrate under this rule, shall have no right to maintain it or to allow it to be maintained. The reasons for the refusal shall be recorded by the Magistrate himself, and shall be subject to revision on appeal by the Commissioner.

Rule 3.—If the proprietor of any private ferry shall not apply, as required by Rule 1, for its registration within three months from the publication of these rules, the Magistrate of the district may serve upon him a written notice requiring him to furnish the particulars stated in Rule 1 within a stated period of not less than one month; and any proprietor on whom such a notice has been served in respect of any ferry shall not maintain the same, or allow it to be maintained, after the expiry of the period fixed in such notice, unless the particulars required by Rule 1 shall have been furnished to the Magistrate as ordered, and the Magistrate shall have been satisfied as to the accuracy and reasonableness of the statements and terms contained in the application in the manner provided by Rule 2.

Rule 4.—The proprietor of every private ferry shall be bound to adhere to the terms of his application, or of any statement furnished by him under Rule 3, and, if such terms or statements be modified or revised under Rule 2, then to such modified and revised terms and statements, and shall not reduce the number of boats or crews to be maintained by him, or allow any of his boats to carry an excess number of passengers, animals, vehicles or weight or bulk of goods.

Rule 5.—The proprietor shall mark on each boat the number of passengers, animals and vehicles, and the bulk and weight of other things it is authorised to carry at a single trip.

Rule 6.—The ferry shall ordinarily ply between sunrise and sunset, but the proprietor may ply the boats after sunset, provided each boat carries a light, which must be exhibited in a conspicuous part of the boat.

Rule 7.—The ferry shall not ply when the current, wind, or state of the weather is such as to render the crossing unsafe, or to endanger the lives of the passengers.

Rule 8.—The Magistrate may direct that any boat used in any private ferry may be examined by such officer as he may depute, and may prohibit the use of such boat if he is satisfied that it is of such a kind, or in such a condition, that its use is dangerous to life or property.

Rule 9.—The owner of every private ferry shall report without delay, at the police-station within whose jurisdiction the ferry is situated, the occurrence of any accident at the ferry resulting in serious injury or in loss of life.

Rule 10.—The Magistrate may require the owner of any private ferry to state the name of any person to whom such ferry may be leased, or who may be placed in charge of such ferry.

Rule 11.—The person in charge of a private ferry, and all persons employed in working a private ferry-boat, shall be responsible that such boat shall not be overladen; and every person having been directed not to enter a fully-laden boat, or not to load animals and goods in it, shall be bound to obey such direction.

Rule 12.—The Magistrate of the district may delegate his duties and powers under these rules to Sub-divisional Magistrates or any subordinate Magistrate of the head-quarters sub-division, and may authorize them to entertain petitions.

NOTIFICATION.

The 14th May 1888.—The following rules, framed by the Magistrate of Maldah with the approval of the Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division, under section 15 of the Bengal Ferries Act I (B.C.) of 1885, for the management of public ferries in the District of Maldah, have been accepted by the Lieutenant-Governor, and are published for general information.

COLMAN MACAULAY,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RULES UNDER SECTION 15, ACT I (B.C.) OF 1885, FRAMED BY THE DISTRICT MAGISTRATE OF MALDAH.

Rule 1.—In these rules the term “Magistrate” includes—

- (a) the District Magistrate of Maldah and any Magistrate subordinate to him and appointed by him in that behalf;
- (b) the District Board of Maldah in respect of any public ferry the management of which has been vested in it under section 35 of Act I (B.C.) of 1885; and any Local Board in the district of Maldah when legally vested with powers in respect of any public ferry by the District Board of Maldah.

Rule 2.—Every public ferry in the district of Maldah shall either be held khas by the Magistrate, or be leased by public auction.

Rules for the management of public ferries held khas.

Rule 3.—For every public ferry which is held khas, the Magistrate shall from time to time—

- (a) provide such boats, landing-stages, rest-houses, and other appliances as he shall think proper;
- (b) appoint a suitable person to superintend the plying of the ferry, provide and pay boatmen, receive the authorised tolls, and remit the same to the treasury;
- (c) fix, with the approval of the Commissioner, the tolls to be levied from persons using the ferry;
- (d) cause a schedule of such tolls, legibly written in the vernacular, to be fixed up on both landing-stages;
- (e) determine the maximum number of passengers, animals, carts, vehicles, and goods which each ferry-boat shall carry, and cause a notice to this effect to be affixed to each boat;
- (f) determine the hours within which the boats shall ply, and the minimum number of journeys to be made every day;
- (g) provide for the prompt conveyance of the mails at all times across the ferry.

Rule 4.—Any person may compound for tolls payable for the use of the ferry; and if the ferry should be closed before the expiry of the period for which such person has compounded for tolls payable for its use, he shall be entitled to a refund, the amount of which shall bear the same proportion to the whole sum paid by him as the period remaining bears to the whole period for which he compounded. Such refund shall be made under the orders of the Magistrate.

Rules for leasing out ferries.

Rule 5.—When it has been determined to lease the tolls of any public ferry by auction, under section 9 of Act I (B.C.) of 1885, the Magistrate shall, at least 15 days before the auction is held, cause an advertisement of such auction to be published, both in English and in the vernacular, in such place and in such manner as to him shall seem expedient.

Rule 6.—The advertisement shall specify—

- (a) the time and place of the sale;
- (b) the period for which the ferry is to be leased, and the dates between which the lessee shall be bound to ply the ferry every year;
- (c) the number and description of the boats to be maintained, the strength of the crew to be employed on each, and the maximum number of passengers, animals, vehicles, and the bulk or weight of goods each is authorised to carry;
- (d) the liability or otherwise of the lessee to provide the boats, and to keep them in repair;
- (e) the liability or otherwise of the lessee to provide and keep in order the landing-stages, and the rest-houses or travellers' sheds, if any, at either or both termini of the crossing;
- (f) the minimum number of crossings to be made daily at any particular season of the year;
- (g) the rate of tolls to be levied;
- (h) the persons and things to be ferried over free of toll as provided in Rule 14;
- (i) the instalments in which the rent for the ferry is to be paid; and
- (j) such other particulars as the Magistrate shall consider necessary.

5. I shall not charge or demand tolls for ferrying over—

- (a) Mails, mail-carts, dāk-runners and Government telegraph messengers on duty.
- (b) Commissariat stores, animals and vehicles, when accompanied by a challan from the Commissariat officer.
- (c) Military officers, soldiers, and their followers
- (d) Police and other public officers and processserving peons { when travelling on duty with their bond fide baggage, horses, palkies or other conveyances.
- (e) Executive officers of the District Road Department when travelling on duty.
- (f) Coolies engaged in repairing roads, with their tools and instruments.
- (g) Persons carrying dead bodies or property sent in by the police.

6. I shall not charge or demand tolls from persons who wade or swim across, or take cattle or other animals or property across at their own cost and risk, or from persons who cross themselves, or take other persons across without charge, in their own boats.

7. I hereby agree to pay the rent in the following instalments:—

Date.

	Rs. A. P.
1st
2nd

[Any number of instalments may be entered, at the Magistrate's option, not exceeding twelve a year.] But if at any time before the expiry of the period for which the ferry has been leased to me, I be removed therefrom for any breach of the terms and conditions of the lease, or for any wilful breach of any of the rules under section 15 of the Act, I shall be liable to pay rent up to and including the instalment due next after my removal. Provided that, if after my removal the ferry is leased to another person, or managed in any other way, and if thereupon any sum less than the amount originally due from me for the whole year shall have been recovered by the end of the year, I shall be liable for the difference between the amount originally due from me and the total amount recovered by the end of the year.

8. If the rates of toll are reduced during the currency of my lease, or the exemptions from the payment of it are extended, this agreement is to be modified accordingly. I shall be given a fair opportunity of satisfying the Magistrate as to the effect of the change, and if the terms proposed by him thereafter are not such as I can reasonably accept, I will, according to the law, immediately carry into effect the order reducing the rates of toll, or extending the exemption from payment of it, but will at the same time state the amount of rent I may be willing to pay under the altered circumstances of the case. Should my offer appear to the Magistrate to be inadequate, it shall be competent to him to remove me and place another person in charge of the ferry, and for such time as I remain in charge of the ferry after the issue of the order reducing the rates of tolls, or extending the exemption from payment of it, I shall pay rent only at the rate tendered by me.

9. If I make default in the payment of the rent for the ferry, or of any penalty which may be lawfully imposed, or if I do not observe and perform the covenants herein contained, it shall be lawful for the Magistrate to remove me from the charge of the ferry, and to settle the same with some other person. After such removal, I shall not be entitled to any part of the proceeds of the ferry or to levy any toll therefor. And if the rent on reletting the ferry fall short of the amount at which it was leased to me, and the Government thereby incur loss, I shall be held responsible for such difference or loss, the amount of which may be deducted from my deposit. If the deposit does not cover the loss incurred, the rent due from me, and the amount of tolls refunded by the Magistrate under Rule 21 of the rules under section 15 of the Act, the total amount which is deficient shall be recoverable in the manner set forth in section 12 of the Act.

10. I will not assign, sublet or part with the possession of the ferry without the previous consent, in writing, of the Magistrate.

11. I shall not claim any compensation on account of roads being closed for repairs, or being in bad order, or on account of inundations, or the breaking down of bridges, or the lowness of the river.

NOTIFICATION.

The 9th May 1888.—It is hereby notified that, in the exercise of the power conferred on him by section 35 of the Bengal Ferries Act I (B. C.) of 1855, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to direct that the new ferry established at Mudpoint across the Channel Creek between Dhooskhaly on the mainland and Nochuamari in Saugor Island, in the district of the 24-Pergunnahs, shall be managed by the District Board of the 24-Pergunnahs, and that all the proceeds of the ferry, and all the fines levied and compensation received under the said Act in respect thereof, shall be paid into the District Fund.

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 12th May 1888.—It is hereby notified for general information that, in exercise of the power vested in the Local Government by section 139, clause 2 of Act III (B.C.) of 1885, the Lieutenant-Governor confirms the bye-laws set forth below, which have been framed by the District Board of Monghyr under clause 1 of the said section.

COLMAN MACAULAY,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

BYE-LAWS.

1. No person shall damage or encroach on any part of a district road, its slopes or side ditches, by taking earth therefrom, cultivating crops, placing a fence or other obstruction thereon, or by constructing bunds for the reserving of water so as to abut thereon.
2. No person shall obstruct the drainage of any road by throwing rubbish, house refuse or sweepings into the side drains or by permitting any filth or refuse to flow therein.
3. No person shall cut or scrape grass from the slopes or side ditches of any district road or tether cattle in such a manner that they can stray upon such road or on the slopes or side ditches of any such road.
4. No person shall without the special permission of the Chairman or Vice-Chairman of the District Board cut any part of a district or branch road for irrigation or other purposes.
5. No person shall destroy, damage or remove any tree or any fence erected for the protection of any tree or any post or fence whatsoever on any district road.
6. No person shall commit a nuisance on any road or on the slopes or side ditches of any road.
7. No person shall deposit or stack material of any kind on any portion of the crest or slope of a road so as to obstruct the traffic of the road or cause inconvenience to the public or injury to the road or waterways.
8. No person shall allow any elephant in his charge to pass over any road-bridge unless the same be of arched masonry.
9. No person shall obstruct a road by allowing any cart or cattle in his charge to remain stationary thereon without reasonable cause or for more than a reasonable time.
10. No elephant or camel shall be allowed to remain upon the road, but shall be at once removed therefrom by person in charge of it upon the approach of any person riding or driving a horse, and before such person has come to within 100 yards of such elephant or camel.
11. No person shall be allowed to graze cattle on the road or slopes.
12. No person shall be allowed to foul wells under the District Board.
13. Any person infringing any of the above bye-laws shall, for every such offence, be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 50, and in the case of continuing offence to a fine of Rs. 5 for each day during which such offence is continued.

Rule 7.—A copy of the advertisement, and of the Rules and the Form of agreement required to be executed under section 9 of the Act, shall be posted up in a conspicuous place in the Magistrate's office, and shall be duly notified on the day of the auction.

Rule 8.—On the day of the auction the lessee, to whom the ferry has been knocked down, shall deposit twenty-five per cent. of the yearly rent as security for the due fulfilment by him of the conditions of his lease. This deposit may, however, at the discretion of the Magistrate, be dispensed with in the case of small ferries in which boats or canoes are not provided by Government.

Rule 9.—In cases in which the ferry is leased for only a year, or part of a year, the lessee shall be held liable for the rent for the entire period the moment the ferry has been knocked down to him. In cases in which the ferry is leased for a number of years, the liability for each year's rent shall accrue from the first day of the year.

Rule 10.—The contract which the lessee will be required to execute under section 9 of the Act shall be in the form appended to these rules.

Rule 11.—As soon as possible after the contract has been executed by the lessee, the Magistrate shall furnish him, free of charge, with a copy of these rules, a list of the authorised tolls duly signed under section 19 of the Act, and two notice-boards having written on them legibly in the vernacular the schedule of tolls applicable to the ferry, the number of boats which the lessee is bound to keep plying, the number of men by whom each boat is to be manned, and the maximum number of passengers, &c., each boat is allowed to carry. The notice-boards shall be fixed by the lessee in a conspicuous place at both ends of the ferry, and shall be kept by him in a proper condition. On the expiry of his lease they shall be returned by him to the Magistrate.

Rules for the management of ferries leased by public auction and for regulating their traffic.

Rule 12.—The lessee shall be bound to ferry over diligently, carefully, and with the least possible delay, all passengers, vehicles, animals and goods which may come to the ferry ghât to be ferried over.

Rule 13.—The rate of tolls to be levied shall be those fixed by the Magistrate, with the approval of the Commissioner, under section 18 of the Act.

Rule 14.—The lessee shall not charge or demand tolls for ferrying over—

- (a) Mails, mail-carts, dâk-runners, and Government telegraph messengers on duty.
- (b) Commissariat stores, animals and vehicles, when accompanied by a challan from the Commissariat officer.
- (c) Military officers, soldiers, and their followers
- (d) Police and other public officers and process-serving peons
- (e) Executive officers of the District Road Department when travelling on duty.
- (f) Coolies engaged in repairing roads, with their tools and instruments.
- (g) Persons carrying dead bodies or property sent in by the police.

Rule 15.—The lessee shall not charge or demand tolls from persons who wade or swim across, or take cattle or other animals or property across at their own cost and risk, or from persons who cross themselves, or take other persons across without charge in their own boats.

Rule 16.—The ferry shall ordinarily ply between sunrise and sunset; but the lessee may employ the boats in ferrying passengers across at any time after sunset, provided each boat so employed carries a light, which must be displayed in a conspicuous part of the boat.

Rule 17.—The lessee and every person in charge of a public ferry, and every person acting under either of them, shall be bound to convey across the river mails and dâk runners directly they reach the bank. Previous notice shall so far as may be conveniently practicable, be given to the lessee by the Magistrate or by the Post Office Department, of the times at which the mails may be expected at the respective banks, and the Magistrate may fix the times for crossing the mails, and may vary such times. But no person shall be exempted from the obligation of this rule on the ground that such notice has not been given, or on the ground that any mail reaches the bank at a time other than the time notified.

Rule 18.—The lessee shall provide and keep in proper order, to the satisfaction of the Magistrate, the landing-stages on both sides of the ferry, and shall move them, when necessary, according to the rise and fall of the water. He shall also provide proper rest-houses or travellers' sheds on the banks of the ferry as required by the Magistrate, and shall make all proper arrangements and provide all suitable accommodation on the ferry-boats for passenger and goods traffic.

Rule 19.—The lessee shall mark on each boat the number of passengers, animals and vehicles, and the bulk and weight of other things it is authorised to carry at a single trip.

Rule 20.—When any ferry which has been leased for a given period is discontinued under the orders of the Magistrate before the expiry of that period, the lessee shall be allowed a deduction in the rent payable for the unexpired portion of the term of the lease. If it be shown to the satisfaction of the Magistrate that the lessee has suffered any loss, consequent on the discontinuance of the ferry, the Magistrate may allow him such compensation as he thinks is deserved.

Rule 21.—In the event of the ferry being discontinued before the expiry of the lease, either by order of the Magistrate or otherwise, all persons who have compounded for the tolls for its use shall be entitled to receive a refund calculated as in Rule 4, and unless the claims of all such persons have been satisfied by the lessee, the Magistrate shall have authority to satisfy the claims out of the deposit made by the lessee under Rule 8.

Rule 22.—The lessee shall, when required by the Magistrate to do so, but not otherwise, furnish all information in his power regarding suspicious persons or classes of persons who may have been, or may come to be, ferried over.

Rule 23.—The lessee shall be bound to furnish such returns of traffic as may from time to time be called for by the Magistrate, and for this purpose he shall keep up a register of traffic in the form to be prescribed by the Magistrate.

Rule 24.—If the lessee desires to establish communication across the ferry by means of a bridge of any kind, he shall first obtain the sanction, in writing, of the Magistrate, and shall, on obtaining such sanction, carry out any orders which the Magistrate may make regarding the opening of such bridge for the through passage of vessels and rafts. Such bridge shall on no account obstruct the free passage of the stream.

Rule 25.—The Magistrate may at any time require the lessee to repair or replace any boat which he considers to be in a dangerous state of disrepair, and the lessee shall thereupon be bound to repair or replace it as directed.

Rule 26.—Police officers will report at once any instances of mismanagement of a public ferry, the insecurity of the boats, landing-stages, slopes or approaches, and any other defect in the working of the ferry, which may come to their notice.

Rule 27.—The ferry-boats belonging to any public ferry shall not be plied when the current, wind, or state of the weather is such as to render the crossing unsafe and endanger the lives of the passengers.

Rule 28.—A register in the following form, showing the demand and collection on account of rents payable for tolls of public ferries, shall be kept up by the Magistrate:—

Receipts on account of ferry , ferried by , at an annual rent of Rs.

[Signature of officer holding sales.]

Serial number.	Details of payments.	Amount.	PAYMENT.				REMARKS.
			Amount.	Date.	Number of challan.	Initials of Magistrate or Vice-Chairman.	Initials of Treasury Officer.
		Rs.	Rs.

Rule 29.—A quarterly statement shall also be kept showing the demand, collection and arrears up to date on account of rents for public ferries.

Form of Agreement.

A. POWER, Collector.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned plots of Nalhati Railway land, no longer required by the Government, situated in the district of Moorsheadabad, will be put up to sale on the 31st May and 1st and 2nd June next, in Moorsheadabad Collector's Office.

The purchasers of the plots will be subject to the following conditions:—

1st.—The purchasers will have no power to make any excavation on the land nearer than 15 feet from the Railway fencing, or plough it closer than 3 feet from its foundation.

2nd.—If the amount of purchase-money does not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

3rd.—If the amount of purchase-money exceeds Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the 15th day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale to be cancelled, the sum deposited being forfeited to Government, and the estate to be again put up for sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement as in the case of original sale.

4th.—The plots will be sold revenue-free to the highest bidders.

5th.—The purchaser shall be put in possession on receipt of the orders of the Collector approving of the sales. But such possession shall be liable to be disturbed in case the final confirmation of the Board of Revenue should not be accorded to the proceedings.

NOTICE.

It is hereby notified, for general information, that subscriptions to the complete series of the Indian Law Reports should be registered during the first three months of each calendar year. Subscribers are therefore requested to send in their subscriptions for the complete series before the 31st March in each year. Those who register their names after that date will understand that copies will be supplied only if available.

H. A. D. PHILLIPS,

Under-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.
The 24th November 1886.

The following revised advertisement is published in substitution for that which appeared at page 1084, Part II of the Calcutta Gazette of the 9th July 1884:—

The Indian Law Reports,

Published under Authority.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st April 1888, the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876:—

Terms of subscription payable annually in advance.

For the complete series, including postage, Rs. 22-8.

HOWRAH BRIDGE ACT, IX OF 1871, AMENDMENT BILL.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend Act IX of 1871 (an Act for the construction of a bridge across the river Hooghly between Howrah and Calcutta).

He said:—In order to make the object of the motion perfectly clear to the Council, it will be desirable that I should, with their permission, refer briefly to the history of the discussions and proceedings connected with the construction and administration of the bridge. When the Act, which it is now proposed to amend, was before the Council in 1871, a great divergence of opinion was manifested as to the sources from which the revenue which was to provide for the maintenance of the bridge, the payment of interest on the loan from Government, the extinction of debt, and the creation of a Reserve Fund, should be derived. The original scheme of the Bill was that what I may call the basis of the revenue of the bridge was to be a terminal charge upon goods which enter or leave the Howrah Railway station by the East Indian Railway, whether they cross the bridge or not. The local tolls, that is the tolls on the persons and goods actually crossing the bridge, were to be a sort of supplementary source of revenue, which it was hoped would be ultimately abandoned. The mercantile community, the Port Commissioners, and their representatives in the Council, strongly dissented from this proposal. They urged that to make goods which did not use the bridge pay for it was wholly indefensible in principle, and that the proper people to pay for the bridge were those who made use of it. I need not enter into any details regarding the arguments used on both sides, because Sir George Campbell, who was then President of the Council, brought the question to a very plain issue. He pointed out that it was not a question between different sources of revenue for the bridge, but between accepting the terminal charges and doing without the bridge altogether, inasmuch as the Government of India had insisted on having collateral security for their loan before they would consent to give it. The principle of the levy of the terminal charges was accordingly adopted by a majority of the Council. Sir George Campbell, however, made a concession to the opposition which had been raised. He changed what I have called the basis of the revenue of the bridge, from the terminal charges to the local tolls. Accordingly, section 3 was made to prescribe the levy of local tolls, while section 4 made the levy of terminal charges discretionary, and in this form the Bill passed the Council. Since the bridge was constructed until recently the terminal charges have been levied, except that on coal which was remitted in 1877. Some two years ago, however, when it was seen that the period was at hand when, under section 22, it would be necessary to revise the revenue so as to bring it down to the actual expenditure to be incurred, several proposals were brought forward. The Port Commissioners, abandoning the view they had expressed in 1871, proposed the abolition of local tolls. The Agent of the East Indian Railway, who might have been expected to prefer the removal of the terminal charges, first supported this view, and reported to his Board in London, and they agreed with him, that the toll-bar by which the local tolls are collected is so great a source of vexation and irritation to the public, that he would wish to see these tolls abolished. At the same time he proposed that the terminal charge on wheat should be remitted. In this opinion the Port Commissioners concurred, and they proposed the abolition of both. These questions were referred for the opinion of various local bodies. The Howrah Municipal Commissioners were, of course, in favour of the abolition of the local tolls. The Trades' Association believed that people had become accustomed to the terminal charges, and considered that the local tolls should be abolished. The Calcutta Corporation would have the tolls maintained, and the proceeds equitably divided between the Municipalities of Calcutta and Howrah for purposes of improvement. The Chamber of Commerce maintained their opposition of 1871, and urged that the terminal charges should be abolished before the local tolls are interfered with. In view of these differences of opinion Sir Rivers Thompson decided to remit the terminal charge on wheat from 1st April 1887, leaving the other questions for settlement when the debt of the bridge should be actually extinguished. With this view His Honor, the present Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, recently appointed a representative Committee to consider the whole matter. Of that Committee my hon. friend, Mr. Reynolds, as Chairman of the Port Commissioners, was President; the Chamber of Commerce were represented by the hon. Mr. Steel, their Chairman, and the Trades' Association by their Master, Mr. Hallett; the East Indian Railway were represented by their Agent, Colonel Campbell, the Municipalities of Calcutta and Howrah by their Chairmen, and there were official members to represent the Government of Bengal and the Accounts Department. In view of the nature of the constitution of the Committee, and, as I will show, of their unanimity on the main question before them, I think the Council may safely adopt their recommendations, and recognise that the differences of opinion which had existed have been reconciled. The report of the Committee will be circulated to the Council. I may say that they were unanimous in recommending, first that the local tolls should be abolished, and secondly that some terminal charges should be retained. The terminal charges recommended for remission are those on rice and grain, pulses of all sorts, seeds of all sorts, and salt. This will represent a relief to trade of about Rs. 1,60,000 in addition to about Rs. 66,000, the amount of the charge already remitted on wheat. The retention of the charge on certain articles with the interest on the Reserve Fund, the rent of bridge lands, and the earnings of the tug steamer, will provide an income sufficient to cover the necessary expenditure. Then as regards the disposal of the surplus, the Committee, with the single dissentient voice of Colonel Campbell, proposed to make over two lakhs of rupees to the Calcutta Municipality to help it in making a road to lead from the bridge towards the Sealdah station. Should the Council accept these proposals, they will require the amendment of three sections of the Act. As I said, section 3 prescribes the levy of local tolls. The Lieutenant-Governor has power to regulate them, but he has no power of exemption. It will be necessary to give him this power of exemption. Then under section 4, though the Lieutenant-Governor can reduce the terminal charges on goods, or exempt goods altogether, he has no power to re-impose them. However remote may be the contingency of their re-imposition, I think it will be prudent for the Council to provide for such re-imposition should unforeseen circumstances require it. Finally, section 18 requires that any surplus must be devoted to the purposes of the Act, and the section must be amended to admit of the grant being made to the Calcutta Municipality. These are the provisions of the Bill which I ask the leave of the Council to introduce.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

CALCUTTA AND SUBURBAN MUNICIPALITIES AMALGAMATION BILL.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that the clauses of the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the municipal affairs of the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta, as further amended, be further considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that sections 252, 253, 254, 255, and 256 be omitted.

He said:—The Council has already provided by section 247 for notice and plans being submitted to the Commissioners before any hut can be built, and that and the following sections will, to all intents and purposes, be quite sufficient to regulate the building of huts in Calcutta, on land on which huts do not at present exist. If any piece of land is to be converted into a bustee, those two sections give ample power to regulate the erection of huts. No hut can be built without giving the information required by section 247, and therefore the powers given to the Commissioners are quite sufficient in regard to huts to be built hereafter. Sections 252 to 256 introduce a procedure which does not exist at present, and a procedure which is not suited to the requirements of the people, and there will be great difficulty in working it out by reason of the particular method adopted by the owners of land in letting it out. As I understand it, the owners of land let it out in small parcels to various individuals on a monthly rent, and each individual having taken the land he requires, applies to the Commissioners to build, and having got permission builds his hut. If the procedure was that the owner of the land himself built the huts, and let them out to tenants, there would be no difficulty. But that is never done in Calcutta. The huts are in most cases built by the tenants, and the landholder simply lets them the land in small parcels. That being so, the first difficulty to my mind is this: The landlord cannot foresee the requirements of the tenants, he cannot say whether his tenants will require smaller or larger parcels of land, and therefore it would be impossible for the owner to set apart particular sites for building on. This is a difficulty which I think it will be impossible to surmount. It is of no use to shut our eyes to the existing state of things, for when the landlord is called upon to submit a plan jointly with the adjoining bustee owner, he will say I do not propose to build upon the land; I cannot say what will be the requirements of my tenants, and therefore I cannot possibly select the sites. The objection to my mind seems a very strong one. And having already provided for the regulation of huts, if hereafter huts are allowed to be crowded together or built in irregular lines, the persons who will be responsible will be the Commissioners themselves. The Commissioners have ample power to prevent the irregular building of huts, and therefore, as far as the future is concerned, no difficulty will arise. As regards huts already existing, I submit that the provisions of sections 247 and 248 give ample power to deal with the existing state of things. If huts are crowded together in any bustee, the Commissioners will have power to order certain roads to be opened out and certain sanitary improvements to be made. Section 252 provides for the owners submitting a joint plan. It will be a matter for congratulation if the owners can be made to agree to anything of the kind. Generally their views are so diverse, that it will be very difficult for them to join in a common object. The section provides that if they do not agree, the Commissioners may prepare a standard plan. The Commissioners will no doubt try to prepare it in the best manner possible, but it is difficult to see how any plan prepared beforehand will meet the requirements of persons who may want to build huts for themselves. For instance, one cottah of land may be allotted as a building site, but the tenant may want three cottahs or five cottahs or even ten cottahs: he cannot get what he wants under this procedure. Under section 254 the owners may submit their objections to the plan prepared by the Commissioners, and so long as the standard plan is not completed no hut can be built upon the land. But under the preceding sections provision has already been made against the building of any hut without sanction; therefore sections 252 to 256 are wholly unnecessary. I therefore move the omission of these sections; their omission will not in any way cripple the powers of the Commissioners; they will remain the same, and as I have said before, if they are retained they will not work.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison said:—I must confess that I am a little disappointed at the criticism which has been directed against these sections, because, from the line of argument previously adopted by the hon. member, I should have thought that these were provisions which my hon. friend would have supported. When we were considering the building regulations he pointed out that we were punishing the innocent purchaser of a small plot of land, whereas we ought to have dealt with the vendor. In regard to section 247 again, he argued that we were putting difficulties in the way of poor people in regard to the building of their huts; that they would not be allowed to build their huts; that the fault really lay with the landlord, who let his land in small parcels. I then referred my hon. friend to section 252, when he said he would come to that afterwards; and now the way he comes to it is to condemn that which he before said ought to commend itself to us. The object of these sections is precisely that which he so forcibly pressed upon us the other day. He pressed us then to go to the right person, the fountain head, and this is what is now proposed to be done. Under the existing law we have to deal with isolated cases, the building of a hut here and a hut there. The only way of laying out a bustee on any proper system is to require the owner or owners to submit a plan, or if he fails to do so, the Municipality must do it for him. My hon. friend has spoken as if there is no necessity for these sections. Dr. Simpson has assured us several times that what we are doing in the way of running roads here and there in bustees is nothing in comparison to the advantage to be gained by having new bustees laid out on proper plans. The Superintendent of Roads, under whose jurisdiction the building of huts falls, says he cannot possibly remedy the evil of huts being built promiscuously here and there; applications come in one by one, and the applications must in each case be answered within 14 days. If hon. members will glance at the bustee plans laid on the table, they will see that that is emphatically the one requirement in the bustees of Calcutta, the laying out of the huts on a systematic plan. Huts may be erected far apart, or they may be so closely dovetailed that you may just be able to creep between them. Each tenant can erect his hut just where he pleases. The only person who is in a position to remedy this radical defect is the owner of the land, and if he fails to do so, the municipality must lay down a plan, after hearing any objections which the owner has to offer. And this is what is provided for. My own conviction is that there will be none of the practical difficulties which my hon. friend anticipates. No owner need divide his land in absolutely equal blocks of land. He will run one line of sites, say 50 feet wide, for the largest class of huts, another perhaps of 40 feet in width, a third of 30 feet, a fourth of 20 feet, and perhaps also one line of 10 feet wide for the poorest class of tenants. It is only as to the breadth of the blocks that there will be any difficulty, because there is nothing to prevent a tenant from taking any length of line he pleases. A man who wants to build a hut will select any of the widths of land he wishes, and he can get any length of it which he desires. As a test of the facility with which bustee lands can be laid out in this way, I have had some plans prepared in the office. I have taken one of the existing blocks of huts, and have sketched it out on the proposed system, and have then got a draftsman to take the existing huts and fit them in. We took a piece of ground in the Rajah Bagan bustee and fitted every single hut on it into its place on this plan, and if the huts could be taken up on the American system and put down as shown on this plan, they could every one be transplanted and arranged in this unobjectionable manner. I next took Nathur Bagan bustee and cut it up into similar blocks. Here the difficulties were great, and yet out of 60 huts now on the ground 52 of them have been placed in their proper positions on this arranged system, even after allowing for the difficulties of separate owners and of each plot belonging to one person. Nevertheless, 52 out of 60 huts now on the ground in the space we took have been fitted into their proper positions. There was still space left where at least eight huts more could be placed, but not the actual huts on the ground. This would be an inconvenience small in the extreme as compared with the object of these sections. The object is to have sufficient powers so as to arrange bustees according to a proper system. The power now existing is merely that of running roads through bustees, but nothing more, and although these roads admit of the scavenging of bustee, the object of laying out bustees in the manner proposed is to allow of proper ventilation. I maintain that the principle of these sections is certainly a very fair one. It is not unjust to the owner to say you must look after your property; you are not to give a cottah of land here and a cottah there and leave the tenant to deal with it as he likes; put a goalabaree here, a godown there, a shed for carts here, and a dwelling-house there: and you are not to be permitted to reply—I have nothing to do with that: all I want is my rent. What we say to the landlord is, you are bound to take so much forethought that the use to which your land is put is not to result in a sanitary evil, both to your tenants and to the neighbourhood. That is all we require the landlord to do. And I have not ventured to go further, because it is proper in a matter like this to proceed cautiously, although slowly. The first year will perhaps be taken up in calling for plans, hearing objections, and getting the machinery in order in three or four bustees. Then we can take up, say, 20 more and so on, and in the course of say six or seven years a considerable impression will be made. The progress will no doubt be very slow, because the sections, so far from being of a revolutionary character, will be found rather to be tortoise-like in their operation. I think it will be a pity if the Council thinks it right to omit these sections.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—I must admit that on this occasion my hon. friend has undertaken to meet the arguments which I have advanced. He seems to think that I am somewhat inconsistent in the position I have taken. He has been pleased to say that my arguments as regards the building regulations and as regards section 247 have considerable force, and yet he was the first to oppose them. What I complain of is that this is a round-about procedure. If it is desirable to legislate in a matter of this kind, making it compulsory on owners of land to look after their property, a single section would suffice, by providing that no one shall let out his land for the building of huts unless with the sanction of the Commissioners. If a section of that kind be introduced, landowners will realise their position and feel the responsibility imposed on them by law. My hon. friend is not prepared to go to that extent. But why should he not adopt the simplest procedure, instead of so cambrous a one to attain the object he has in view? Why should he not enact that no owner shall let out small parcels of land for the erection of huts without first obtaining the sanction of the Commissioners? I submit that there is no inconsistency in the position I have assumed. In the matter of the building regulations, I wanted to touch the man who sells the land, who derives the whole benefit, and not the innocent purchaser. But I failed. Then in the case of bustee lands, why introduce the system of joint plans and standard plans? Why not positively assert the principle that no one shall let out land for building huts unless he complies with a certain state of things? That will be the simplest way of dealing with the question.

The motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that, for section 257, the following be substituted:—

“When it appears to the Commissioners in meeting that any bustee is, by reason of the manner in which the huts are crowded together, or for any other reason, in an insanitary condition and that the procedure provided by sections two hundred and fifty-two to two hundred and fifty-six will be too dilatory for improving such bustee, they may cause it to be inspected by two medical officers, who shall make a report in writing on the sanitary condition of the said bustee; and shall specify, if necessary, in the said report, the huts which should be wholly or in part removed, the roads, drains and sewers which should be constructed, and the low lands which should be filled up with a view to the removal of the risk of disease. The huts which together form a bustee under this Part may belong to several owners. The existence of a masonry wall, privy, shed or house in a bustee shall not preclude the Commissioners from dealing with such bustee in any way authorised by this Act.”

He said:—The section which I propose is slightly different from section 257 of the Bill, and it provides, with a slight modification, all that is aimed at by that section.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—It seems to me that this section follows as a necessary consequence from the previous amendment being rejected. The section is adapted to the existing procedure. I was so sensitive of the fact of the slow and gradual working of the new system of standard plans that I thought it would not be wise to give up the more expeditious system we have at present, expeditious I mean as compared to the system of placing every hut in its proper place, which must be done gradually. I call the procedure under this section comparatively expeditious. The medical officers appointed to report upon a bustee are to prepare a standard plan, which would be carried out under the present procedure, and in all urgent cases this procedure will be adopted.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—After the explanation which the hon. member in charge of the Bill has given, I will withdraw this amendment.

The motion was, by leave, withdrawn.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER also, by leave, withdrew the following amendments, of which notice had been given:—

(1). That, for section 258, the following be substituted:—

“On receipt of the report of the medical officers, the Commissioners in meeting may cause a notice to be served upon the owners or occupiers of the hut, or, at the option of the Commissioners, the owner of the land on which such huts are built, requiring them to carry out and execute within a reasonable time to be fixed by the Commissioners for such purpose all or any of the works specified in the said report.”

(2). That section 262 be omitted.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that section 263 be omitted.

He said:—It seems to me that this section is not necessary, after having provided for the preparation of standard plans of the way in which bustees are to be improved, unless it be for the protection of the people themselves. But the provisions of this section really afford no protection. It provides that without the consent of the owners of the land not more than one-fifth of the area of a bustee shall be left for roads, and not more than two-thirds for open spaces. Under the section a tank is not to be included in this proportion. If this is intended as a power in the hands of the people of the bustee to insist on two-thirds of the land being left open, I submit that the power should not be given, especially when the fullest provision has been made as regards a standard plan, and more especially because the owners will have to pay rates in respect of this two-thirds of open land. In a subsequent section it is provided that where there are roads and so on, the owners of the property shall be considered as occupiers of such portions: therefore they will have to pay rates on the unoccupied lands. I submit that this section is not necessary; but if it is intended to operate as a protection to the owner, the section will have to be modified very considerably.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—As far as I represent the Executive of the Corporation, I shall not object to this section being omitted, its intention is to tie their hands: it imposes obligations, to some of which it will not be easy to conform. Whether my hon. friend can be taken to be the spokesman of the owners in this matter, I consider very doubtful. I do not think that a section of this kind can be omitted in the interests of bustee owners, as I think it affords them very considerable protection as regards the proportion of open lands. Obviously, two-thirds is the maximum; ordinarily, nothing like that proportion will be required. But there are some cases in which a considerable proportion of a bustee may consist of a tank with not a very large fringe of land round it; you must have a space of 30 feet from the tank to the huts and a space between two lines of huts, in such cases a considerable proportion must be unoccupied. At the same time if the Council thinks a maximum of two-thirds excessive, and that a less proportion will be a concession of value, I believe that a proportion of one-half may be fixed as a maximum without objection in 19 cases out of 20. It is only in one out of 20 cases that that proportion may prove embarrassing. We propose to apply the proportion of two-thirds to the case of each owner's land, not merely to the whole bustee. If the Council think the section is not wanted, as Chairman of the Corporation I may say there is no reason why it may not be omitted. But if the Council think it necessary for the protection of bustee owners, then if it would be a concession to them of any value to reduce the proportion of two-thirds to 50 per cent., I think the concession might well be made. The proportion of two-thirds will apply only to very exceptional cases.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—I quite understand that the proportion of two-thirds is the maximum, and to omit the section will rather be an injury than otherwise to the clients of the hon. mover of the amendment. On the other hand, the reduction of the maximum from two-thirds to one-half seems to me to be a substantial concession. If I may advise I would suggest that this concession be adopted.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—I have proceeded on the basis of the public memorial, which says: "Under section 263 owners will be required to set apart as much as two-thirds of bustee land for roads, &c., for purposes of bustee improvement. The section would really amount to confiscation of private property, and your Honour's memorialists beg to record their earnest protest against it." If the maximum is reduced to one-half it will satisfy nobody.

The motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON then moved that in section 263 the words "one-half" be substituted for two-thirds.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER by leave withdrew the motion, of which notice had been given, that section 265 be omitted.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that section 266 be omitted.

He said:—This is a novel provision altogether. If the owner wants to remove his bustee land from the character of bustee land, why should he not utilise the road which is his private property? Why should the consent of the Commissioners be needed when the owner wants to build on this portion of his bustee land when the character of a bustee has been removed from it? If another road is needed for the portion of the land which may still continue as a bustee, the Commissioners will have power to have such a road opened. It may be that a portion of the existing road will be the most convenient site for building, and why should the owner be precluded from doing so simply because it has been a portion of a bustee road? All that the Commissioners might do is to require the owner to find another outlet for the bustee. Probably that will be the way this provision will be worked, but that is not what is provided in the section.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said :—The hon. member has raised a fair point; at the same time I may say that the section has been drafted with full forethought, and I believe it embodies the right principle. Looking to the deliberation with which the standard plan of a bustee is to be prepared, with full opportunity to the owner to object, when a certain piece of land, it may be belonging to several owners, has been marked off as a portion of a bustee road by which access is to be obtained for conservancy carts, it seems to me very inconvenient that the whole arrangement of the bustee should be upset because the owner of the land chooses to convert the particular spot into a dwelling-house. He could at the beginning have objected and reserved this particular land for building purposes. The other owners have very likely carefully planned how they will arrange and align the bustee roads to fit in with this, but in consequence of the caprice of one owner, or of a partition or death, the whole arrangement will be liable to be upset. It does happen so now, and in several cases we have been obliged to leave a bustee untouched, because the owner has said that he intends to build a house upon the site which has been chosen as the only good site for a road. When a certain piece of land has been chosen after full deliberation and consideration as one of the ways for people in the bustee getting out, and for access to the bustee from without, as well as for the purpose of scavenging, under my hon. friend's amendment the owner of that particular ground may after a time throw the whole out of gear. I believe the section in the Bill gives the fairest and best solution of the difficulty. If the section is omitted, the effect will be to very seriously encumber dealings with the bustee, not only on the part of the Corporation, but very much also on the part of other owners in the same bustee. Those whose land is further in, will not be able to get proper means of egress and ingress. I therefore think it is proper to reserve this power to the Commissioners, and it should be remembered that the Commissioners in meeting will be the final arbitrators. If there is necessity for a road and if another road can be substituted, they will easily give their consent to the proposed substitution.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply :—By section 257 these roads remain the private property of the respective owners, and I fail to see how it is possible to impose by legislation an obligation on the owner not to utilise a particular plot of land for building, although he is at liberty to utilise the rest of his land for the purpose. If this section is omitted the Commissioners will still have power to require the opening out of proper roads, and this course will save interference with the rights of property for which there is, as far as I can see, no justification. It has been said that the standard plan will have been prepared with the fullest deliberation; but circumstances may be altered, and therefore what may have been done with the fullest deliberation at one time might operate with great hardship on a change of circumstances. If he is still the owner of the land, it is very hard lines not to be able to utilise his property in the way he thinks best, subject of course to the control of the Commissioners in respect of building regulations and so forth.

The motion being put to the vote the Council divided—

So the Motion was negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that section 267 be omitted.

He said:—This section declares that the owners of bustee lands shall be deemed to be the occupiers of the roads and common ground or open spaces in the bustee, and the effect of it will be that the owners will have to pay rates and taxes in respect of all the roads and open spaces left expressly for the benefit of their tenants, it may be to the extent of one-half of the whole of the land. The rates and taxes, I submit, ought to be properly apportioned between the parties concerned. The main thoroughfares may be said to be required for the purposes of conservancy as well; but all the other roads, as well as the open spaces, will be for the benefit of the hut owners, and it seems hard that the owners alone should pay the rates on account of them. As occupiers the owners will be subject to many of the incidents of this Bill. If rubbish is thrown on the land, they may be punished under section 301, which provides that if any dust, dirt, filth or refuse is thrown on any street or place in contravention of certain sections, it shall be presumed that the offence was committed by or with the sufferance of the occupier, unless the contrary be proved. That seems hard on persons who have let out their bustee lands and have very little to do with them. The conservancy of bustees is to be put into the hands of the Commissioners, and a special rate is to be levied on bustees so conserved, and therefore it seems to me that in addition to that the owners of the roads and open spaces in bustees should be considered as the occupiers of them, and should have to pay rates upon them.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—It seems curious that the hon. member seeks to provide a remedy for what he complains of by omitting this section altogether. It is necessary to have some rule as to who is to be considered in occupation of bustee lands not occupied by huts. It is a source of considerable difficulty. It seems desirable that there should be some fair and equitable arrangement, and this arrangement tries to be fair. The section refers to "common ground," not to "open spaces." Suppose there is a tank in a bustee, and a space of 30 feet round the margin of the tank must be left vacant. How can you say that any particular hut owner can be looked upon as the occupier of that vacant space? Where you have open spaces between the huts you can do so. The owners of the land are not in any way responsible for the open spaces between the lines of huts which are left as the backyards of those huts. As regards the private roads, how can you make anybody but the owner of the land responsible as occupier? They are open to the whole of the bustee. But as regards roads the point is not of much consequence. It is not often that roads get into such an insanitary condition as to require prosecutions. Moreover, the Council should bear in mind that I introduced the proviso to section 269, that no conservancy rate shall be levied on any remodelled bustee without the consent of the owners, contrary to Dr. Simpson's strong and urgent remonstrance, because I considered it to be just. When we have roads between the lines of huts and roads for conservancy carts, we ought to consider it sufficiently similar to an ordinary compound, and this rate ought not to be levied without the consent of the owner; and if you provide that the Commissioners will not be allowed to levy a special rate on a remodelled bustee, then you must define who is to be the person responsible for the conservancy of these open spaces. You must say that the zemindar is responsible for keeping the general drainage system of the bustee in order, and each hut owner for the portion of the drain which runs into his own premises; that the zemindar is responsible for keeping in order the "common ground," and the individual hut owners for the spaces before and behind their own huts, and the care of the common ground round a tank should go to the owner. It seems to me that some section of the kind is absolutely necessary, and I do not see that any better one has been suggested.

The motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER, by leave, withdrew the following motions which stood in his name:—(1) that, in line 14 of the first paragraph of section 268, the word "standard" be omitted; (2) that, in line 2 of the third paragraph of the same section, for the words "any standard" the word "such" be substituted; (3) that the fourth, fifth, and sixth paragraphs of the same section be omitted; (4) that, for the proviso of section 269, the following be substituted:—"Provided that, without the consent of the owners, no such rate shall be levied upon any bustee which has already been improved under the direction of the Commissioners."

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, at the end of section 270, the words "in such manner as a rate may be recovered" be inserted.

He said:—This section gives the Commissioners power to serve notices on the occupiers of a bustee, for the cleansing of which no special establishment is maintained, and which is in a filthy condition, to clean the same; and if the notices are not complied with within three days, they may clean the bustee and recover the cost from the occupiers. But the section does not say how the cost is to be recovered. Throughout the Bill costs incurred in default of work being done by owners or occupiers are made recoverable as a rate. If the words I propose are not inserted, it may be held that the only remedy is by suit. The insertion of these words are therefore necessary.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, at the end of section 277, the following be inserted:—

"For the purpose of efficiently draining any house or land under this section, the Commissioners may require any courtyard, alley or passage between two or more houses, to be paved with such materials and in such manner as may be approved of by them; and may require such paving to be kept in proper repair. They may also require the level of any such courtyard, alley or passage to be raised, if necessary, for the efficient drainage thereof."

He said:—This amendment is brought forward at the request both of the Engineer and the Health Officer, who point out that it is impossible in some cases satisfactorily to provide for the health of houses, if the courtyards are simply ponds; if they are not sufficiently paved to admit of the water running off. The power given is only discretionary; it will hardly be insisted on in the case of very poor people. In the case of the rich it is most usually done, but in the case of some houses where this ought to be done it is not, and the object of this amendment is to provide a remedy in such cases. It is a power which is closely allied to the subject of drainage.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said:—If my memory serves me rightly, a similar proposal was brought before the Town Council at the instance of the Health Officer. I did not see the list of business before this morning, and have not been able to trace the discussion, but if I recollect rightly very serious objections were raised to the proposal, and difficulties were pointed out which rendered further consideration necessary. It would have been advantageous if that discussion had been placed before this Council before they were asked to consider this amendment. My hon. friend has referred to the opinions of the Engineer and the Health Officer, and it would have been well if he had referred to the views of the Town Council also on this subject.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that, in section 286, the words "stables and cowhouses," and in line 2 of section 288, the words "stable or cowhouse" be omitted.

He said:—The introduction of these words in these sections is an innovation: they do not exist in the present Act. These sections do not refer to public stables and cowhouses, but to stables and cowhouses in private houses, and I do not see why the Commissioners should be allowed any control over them. People who keep one or two horses or cows for private use would be unnecessarily harassed. Is it really necessary to make legislative provision on account of these small matters, especially when the Commissioners have been given full control as to the construction of buildings? I submit that there is no necessity whatever for including stables and cowhouses in these sections, which are mainly intended to deal with privies and cess-pools.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—It is quite correct to say that this provision is not to be found in the existing law, and it was introduced because there has been difficulty in dealing with these matters. At present we have no control over stables and cowhouses attached to private dwellings. It is quite as likely that in some cases stables or cowhouses kept in a filthy condition will be as injurious to health as badly constructed privies or cess-pools. We can make the owner of a stable or cowhouse run a drain along it, but we cannot compel him to make the floor pucca. In one or two cases in which we have tried, we have found that we have exceeded our authority. If stables and cowhouses in which three or four animals are kept are not made pucca, by being laid with brick-on-edge, they cannot possibly be kept clean. Nearly all these powers are necessary for the security of the neighbours, and we have frequent complaints from the next door neighbours where stables are not properly paved and kept clean. The law should allow the Commissioners to require the floors of stables and cowhouses to be kept in proper condition. I think it a reasonable power, and I do not believe that it will lead to any serious hardship.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—My hon. friend forgets that there is in the Bill a chapter relating to nuisances which will enable the Commissioners to prosecute persons for keeping any portion of their premises in an unhealthy condition; therefore under that chapter persons who keep their stables or cowhouses in a filthy condition can be prosecuted. Is not that quite sufficient? Is it necessary that the Commissioners should also have a voice in the materials and dimensions of these places? The cases of privies and cess-pools and of stables and cowhouses seem to me entirely different. Why should the Commissioners have these powers in addition to the power of prosecution for a nuisance?

The motion being put the Council divided:—

So the Motion was negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that, in line 4 of section 287, for the words "six hours" the words "twenty-four hours" be substituted.

He said:—This section requires the occupier of any premises to clear obstructions to drains within six hours of notice. I think six hours is too short a time. The notice may be delivered at the house at 11 o'clock, and the occupier may not return from work till 7 o'clock. Workmen will have to be procured before the work can be done, and therefore I think 24 hours is a reasonable time.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—The penalty is absolutely nil, although it is a serious thing to allow a drain to be choked. We keep a special establishment for this purpose, and if notice is sent to the Overseer's office, the work will be done at once. The fee for clearing obstructions in drains used to be Rs. 2-8; but to facilitate such work the Commissioners reduced it to one rupee.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—My own experience is that the Commissioners themselves are not able to do this within 24 hours, and sometimes they take 48 hours, although they have the means to do it at hand; whereas a private person will have to get men to do it. I ask whether the health of the town will be in danger if the obstruction is not cleared in six hours.

The HON. SIR ALFRED CROFT stated that when he had occasion to call in the Commissioners, the obstruction was cleared in three hours.

The motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER, by leave, withdrew the motion in his name that in lines 5 and 6 of section 290, the words "twenty hours" be substituted for "one hour."

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, at the end of the second portion of section 290, the following be inserted:—

“And if any drain is choked, or if any other defect connected with the drain which requires to be forthwith remedied is brought to light by such inspection, the Commissioners shall then and there clear out the drain, or remedy the defect.”

He said:—This is the section under which the drains are periodically inspected. If anything is found wrong which requires to be forthwith remedied, the Commissioners ought to do it at once.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said:—One part of this provision is very objectionable. As far as a drain is concerned, there is not the slightest objection, but to deal with a stable or a cowhouse in this way would be very objectionable. Suppose the officer considers that the dimensions of the stable or cowhouse are not such as they ought to be, is he to pull it down at once? The defect may be in the construction of the cowhouse or stable.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON agreed to a verbal modification of the section to meet this objection; after which the motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that in line 5 of section 291 for the words “any offensive matter or sewage into any sewer” the words “permits any offensive matter or sewage to flow, or be put into any sewer” be substituted.

He said:—This is a verbal amendment. A person cannot be said to throw or put offensive matter or sewage into any sewer.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, in line 6 of section 292, for the words “filth or other offensive matter” the words “sewage or offensive matter” be substituted.

He said:—Just about this part of the Bill we adopted a suggestion made by the Hon. Mr. Macaulay, and defined “offensive matter” to mean dung, dirt, putrid or putrifying substances and filth of any kind not included in the term “sewage,” but this section contains the old wording which the definition of “offensive matter” is intended to supersede. This amendment is merely to substitute a properly defined word for the words previously existing.

The motion was put to the vote and carried, and so also were similar amendments moved by the Hon. Sir Henry Harrison in sections 300, 301, 308 and 344.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that, in line 6 of section 292, for the word “fifty” the word “thirty” be substituted.

He said:—In an earlier section we have provided that no hut shall be erected within 30 feet of a tank. Thirty feet is ample space, and will be sufficient protection against water being contaminated by any source. I therefore move that in the case of latrines, privies, urinals, &c., the same distance be prescribed.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—I do not think sanitary authorities will at all agree with the hon. member in this matter. Our present rule is 50 feet in case of a latrine, privy or urinal, and has always been so, and it is the same in the Suburbs also. I quite admit that the rule may often cause inconvenience to a hut-owner who often cannot get any place for his privy, but we always have power to make a special exemption. It will be a retrogressive measure to substitute 30 feet for 50, when the rule is 50 feet now both in Calcutta and the Suburbs.

The motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that section 301 be omitted.

He said:—This section enacts that when rubbish, offensive matter or sewage is thrown or placed on any street in contravention of the rules prescribed for that purpose, it shall be presumed that the offence has been committed by, or with the sufferance of, the occupier of such building or land, unless the contrary be proved. The Municipal Commissioners are not only to be invested with certain powers, but they are to have presumptions of law in their favour. This is a presumption of law. If my neighbour who perhaps is inimical to me chooses to place some rubbish on the street in front of my house, I am to be presumed to be guilty of having thrown the rubbish on the street, and I am required to prove a negative, contrary to all principles of English law.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—There is a great deal of force in this objection, and it has been taken by the Government of India, but they have not insisted on it. But still more forcible is the necessity for a section of this kind, without which the law will be inoperative. The difficulty occurs in this wise. Rubbish is thrown out of a window, nothing but a hand is to be seen, and it is impossible to find out who did the act, because the mere fact of the rubbish coming from a particular house will not be sufficient. In Bombay there was a long discussion on this point, and they have in the Bill a section just parallel to this. It is quite impossible otherwise to exercise any control over the throwing of rubbish on the streets contrary to rule. It is one of the greatest evils in Calcutta. In other towns the people are not allowed to throw rubbish on the streets; here every one is allowed to treat the streets as the common sewer, and any attempt to deprive the people of the right is strongly resented. In the northern portion of the town they are not satisfied with throwing out rubbish once a day; the Commissioners would not hear of any proposal to limit the right to the morning only. The Executive does not object so much if the hours for throwing rubbish are limited, because after that the streets can be kept clean; but in the front of a bazar, for instance, it is done all day. If in addition to allowing the practice both in the morning and in the afternoon, when a person does throw out rubbish after the fixed hours, we have no power to deal with it because our hands are tied—improvement is hopeless. The presumption is the same in the Bombay Bill, but here it must be proved that it was thrown from some building or land.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—My hon. friend has tried to introduce confusion into the argument by adverting to matters which do not concern us at all. At present the question of throwing rubbish on the streets is not before us. Power is given to the Commissioners to provide proper times and places for the throwing of rubbish, and after that has been done whoever throws or suffers rubbish to be thrown in contravention to such rules is under this section liable to a penalty. This section alters the existing law in many respects. It compels the occupier to prove a negative which is contrary to all principles of the English law of evidence: he must show that he has not done it. My hon. friend points out that it must be shown that it came from a particular house. That I submit is no protection, as that can easily be done by an ill-disposed neighbour, and the presumption is to be that it was done by, or with the sufferance of, the occupier. I submit that that is contrary to all principles of law.

His Honour the President.

So the Motion was negatived.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, in line 3 of section 302, the word "liquid" be omitted.

He said:—The expression used in this section is "offensive liquid matter," but "offensive matter" is so defined as to include liquids: therefore the word "liquid" should be omitted.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, at the end of section 307, the following be inserted:—

"And the Commissioners may cleanse the premises, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the occupier."

He said:—What is most desirable is that the premises shall be cleansed, and hitherto we have always acted on that principle, and the bill has been paid. In one case, however, payment was refused. We thought we should be able to recover the cost, but the Law Committee considered that we could not recover, as the provision of the existing Act did not authorise the doing of the work.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that, in clause 2 of section 315, the following words be omitted:—

“And until so paid the Commissioners may retain possession of the land or tank or the site of such tank, and utilise the same for public purposes.”

He said:—The effect of this amendment will be that the section will end at the words “and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.” In the course of my experience I have come across very many cases where owners have raised objections to the quantity and quality of the work and have refused to pay the bill, and in many cases the Commissioners have not thought fit to go to court to realise the cost, because it was considered that the issue would be a very doubtful one. They have all the powers it is possible to confer upon them for realising their dues, and in addition to that to propose that the property improved by them should be retained by them until the amount is paid is an innovation not warranted in law. In such matters the Commissioners should not be placed in any higher position than that of any other persons who are called upon to make improvements or to execute works. Only a particular class of persons is allowed to retain possession of property of a particular nature as security for charges payable to them. With that exception all persons have to recover their dues by suit before the ordinary tribunals. My hon. friend knows that there is considerable difficulty in realising the cost of such improvements owing to various objections raised from time to time, and in many cases the objection is that the work is not properly done or that the amount charged is excessive; and it would be a hardship, when the claim is disputed, for the Commissioners to keep possession of the property until the dispute is settled,—it may be in six months or in a year. The Commissioners are not to pay for the property, but they may hold it in possession till the amount they claim is paid. There is no provision for compensation if the demand is found to be inequitable. It is an innovation in the law for the Commissioners to keep possession of the property improved by them, and to retain possession until their bill is paid, without making compensation to the person whose property has been retained. There is such a thing as an usufruct mortgage, where the person who holds the property realises the income, and applies the income to the reduction of the debt. But here the debt remains the same, and there is no provision for damages. I submit, therefore, that there is no authority for the provision which it is the object of my amendment to omit.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—I quite admit that this is a clause which it is perfectly justifiable to criticise, but the reasons are sufficiently strong to justify the retention of this clause as perfectly equitable. At present we do a great deal of work in the way of tank-filling, and we shall have to do much more afterwards in the Suburbs. For the past seven or eight years the expenditure on this account has averaged Rs. 10,000 a year and our recoveries Rs. 5,000; therefore the general rate-payers have contributed one-half, the reason being that it is extremely difficult in many cases to recover the amount spent. One source of difficulty is that when the Bill is presented the owner pleads poverty, because the charge is considerable, but the enhancement in the value of the property far exceeds the cost. Then, in a very large number of cases, there are joint-owners; so no say they had no notice and were not called upon to do the work; in other cases the owner sells the tank, and the new owner says he is not liable. In other cases, again, we cannot find any moveable property to attach, and for these and other reasons we recover only about half. By this provision you put your finger precisely on the difficulty and remove it. We do not want to make any profit out of the land, but it will be exceedingly advantageous if we can retain it for a time. What ought to be done to make the improvement complete is not done. The site should be planted with grass or trees as far as possible to take away the evil effects of the matter with which it is filled up. All the Health Officers of the Corporation, from Dr. McLeod downwards, say that that ought to be done. Next you want to keep it as an open space; you do not want huts built upon it, which at present we have no power to prevent. If these sites are left in our hands for some time, the effect will be extremely good, and I can see nothing unjust in it. The costs we are in all cases entitled to obtain, and the owner will have the same opportunity of challenging the bill. The operation of the provision will be very beneficial. It will not only do away with a large number of excuses, but it will enable us to keep the sites for the benefit of the public as open sites for a much longer period than they are so kept at present. It is a power which will be put in the hands of a public body, because it will be used for the public advantage.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—My hon. friend has omitted to refer to the cases where the parties have challenged the Commissioners to sue for the recovery of the expenses incurred. In many cases exorbitant demands have been made, and when disputed no steps have been taken for recovery. These are not the cases of poor people, and therefore the cost could easily be recovered if fair and just. Why should the Commissioners be allowed to retain the property? I submit that the reasons assigned by my hon. friend have no bearing on the subject. One of those reasons is that huts may not be erected upon the site for a certain time. The Commissioners have ample power to prevent either huts or houses being built upon the site. Is there any justice or equity in allowing the Commissioners to retain possession of the property without paying for the use of it? Suppose the Court admitted the objection taken by the owner: in such a case, would not the retention of the property be an aggravated injury? A man who contracts to build a house for another person is not allowed to retain possession of it until he is paid for having built it. Here the Commissioners can recover by distress and sale. Why, therefore, should this additional power be given?

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—It is for the Council to say how far the hon. member in charge of the Bill has answered the objection which, I am bound to say, is a very powerful one, though he has shown conclusively that the course which the section proposes to adopt is a very convenient one for the Executive. To me, however, the provision appears so much opposed to our ordinary legal ideas of private rights that the Council would do well to consider the question carefully before accepting it. For my own part I shall vote against the retention of these words in the section.

The motion being put the Council divided:—

So the Motion was negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that section 319 be omitted.

He said:—This section authorises a Magistrate, on the application of the Commissioners, to declare any building to be unfit for human habitation and to prohibit its use as such. This is another unheard-of power, and may operate very prejudicially, especially in the case of the dwellings of joint-Hindu families. What is the owner to do with a building which has been condemned in this way? Why should not the Commissioners acquire it? The value of the property is gone. I challenge my hon. friend to show a house built within the last few years which is unfit for human habitation: houses built in the ante-Christian period might be condemned, but not those now built. The condemnation or otherwise of a house will depend very much upon the Magistrate before whom the case is brought. If he is a would-be sanitarian, he will most probably condemn it; but if the matter comes before a person who will judge on principles of common sense, the result will be different.

What inconvenience has been felt from the want of such a provision? Has a single case occurred within the experience of my hon. friend where he considers an order of this kind ought to have been obtained? I have been a Municipal Commissioner since the introduction of the elective system, and I have never yet heard of such a case having been brought to the notice of the Corporation. I submit therefore that there is no necessity for such a provision of law, and that there is no authority for it.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE said:—I support this amendment, as it is one of which I myself gave notice, and my reason is shortly this. We can understand that the law should interfere to prohibit one man from using his property in such a manner as to be injurious to his neighbours. But the right of interfering with a man's use of property to prevent his injuring, not anybody else, but himself is a right, the exercise of which should be restricted to the very narrowest limits. It is only in very extreme cases that such a power should be conferred, and I submit that no case has been made out for conferring on a Magistrate the power to prohibit a man from dwelling in his own house. It is true that the Health Officer of the Corporation may be a learned expert in the science of sanitation, and it may be true that its executive officers may be zealous in the cause of sanitation; yet we ought to credit ordinary men with some degree of common sense and a knowledge of their own interests; and in the great majority of cases they are better judges in that respect than the Municipal Commissioners or a Magistrate.

The HON. DR. MAHENDRA LAL SIRCAR said:—With all my love of sanitation I cannot allow this section to pass as it is without clear and definite rules being laid down in what respect a house may be considered to be unfit for human habitation. We may leave it to the discretion of the Commissioners and the judgment of a Magistrate, provided we lay down the conditions under which a house may be held to be unfit for habitation, but unless you do that you arm the Commissioners and the Magistrate with a power which might be exercised most arbitrarily to the great injury and annoyance of the occupiers of houses.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—I cannot admit that there is anything to commend this amendment to the Council. Although this power may be unknown in Calcutta, it has been exercised in Bombay for a long time without complaint, nor is there any proposal to give it up. It has been pointed out that we may credit ordinary men with a due sense of their own interests. But this power is not wanted to deal with ordinary cases, but with such cases as that in which somebody is trying to make somebody else live in a house which is unfit for human habitation, and it is a power which is necessary in the interests of the public. How can the power be exercised arbitrarily? The Commissioners do not claim the power for themselves. They ask to be permitted to bring evidence which will satisfy a Magistrate. First the Commissioners must put the law in motion, and then they must satisfy an independent tribunal. It is all very well to talk of the necessity of making progress in local self-government. It is an experiment which has been tried in Calcutta for the last twelve years, and if you wish to induce the Government to trust the Commissioners further, is not this exactly the sort of extension of power you ought to expect? This section gives the Executive on behalf of the Commissioners the power of action, but the Corporation has full control over the Executive; and yet those who want the principles of local self-government to be advanced protest against their being entrusted with this power. I say that this and some other provisions of the Bill conferring extended powers on the Commissioners are the necessary result of the experiment of local self-government having been tried and been found successful, and I cannot conceive any valid objection to a provision which is so safeguarded.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—I wholly fail to see what the principles of local self-government have to do with this discussion. My hon. friend says this is an extension of the privileges conferred upon the Corporation, and yet it is objected to. He of course looks at the matter from his own point of view, but from my point of view local self-government means a very different thing from placing a power of this kind in the hands of the Commissioners. The proper extension of the principles of local self-government would be to confer greater privileges on the rate-payers, and not to intervene larger powers between the Commissioners and the rate-payers. I absolutely fail to see how local self-government has anything to do with this question. I have asked my hon. friend to point out a single case where the necessity for such a power has been shewn, but he has not done so, and therefore I am justified in assuming that he is not in a position to do so. Then in the name of common sense I ask how is it possible that in the future any building will be erected which will be unfit for human habitation? If such a building is constructed in the future, the Executive of the Corporation will be responsible, for ample powers have been given to regulate the construction both of houses and huts. The only cases in regard to which it could have been possible to claim such a power are in respect of buildings already existing, and as no such case has ever been brought to notice, I am justified in saying that there can be no necessity for it in the future, unless the necessity should arise from the culpable negligence of the Commissioners.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE said:—The remarks of the hon. member in charge of the Bill go to show that he has a very bad case. In fact he gave up the case he had to support and tried to support a very different case. He says the power is wanted for extraordinary cases, for cases where the house is inhabited not by the owner, but by tenants. [His Honour the President—I did not understand the hon. member to say anything of the kind.] [The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison—I said that generally it would be applied to such cases.] I understood him to give that as an instance in which the power would be exercised. Then he brought in support of this provision the extension of the privileges of local self-government. But the section before the Council confers no privileges on the Corporation as a representative body. If the section conferred this power only on the Commissioners in meeting, then the hon. member's argument only would be pertinent. If that concession is made, it may take off a good deal of the objections to this section.

The motion being put the Council divided:—

His Honour the President.

So the Motion was negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that section 320 be omitted. He said:—In addition to the reasons which I have mentioned against the retention of section 319 of the Bill, an additional ground of objection against this section is the system which prevails here of all the members of a joint family living together. The Commissioners, for instance, may say that three persons only should reside in a particular house, when as a fact five persons are living in it; and that being so, I submit that this section ought to be struck out.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE said:—I shall support this amendment, and I have in fact given notice of a similar motion; and I ask permission to move also in connection with it that, in the event of this motion being lost, the words "let out" be substituted for the word "used" in line 3 of the first paragraph of the section. This I move as an alternative amendment.

I quite admit that this section has been inserted in the Bill for a very excellent object, but considering all things I feel bound emphatically to protest against the retention of this section in the Bill. As I submit, this interference by legislation with private rights of property is not only unnecessary and useless, but is positively mischievous. It will be observed that the scope of the section is not limited to the case of lodging-houses, or to cases where there is a conflict of interest, where it is the interest of the owner to let in as many tenants as he can whilst their interest lies in the opposite direction, and where legislative interference may be thought necessary as a check on improper overcrowding. The section equally applies to houses occupied by their owners. But in these cases I submit self interest is a sufficient protection. And if nevertheless houses occupied by their owners are found to be overcrowded, it is not because they do not know the disadvantages of overcrowding, but because they have not the means to avoid it. The section makes no provision for housing poor people who may be turned out of their houses under its operation. Is there any chapter of the Bill which enacts any workable system of poor law? When we cannot provide the real remedy, there is no good to interfere, because interference will only result in mischief, and people will be driven from bad to worse—from imperfect shelter to no shelter at all. Then there is another difficulty in the matter, even as regards those who are allowed to remain in the house after some inmates are turned out. Those who are Hindus will be placed under this disadvantage. Their law imposes on them the obligation of maintaining and providing accommodation for poor dependent members of the family, and the result will be that they will have to pay more for the maintenance and housing of those who have been turned out than when the whole of them were living together as a joint-family. Thus the little additional space which may be set free for the remaining inmates will have to be purchased at the cost of diminished means of living, for, ex hypothesi, the section will operate in this way only in the case of poor families. Then add to this the vexation, annoyance and irritation caused by the interference of the officers of the Municipality in carrying out the provisions of this section. I have only noticed some of the evils which will arise from the enforcement of this section. I do not think I have given any exaggerated picture at all, but should any hon. member think it to be exaggerated, I venture to say that, it is only because unfortunately for the majority of the natives his knowledge of them and of the conditions of their society is limited. I therefore earnestly beg of the Council not to allow this section to pass into law, for the simple reason that the remedy provided for it will prove infinitely worse than the disease.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—This section speaks so clearly for itself, that I do not think it necessary to say anything more on the subject. The section is taken from the Bombay law, and the Bombay law is taken from the English law, and I cannot see why there should be anything so peculiar in Calcutta, that what is acknowledged everywhere else to be an excellent provision should be considered here to be so great a hardship. It is a provision which will be rarely worked, but should a case occur where overcrowding is carried on to such a great extent as actually to lead to the apprehension of an outbreak of any epidemic disease, it seems to me that the municipality is the proper authority to be invested with power of this nature.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—My hon. friend again brings in the Bombay law in support of the Bill, but he should remember that in Bombay there is no such thing as a joint-family, nor does such a system prevail in English towns, and it is idle to ignore a system which has taken deep root in this country. The system exists and legislation should be directed to existing conditions and not to the subversion of them. If the section is intended to apply to the overcrowding of houses let to tenants, such as lodging-houses, let that be made clear. [His Honour the President—It is so intended.] I am quite willing to leave the decision of the question to any lawyer, whether it is limited in its application to lodging-houses. The wording does not so restrict it, for the section runs thus:—

“If it shall appear to the Commissioners that any building used as a dwelling-house is so overcrowded as to endanger the health of the inmates thereof, they may apply to a Magistrate to prevent such overcrowding, and the Magistrate may * * * require the owner of the building * * * to abate the overcrowding thereof by reducing the number of lodgers, tenants or other inmates of the said building.”

The words “inmates” will include owners living in their own houses with their families. If the intention is to limit the operation of the section to lodging-houses, why is it worded so as to include persons living in their own houses?

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—I never for a moment implied that the section could not be applied outside of lodging-houses, but I referred to the wording of the section that the Magistrate's order is to abate the overcrowding by reducing the number of lodgers, tenants, or inmates as giving the clear intention of the section. Both the native members who have addressed the Council have spoken of this section as if it was intended to apply to themselves and their friends and the middle classes of the native population. If the hon. members knew the history of this provision, and what is done under it in other places, they would not have spoken as they have done. It is intended to apply to what are called rabbit warrens and overcrowded lodging-houses, houses of ill-fame, and the like. If you adopt the Hon. Dr. Gooroo Dass Banerjee's amendment, and make the section apply only to houses let out to tenants, the owner may live in such a house himself and say it is not let out. You must have a larger section, although I quite admit that by an ingenious perversity the section may be brought to apply to the hon. members themselves. Suppose the Executive of the Corporation had no common sense and no fear of the Commissioners themselves before their eyes, and the Magistrate was equally devoid of common sense, then perhaps what the hon. members apprehend may happen. I do not mean to say that by an ingenious perversity that may not be done. By ingenious hypercriticism you can always find out extreme cases to which a law is not intended to apply, and in that way every law can be made to look ridiculous or incompatible with the welfare of some one in the country. But I cannot conceive, if the object and intention of the section are understood, that there should be any reasonable opposition to it. I cannot help thinking that the opposition is based on a misunderstanding of the real meaning and object of the section.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER's motion to omit section 320 was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE's motion to substitute "let out" for "use" in line 3 of the first paragraph of the same section was also put to the vote and negatived.

The consideration of the further clauses of the Bill was postponed till the next sitting of the Council.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 28th April, 1888, at 11 A. M.

CALCUTTA AND SUBURBAN MUNICIPALITIES AMALGAMATION BILL.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that the clauses of the Bill to consolidate and amend the Law relating to the municipal affairs of the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta, as further amended, be further considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. BARU KALI NATH MITTER moved that section 324 be omitted. He said:—This section has met with serious opposition from various quarters. The public memorialists have, I believe, taken serious exception to it, and the members of the British Indian Association have also done so, and on behalf of the Hindu community I also take exception to it. The effect of a section of this sort may be—I do not for a moment say it will be—the removal of a Hindu from his place of abode to a hospital superintended by other than Hindus. It will certainly interfere with the religion of the sufferer, and I do not think it was ever intended that by the municipal law the religious feelings of persons should be wounded in the manner contemplated by this section. As regards future habitations in Calcutta, the Commissioners under this law will have ample powers, and it will be impossible for any habitation to be constructed which would be unfit for habitation. They can object to any proposed building on the ground of the want of ventilation or open spaces and the like, because ample provision has been made for regulating the construction of buildings, whether masonry or otherwise. That being so, the danger contemplated by this section is of the remotest character and is not likely to happen. Therefore, under these circumstances, it will be a mistake to alarm the people by introducing a section like this, which in most cases will remain a dead-letter, but which may in some cases, where people are not able to resist its operation, prove a great hardship. As far as well-to-do persons are concerned, the Commissioners will not be able to enforce the provision of this section: they can only be enforced in the case of poor persons who can ill afford to defend themselves. As I have pointed out, the Commissioners will have the fullest power to regulate the construction of buildings, and the chance of any such buildings existing in Calcutta will be as remote as one can conceive. I therefore move the omission of the section.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE said:—I will support this motion as it is in fact also one of my own, and I ask leave to move as an alternative amendment that, in the event of this motion not being carried, the following proviso be added to the section:—"Provided that such person gives his consent to such removal." There is no doubt that the section has been framed for a most salutary purpose, but at the same time it seems clear that its enforcement, especially under the peculiar circumstances of this country, is likely to be attended with difficulty. In the case of one large section of the community,—the Hindus—of whom I venture to think I know something, its provisions will in many instances be attended with violence to their religious feelings. We all know of instances where an orthodox Hindu would rather die from want of medical treatment than go to a hospital. Considering all things, therefore, I submit that this section should either be omitted, or it should be modified in the way indicated in my alternative amendment. I do not say this from any perverse spirit of hypercriticism, as I myself have the strongest dislike for any such spirit. Nor do I think one need be driven to a spirit of perverse hypercriticism, seeing that this Bill has so many features affording ground for very fair adverse criticism, sufficient to satisfy the most active critical propensity. And if I raise my feeble opposition to this section it is because, in my humble opinion, I think active compulsory interference with private rights ought to be confined to cases of extreme necessity, and also because, from my limited experience of men and things, I think that interference of this nature is often likely to lead to more harm than good. I therefore submit that if the Council is not prepared to omit this section altogether, at any rate they may allow it to be modified in the way I suggest.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—I think the true object of this section has not been understood, because if it is modified in the way proposed, then, in the case of opposition on the part of the person affected with any such dangerous disease, the provision will be almost inoperative. The parallel provision in the Bombay law has been in force since 1872, and has been reproduced in the present Bill. Owing to opposition to this section in Select Committee, we introduced the words "male person," so as not to make the section apply to females, and then we confined its operation to persons who are "without proper lodging or accommodation." How can the control, which the Commissioners will have over the construction of buildings, have anything to do with the fact that persons who may come to work in Calcutta without their families may be so situated in the midst of other persons that their suffering from a dangerous epidemic disease will be extremely dangerous to other persons in the house and to the community at large? This power is always given in towns in England, and no objection has ever been taken to it. It is one of those cases in which the community at large is entitled to require the individual to sacrifice some portion of his rights for the public good. Should any person be allowed to claim the privilege of becoming a focus of epidemic disease? All that the section does is to require his removal to hospital. In Select Committee there was a strong feeling that if we made this concession it would practically nullify its effect. That was the opinion of the Health Officer, who expressed himself extremely disappointed with the section as it stands. It is a provision which would very rarely be put in force, and when it is put in force it will be in very urgent circumstances indeed. Conceive the case of a dhobie attacked with small-pox who remains in his house where others in his family are engaged in washing clothes. Can anything be more dangerous? Under those circumstances I think the section ought to stand, and that both the amendments ought to be rejected.

The HON. DR. MAHENDRA LAL SIRCAR said:—This section contemplates the case of only those persons who are without proper lodging or accommodation; therefore, I do not see what possible objection there is to it. As regards the amendment of my hon. friend Dr. Gooroo Dass Banerjee, a person suffering from a dangerous epidemic disease may be incapable of giving his consent by loss of mind, and therefore it will be impossible to get his consent. I think it much better that a person who is without proper lodging or accommodation should be taken care of and treated in hospital, than that he should remain without proper care and treatment. I am sorry that, though a Hindu, I cannot support either of these amendments.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply :—There is one portion of the argument of the hon. member in charge of the Bill, wherein he said he found it difficult to understand how the fact of the Commissioners having control over the construction of buildings had anything to do with this section, which I have not been able to follow. If houses and huts are so constructed as to afford proper accommodation and ventilation, there can be no house or hut in regard to which it can be said that it does not afford proper accommodation or lodging. The section does not provide that every person who is suffering from a dangerous epidemic or infectious disease shall be removed to hospital, but that only persons who are so suffering and are without proper lodging or accommodation. Therefore my argument that the Commissioners have control over the construction of buildings and huts is material to the point at issue. I regret that my hon. friend opposite, though a Hindu, does not see any objection to the provisions of this section. Probably it is so, owing to the profession to which he belongs, but in this respect I am positive that he does not represent the Hindu sentiment; but I and my hon. friend opposite (Dr. Gooroo Dass Banerjee) do undertake to represent that sentiment. I will remind the hon. member in charge of the Bill that when this provision in its enlarged form was first introduced against my most strenuous opposition, he was pleased to say that the section would remain tentatively in the Bill, but if he found that the other Hindu members of the Council were opposed to it he would not insist on the section remaining. Since the Bill was referred back to the Select Committee, various representations from several public bodies had been received, and no doubt, having regard to those representations and to my objections, its operation was limited to the case of male persons, and the section was modified in other respects. That I freely admit; but at the same time I do not see any necessity for the section.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER's motion being put, the Council divided:—

Ayes 2.

The Hon. Dr. Gooroo Dass Banerjee.
The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter.

Noes 11.

The Hon. H. Pratt.
The Hon. C. H. Moore.
The Hon. Dr. Mahendra Lal Sircar.
The Hon. Moulvie Abdul Jubbar.
The Hon. Sir Alfred Croft.
The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison.
The Hon. T. T. Allen.
The Hon. C. P. L. Macaulay.
The Hon. H. J. Reynolds.
The Hon. the Advocate-General.
His Honour the President.

So the motion was negatived.

THE HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE then, by leave, withdrew his amendment to add the following proviso to the section :—" Provided that such person gives his consent to such removal."

THE HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that section 325 be omitted.

He said :—This section provides for the cleansing or disinfecting of a building to prevent or check the spread of any dangerous disease. Probably ten years hence, when sanitary science is better understood by the people, a section like this may with propriety be introduced; the people will by that time have learned the principles of sanitary science; but at present a provision of this kind will be viewed with alarm, and the utility of it to my mind is extremely doubtful.

THE HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said :—We have got within measurable distance of the time when, in the opinion of my hon. friend, a provision of this sort will be admissible; but I am inclined to hope that if the Council adopts it now, that period of time will be shortened a little, and that nine years hence no objection will be seen to it. I admit that all the provisions of this section will be very slowly put into application. This is another section taken from the Bombay Bill. There it has been in force for the last sixteen years, and they do not wish to postpone it for another ten years. Should there be any place which, from want of cleansing or disinfection, might prove dangerous by the propagation of disease, there can be little doubt that a power of this kind should be left in the hands of the Corporation.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply :—There is nothing in the section to indicate the circumstances the existence of which will constitute the danger. The Commissioners are simply to judge on the certificate of the Health Officer; and, knowing as we do the propensities of Health Officers, there will be great danger of the section being put into operation without real necessity.

The HON. DR. MAHENDRA LAL SIRCAR said :—To guard against the certificate of the Health Officer being given on the report of his subordinates, whose opinion may not always be perfectly correct, I will, with the permission of the Council, move as an amendment that the words “after personal inspection” be inserted after “Health Officer” in line 2 of the section. I do not see that there can be any objection to the addition of these words.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY said :—I really think we ought to assume that the Health Officer will not give his certificate without good grounds. He will not give it unless he is satisfied that the provision ought to be put in force in a particular case.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said :—I have no particular objection to this amendment, but I feel, as my hon. friend Mr. Macaulay does, that the certificate of the Health Officer will only be given in cases in which he sees sufficient grounds. Suppose, for instance, that two leading practitioners in the town have visited the house of a person suffering from an infectious disease, and they report that the disinfection of the house is necessary to prevent the spread of the infection, the Health Officer may, under such circumstances, feel himself relieved from the necessity of inspecting the premises. Otherwise he would be bound to satisfy himself.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said :—The Health Officer will be the person responsible for the certificate, and it may be left to him to do what is proper.

The HON. DR. MAHENDRA LAL SIRCAR said in reply :—I would not have proposed this amendment had not I known that duties of this kind are often perfunctorily performed. I have no objection to add the words “or after receiving the certificate of two qualified medical officers.”

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said :—I cannot allow this further amendment without notice.

The HON. MR. ALLEN said :—I do not think the personal inspection of the Health Officer should be a necessary condition. Suppose ten persons in a house died from small-pox, and every one who goes into it takes the disease, will not such a state of things ascertained from his reports justify the Health Officer's certificate? What can personal inspection add to his knowledge? Disease germs are not visible to human eyes. The house is full of them: the angel of death is sitting in that house and strikes every one who enters. The Health Officer by going there may himself be struck, but otherwise personal inspection will tell him nothing. I consider therefore that no such restriction should be introduced into the section. The circumstances which come to the knowledge of the Health Officer in his ordinary report will be quite sufficient to enable him to determine whether or not he should give his certificate.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER's motion to omit section 325 was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. DR. MAHENDRA LAL SIRCAR's motion to insert the words “after personal inspection” in line 2 after the words “Health Officer,” was also put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that, in line 1. of clause 2 of section 326, for the word "may" the word "shall" be substituted; and that all the words from "but" to the end of the section, be omitted.

He said:—The object of this amendment is to make it compulsory on the Commissioners to pay compensation for the destruction of a hut under this section. If a hut is destroyed for the public benefit, I think the public should pay for it. We are here dealing with hut-owners who are generally men of humble means. The destruction of his hut may be a serious matter to him, and if it is destroyed for the public benefit, compensation should be paid, and not be left optional with the Commissioners.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE said:—The amendment in my name in regard to this section is substantially the same, and is made for precisely the same reasons as my hon. friend has advanced. It is this—that for the second paragraph of section 326 the following be substituted:—

"The Commissioners shall pay compensation to any person sustaining substantial damage by the destruction of any hut."

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—This is a reasonable suggestion; nevertheless I submit that on the whole the weight of argument is against it. The section is exactly the same as in the Bombay Bill, that compensation may be given if the Corporation thinks fit. Would it never happen that the loss sustained by the individual was due to his own laches, and that in such a case it would not be justifiable for the Commissioners to give compensation? The tribunal which is made the judge will be a most lenient tribunal: the remarks which have been made by the hon. movers of the amendment will show how lenient the tribunal would be, and the cases in which compensation would not be given would be exceptionally bad.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER's motion being put, the Council divided:—

Ayes 6.

The Hon. Dr. Gooroo Dass Banerjee.
The Hon. Dr. Mahendra Lal Sircar.
The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter.
The Hon. C. P. L. Macaulay.
The Hon. the Advocate-General.
His Hon. the President.

Noes 7.

The Hon. H. Pratt.
The Hon. C. H. Moore.
The Hon. Moulvie Abdul Jubbar.
The Hon. Sir Alfred Croft.
The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison.
The Hon. T. T. Allen.
The Hon. H. J. Reynolds.

So the motion was negatived.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE's motion was then, by leave, withdrawn.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that section 332 be omitted.

He said:—This section provides that no person shall let a building or part of a building in which a person has been suffering from cholera, small-pox, diphtheria or typhoid fever, without having first disinfected the building or part thereof, and every article therein likely to retain infection, to the satisfaction of the Commissioners; not simply the room in which the disease occurred, but the whole building or part of the building. There are some houses which are let out in flats: that flat is not to be let out, and the Commissioners are to be judges of what is likely to retain infection. The words are so large that anything can be brought within the wording of the section. As I understand the section, it means that the building or any part thereof or any article therein likely to retain infection is to be disinfected, and the judges of what is likely to retain infection are to be the Commissioners. There are no qualifying words except those mentioned in the section. As soon as there is a case of cholera in any building, it will be supposed that the building should be disinfected, as it would be likely to retain infection. That will be the way in which this section will be worked.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—I read the section in just the opposite way from that in which my hon. friend does. The section is borrowed from an English Act, and has been in force in Bombay since 1872. It is intended to mean that if the danger lies in any part of the building, that part is not to be let; if in the whole building, the whole building is not to be let. It does not mean that if cholera has occurred in one wing of a building, you are not to let out the other wing. Let us take the converse case. Are we to say that a person is with his eyes open to be allowed to let out the portion of a building in which he knows that a person has suffered from cholera or small-pox? Is that the spirit in which sanitary legislation is to be carried on?

The Hon. the Advocate-General said:—The intention of this section is very clear. I cannot understand objections of the sort which have been raised to this and other cognate sections. One would have thought that Hindu sentiment would be in favour of strengthening all the purposes of sanitation. We have on one side an outcry that the people labour under heavy taxation; but here there are small measures designed to improve the health of the town without any additional taxation, and yet a complaint is preferred. I must say that I can have no sympathy with such objections: they should be more thoroughly considered before they are brought forward.

The Hon. Dr. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE said:—I am bound to say that Hindu sentiment is in favour of having a building, in which a person has suffered from an infectious disease, disinfected or purified in some manner or other before it is let out again for habitation.

The motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The Hon. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved the omission of section 336, which provided a penalty on the owner of any land who permits animals to be kept thereon for purposes of profit without a license.

He said:—I may at once say that I do not seek to enlist the sympathy of the learned Advocate-General in its favour. I do not want to enlist the sympathy of any of my colleagues. I move the amendments which I think I am bound to move, and if I am mistaken it is my misfortune. But it is wrong to suppose that I try to ask the sympathy of any hon. member. In regard to this section, suppose a landholder lets out five cottahs of land to a tenant. He does not know for what purpose the land is wanted. The tenant having taken the land for, say, six or eight months, what control has the landholder over the tenant as to the use to which the land will be put? If the tenant uses it in a way which is objectionable, the tenant is responsible. If he does not make a proper use of the land, and injury is caused to the neighbours, the tenant alone is to blame. How can the landholder, who has simply let out his land, remain responsible for animals being kept upon it in contravention of the law? The way in which this section was understood in Committee was that if it is brought to the notice of the landholder that his land is being used in a particular way, unless he puts a stop to it he would be considered to be so using the land. But it seems to me that the landholder would have no control as long as the tenant has a lease. If the landholder let his land for a certain specified purpose, that would be a different thing; but the purpose to which the land will be applied is never contemplated when the land is let. The person, having got a lease of the land, uses it as he thinks proper; if he puts the land to an improper use, he is responsible, and not the landholder.

The Hon. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—This is one of the alterations in the existing law of which the urgent necessity has been shown by six years' practical working. At present the owner lets out the land, and a goalabaree is built upon it. The tenant is prosecuted for keeping it in an absolutely filthy condition, and is fined in a sum ranging from annas 4 to Rs. 10; he pays the fine, but the goalabaree remains in the same condition, and then we have another prosecution. There is nothing more difficult in the municipal administration than the endeavour to keep these goalabarees in a proper condition. There are some hundreds of prosecutions instituted annually, resulting in conviction after conviction, and the sole endeavour of the offender is to pay the fine which he tries to get made as small as possible, and he then hopes that he will not be troubled again for three or four months. The only real remedy is to make the owner of the land responsible for the use to which his land is put. The object is to prevent a landholder from letting his land for a goalabaree unless he is satisfied that the requirements of the law will be observed, and when he does so let his land, he should be held responsible if it is kept in a filthy condition.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said:—I do not understand the discussion which has arisen on the construction of the word "permits" in this section. The contention is that if the owner lets his land to another person, he ought not to be made responsible for what the tenant does. The hon. member in charge of the Bill says it is in the power of the landlord always to turn out the tenant. If a man lets his land for a certain term, he cannot be said after that to permit; he has no power over the land or the tenant. If his tenant were a tenant-at-will, it would be different. A man cannot be said to permit the tenant to do something when he has no power to prevent him, and I do not think it is intended to apply to a case of that sort. But when the landlord has the power to turn the tenant out and he permits, he is responsible. I can see no possible objection to that. If the law requires that a license should be taken out for a place of this description, and the landlord knows the land is to be used for that purpose without a license, why should he be allowed to assist any person to act in contravention of the law? The whole scope of the objection is to allow people to escape from the consequences of acts for which they ought to be liable.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said in reply:—If the view of the hon. and learned Advocate-General is correct—and I suppose it must be taken to be correct—then there is no objection to this section; but the meaning which was given to it in Select Committee was very different, viz., that if the matter is brought to the notice of the landholder, and he still allows the same state of things to continue, he would be responsible. That is how the matter was understood in Committee. But if that is not the meaning, but the permission must be actual permission, I will not press the amendment.

The motion was then, by leave, withdrawn.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, in line 2 of section 348, for the words "unregistered place" the words "not registered under section two hundred and ninety-seven of Bengal Act IV of 1876" be substituted.

He said:—This is only a verbal alteration, and provides fully for the object of the section. The expression "unregistered place" is ambiguous.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, in lines 2 and 3 of the second paragraph of section 349, for the words "or permits it to be used" the words "for any of the purposes mentioned in section three hundred and forty-six, or permits it to be so used" be substituted.

He said:—This is an amendment of a similar kind. The penalty clause provides that, whoever after the expiration of the time "uses such place or permits it to be used." This may be misunderstood. There is no objection to the place being used, but it is not to be used for one of the prohibited purposes, and the amendment is to make that clear and to prevent the possibility of misunderstanding.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that clauses (a) to (e) of section 385 be omitted.

He said:—The clauses ran thus:

- "(a) Any premises in such a state as to be a nuisance or injurious to health:
- (b) Any tank, well, ditch, gutter, watercourse, privy, urinal, cesspool, or drain so foul or in such a state as to be a nuisance or injurious to health:
- (c) Any animal so kept as to be a nuisance or injurious to health:
- (d) Any accumulation or deposit which is a nuisance or injurious to health:
- (e) Any house or part of a house so overcrowded as to be dangerous or injurious to the health of the inmates, whether or not members of the same family:"

This is what the members of the British Indian Association say on this section—

"Looking to the extreme disparity between the modern ideas of European sanitarians about domestic arrangements and those of the people of this country, the clauses (a) to (e) of this section cannot but prove an engine of oppression, or a dead-letter. They would doubtless be beneficial to the Corporation by bringing in frequent fines under section 367; but they can do no good to the people at large. The clauses have been reproduced from an English Act, but they are totally unsuited for the condition of life in this city. Even in England it has not been possible to enforce them to the full extent. Take, for instance, the clause about overcrowding. The complaint in that respect has not yet been removed. In Calcutta it is impossible to remove it. When people congregate together in houses under circumstances which are not unavoidable, they may be well asked to disperse to prevent the air in the house becoming noxious; but when members of the same family are compelled under the force of circumstances to live together, and have not more airy and better ventilated quarters to go to, what are they to do? A poor man living in a hut with a wife and eight children may be quite inclined, against the ties of affection and in the interests of sanitation, to separate, but who will give him a second hut? Unless the Commissioners are prepared to provide free quarters in all such cases, it will be practically impossible to prevent overcrowding in houses under unavoidable circumstances. No amount of fine or imprisonment or the sale of goods and chattels can do any good. If fines could improve the condition of the poorer classes, their condition would not be bad. In fact, the fine in the law appears to be a penalty for poverty."

The objection has been taken not in the interests of the rich, but of the poor in Calcutta; and considering that as regards overcrowding a section has already been passed which relates to lodging-houses, &c., clause (e) of this section does not appear to be necessary. Other sections have also been passed which will enable the Commissioners to go into houses to see whether they are kept in a clean state, and, if not so kept, to have them cleaned and to realise the cost; therefore if there be anything which is likely to be injurious to health, the Commissioners may remove the cause, and clause (d) is superfluous. As regards the keeping of animals, provision has also been made by other sections; clause (c) is therefore not required. Clause (a), to my mind, is meaningless; certain specific acts are treated as nuisances, but this is a general clause. Then again, as regards clause (b), privies, cess-pools and drains are under the control of the Commissioners. If a drain gets choked, the Commissioners are allowed not only to point out the defect to the owner, but to repair them then and there. Therefore the Commissioners have the fullest power in respect of all these matters without having recourse to a prosecution. I do not think that in cases in which the Commissioners have the power to take executive action and to recover the cost of works done, they should also be allowed to prosecute the parties and have them fined. On these grounds I move that clauses (a) to (e) of section 385 be omitted.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE said:—I beg to move that clause (e) of this section be omitted. My amendment covers much smaller ground than that of my hon. friend. The question in my amendment has to some extent been discussed in connection with section 320, and it will be unnecessary to repeat what I said then. In the course of that discussion Your Honour observed that much of the apprehension regarding hardship resulting from the operation of that section was ill-founded. But the language of clause (e) is different from that section, and it is made expressly applicable to the case of the overcrowding of a dwelling-house by members of the same family, and that is one reason why I submit, subject to correction, that my apprehensions are better founded in the present instance. In the next place, there is no reason why there should be a double provision. Section 320 will practically suffice to prevent overcrowding in cases where it may be necessary to exercise the power, and it is not necessary to have this clause as well.

The HON. MOULVIE ABDUL JUBBAR said:—I quite agree in all that has fallen from the hon. member who has just sat down, and I wish to add a few remarks in reference to clause (e). That clause, if passed into law, will neutralise the effect of that principle of charity in which we natives have been instructed from our infancy. We have been taught to be charitable to our relatives and friends, and to that principle it will not always be possible for us to attend, because under the provisions of this clause we may sometimes have to turn out of our house some of those who, under our religious obligations, or according to our social customs, we are bound to shelter and maintain. I do not know what the Hindu religion teaches its followers in regard to charity; but the Koran enjoins on every Mahomedan the duty of helping relatives, paupers and travellers, and no Mahomedan true to his faith can excuse himself from this duty on the plea which may be furnished by the Municipal law. An individual family includes not only one's parents and children, but relatives and dependants; and I do not see how, consistently with their duty, these relatives can be turned out of doors. There are few native houses which one with ideas of foreign sanitary regulations will not declare to be overcrowded in the sense of the words used in this clause. I therefore respectfully but earnestly hope that Your Honour will not sanction undue interference with the social habits and household affairs of the native community.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY said:—It is with great reluctance that I wish to ask the Council to oppose the views which have been put forward on behalf of one section of the community by the hon. member who has just spoken. I think it is necessary that if people understand that charity begins at home, they should equally understand that in municipalities charity does not end at home. It is all very well to be charitable and to receive into one's house a number of relations and dependants; but you must also regard the health of the public. In connection with this subject, I would ask the hon. movers of these amendments whether it is not the fact that the Council has received these amendments and considered them carefully, and has exhibited great patience in listening to the arguments which have been adduced in support of them; but now that we are coming to the end of the long string of amendments, we should have two considerations before our minds: the first is that sanitary laws exist, and that it is our object and desire that they should be adhered to, and that pleadings of a special class which are brought to bear against them cannot be considered as against the claims of the community at large. The next is that the ends and object of these sanitary measures is the good of the people: and that we leave the administration of these measures to the Corporation which represent the community. We assume that this agency will administer them better than any other. The spirit of sanitary legislation requires that neither the rich nor the poor should be allowed to interfere with their operation. Bearing these two considerations in mind, I think we may put aside these amendments and proceed to carry the Bill into law.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE GENERAL said:—I wish to point out to the hon. members who have spoken on clause (e) of this section that I limit my remarks, to one point of view, viz., that there may be some hardship in making clause (e) applicable to places where there are members of the same family. There are houses which are overcrowded by wealthy people who are not members of the same family. There is, for instance, a class of people who come from Madras—wealthy people who work on a capital of three or four lakhs of rupees, but who nevertheless crowd together to the number of sixty or seventy in one house. These people should not be exempted from the operation of this section. If they crowd together and render a house unhealthy, the powers of the Municipality should extend over them; therefore the amendment to leave out this clause altogether is too large. But with regard to members of the same family, there is something in what has fallen from the hon. member opposite (Moulvie Abdul Jubbar), that poor people very often cannot help themselves. People come to their houses, and they are wholly without the means of turning them away or of giving them more accommodation. I would therefore suggest that some modification of clause (e) be made so as to exclude from its operation members of the same family.

The HON. MR. ALLEN said:—I regret I cannot agree with the Hon. Advocate General, that because a number of people are members of the same family they are to be at liberty so to overcrowd a house as to render it dangerous and injurious to the health of their neighbours. It may be to the interest of the members of a family to take the risk of disease to themselves, but why should they be allowed to endanger the health of their neighbours? Birds when they overcrowd the nest are thrown out by the old birds, but the people of this country will not imitate nature. It is nonsense to say that they harm nobody but themselves: it is impossible they can overcrowd a house so as to render it dangerous to the health of the inmates and not affect their neighbours. The disease generated there must spread. There was never a doubt that the fact of being a source of danger to one's neighbours constitutes a nuisance, but there might have been a doubt whether people who voluntarily live in a house overcrowded so as to be dangerous to themselves created a state of things which amounts to a nuisance, and therefore this section says it does. It should be remembered that it is the Commissioners who will have to abate nuisances, and no doubt they will deal tenderly with cases of overcrowding by members of the same family. The hon. member opposite (Moulvie Abdul Jubbar) urged strongly the obligations of charity. That is mean charity which will provide for its objects by overcrowding a house so as to make it dangerous and injurious to health. That is no true charity, but an attempt to combine economy with ostensible charity. If a person wishes to be really charitable, let him provide proper quarters for his relatives and friends, so that their health will not be endangered. What is the use of charity except to keep a man alive, and what is the use of keeping a man alive by means which afflict him with disease? Let them practice true charity, and then they will have no objection to this clause.

The hon. member on my right (Dr. Gooroo Dass Banerjee) objects to this clause, because he says the same object is already provided for. If that is so, what is his objection to let the clause stand? A double-barrelled gun has a great advantage in shooting: one barrel may miss, and you kill with the other. I cannot see the force of his opposition to let a section stand which he says is already in the Bill. That objection might lie in the mouth of the hon. member in charge of the Bill, on the ground of symmetry.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—As far as the objection on the ground of symmetry is concerned, I am bound to say that this will not meet the same cases as the other section. The special object of the insertion of these clauses here is that any person who may feel himself aggrieved may give information to the Commissioners. We have had many cases in which persons have complained of nuisances in neighbouring houses, and there has been no way to help the complainants. We have had to tell them, if it is a nuisance you can institute a prosecution. But this section gives the Commissioners the power of themselves prosecuting. In the first instance a notice will be served, and if the person complies with the terms of the notice, well and good. If not, the matter will come before a Magistrate. That will be an easy, convenient, and just way of bringing to an issue the matter between the complainant and the person complained against.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said:—I have failed to understand the distinction which the hon. member in charge of the Bill has tried to introduce between section 320 and this section, apart from the general question whether the persons overcrowding belong to the same family or not. The distinction is this, that under this section the power lies in the Commissioners on the complaint of any person. What does section 320 say? "If it shall appear to the Commissioners." That includes cases where information is sent to the Commissioners, and in pursuance of such information they come to the conclusion that the building is overcrowded. Therefore, as regards the two sections, apart from the question of the inmates being members of the same family, there is no distinction. I certainly understood when we were discussing section 320 that Your Honour pointed that out. You styled what we advanced in support of our contention as hypercriticism based on a misapprehension of the meaning of the section, and, if my memory serves me rightly, the hon. member in charge of the Bill also referred to that section as being only intended for the cases mentioned by Your Honour [Sir Henry Harrison—I said that is how the section would ordinarily work] The proceedings of the last meeting are not before us, but from the nature of the discussion the impression left on my mind was that, so far as the meaning of the section is concerned, it would apply to lodging-houses and places of that sort where overcrowding occurred. If that is so, then what the learned Advocate-General advanced is met by the existence of section 320 in the Act. He referred to a case which is precisely a case contemplated under section 320; therefore as section 320 exists, there is no necessity for clause (e) of section 385, unless members of a joint family are intended to be included. If they are included, then undoubtedly this section gives larger powers.

As regards the rest of the clauses, not a single argument has been advanced against my contention, and the case is left where it was when I moved my amendment. I said that in regard to most of these matters the Commissioners have the fullest power; they can put a stop to those nuisances at the expense of the owners; they can inspect; they can repair, and they can improve. And that being so, it is unnecessary to provide for prosecution in respect to those offences.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—As I have been personally appealed to, I should like to state, as far as I can recollect, that what I said on the subject of section 320 was that I did not doubt for an instant that the words of that section could be made to cover the case of a Hindu joint family, but that if you look at the wording of what the Magistrate has to do (the wording of the declaration which the Magistrate has to make) it makes it perfectly clear that what is aimed at in the section is not the houses of Hindu families, but lodging-houses and such like. The order which he has to issue is an order to reduce the number of lodgers, tenants or other inmates, and I take it that the first two words would give the lines on which the order was to be based, and that the rest would be interpreted on the principle of ejusdem generis. I admit that they can be taken beyond, but I was giving my own interpretation of the section. So far as to that. It does seem to me that the ground covered by section 320 and the ground covered by clause (e) of section 385, which we are now discussing, is practically identical. On the whole I have some sympathy with the motion of the Hon. Dr. Gooroo Dass Banerjee in regard to clause (e), partly because the object, though not the method, is already provided very clearly and broadly by section 320, and because I think there is a good deal of force in the arguments which he has used, and which the Hon. Moulvie Abdul Jubbar has advanced on the part of the Mahomedan community, that to a great extent they cannot help themselves. But the reply to that really is that the Commissioners are the people who will exercise the authority which this section gives, and I think we may fairly trust to them to exercise it wisely and well. I am inclined to agree with what fell from the hon. member in charge of the Bill on another matter before the Council to-day—that the time when this section will really be brought into force is not yet; that they will come into force by very slow degrees; and I believe the value of these sections for present purposes—I am sorry to believe it—is more educational than practical. I hope that in time the Commissioners will work up to them, but I cannot expect they will be very strongly carried out. The learned Advocate-General threw out a suggestion to the hon. mover of the amendment to alter the section in a way in which the power of prosecution will not be altogether lost. Section 320 does not give power to prosecute, but only to get a declaratory order of a Magistrate. As he said, we want to retain some power to prosecute in cases where a deliberate nuisance is created by lodging house keepers and people of that kind. If any form of words to cover that can be framed, I shall vote for him.

The HON. SIR ALFRED CROFT said:—I would ask leave to move that the words “whether or not members of the same family” be omitted, so as to leave the clause general and in the same state as section 320.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said:—What I pointed out was that it would be hard to prosecute persons who cannot help themselves, for in such cases they would necessarily incur penalties they cannot avoid. I think that if section 320 is carefully read, it will be found not to apply to overcrowding by members of the same family. It deals with landlords and tenants. It requires the owner to abate the nuisance by reducing the number of lodgers or tenants, and the second clause of the section provides that where the owner has sublet the building, the landlord of the lodgers or tenants or other actual inmates shall be deemed to be the owner of the building.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER's motion to omit clauses (a) to (e) of section 385 was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE's motion to omit clause (e) of section 385 was also put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. SIR ALFRED CROFT's motion that from clause (e) of section 385 the words "whether or not members of the same family" be omitted, was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that section 390 be omitted.

He said :— This section authorizes a Magistrate to declare a house unfit for human habitation and to prohibit it being used for such purpose. The section is almost precisely the same as section 319, and as that section has been passed, I do not see the use of enacting it again in section 390. It practically leaves everything to the discretion of the Magistrate. The only difference is that here it is included in the chapter of nuisances, and section 319 is in the chapter relating to inspection and sanitary regulation. I believe the confusion has arisen from one section having been borrowed from the English Act, and the other from the Bombay Bill. I believe that the Bombay Bill has been borrowed from the English Act.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said :— This section did not come in by accident. We very carefully considered it in Select Committee, and we were within an ace of taking out one or the other, but it was eventually found that they are not identical. It is desirable to make out quite clearly that the Magistrate has similar power whether the complaint is made to him under the procedure of this section or under the chapter relating to sanitary inspection. The sections are not taken one from the Bombay Act and the other from the English Act, and therefore reduplicated. This nuisance section has, I think, been adopted on the suggestion of the Health Society; it is a judicial procedure, and therefore it is left to the discretion of the Magistrate. It gives the same power to the Magistrate whether the question comes up on this procedure or the other, and it also annexes a penalty. Anyhow I cannot see any objection to it.

The motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, for section 418, the following be substituted :—

"Every prosecution under this Act may be instituted by the Commissioners before any Magistrate having jurisdiction, who may summon the person charged to appear at a time and place to be mentioned in the summons; and if such person do not appear, the Magistrate may, upon proof of service of the summons, if no sufficient cause shall be shown for the non-appearance of the person charged, proceed to hear and determine the case in his absence. If such person do appear, then the procedure laid down in the Code of Criminal Procedure of 1882 from section two hundred and forty-two to section two hundred and forty-eight shall be followed.

"All fines imposed by a Magistrate under this Act shall be levied under the provisions of sections three hundred and eighty-six, three hundred and eighty-seven, three hundred and eighty-eight, and three hundred and eighty-nine of the said Code."

He said :— This constitutes in fact two amendments. The gentleman who conducts the criminal prosecutions of the Corporation pointed out the desirability of making it clear whether anybody can prosecute, or only the Commissioners. I do not think it is desirable that any person except the Commissioners should have power to inaugurate prosecutions under the Act. That is the object of the first amendment. The second amendment is to add the words in the second paragraph. It was suggested by the same authority, who pointed out that it is very desirable to make it clear how the fine is to be levied.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, after the first paragraph of section 429, the following proviso be inserted :—

"Provided that, if the projection be a verandah supported by pillars or props resting on the public street, the Commissioners may, in lieu of a fee, charge an annual rent not exceeding Re 1 per square yard of the public street covered by such verandah, if a verandah of only one storey, or Rs 1-8 per square yard, if a verandah of two or more storeys in height. It shall not be lawful to shut in the sides or front of such verandah so as to obstruct the air, whether with brick-work, wood-work, mats or any other materials."

He said :— I now come to an amendment to which I would ask the careful attention of the Council. I do not profess to say that it certainly ought to be adopted; but on the whole I think it is fair in the interests of the public, and I ask the Council to consider it from the point of view of justice to the public and the individual. Section 429 authorizes the construction of verandahs and projections. Under that section the Commissioners are allowed to charge a fee not exceeding Rs. 100, which has been increased in this Bill to Rs. 500 to meet special cases. A very few years ago only overhanging verandahs were sanctioned. Subsequently some one asked for leave—I do not think the Great Eastern Hotel started it—to put up a verandah over the pathway with supports on the footpath. The Town Council were not entirely agreed whether this should be allowed or not, but eventually the argument prevailed that as such verandahs would give shelter to the public from sun and rain, leave should be granted subject to certain safeguards. They are improvements of the finest possible description to the houses themselves, and having once given sanction we have now about twenty of these in the town. I will not say they are not advantageous to the town itself; but to the owners of the houses they are an enormous advantage, and they pay only one fee in all. It seems to me fair that when a person gets a very great advantage he should pay something commensurate for it; and therefore I think that when a verandah is built with props or supports on the street, the form of charge should be an annual rent instead of the payment of a single fee.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said:—I oppose this amendment. I happen to know the circumstances out of which this question has arisen. I think the charge proposed will be exorbitant. These verandahs are admitted to be a benefit to the public, and yet the enhanced fee of from Rs. 100 to Rs. 500 will not satisfy the Municipal Commissioners! They want to levy an annual fee for what? For allowing the owners of houses to occupy a few inches or a few feet of ground on which pillars are placed, and they want to charge a rental on the whole of the area covered by the verandah. The area is not occupied by them, passengers pass underneath, and are sheltered from the sun and rain; the charge appears to me exorbitant. I am surprised to hear the hon. member in charge of the Bill say that it is a matter of justice: from my point of view it is a matter of injustice.

The HON. BABU KAIL NATH MITTER said:—The Commissioners have nothing to do with this; my hon. friend brings this proposal forward at his own instance. I have to point out, in addition to the argument of my hon. friend, that it is an improvement and a benefit to the public; that the man not only pays a fee, but has to pay rates on an increased assessment of his property by way of a permanent charge. It was pointed out that a fee of Rs. 100 is a very small fee for all cases, and the Select Committee fixed Rs. 500 as a maximum. That should be ample for all purposes. We had no intimation from the hon. member that he was not satisfied with that, and that he would bring forward a further amendment. If he wanted to impose this additional charge, he should have informed the Select Committee of it. But apart from that, I shall oppose the amendment.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said:—I am not in favour of this amendment. Instead of putting obstructions in the way, there are many parts of the town in which the construction of such verandahs should be encouraged, as they afford both shelter and shade to the public. It would be a great benefit if the foot-paths in Government Place and Old Court House Street were covered with verandahs of this sort, so that people might walk from one end to the other in the shade under a colonnade such as exists in some parts of Bombay. There is a further objection to the form of the amendment. If an annual rent is to be charged for the portion of the street covered by the verandah, it will practically encourage the person paying the rent to look upon that part of the street as a part which he is entitled to use as he pleases.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said in reply:—I do not look upon this amendment as a matter of much consequence, except that I believe it to be a principle of real injustice that the individual should get a very great advantage without paying adequately for it.

The motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, in line 2 of the second paragraph of section 435, for the words "are known to the Commissioners" the words "are registered under section one hundred and twenty-eight" be substituted; and that, in line 3 of the third paragraph, for the words "not known" the words "not registered" be substituted.

He said:—It seems to me that this amendment not only makes the meaning more definite, but more fair. The section provides a mode of service when an owner is known to the Commissioners. What is to constitute knowledge? He may be known to one or two of the servants of the Corporation. Is the head of a department to go round and find out whether any department of the municipality knows the owner? On the other hand, there is a plain and direct means by which an owner can bring his residence to the knowledge of the Commissioners, viz., by registration. I think this amendment will be an improvement, and will also be just and equitable.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said:—There are many house-owners whose names are not registered, and yet they are well known to the Corporation, whereas the amendment proposes to say that if a man's name is not registered he is not to be considered to be known. One mode of knowing is by registration; another may be by actual experience.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, in line 9 of section 443, for the words "such of the owners as are known" the words "such of the owners as are registered under section one hundred and twenty-eight" be substituted.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, in lines 9 and 10 of section 453, for the words "Chapter VII shall have effect within the boundaries so declared" the words "the provisions of Chapter VII of this Act shall take effect one month after the publication of such notification" be substituted.

He said:—This amendment is suggested by the Secretary, who considers the wording a little ambiguous. It is well to say precisely when the provisions relating to water-supply shall take effect in the portions of the environs to which they may be extended by the Local Government.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER moved that clause (b) of section 456 be omitted. The clause empowers the Local Government to include within Calcutta any local area in the vicinity of Calcutta.

He said:—This provision has been introduced at the instance of the Government of India. So far as the exclusion of any portion of the added area is concerned, if for any reason it is considered necessary to exclude it, I have no objection to give the Local Government the power conferred by clause (a). But to include, it may be, large tracts of land without consulting the Commissioners and without making adequate provision for funds for making improvements, will not be for the good of the town. I contend therefore that clause (b) of section 456 should be omitted.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—I need only say that this has been inserted under instructions from the Government of India, the object being to bring this Act into conformity with other Municipal Acts all over India and elsewhere; but it is a procedure which, speaking for myself, I should be very unwilling to utilise without the consent of the Commissioners.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—In France and England this power is usually given to the Government only on the application of the Municipality concerned.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said:—I think this is a really objectionable power, and unless there is any imperative necessity for giving it, I submit that provision of this kind should not be made. I remember that the Indian Trusts Act contains a clause that the Local Government may from time to time extend it to any part of British India. Bombay would not have it, Calcutta would not have it, and it was made in the first instance to apply to Madras, Coorg, and other places where it would be of little or no use, power being reserved to the Local Government to extend it to the rest of India at some future time. Surely that is not a proper method of legislation.

Under clause (b) of section 456 of this Bill, the Government may include within the Municipality of Calcutta any area it chooses. Suppose the Government want to include within Calcutta any place outside the limits, such as Barranagore, Chitpore, or Cossipore, the inhabitants of these places cannot be heard. The mere presenting of a memorial is scarcely tantamount to a hearing.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE said :—I will also support this amendment, and for this reason : It is clear from the discussion of the question as to what the boundaries of the Municipality should be, that we included all that is and can be desirable to be included for some years to come. It will not be until full twenty years or more that anything like proper municipal management can be introduced in the area included, and further inclusion of additional area should, I submit, be left to future legislation.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said :—Having omitted to give notice, I ask leave to insert the words “at the request of the Commissioners in meeting” at the beginning of clause (b). Then if the Government wishes to add any local area without the request of the Commissioners, they must do it by legislation. This is in accordance with the practice in other civilised countries. In France the Government is not allowed to make alterations in the boundaries of cantons without legislation : in England the Government can only do it at the request of the Council of the borough.

The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter’s motion to omit clause (b) of section 456 being put, the Council divided :—

His Honour the President.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison’s motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, in the last line of clause (a) of Schedule II, Class IV, after the word “merchandise” the words “every person not coming under Class III who purchases goods in Calcutta for transport and sale beyond the limits of Calcutta” be inserted.

This and the two following were mere verbal amendments.

The motions were put to the vote.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, in clause (a) of Class V, for the words “every broker” the words “every broker or dalal” be substituted.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, in clause (a) of Class VI, for the word “shop” the words “shop or place of business” be substituted ; and that in clause (b) for the words “every dalal” the words “every petty dalal not included in class I” be substituted.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that the following be inserted as the first rule under Class VII :—

“The agent of a Joint-stock Company having an agency in Calcutta, but not registered therein, shall be liable to take out a license on behalf of such Company.”

He said :—This is a question of principle which ought to be settled by the Council. There are many Joint-stock Companies which are not established in Calcutta, but have their agents here. Some of these agents take out licenses on behalf of the Companies for which they are agents, but others refuse on the ground that, being foreign Companies, they are not liable to take out licenses.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said:—I do not think an amendment of this kind ought to be accepted at this late stage of the Bill without notice. These gentlemen pay the tax on their own account as agents; and I see no reason whatever to require them to take out licenses for the Companies established in Europe or America for which they act as agents.

The Hon. Mr. Moore said:—There are in Calcutta a number of small agencies of Insurance Companies established and working elsewhere; most of them do little or no business here, and some of them have agents here only for the purpose of paying claims. It would be hard to tax such Companies.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison said in reply:—My chief object is to get the point settled. The question is, should a Company which carries on business in Calcutta through an agent—and some of them carry on a large business—pay the tax or not? At present the point is unsettled. Of course the agent takes out his own license.

The Hon. Mr. Allen said:—I do not see why a Company should pay a tax in Calcutta merely because it has an agent here, any more than every ship which comes to this port should pay because its cargo is sold here.

The motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The following verbal amendments were put to the vote and carried on the motion of the Hon. Sir Henry Harrison:—that, in line 5 of rule 3 of Class VII, after the words “his own account” the words “or with other partners” be inserted; that, in line 5 of clause (a) of rule 7, the words “and is resident in Calcutta” be omitted.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison moved that, after clause (d) of rule 7, the following be inserted:—

“If a person is summoned for not taking out a license, and service of notice under clauses (c) and (d) is not proved, it shall be incumbent on the Commissioners to prove that the person summoned is liable to take out a license, as well as to prove the class under which he is liable.”

He said:—Suppose service of the notice required under clauses (c) and (d) of rule 7 in Schedule II cannot be proved, the object of this amendment is that, in such cases, the Corporation must prove their case. Generally notices are served, and if the person fails to object, it becomes binding upon him, and upon service of notice being proved the matter is settled. But suppose he successfully denies receipt of the notice, then the onus must be thrown upon the Corporation?

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The following verbal amendments were put to the vote and carried on the motion of the Hon. Sir Henry Harrison:—that, in clause (e) (2) of rule 7, after the words “to a Court of Small Causes” the words “having jurisdiction in the place in which the profession, trade or calling is said to be carried on” be inserted; also that, after clause (f) of rule 8, the following be inserted:—

“The Commissioners may, if they think fit, extend the period of an appeal under clause (1).”

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison moved that, at the end of Schedule III, the following be inserted:—

“The Local Government may, at any time, on the recommendation of the Commissioners in meeting, by a notification to be published in the Calcutta Gazette, alter the number of wards and the boundaries of any ward as prescribed in this schedule.”

He said:—This is an amendment of some importance. It may be necessary sometimes to alter the boundaries of wards. There is no power in the existing law to make such alterations, but I think the power should exist.

The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter said:—If the number of wards is altered under this proposed power, what becomes of the proportion of elected Commissioners prescribed by the Bill? Under section 15 two Commissioners are to be elected for each ward; with 25 wards, therefore, there will be 50 elected Commissioners. But suppose the number of wards is reduced to 8, which is the number the hon. member in charge of the Bill prefers, then there would be only 16 elected Commissioners to 25 nominated Commissioners. I have no objection to conferring the power to alter the boundaries of wards.

The motion was put to the vote and carried in the amended form proposed, viz., by omitting the words "the number of wards and."

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, at the end of Schedule IX, the following words be inserted:—

"Or any other scale which the Commissioners in meeting may from time to time prescribe."

He said:—This is an important amendment, and it revives the discussion which took place at a previous meeting. I was able to circulate only yesterday a note by Mr. Kimber, giving the result of his experiments, with a schedule of ferrules proposed by him. These experiments show that in some cases the mathematical formula gives an under-estimate of the quantity passing through the ferrules, but in very many cases the ferrule will not work up to it; there is something which prevents the proper working, such as the pipes being too small, or a number of bends, or a dead end, so that the water is backed or stopped; and Mr. Kimber comes to the conclusion in paragraph 10 (page 5) of his note that for practical purposes the co-efficient 13 should be reduced to 9; it gives four-thirteenths less draught as the average result all over the town, and the discharge of the ferrules should be reduced in the same proportion, viz., as 13 is to 9.

The question is, how should we deal with this? He gives a scale of ferrules which is one degree more liberal all the way up. He commences with houses valued at Re. 1 to Rs. 5, and the next in the scale from Rs. 5 to Rs. 10, and the result is that he proposes to give a slightly larger ferrule in all the grades. The question for the Council to determine is—first, will they take Mr. Kimber's scale as given in his note, or the scale in the schedule as it stands, or will they leave the scale to be fixed by the Commissioners in meeting, or by the Government on the recommendation of the Commissioners? I have adopted the suggestion that a scale should be laid down in the Act as a sort of indication to the Commissioners upon which they should act. It seems to me that, looking to the probabilities of error, it should be left to the Commissioners to fix the scale from time to time.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—When this subject was discussed before an amendment of the Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter was under consideration. His amendment was to omit Schedule IX, and to leave the fixing of a scale of ferrules to the discretion of the Commissioners in meeting.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said:—I have no objection to the amendment of the hon. member in charge of the Bill if the wording of section 155 is altered. I think the hon. member's amendment should be in the body of the Act, otherwise there will be a great deal of ambiguity. I think his amendment will practically leave the matter in the hands of the Commissioners, and a good deal of the time of the Council will be saved if we adopt his amendment.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said:—If the schedule is amended in the way proposed by the hon. member in charge of the Bill, the wording of section 155 must be altered also. I think it will be preferable to have a scale in the schedule and to amend section 155 as proposed. But it appears to me that there should be some limitation on the discretion of the Commissioners, as, for instance, by making the approval of the Local Government necessary. This is my principal objection.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said:—In that case I shall have to move my amendment.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY said:—In the Select Committee it was decided that we should recommend, as a compromise, to allow the Commissioners an exceptional power of altering the size of the ferrule to meet special cases, but that apart from that we should fix something beyond which the Commissioners should not go. If, however, any sliding scale is to be allowed at all, then I think it should be made subject to the approval of the Local Government, the Commissioners being left to recommend any alteration in it.

THE HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said in reply:—The hon. member is quite right as to what was decided in Select Committee. But as this is a matter of much difficulty, and there being so many disturbing elements to be taken into consideration, I think the Executive should not avoid the obligation of satisfying the Commissioners. Mr. Kimber gives his opinion unhesitatingly that the present scale is too liberal; therefore, after indicating a scale, the Council ought to leave it to the Commissioners to vary it as occasion may arise.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—It seems to me from what the Hon. Mr. Macaulay has said, that the Select Committee decided that a scale should be fixed in the Act, but that the Commissioners should have power to escape from it in exceptional cases.

THE HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said in reply:—The exception was to depend on proof that the ferrule would not give the exact supply; but beyond that the Commissioners, with the sanction of the Local Government, were to have the power to alter the general scale of ferrules.

THE HON. MR. MACAULAY said:—I am quite sure that there was no question whatever in Select Committee of the scale being altered with the approval of the Local Government.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—There is in Schedule IX a scale of ferrules and an improved scale has been prepared by Mr. Kimber. As the Bill stands the schedule will have to be enforced by the Commissioners, and they will not have the power of altering it. Originally the motion of the Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter was that the law should be altogether silent on the point, that it should fix no scale, and that it should be left to the Commissioners to fix any schedule they pleased. The compromise suggested by the hon. member in charge of the Bill to meet that is that the scale should remain in the schedule as an indication for the Commissioners, but that they should be at liberty to alter it from time to time on their own authority. And now it has been suggested that the Commissioners should only have power to alter the scale with the sanction of the Local Government.

THE HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE asked whether it was proposed to retain the scale in the ninth schedule, or to adopt the scale suggested by Mr. Kimber?

THE HON. DR. MAHENDRA LAL SIRCAR said:—The scale as it stands in the schedule is based on calculations which have been proved to be incorrect by the experiments made by Mr. Kimber himself. I would beg to observe that the formula given by the hon. member in charge of the Bill is not the formula given by the most recent authorities on the subject. I would rather have Mr. Kimber's scale of ferrules than the scale given in the Ninth Schedule. I move that the scale of ferrules given by Mr. Kimber in his note be substituted for Schedule IX.

THE HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER's motion that, in lines 9 and 10 of section 155, the words "through a ferrule of the size indicated by the Commissioners in meeting" be substituted for the words "through a ferrule of the size indicated in the ninth schedule," was put to the vote and negatived.

THE HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON's motion that the words "or such other scale as the Commissioners in meeting may from time to time approve" be inserted after "ninth schedule" in line 10 of section 155, being put, the Council divided:—

The Hon. C. P. L. Macaulay.
The Hon. H. J. Reynolds.
The Hon. the Advocate-General.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY's motion that the words "or such other scale as the Local Government may on the recommendation of the Commissioners in meeting approve" be inserted after "ninth schedule" in line 10 of section 155, was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. DR. MAHENDRA LAL SIRCAR's motion that the scale of ferrules given by Mr. Kimber in his note be substituted for the scale given in the ninth schedule, having been proposed for consideration,—

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS asked whether the adoption of Mr. Kimber's schedule would require the Commissioners to refuse all future applications for connections?

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—It would certainly not have that effect.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE said:—I submit that the adoption of Mr. Kimber's scale amounts not to liberality, but only to the correction of an error. The scale given in Schedule IX is based on the supposition that 16 gallons a minute can be drawn from a ferrule half an inch in diameter, and that is obtained by adopting 13 as the co-efficient on the formula. But we have now the opinion of Mr. Kimber, who is an expert, and he says that for the figure 13 we ought to have taken the figure 9, so that we cannot have 16 gallons per minute from a half-inch ferrule. If the standard is found to be incorrect, it is but fair and just that we should alter our scale accordingly.

The HON. DR. MAHENDRA LAL SIRCAR said:—In making these calculations only the normal pressure has been taken without reference to the distance of the taps from the place of pressure, and that accounts for the difference between the calculations and the actual results of the experiments; therefore there is no question of liberality in Mr. Kimber's scale. If he went further he would find reason to reduce the co-efficient to a lower figure still.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—Mr. Kimber himself took the same formula as he did. There are a number of other formulæ which entail elaborate calculations, but the one which has been taken is simple and sufficiently accurate for all practical purposes.

The HON. DR. MAHENDRA LAL SIRCAR's motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that, after section 459, the following new section be inserted:—

"460. The provisions of Schedule XIII shall apply to the budget for the year 1889-90, and to the rates and taxes which shall be levied during that year; and the provisions of Act IV (B.C.) of 1876, so far as they are inconsistent with the provisions of the said schedule, shall be repealed so far as they relate to preparing and passing such budget, and to fixing the rates and taxes to be levied during the year 1889-90."

He also moved that, after Schedule XII, the following new schedule be inserted:—

Thirteenth Schedule.

"1. The budget for 1889-90 shall show what expenditure it is proposed to incur in the Town, as well as in the area added to the Town by this Act during that year, and the manner in which it is proposed to meet such expenditure.

2. Such budget shall at a special general meeting of the Commissioners of the Town of Calcutta to be held in the month of February 1889 be referred to a Special Committee of eighteen members, of which twelve shall be chosen by the Commissioners of the Town of Calcutta at the special general meeting which shall order the reference, and six shall be chosen by the Commissioners of the Suburbs of Calcutta.

3. Such Committee shall meet at such times and places as the Chairman, subject to the decision of the Committee, may appoint, and shall, within twenty-one days of its appointment, return the budget to the Commissioners of the Town of Calcutta with such modifications and comments as may seem expedient.

4. The Commissioners of the Town of Calcutta shall, at a special general meeting to be held in the month of March, consider such budget as modified by the Special Committee, and pass it subject to such further modifications or additions as may be thought fit. The said Commissioners shall thereupon at the same meeting, or if such meeting be adjourned, at an adjourned meeting, fix, with reference to the budget as passed, the rates at which the rates and taxes mentioned in this Act shall be imposed for the year commencing the 1st April 1889; and the rates and taxes so fixed shall have the same force in Calcutta for the year 1889-90 as if they had been fixed by the Commissioners in meeting for any subsequent year under section seventy-one of this Act."

He said :—This motion explains itself. The budget has to be prepared during the last two months of a year for the year succeeding. How is a valid budget to be passed which will apply to the enlarged area from 1st April next? Will a budget framed under the present Act be legal? I suggest that what I propose will be a legal and equitable solution. I have suggested that the Suburban Commissioners should have a voice on the Budget Committee, but I thought it would be too complicated to allow them also a voice at the meeting of the Commissioners which will discuss and pass the budget. If the Council thinks that should be done, I have no objection, but the fact is that the real work is done by the Budget Committee; the Commissioners in meeting generally accept the budget with one or two amendments: this year, which was an exceptional one, three amendments were made.

The HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTRE said :—As the budget has to be framed before the 1st of April, it is necessary that some provision should be made for its preparation. So far as the Town Commissioners are concerned, I am sure there will be no objection to some of the Suburban Commissioners assisting in the passing of the budget.

The motions were put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said :—The Council has now to dispose of the definitions, and I shall be glad of a short delay to look through the Bill in order to see whether any alterations are needed to meet the modifications which have been made by the Council. I would also ask whether it will be possible at the same time, supposing it should appear that any sections require reconsideration, to bring forward any such proposals. It is obvious that any attempt to reconsider the whole Bill will be preposterous, but the preparation of a Bill of this kind is a very serious task, and no doubt there are a great many flaws in it; but if any such are found between this time and the passing of the Bill, I hope I shall be at liberty to bring forward the necessary amendments for their correction.

HAS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said :—I quite recognise the fact that a Bill of this kind, after being amended in Council, requires careful revision from the draftsman's point of view, to see that the amendments which have been made are so worded as to amalgamate and fit in with the rest of the Bill; and that is not the kind of work that can be done in a day. And as the hon. member in charge of the Bill has pointed out, it will be well to take the opportunity of pointing out any errors that may exist and making suggestions for the correction of such errors. I propose that the Council be adjourned for this purpose for a fortnight; but for the work which the Hon. Mr. Macaulay has in hand I shall have to ask the Council to meet again on this day week.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 5th May, 1888.

BENGAL MUNICIPAL ACT, III of 1884, AMENDMENT BILL.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Bengal Municipal Act, III of 1884.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY said:—By inadvertence notice was not inserted in the list of business of my intention to move that the Report of the Select Committee be taken into consideration. I ask His Honour the President to grant me permission under Rule VII of the Rules for the conduct of business to make that motion now.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT having granted the necessary permission—

The HON. MR. MACAULAY moved that the Report of the Select Committee be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill. The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE said:—I ask permission to move an amendment, which is sufficiently indicated in the note I have appended to the Report of the Select Committee, viz., that at the end of section 2 of the Bill, the following words be added: "after making reasonable compensation to such municipality for any loss of income resulting from such exclusion." My reasons for moving this amendment are these. In the first place, the exclusion of lands or buildings from the limits of any municipality will not necessarily relieve such municipality of the burdens it has to bear on account of such lands or buildings. For instance, it will have to maintain in proper condition the drains necessary for the surface drainage of such lands or buildings. Then, again, it will have to maintain in proper condition the roads that are necessary only for the purposes of such lands or buildings. It is therefore, I submit, but fair that, when municipalities are not likely to be relieved of such burdens, some compensation should be made. In the next place, wherever there are Government buildings within the limits of a municipality, it is well known that the amount of income derivable from rates on such buildings is by no means inconsiderable; so that, if the exclusion of such lands or buildings be not compensated for by a reasonable sum paid to the municipality, it will suffer a sensible diminution in its income. And as we all know there is hardly any municipality in the mofussil the funds of which are more than sufficient to meet its expenses, the result of such exclusion will leave municipalities to which the operation of this Bill may be extended with funds insufficient for the necessary expenditure. That is a result which I am sure Your Honour's Government, which has always shown itself most anxious to promote the cause of local self-government, and the hon. member in charge of the Bill, who is justly considered one of the best friends of local self-government, will never desire. Nor is it the object of this Bill to exempt such lands or buildings from rates. The object of the Bill, as far as I understand it, is to prevent any unseemly and inconvenient collision arising between the municipal authorities and the Government departmental authorities in immediate charge of such buildings; and so far as that is concerned, it may be secured on payment of reasonable compensation. I there fore respectfully submit, for the indulgent consideration of the Council, the amendment I have suggested.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY said:—I regret I am unable to recommend the Council to accept this amendment. In the first place, I think my hon. friend has lost sight of a very important consideration. When I obtained leave to introduce the Bill, I stated that it was not intended that the Government should have the power of excluding civil buildings and lands generally from municipal taxation, but that it was intended to take power only in regard to the very exceptional cases of military and naval buildings. What possible application then can there be of the argument that mofussil municipalities generally will lose their incomes? The number of municipalities to which the Bill can apply is extremely small. In any case I should object to the form of the amendment. This would force Government to give compensation in every case without exception for loss of income. Now we all know perfectly well that if lands and buildings exist in a municipality, they are liable to certain rates; that if they are excluded, for however good a reason, there must be a loss to the municipality. I cannot conceive, however, that the Government should in every case be forced to make good the loss on account of rates on lands and buildings excluded. The third consideration—and I think it is one which will satisfy the Council—is that, in the case of buildings in the occupation of the State for military or for naval purposes, the taxation is paid by the Supreme Government. It is not within the province of this Council to dispose of Imperial funds. But I do not suppose that my hon. friend would expect the Local Government to pay the compensation out of Provincial funds.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said:—The proposal seems to me to imply that the assessment on Government lands and buildings is an unfair assessment, and unduly made at a very much higher rate than those lands and buildings ought to be rated. It is suggested if there had been an equitable assessment, there would have been no objection raised. Consequently the objection seems to me to resolve itself into this. A municipality has obtained a large benefit by the accidental inclusion of that which ought to have been originally excluded. The mistake having been discovered, the Government should clearly be relieved by excluding such lands and buildings from municipal limits. The burden having been once cast on the Government, the argument that it should not be altered, except on payment of compensation, seems to me fallacious.

HIS HONOUR THE RESIDENT said:—I may just say one thing in regard to what has been touched upon by my hon. friend to the left (Mr. Macaulay), and that is, that the original proposal of the Government of India was to take power to exclude all buildings and lands in the occupation of the Government, of whatever kind, from municipal limits. How far that might have been justified on financial grounds, I am not in a position to say, because the letter of the Government of India does not discuss it. It was put on the ground that in all other Municipal Acts in the different provinces in India similar power is taken. But it was partly on account of the financial effects which might have followed to such exclusion that I requested the Government of India to confine their proposal to what seemed to me strictly unobjectionable and necessary, namely, to buildings which are in the possession of the Government for military or naval purposes. As to these, I do not think the question of compensation can very well arise. Certainly I do not think it arises in the particular instance which gave rise to the Bill. But if it were to arise, the question is one which I think had much better be dealt with by the Local Government than by a hard-and-fast law, because it certainly may be the case that there ought to be no compensation, and the amendment proposed leaves no possibility of avoiding payment in such a case. It assumes that compensation is to be given in every case. The other argument touched upon by my hon. friend, namely, that we have no power to deal with Imperial funds, is of course well understood by the Council, and I do think that, in order to remove Imperial buildings from the governance of municipalities—and I do not believe there are more than two in the whole province—it will be very hard that the Provincial funds should pay compensation.

The motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY said:—Although the Council has adopted my motion and taken the Report of the Select Committee into consideration, and although under the Rules the Bill might at once be passed, I ask permission to postpone that motion till the next meeting of the Council.

The motion that the Bill be passed was accordingly postponed.

HOWRAH BRIDGE ACT, IX OF 1871, AMENDMENT BILL.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY asked permission to make a representation to the Council on a subject not on the notice paper regarding the amendment of the Howrah Bridge Act. He said :—At the meeting before last, I obtained permission to introduce the Bill, and I proceeded in the ordinary course to prepare a Statement of the Objects and Reasons, and these were in course of circulation for consideration at the last meeting, when a telegram was received which intimated that the Government of India had certain objections to offer to the Bill. The circulation of the papers was accordingly stopped, and it was considered desirable, before placing the matter further before the Council, to await the letter of the Government of India, and to see what objections really were taken. That letter has just been received, but there has been no time to prepare an amended Statement of Objects and Reasons. The Government of India has taken objection to the third proposal in the Bill to make over from the surplus bridge funds two lakhs of rupees to assist the Calcutta Municipality in making a road from the bridge to the Sealdah Railway station. The Government of India object to this on two grounds—first, they do not think the Calcutta Municipality has any claim to a share in the surplus, which has been in the main contributed from the general funds of the East Indian Railway by the terminal charges on goods and passengers carried by them; but even if that were desirable, the Government of India are of opinion that it would be more prudent, in view of possible dangers which might arise from the temporary nature of the bridge, that the whole of the surplus should be added to the reserve fund. We must of course defer to the decision of the Government of India, and it is therefore necessary to bring in a Bill differently constructed. I think in the circumstances that it will conduce to the despatch of business if the Council will now receive the Bill as it has been prepared, with the Statement of Objects and Reasons, and refer it to a Select Committee, and leave it to the Select Committee to make the necessary alterations in accordance with the wishes of the Government of India. The reason why I press this on the Council is that, until the Local Government is invested with the necessary power, local tolls must go on being levied. The Howrah Bridge Act having made the levy of local tolls compulsory, the levy of such tolls must continue until an Act is passed and sanctioned by the Government of India. I therefore ask that the Bill be now read in Council.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said :—I have given permission to bring this matter before the Council, and will be guided by their opinions as to the action to be taken. The position seems to be this—that the present Bridge Act as it stands does not permit the local tolls being taken off without fresh legislation. At the same time the Act declares that these tolls are to be in force until the requisite sum is accumulated. That sum has now been accumulated, and we are going on levying tolls, which, as my hon. friend explained, ought, to a certain extent at all events, to be taken off at once, and the sooner the better. For that reason, instead of postponing the reading of the Bill, I thought it necessary to bring the question before the Council; and what the Council will have to consider is, first, whether the Bill may be read now and referred to a Select Committee, and then whether the procedure suggested, namely, that the cutting out of the third section, which deals with the grant of two lakhs of rupees to the Calcutta Municipality for the purpose of constructing the new road, may be dealt with by the Select Committee. These are the points which the Council will have to consider. If any hon. members object to the proposed facilities being now given, that will be a point for consideration.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY also moved that the Bill be referred to a Select Committee, consisting of the Hon. Mr. Reynolds, the Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter, the Hon. Mr. Pratt, and the Mover, with instructions to report upon it at the next sitting of the Council.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 12th May, 1888.

REPORT OF THE CHEMICAL EXAMINER TO GOVERNMENT FOR 1887.

MEDICAL.

Dated Calcutta, the 7th May 1888.

READ—

A letter from the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, No. 2596, dated the 3rd April 1888, forwarding the Report of the Chemical Examiner for the year 1887.

Read also—

The Report for 1886 and the Resolution recorded on it.

There has been some delay in the receipt of the report from the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, due to the fact that Dr. Warden, the Chemical Examiner, submitted it 25 days after it was due.

2. The number of analyses performed during the year under report was 2,402 against 2,286 in 1886. The following table shows the general nature of the work done during the year compared with that of the previous year:—

Medico-legal—

	1886.	1887.
Human viscera tested for poison	266	233
Animal ditto ditto	157	119
Fowls ditto ditto	8
Substances suspected to be or to contain poison, including cattle-poison	634	594
Articles tested for blood stains	148	180
Ditto for seminal stains	37	54
Articles tested for purity and quality—
Potable water	71	47
Petroleum and inflammable oils	103	212
Lime-juice	9	15
Opium, confiscated	55	119
„ from the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces	4	4
Salt	8	9
Ghee	30	10
Spirit for deleterious adulterations	44	8
Spirit determinations for the Collector of Customs	104	139
Small Arms Ammunition Factory, Dum-Dum	400	402
Fort William Arsenal	23	22
Isapore Gunpowder and Cossipore Shell Factories	10	3
Medical Store Department	14	14
Telegraph Store „	24	8
Commissariat „	38	96
Army Clothing „ Alipore	48	2
Other departments	51	112
Total	2,286	2,402

3. There was an increase of 116 cases in the number of analyses performed during the year under review. Twenty reports were also submitted on technical questions to departments under the Imperial and Bengal Governments. The increase in analytical work was mainly under the following heads: articles tested for blood and seminal stains, petroleum, opium confiscated, Commissariat and other departments. There was a diminution under other heads, namely, human and animal viscera tested for poison, suspected substances, potable water, ghee, spirit for deleterious adulteration, Telegraph Stores, and Army Clothing Department.

4. The number of medico-legal examinations was 1,180 against 1,250 in 1886 and 1,437 in 1885. Among these the most important were those of human viscera; in 14.6 per cent. of those examined arsenic and in 24 per cent. opium was detected while other poisons were found in 6 per cent. of the cases. Poison was thus detected, in 44.6 per cent. of the viscera against 42.48 per cent. in 1886. There is a decrease in the number of cases in which arsenic was detected, but the number for the last three years

(118) is very much larger than in any other similar period since 1875. From 1880-81 to 1882-83 only 72 such cases were discovered. The increase is probably largely due to the fact that during the last four years a far larger proportion of the post-mortems have been conducted by highly qualified officers than was formerly the case. In 1882-83 Hospital Assistants held 49 per cent. of post-mortem examinations against 3·4 per cent. in 1887; 201 substances suspected to be cattle-poisons were examined against 144 in 1886, and in 133 cases against 115 last year poisons were detected. 119 animal viscera were examined against 157 in 1886, and arsenic was detected in 76·9 per cent. of those examined against 75·79 in 1886. A large number of samples of petroleum were tested, and in every case satisfied the requirements of the Petroleum Act. A very much smaller number (10) of samples of ghee were tested in 1887 than in 1886, and only in three cases were the samples found to be adulterated.

5. Dr. Warden has continued to investigate the properties of indigenous drugs, and has also succeeded in isolating from Embelia ribes an acid which appears to be its active principle.

6. Dr. Warden's report on the subject of experiments in connection with tube wells is awaited by the Lieutenant-Governor.

7. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to Dr. Warden for his concise but full report, and for the good work he has done during the year. The Lieutenant-Governor also notices with satisfaction the high terms in which Dr. Warden speaks of the work done by Assistant Surgeon Taraprasana Ray and Baboo Ram Chandra Datta.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

J. WARE EDGAR,

Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

AMENDED FORM OF RENT RECEIPT UNDER THE BENGAL
TENANCY ACT, 1885.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—LAND REVENUE.

Calcutta, the 10th May 1888.

READ—

- A memorial, dated the 29th March, 1886, from Maharajah Sir Jotendro Mohan Tagore, on the subject of the particulars to be entered in the form of rent receipt prescribed by the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885.
- A letter to the Board of Revenue, No. 1120—456LR, dated the 31st March, 1886, communicating the instructions of Government on the above subject.
- A letter from the Board of Revenue, No. 236B, dated the 29th February, 1888, supporting a proposal of the Collector of Backergunge that the words "particulars of the holding" should be omitted from the form of rent receipt.

THE form of receipt for rent introduced by the Bengal Tenancy Act contains in two places the phrase "particulars of the holding," as a general heading, against which no entries are to be made, its object being merely to introduce the subordinate headings as to area and rent. In the memorial quoted in the preamble, it was represented to Government by Maharajah Sir Jotendro Mohan Tagore that this was not understood by his tenants, who declined in many cases to pay rent unless their status as occupancy ryots, or ryots at a fixed rent, was entered in the receipt against the general heading specified above. The misunderstanding proved to be very general, and in many places it led to a suspension in the payment of rent. With a view to remove the misapprehension, the Board of Revenue, under the instructions of the Lieutenant-Governor, issued a Circular to Commissioners and Collectors in April, 1886, requesting them to explain to the public the true meaning of the law. The measure produced the immediate effect desired, and the complaints as to the withholding of rents on the ground that the position of the tenant was not specified in the receipts ceased for the time. But the Collector of Backergunge has reported that the ryots are still misled by the form of receipt, and the Board of Revenue recommend that, to remove all future doubt, it be amended by the omission of the words which have been misconstrued.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor approves this alteration, which does not in any way affect the meaning or substance of the receipts; and in exercise of the power conferred upon him by clause 3, section 56 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, he sanctions the accompanying modified form for general use. As considerable stocks of copies of the form as at present authorized probably exist, it is directed that the form now sanctioned shall be introduced from the commencement of the next agricultural year, that is to say, where the Bengali year prevails, from the first day of Bysack,* where the Fasli and Amli year prevails, from the first of Assin, and, where any other year prevails for agricultural purposes, from the commencement of that year.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the foregoing Resolution be forwarded to the Board of Revenue for information and guidance, and for communication to the Commissioners of Divisions and District Officers.

Ordered also that this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN;

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT ON THE WORKING OF ACT I OF 1882, THE INLAND EMIGRATION ACT, IN THE DISTRICT OF CHITTAGONG DURING THE YEAR 1887.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—INLAND EMIGRATION.

Calcutta, the 12th May 1888.

READ—

Memorandum No. 339GM, dated the 3rd April 1888, from the Commissioner of the Chittagong Division, and enclosed reports from the Magistrate of Chittagong and the Deputy Commissioner of the Chittagong Hill Tracts, respectively, on the working of the Inland Emigration Act I of 1882 during the year 1887.

The most marked feature in the reports on the working of the Inland Emigration Act during the year 1887 is the great falling off in the number of labourers employed under its provisions. These amounted to 915 in 1884, they declined to 723 in 1885, to 717 in 1886, and have now been reduced to 433. The Commissioner has on previous occasions recommended the withdrawal of the Chittagong district and the Chittagong Hill Tracts from the operation of the Act, which has never been introduced in any other part of Bengal, and he now observes that the system is apparently dying a natural death. This is literally true of the Hill Tracts, where no labourers were employed under the Act during the year, and the observation applies in great measure to the district of Chittagong also. The result is gratifying, inasmuch as it is not connected with any decline in the tea industry, but indicates a disposition on the part of planters to rely upon kindness and fair treatment for retaining the services of their labourers rather than upon penal contracts. In the Resolution on the report for the year 1885 it was stated that in view of the falling off in the number of labourers it appeared that the time was approaching, but had not then arrived, when exceptional provisions for the execution of labour contracts would be unnecessary in Chittagong and in the Chittagong Hill Tracts. The further decline now reported affords a suitable opportunity for the reconsideration of the subject, and the Commissioner will be asked to report, after consulting those best qualified to advise, whether it is desirable to continue the operation in those districts of the clauses of the Act which are applicable only to "labour districts," as defined in the law.

2. The death-rate among contract coolies was favourable, only 1·82 per cent. against 2·39 in the previous year. It appears that the labourers in the gardens, those under the Act as well as others, are well provided for in respect of lodging, drinking-water, and medical attendance. There were 16 reported desertions; two of the deserters were punished under section 175 of the Act, most of the others being discharged with a warning at the request of their employers. The work of inspection appears to have been done thoroughly when gardens were visited, but in some cases no inspection was made, the number of contract labourers being so few. This illustrates the inconvenience of working the Act where the labourers under its provisions constitute a small minority among a large number of free coolies; the inspecting officer, who is the Joint-Magistrate of Chittagong, has either to spend much time to little purpose in travelling to gardens where there may be only two or three labourers under engagements, or to neglect a safeguard contemplated by the Act.

QUARTERLY INSPECTION OF THE KIDDERPORE DOCK WORKS.

FOURTH REPORT.

Dated Calcutta, the 7th May 1888.

From—T. H. WICKES, Esq., and H. CLOETE, Esq.,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

WE have the honour to report that, in accordance with the orders of the Government of Bengal, No. 415 Mne. of the 21st ultimo, we made the fourth quarterly inspection of the Kidderpore Docks on the 2nd instant.

2. The usual tabular statement and index plan showing the work done during the quarter, and the total amount executed from the commencement of the work, which have been prepared by the Superintending Engineer in charge of the Docks, are already with Government

3. The state of the works on the 31st of March last was as follows:—

TEMPORARY WORKS AND PLANT.

The tramway along the bank of the Boat Canal, for connecting the Eastern Bengal Railway near Ballygunge with the docks and Akra brick-fields (which was referred to in our last report), was pushed on, but was not completed during the quarter under report.

PERMANENT WORKS.

Sixty feet lock.—The portion of the lock nearest the river was excavated to its full depth, and the masonry foundation was in hand; considerable progress was made with the middle portion which was commenced in the previous quarter; and the end nearest the tidal basin was also founded. During the quarter, 553,000 cubic feet of earth were removed, and 270,000 cubic feet of masonry built. Altogether more than half the earthwork and one-sixth of the masonry have been executed.

Tidal basin.—The foundations of the south-east and south-west corner of the tidal basin were successfully laid. Up to date 42 per cent. of the quay walls have been founded; and more than one-third of the whole of the masonry and earthwork completed.

Dock No. 1.—About 1,096 running feet of quay wall were founded, and the masonry of the portions previously commenced were proceeded with; 1,015,000 cubic feet of masonry were built, and 1,115,000 cubic feet of earth moved; in all nearly two-thirds of the entire length of quay wall have been founded, and about half the masonry and one-third of the total amount of earthwork executed.

Boat canal.—The excavation for this work was proceeded with, and 7,922,000 cubic feet of earthwork executed during the quarter, making in all about 45 per cent. of the total amount.

Expenditure.—The total expenditure up to the end of the quarter was Rs. 84,69,241, of which Rs. 62,60,584 were for works and Rs. 22,08,657 for land.

SANITARY.

The health of the work-people continued satisfactory. The average number employed was 11,012, amongst whom 49 deaths, are reported to have occurred, being equivalent to a death, rate of 17·8 per thousand per annum.

GENERAL REMARKS.

We consider that the progress on the works which have been taken in hand has been extremely satisfactory; and that, so far as we could judge from a quarterly inspection, the arrangements were good and the quality of the work all that could be desired.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF APRIL 1888.

THE month of April in Bengal is noticeable as being almost the hottest of the whole year, and it is usually characterised by steadily increasing temperature, with decreasing pressure, the decreasing pressure being brought about by a series of oscillations, in which the downward movement is greater than the upward. Hot weather storms or nor'-westers are generally rather frequent in this month. For some days before they occur the barometer falls steadily, and sometimes largely in Bengal, and probably over Northern India. The most and fairly cool southerly or sea winds, blowing across the Bengal and Orissa coasts also increase in force. At the same time hot dry westerly and north-westerly winds blow steadily from Central India over a considerable part of the west and centre of the province, while moist easterly winds also blow down the Assam Valley. Bengal thus becomes a focus towards which these three wind systems, opposed in character and direction, converge, and it is apparently by their interaction that the usual hot weather storms are formed. At such periods pressure oscillates rather rapidly, and the changes at neighbouring stations are unequal, showing that the atmosphere is in a disturbed state, and more or less numerous thunderstorms with rain occur. Each storm is generally confined to a narrow area, and its existence is brief, and so far as is known they do not travel, as violent storms, more than about 30 or 40 miles. These storms form the only source of rain in Bengal during April. The rainfall brought by these storms is therefore very irregularly distributed; but, roughly speaking, the falls are greatest in the districts of East and North Bengal bordering on the Himalayas, and in the Assam and Arakan Hills, while the rainfall is least in the western districts generally, and in Behar and Central Bengal. Thus the normal rainfall in East and North Bengal varies from about two and-a-half to three and-a-half inches; in South-West Bengal it is about two inches; in Orissa rather more than an inch, while in Behar and Chutia Nagpur it equals about half an inch.

Meteorology of the month.—The meteorological conditions of the first few days of April call for no remark, except that they were of normal hot weather character. A few rain showers occurred on the 3rd and 4th, due to small local storms in a few of the districts of Orissa, South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, but they were of no practical importance. From the 4th up to the 7th again was a period of fairly normal conditions, but on the latter date nor'-westers occurred at about three stations in East Bengal.

Dacca was one of the stations at which a nor'-wester occurred on the evening of the 7th April; but while the nor'-wester was in progress at about 7 o'clock in the evening, this station was visited by a most violent and fierce tornado, which caused great destruction of life and property. A detailed account of this noticeable storm has been prepared, and has been read before the Asiatic Society of Bengal at their meeting on May 2nd; the meteorological portion of the paper having been contributed by the Officiating Meteorological Reporter, and the actual account of the storm by Dr. Crombie, Civil Surgeon of Dacca. The paper in question will be shortly published in the Journal of the Society, so that it is only necessary at present to allude somewhat briefly to the storm.

The meteorological conditions of the province on the 6th, 7th and 8th of April, when discussed in detail, show that the three more or less opposed wind systems, such as have been previously referred to, were present in a pronounced form in Bengal. On the 6th an extremely dry and hot westerly wind was blowing over the western, central, and part of the northern districts of the province. Strong, very moist and comparatively cool southerly winds were blowing across the Bengal coast, being partly converted by interaction with the westerly winds into a south-westerly current, while a cool moist easterly wind was blowing down the Assam Valley. On this day also there was an extremely feeble low-pressure area existing over parts of Western Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, and which was travelling in a north-easterly direction. On the 7th, a large increase in the area occupied by the moist southerly winds was noticed, and it is clear that a considerable increase must have taken place in their strength, or a corresponding decrease in the strength of the dry westerly winds, though the former is more probably the case. On this day also the feeble area of low pressure had moved in a north-easterly direction, and was in Central Bengal. The advance of the moist southerly winds was, however, very temporary; and by the morning of the 8th they had been driven back even further than they had advanced on the 7th, and hot dry westerly winds obtained over a very large part of the province. The low-pressure area on this day had again advanced in a north-easterly direction, and was in North Bengal. There must have been, therefore, on the 7th April a very large amount of interaction going on between these two opposing wind systems, each apparently struggling to force back the other, until the cool moist current, which had up to the morning of the 7th rapidly advanced, was still more rapidly and completely forced backed by the hot dry westerly wind.

The conditions, therefore, which existed in Central and North Bengal on the day of the formation of the Dacca tornado, were a large amount of interaction, which was probably both rapid and rather violent, between two wind systems blowing in different directions, and totally opposed in characters of temperature and humidity; second, violent contrasts of temperature and humidity at neighbouring stations of the same area; and third, the passage of a feeble area of low pressure through the province in a north-easterly direction. It was to the south-east of the line of advance of the feeble low-pressure area, and to the southeast of the violent contrasts of temperature and humidity, that the tornado was formed. It may here be remarked that in the United States it has been found conditions such as have been above described almost invariably precede or accompany the formation of tornadoes. A peculiarity in the case of the Dacca tornado appears to be that it visited that station while an actual nor-wester was in progress, and this would, perhaps, tend to show that the meteorological conditions in Bengal, which are usually only followed by ordinary nor-westers, may, with the addition of some other cause or causes of which at present nothing is known, and which may perhaps be more or less of an accidental nature, also produce tornadoes; but if such is the case it is fortunate for Bengal that the necessary combination of circumstances is rare, and does not occur more than once in about five or ten years.

The following is a very brief abstract of the excellent and exhaustive account of the Dacca tornado, which has been prepared by Dr. Crombie, and which will shortly be published, as before stated, by the Asiatic Society of Bengal:—

Dr. Crombie first discusses the action which a storm, with winds gyrating in direction opposite to the hands of a watch, would have on obstacles in its path, and proves that the storm in question was a tornado, with winds rotating from right to left (e.g. against the hands of a watch), by taking up its action in one part of its course on the Buxland Bund close to the Nabab's palace; and shows also how, by the position of the objects thrown down, the precise track of the centre of the storm can be proved. It appears the tornado began its destructive course soon after seven in the evening of the 7th of April at the extreme west end of the municipal limits of Dacca. The first clear signs of the rotating nature of the tempest occur in an orchard to the north-east of Fakirika masjid, where there is a clump of plantain trees thrown down and twisted in all directions, and even in a first manifestation it is clear that the storm was of great violence. The vortex commenced to travel in a south-easterly direction between the old river bed and the road running parallel to it, destroying every kutcha hut in this portion of Dacca. In its passage eastward, it gradually edged more and more towards the old river bed, and when it was opposite the Elephant Ghat the vortex was actually in the bed of the river, and it appeared as if it would have moved in the direction of least resistance, and would pass out into the open maidan, lying to the south of Nawabgunge. Suddenly, however, the vortex moved to the north, and was met with winds of hurricane force, apparently quite separate from the true tornado, and blowing from the north, the track of which was not more than 60 paces across, and which were very local. Having advanced a short distance in a north-easterly direction, it again turned towards the south-east. Up to this time the tornado does not seem to have had power to destroy pucca masonry buildings, though it had destroyed very numerous huts, trees, &c. It, however, here passed into the maidan to the south of Lalbagh, and on being freed from such obstacles as buildings, &c. it seems rapidly to have accumulated additional force, and from this point it was able to destroy even the strongest houses. From Lalbagh the vortex passed into the river, gradually crossing to the opposite bank, where it almost ground to powder a newly-built masonry house. It was then approaching a village called Subadiya, and at this time the part of Dacca on the north bank of the Buriganga seemed safe, and Subadiya doomed; but when crossing an open maidan, it appears to have encountered a strong current of air blowing up from the south, when it abruptly altered its direction, wheeled nearly at a right angle to the north, and travelled in a north-easterly direction back to Dacca, when the largest amount of damage was done, masonry houses, part of the Nawab's palace, &c., being demolished, and everything in the track being destroyed, until the storm reached the Sankari bazar, where it more or less suddenly rose from the ground, and passed high into the air. In no part of its course did the breadth of the tornado exceed 200 paces, and at the part where it did most damage it was only 150 paces broad. It travelled altogether over three and a-half miles, and its rate of progress was according to different estimates from 20 to 12 miles an hour. The lateral force of the wind as above stated was enormous, and the uprush attending it must have been equally strong, as in some cases, after the walls of houses had been blown out, large beams were actually kept from falling for distinct periods by this violent uprush of air. The shape of the tornado cloud appears to have been something like a top; it was accompanied by a distinct rumbling sound; and considerable electrical disturbance seems to have accompanied it, and the cloud appears to have been more or less illuminated. The storm caused 118 deaths, while 1,800 persons were somewhat severely wounded, and about seven lakhs worth of property was destroyed.

After the occurrence of this storm ordinary hot weather conditions again obtained over the province for some time. Dry westerly winds prevailed over the greater part of Bengal, and these had a more or less northerly element in them at the northern stations, while they were south-westerly at the southern stations. Temperature was unusually high, while pressure was low, and there were very few local storms or nor-westers reported, so that rain was practically absent from the province. These conditions remained unaltered, except for the usual oscillations of pressure and temperature, and slight changes in the wind directions, up till Tuesday, the 17th, and on the morning of Wednesday, the 18th, the meteorological observations taken at the eastern stations showed that a decided change was taking place, for at all the stations on the Arakan and Burma coasts, and at the stations in North and partly in East Bengal, an easterly wind current set in, attended at some of these stations also with an unusually rapid rise of pressure. This easterly wind current then gradually forced its way across Bengal; and by the 20th more or less easterly winds were reported over the greater part of the province. The interaction between the two opposing wind systems at once caused the weather conditions to become disturbed over the province, and thus nor'-westers with rain occurred, and with the extension of the interaction, the area affected by the disturbed conditions gradually enlarged. Thus in East Bengal, from the 17th and 18th, local storms occurred frequently, in North Bengal the disturbance commenced on the 19th, and South-West Bengal received showers on the 20th. Similar conditions have obtained almost uninterruptedly till the close of the month; a very moist easterly wind current has prevailed over the greater part of the province, and has even penetrated over the greater part of Behar, though westerly and south-westerly winds have been still blowing generally in Chutia Nagpur and Orissa and at the neighbouring stations of South-West Bengal. Consequently weather conditions have remained decidedly disturbed in Bengal, and local storms with rain have been extremely frequent. The districts of Pooree and Cuttack in Orissa, and all the districts of South Behar and Chutia Nagpur, except Southal Pergunnahs and Manbhoom, have however, been comparatively free from these storms, and rainfall in these district has been scanty, but in the districts of East and North Bengal these storms have been very numerous, and the rainfall brought by them has been heavy. Some of these storms have been exceptionally severe; and notice has been received that in the Hooghly district, on the evening of April the 23rd, the small town of Bhudressur, which is close to Serampore, or only 16 or 17 miles north of Calcutta, was visited by a small but severe tornado, which lasted from about three to six minutes. Mr. Duke, the Sub-divisional Officer, Serampore, writes that the storm entered the south-eastern part of the town from the river about 8 o'clock in the evening. At first the direction of the track was north-west by north, and having travelled about $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles, finally left north-east about the northern part of Bhudressur, disappearing in the river as it had come. The breadth of the course was about 200 to 300 yards on land from the shore, and the centre and point of greatest violence about the line of the riverbank near the gunge. The winds rotated from right to left, and the tornado was preceded by a booming sound. Much damage was done and large boats were lifted out of the water and thrown over the banks, and in one case a dinghi had been blown up on to a tree which had first been partially blown down. Seven persons are known to have been killed and three are missing, while a considerable number have been injured.

The month of April may therefore be divided into two periods: for the first sixteen or seventeen days ordinary hot weather conditions and comparative absence of local storms prevailed, while from the 17th to the end of the month local storms with rain were common in all districts except in the Pooree and Cuttack districts in Orissa, in the Chumparan and Saron districts of North Behar, in the Shahabad, Gya, Patna and Monghyr districts of South Behar, and in the Hazaribagh, and Lohardugga districts, and in the greater part of the Singbhoom districts of Chutia Nagpur.

Pressure.—For the first week of April pressure was decidedly low, and was on the average about 0.045 inch below the normal. This defect was rather increased during the second week, when it equalled 0.067 inch, and for the greater part of the third week also pressure continued very low, the defect equalling nearly the same amount as in the second week. With the setting in of the disturbed conditions, however, pressure generally rose, and for the remainder of the month it became above the normal, the mean pressure of the fourth week showing an excess of 0.012 inch. Taking into consideration only those stations which have sent in observations for a long series of years, and which therefore yield reliable averages, the mean pressure for the whole of Bengal for April was 0.042 inch in defect of the normal. This defect has been fairly equally distributed, though it has been actually greatest at the western and smallest at the eastern stations. Thus at Calcutta the defect has been 0.056 inch, at Burdwan 0.051 inch, and at Gya 0.07 inch, while at Dacca it has been 0.031 inch, and at Purneah 0.033 inch. In Assam also the defective pressure has been rather smaller than in Bengal, and it has only equalled 0.036 inch.

Temperature.—The month of April may be fairly sharply divided into two periods, during the first of which, or up to about 18th or 20th, temperature was exceptionally high, while for the remainder of the month, during which period storms with rain were numerous, temperature was decidedly low. The general mean temperature of Bengal for the first and second weeks of April was about 2° above the normal, while in the third week the excess had risen to 2.2° . The excess temperatures were, however, during this period mainly confined to the west of the province, the western districts sometimes showing temperatures five degrees above the normal. During the fourth week temperature had fallen so rapidly that it was 3.5° below the normal, and the defect was particularly large in North Bengal, where it amounted to 6.9° , and in East Bengal and North Behar, where it amounted to from 5° to 6° . At Rampore Beaulah in this week the mean temperature was no less than 10.2° below the normal, and at Berhampore 9° below it. The mean temperature of the whole of Bengal for the month has therefore been 0.6° in excess of the normal. The excess has been to a great extent confined to the west of the province, and thus Chutia Nagpur shows an excess of 2.6° , North Behar one of 1.1° , South Behar one of 0.9° , and South-West Bengal an excess of 0.6° . In East Bengal temperature has been in defect by 0.7° , and in North Bengal by 1.1° , while in Assam temperature has been in defect by 1.2° .

The following table will show clearly the general variation of the temperature from the normal in different districts of the province week by week for the month, the figures showing the actual temperature variations at nine typical stations:—

Some very high maximum temperatures have been recorded in Bengal during April, principally during the first half.

The following will show some of the highest temperatures registered in the various meteorological divisions:—

In Orissa, Cuttack, on the 19th	... 110.4°
„ South-West Bengal, Midnapur, on the 18th	... 112.4°
„ ditto, Bunkoorah, „ 18th	... 110.6°
„ ditto, Ranigunge, „ 18th	... 110.5°
„ East Bengal, Furreedpur, „ 15th	... 100.5°
„ North Bengal, Bogra, „ 8th	... 106.5°
„ North Behar, Purneah, „ 15th	... 104.3°
„ South Behar, Dehree, „ 18th	... 110.0°
„ Chutia Nagpur, Chyobassa, „ 19th	... 111.6°
„ Assam, Dhubri, „ 8th	... 99.4°

Humidity—The humidities which were registered during the early part of April over a considerable part of the province were extraordinarily low. The following figures represent the percentage amount of saturation of the air with moisture at 10 A.M. on the respective dates, one hundred equalling complete saturation:—

Ranigunge on the 9th	... 7 per cent.

Rainfall.—The periods at which rainfall has occurred during the month have already been described, and it therefore only remains to state its amount and distribution. The falls have been heaviest in East Bengal, which has received an average amount of between eight and nine inches, or considerably more than double the normal fall. In North Bengal the falls have averaged a little more than four inches, which is again nearly twice the usual fall. North Behar has recorded an average fall of about two and-a-half inches, which is more than three times the quantity which usually falls in April, and South-West Bengal has received an average fall of about three inches, which is about half as much again as the normal. In the other districts the falls have been considerably below the normal. In Orissa an average fall of a little more than half an inch has been registered, which is about half the usual April fall; in South Behar about three-tenths of an inch of rain has fallen, or about three-fourths of the usual amount, while finally in Chutia Nagpur the fall only equals a tenth of an inch, or less than a quarter of the normal fall for April.

Taking up the distribution of the rainfall a little more in detail, the following are some of the districts in which the falls during April have been considerably below the normal amounts for the month. In Orissa, Pooree, and Cuttack districts; in South-West Bengal, the Burdwan district only has received a somewhat defective fall; in East Bengal, all districts have received good falls; in North Bengal, the Malda district has received a rather defective fall; in North Behar, rainfall has been above the normal in all districts; in South Behar, Shahabad has received an exceedingly small fall, averaging 0.07 inch, while the Gya district has received none at all, and the Patna district practically none; and finally all the districts in Chutia Nagpur show largely defective falls.

The rainfall in Assam in April has been very heavy, particularly in Silchar and Sibsagar. Thus a rainfall of 26.93 inches is reported from Silchar; one of 11.68 inches from Sibsagar, while at Dhubri the fall has equalled 5.57 inches.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven Meteorological divisions of the Province for the month of April 1888:—

variations are negative when the mean for the week is less than the corresponding normal mean, and positive when greater.
 The amount represents the part of the sky covered, the whole sky being divided by 10. Under the head District observations of rainfall the normal means are the numerical average of the rainfall received in the district, i.e., from total rainfall at the sub-divisional stations.

CALCUTTA, the 15th May 1888.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS
TAKEN IN BENGAL AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS
TAKEN IN ASSAM FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 11TH OF MAY 1888.

The meteorological conditions which obtained at the close of the previous week were simple, and were of the ordinary settled hot-weather character. Winds were more or less westerly over almost the whole of Bengal, though in Assam they were north-easterly. Pressure though was distinctly below the normal, and temperature considerably above it. There was also an almost total absence of rainfall, and local storms had become very infrequent. These conditions continued unchanged on the 5th or the first day of the week under review, though there was a slight reaction noticeable in the wind directions, and an easterly wind current commenced to make itself felt at the eastern and northern stations, while in Chutia Nagpur and at some of the central stations in Behar northerly and north-easterly winds were reported. On the following day winds in Chutia Nagpur became north-westerly, though more or less easterly winds were still blowing at the eastern stations. On the 7th the easterly winds again extended to Chutia Nagpur and parts of Behar, and until the close of the week similar oscillations took place from day to day. These changes in the wind directions and the slight interaction taking place between the wind systems over the province at once caused weather conditions to become slightly disturbed, and local storms with rain became rather more numerous from the 6th, and they continued moderately frequent up to the end of the week. Conditions, however, have been by no means so disturbed as they were at the close of April, and the storms of the present week have been decidedly restricted in the area of their action, and the rainfall brought by them has also usually been light. The storms also have only extended over parts of the various districts, and thus the rainfall brought up by them can scarcely be called general in any part of the province. Rainfall has in fact been mainly confined in Orissa to the Balasore district; in South-West Bengal to the Burdwan, Bankoorah, Beerbhoom, Nudda, Jessore, and Moorshedabad districts; in East Bengal to the Furreedpore, Dacca, Tipperah and Mymensingh districts; in North Bengal to the Rajshahye, Maldah, and Julpigore districts; in South-Bihar to the Sonthal Pergunnah district; and in Chutia Nagpur to the Manbhoom district. Over the whole of North Bihar and in the remaining districts of the other meteorological divisions, local storms have been very few in number, and rainfall has been almost absent.

While, however, the meteorological changes in Bengal during the week have been unimportant, in the south of the Bay conditions have decidedly altered. From about the middle of the week under review it was clear that the general distribution of pressure over the Bay was favourable for the first advance of south-west monsoon winds in the south of the Bay, and towards the close of the week the first feeble advance did take place. The advance was decidedly less powerful than usual, but nevertheless in front of the rush of moist winds a small cyclonic storm was formed which on Friday, the 11th, appeared off the South Madras coast, the centre being not far off the land, and apparently to the east-north-east of Negapatam at 8 A.M. of the 11th. This storm brought rough sea and strong winds with rain along the whole of the Madras coast, and it passed inland before the morning of the 12th.

Pressure—At the close of the previous week had been decidedly below the normal. On the 5th there was a general rise, which continued on the 6th, 7th and 8th in all districts except South Bihar. By this continued increase, pressure had become above the normal by amounts varying from 0.1 inch to 0.15 inch. On the 9th, however, pressure generally fell by small amounts, but on the 10th and 11th it again rose, so that on Friday, the 11th, pressure was generally above the normal by amounts ranging from 0.15 inch to 0.20 inch. Taking into consideration those stations from which observations have been received for a series of years, and which therefore yield reliable averages, the mean pressure of the province has been above the normal by nearly 0.07 inch, and the excess has been largest in the western and central districts of the province, while it has been smaller at the eastern stations. In Assam the excess pressure for the week has only averaged 0.036 inch.

Temperature Has continued above the normal over almost the whole province throughout the week, and the mean temperature has been 2.2° in excess. This excess has been fairly equally distributed, the smallest excess being 1.5° in North Bengal, and the largest 2.9° in East Bengal. The average excess temperature in Assam has been 2.5°.

Rainfall.—As previously stated, rainfall has been rather scanty and local during the week, and no district has received an average fall of an inch of rain. The largest falls are reported from South-West Bengal, the stations in which have recorded the average amount of 0.78 inch, which is, however, only about half the usual amount for the week. North Bengal has received an average fall of 0.47 inch, or about a quarter of the usual fall; the stations of East Bengal average 0.31 inch, or only about a seventh of the usual quantity; Orissa reports 0.20 inch, or roughly a fifth of the normal amount. Chutia Nagpur 0.22 inch, equal to about a third of the usual fall; and South Bihar 0.18 inch, about two-fifths of the normal; while North Bihar has received no rain at all.

In Assam, Sibsagar has received 2.27 inches of rain during the week, Dhubri 0.57 inch, and Silchar 0.36 inch.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 11th of May 1888:—

METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, BENGAL;

A. PEDLER,

The 15th May 1888.

Offg. Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

MEMORANDUM.*

THE chief features in the mortuary statistics of the districts in Bengal for the month of February 1888, deduced from the table annexed to the memorandum, are:—

1. That 105,727 persons died among a population of 66,163,884, representing an annual death-rate of 19·08 per 1,000, against 25·08 per 1,000 in the preceding month, and 18·36 per 1,000 in the corresponding month of the preceding year, indicating, as compared with the former period, a large reduction in the number of deaths recorded.

2. That the highest casualty-rates were returned from the following districts:—

Districts.	Ratio per mille.	Districts.	Ratio per mille.
Birbhum ...	29·16	Midnapore ...	26·88
Rungpore ...	28·56	Darjiling ...	26·64

Rajshahye ...	27·84	Pubna ...	25·56
Jalpaiguri ...	27·72	Hughli ...	25·08
Noakhali ...	27·60	Balasore ...	25·08

3. That the mortality from the principal diseases does not exhibit any noticeable difference in comparison with the death-rates from the same diseases during the corresponding month of the preceding year:—

Ratio per mille during—				February 1888.	February 1887.
Cholera	·60	·90
Small-pox	·08	·06
Fever	14·28	13·44
Bowel-complaints	·72	·72
Injury	·12	·12
Other causes	3·12	2·68

4. That the undermentioned districts suffered pre-eminently from cholera, fever and the maladies classed under the head of "Other causes," the rest of the diseases (indicated in the above table) manifesting no noticeable exacerbations:—

Cholera.	Ratio per mille.	Fever.	Ratio per mille.	Other causes.	Ratio per mille.
Backerganj ...	3·84	Dinajpur ...	27·12	Puri ...	14·52

OFFICE OF SANITARY COMMISSIONER FOR BENGAL,

The 14th May 1888.

R. LIDDERDALE, M.D., Deputy Surgeon-General, Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal.

MEMORANDUM.

THE chief incidents in connection with the vital statistics of the principal Municipalities in Bengal for the week ending 28th April 1888, are the following—

1. That the ratio of births during the period above mentioned stood at 18 and that of deaths at 24·7 per 1,000 of population; the record of the preceding week ending 21st April presenting 19·9 and 29·3 per 1,000, respectively, indicating a considerable decrease in the registration of both the events, particularly of deaths.

2. That the highest proportions of births and deaths were returned from the following Municipalities :—

Births.				Deaths.
			Ratio per mille.				Ratio per mille.
Comillah	73·2	Comillah	61·6
Bhagulpore	45·3	Jessore	61·2
Narainganj	33·1	Suburbs of Calcutta	47·2
Gya	30·8	Hughli	37·6
				Serampore	35·4
				Chittagong	35·2
				Narainganj	33·1
				Gya	32·3
				Beaulah	31·5
				Purneah	31·1

3. That as compared with the results of the preceding week, there was a diminution of mortality, to a more or less extent, from all diseases, notably from cholera and fever :—

						Ratio per mille during the weeks ending—
						28th April 1888	21st April 1888
Cholera	7·3	9·5
Small-pox	·2	3
Fever	8·5	9·5
Bowel-complaints	2·0	2·4
Injury	·3	·5
Other causes	6·4	7·1

4. That the following Municipalities returned conspicuously high mortality from cholera, fever, and the maladies coming under head of "Other causes," and no Municipality exhibited any noticeably high suffering from the other diseases mentioned in the foregoing table, excepting Narainganj, where 20·7 per 1,000 of the population died from bowel complaints :—

Cholera.			Fever.			Other causes.
		Ratio per mille.			Ratio per mille.			Ratio per mille.
Jessore	...	55·1	Comillah	...	30·8	Serampore	...	17·7
Beaulah	...	23·6	Purneah	...	27·7	Monghyr	...	10·8

Serampore	...	13·7
Howrah	...	5·7
Patna	...	3·9
Gya	...	3·4
Dacca	...	3·2

It will be observed that cholera again prevailed with added severity in the Jessore Municipality.

5. That the mortality according to Sex, Class and Age stood as follows :—

According to Sex.			According to Class.			According to Age.
		Ratio per mille.			Ratio per mille.			Ratio per mille.
Males	...	27·3	Christians	...	26·1	Under 1 year	...	175·6

General remarks on the fluctuation of principal staples carried over the East Indian Railway during four weeks ended 24th March 1888.

INCREASES.

Other fibres, raw.—This increase was in despatches of hemp from Allahabad to Howrah.
Fruits, other kinds.—This is a continuance of the increase in betelnuts reported upon last month.
Indes. This increase was principally due to larger despatches from Delhi and Digla Ghât.
Minerals.—Chiefly in lime from Ondal, Raneegunge and Durgapur for the Kidderpur Dock works.
Iron.—Principally due to despatches from Howrah, Calcutta and Bombay.
Opium.—Due to despatches which had been delayed during previous months owing to uncertain weather, being pushed forward during March 1888.
Seeds.—Chiefly due to despatches of linseed and mustard seed; the former for export and the latter for local consumption.
Spices.—Chiefly in the despatches of chillies from Tirhoot and from Mokameh and Mokameh Ghât.
Tobacco.—This increase was principally in our receipts from the Assam-Bihar State Railway and from Patna and the Tirhoot State Railways.

DECREASES.

Coal and coke.—There was a decrease in both weight and earnings in the upward traffic, and an increase in the downward despatches; the former was due to lesser demands from the Foreign Railways, and the latter was due to despatches via the Jubilee Bridge.
Cotton.—Due to the cotton season having been unfavourable.
Price-goods.—The decrease was principally in the despatches from Howrah to stations on the Dinapore district.
Other drying materials. This was chiefly in mol roots, and was due to the reduced rates quoted for carriage of the article.
Grain.—Chiefly from Howrah and adjacent stations, and was due to the backward state of the export trade in wheat.
Wheat.—Due to the English market being dull and native holders not being anxious to sell.
Gram and pulses.—
Other rain and spring crops.—Due to want of demand up-country owing to fall in prices.
Rice (husked and unhusked).—The decrease was chiefly in despatches to Howrah, owing to there being no demand for export.
Government stores.—Principally in despatches from Howrah and via Delhi.
Brass and copper.—Due to the operations of the French Syndicate which has forced up the price considerably.
Railway material, Foreign.—Principally in materials from Bombay for Manipur and in earnings from Howrah owing to the shorter load of the traffic this year than in 1887.
Salt.—The falling off was principally at Howrah owing to high price.
Sugar, refined and unrefined.—There was an increase in the weight carried, but a decrease in the earnings due to short lead traffic.

This Government's letter to the Director of Land Records and Agriculture, No. 3660—645Agri, dated the 6th December 1887.

Letter from the Director of Land Records and Agriculture, No. 170TA, dated the 6th February 1888, with enclosures.

PRICE-LISTS of staple food-crops, under section 39 of the Bengal Tenancy Act VIII of 1885, are, under existing orders, prepared on two market days in the month, in accordance with rule 3, Chapter II, of the rules published by this Government in the Calcutta Gazette of the 23rd December, 1885. Under section 39 of the Bengal Tenancy Act these price-lists, which are intended for the guidance of the Civil Courts in the determination of rates of rent, shall be prepared monthly or at shorter intervals, and fortnightly lists were, in the first instance, prescribed as in the case of the returns of prices-current of food-grains, firewood, and salt, published for executive purposes. In noticing and supporting a suggestion put forward by the Collectors of the 24-Pergunnahs, and approved by the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, that in future these price-lists should be prepared monthly instead of fortnightly as at present, the Board of Revenue remarked, in paragraph 229 of their Report on the Land Revenue administration during the year 1886-87, that although the price-lists were regularly prepared, and published locally for criticism in accordance with the procedure laid down, little or no interest appeared to be taken in them, and no objections were even made to the prices recorded even when palpably incorrect. The proposal commends itself to the Lieutenant-Governor, who is of opinion that the important point in connection with the issue of these lists is not that they should appear with frequency, but that they should be as accurate as possible, and His Honour accordingly directs that, from the date of the publication of this Resolution in the Calcutta Gazette, the two amended rules annexed shall be substituted for the existing rules 3 and 4 in Chapter II of the Rules under the Tenancy Act. For the purpose of securing accuracy in the returns, supplementary instructions will be issued by the Board of Revenue, and these should be strictly observed by the officers concerned in their preparation.

2. Schedule II, attached to the Rules under the Tenancy Act, shows the local areas and marts originally fixed for the record of prices for the preparation of the price-lists prescribed by section 39, but since the publication of this schedule, changes have been made in the local areas and marts prescribed therein, and the staples, of which prices are to be recorded, have been separately fixed by a notification of the 29th April 1886. This notification again has been modified by the subsequent notifications mentioned in the preamble to this Resolution, and the Lieutenant-Governor has decided to make a further alteration, in order to constitute the whole of the Pubna district as one local area, price-lists being prepared at the Sudder station only. It being desirable that the schedule should be brought up to date, the Lieutenant-Governor takes advantage of the opportunity now afforded, and directs that from the date on which this Resolution appears in the Calcutta Gazette, the amended schedule hereto annexed shall be substituted for the existing Schedule II at present attached to the rules.

ORDER—Ordered that this Resolution, with its annexures, be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and that copies of it be forwarded to the Departments and officers concerned.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

CALCUTTA,
The 20th April 1888.

Amended Rules to be substituted for the existing Rules 3 and 4 in Chapter II of the Rules under the Bengal Tenancy Act VIII of 1885.

3. "Price-lists of staple food-crops shall be prepared on one market day in the month at intervals of not less than 20 days. This market day shall be selected by the Collector, subject to the control of the Board of Revenue."

4. "The price recorded for each staple food-crop shall be the prevailing retail price at which that crop was actually sold in the mart to which the price-list refers on the day selected under the last preceding rule."

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

CALCUTTA,
The 23rd May 1888.

NOTIFICATION.

The 23rd May 1888.—Having considered the reports submitted on the subject by the Board of Revenue and District Collectors, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to determine and notify, under paragraph 2, Chapter II of the Rules under the Bengal Tenancy Act (Act No. VIII of 1885), that the local areas and staple food-crops under section 89 of the Act shall be those entered in the following schedule, which should be substituted from the schedule II now attached to the said Rule :—
